HOWE'S BOAT WINS

Second Race—Katharine Wins Pennant in Her Class.

The second Regatta of the Aub-see-naub-see Yacht club was sailed Wednesday afternoon. The date of sailing the race had been Friday, July 24, but owing to the light winds it could not be sailed till Wednesday morning.

Class C and D were started at 10:10 a. m., in the following order, Flip, Tadpole, Uncas, Indian and Natty. The boats sailed very evenly during the first round the Uncas and Natty gaining slightly on the others. Their positions at the beginning of the second round was as follows, Uncas, Flip, Natty, Tadpole and Indian.

During the second round the Uncas increased her lead of a minute and a half to three minutes and a half and finished first. The other boats were very close and finished at intervals of few seconds. Tadpole was second and Natty third. Flip won class C race with Indian second.

Class A and B were started at 10:25. In class A the Diana got a long lead in the start the old Scout getting over the line after the limit gun. The Old Scout gradually overtook the Diana and at the beginning of the second round

She increased her lead over three minutes and won with a good margin. In class B only three yachts started. The Lady Jane was disabled and withdrew, leaving the Katharine and the Nautilus to sail it out alone. This was the best race of the day, the yachts keeping very close all the way. The Nautilus finished a minute and a half after the Katharine but won the race on time allowance.

This race finished the series for which a pennant was given to the yachts having the most points: Class A, Diana 8, Old Scout 8; Class B, Katharine 9, Nautilus 5, Idlewild 3, Lady Jane 1; Class C, Flip 10, Indian 3; Class D, Uncas 8, Natty 6, Tadpole 5. In class A there is a tie so this race will be sailed some day this week.

The wind during the race blew strongly from the southwest, making the time of the race very fast. The judges for the race were M. A. Edwards, M. D. Wilson and E. Wilson. The following is the time of the different yachts:

Class A, Old Scout 1-35-38, Diana 1-39-03; Class B, Katharine 1-46-40, Nautilus 1-48-19 corrected 1-37-19, Lady Jane, disabled; Class C, Indian 2-06-47, Flip 1-51-25; Class D, Uncas 1-46-56, Natty 1-49-24; Tadpole 1-52-10 corrected 1-49-10.

More Fad Than Fun.

A walk around the lake is something of a fad these hot days in which the pleasure is more in anticipation than in realization. Monday a crowd of young people from the east side started around the lake, leaving it on the right. At the Norris landing the main traveled road had to be taken for some distance east, south, west and north again to the lake road in order to avoid the in-let on the south east corner of the lake, near the Aub-see-naub-see reserve line, which is marshy, quagmire and impassable. One couple of the party not familiar with the situation, concluded to follow the bank of lake and thus save three or four miles extra walk. About half a mile south of the Norris landing, after wading knee deep in mud and water and passing over many shaky places they found themselves swamped on a bog in which it seemed to be dangerous to proceed further or go back. It was noon hour when no boats were in sight on that part of the lake. What to do under the circumstances was the question. As an experiment the young man concluded to "hollow" and "hollow" he did. It was nearly half an hour before his "signal of distress" was heard and a row boat sent to their assistance. They were taken in out of the wet and safely landed on dry ground on the south end of the inlet where they set out again on their tramp. The distance around the lake following the usually traveled road is variously estimated at from 12 to 15 miles. In making this long tramp with the thermometer pointing to a hundred degrees, it is hard for ordinary mortals to figure out where the fun comes in.

Accident to Vandalia Conductor.

Bid Hayes, a well known Vandalia conductor, met with a very painful accident last Monday at South Bend. While making up train 65, preparatory to the run south, the train came apart and when it went together again, did so with such force as to throw him against the side of the caboose door and broke his arm. He came to Culver and while here Dr. Wiseman, the company surgeon, reduced the fracture. It will put Bid on the hospital list for some time.

CASE DISMISSED.

Assistant Prosecutor Wise Dismisses Case On Account of Insufficient Evidence.

On last Monday morning at 10 o'clock the case of Nethercutt vs. Inskeep was to have been tried before Clerk Cook and a good sized crowd was on hand to hear the evidence which was supposed to have been something on the sensational order and involving some of our own young people. As was stated in our last week's issue the charge was assault preferred by Miss Merle Nethercutt, of Logansport, a sixteen year old girl, who claimed that Carlos Inskeep, while out boat riding, had insulted and made improper proposals to her and if she told her parents of this occurrence he would kill her. Monday morning, however, Mr. Inskeep, with his attorney from Marion, and plenty of witnesses, was on hand for a battle royal. But to the surprise of all, after Assistant Prosecutor Wise, of Plymouth, had heard Miss Nethercutt's tale of woe, decided that the evidence was insufficient to make a case and accordingly dismissed it.

History of Maxinkuckee Lake.

At a recent meeting of the Maxinkuckee Association, Daniel McDonald, for the committee appointed last year, presented a carefully prepared history of Maxinkuckee lake from its first settlement in 1835-36 to the present time, with sketches of the literature, both prose and poetry, of which it has been made the theme. The paper was received with evidences of appreciation by the large and intelligent membership present. It will probably appear in a souvenir of the lake which it is proposed to publish. It will be an interesting document for those interested in the lake.

Mr. McDonald is the author of the first and only history of Marshall County, and having been a resident of the county nearly all his life, much of the time about the lake, the paper he has prepared will be a most valuable addition to the history, not only of the lake, but of the county as well.

Another Barn Burned.

During the storm last Monday afternoon, lightning struck and set fire to a barn owned by Mrs. Leah Stayton, living three miles east of Maxinkuckee. It was a total loss, her son-in-law, Ed South losing three head of horses, two of which he refused to take $300 for, two buggies, one wagon, about forty tons of hay, and some grain and implements. We understand that there was some insurance on the barn.

Where is Her Chaperon?

WHEAT ESTIMATE FOR NORTHWEST

Yield Will Fall Below Last Year's, Which Was Not Up to Average.

TOTAL IS 170,000,000 BUSHELS

South Dakota is Expected to Furnish 38,000,000, North Dakota 50,000,000 and Minnesota 80,000,000 Bushels by Men Who Are Posted.

St. Paul dispatch: The last day of July found the wheat crop of the Northwest still uncut. In fact much of the wheat had not matured, though nearly so, and in another week the reapers will have gathered in all of the early grain that is worth cutting. Exaggerated reports have been sent out concerning the wheat crop, which are inexcusable and appear to have been for the purpose of speculation. A careful estimate, the work of several experts—men who represent machinery houses and elevator lines and representatives of railroads—indicates that the aggregate yield of Minnesota and the Dakotas will fall greatly below last year's yield, and that was not a good yield.

South Dakota Yield.
The most astonishing claims are made for South Dakota, based on the reports of a certain railroad, which this year appears to have been extremely well favored. The whole state is estimated on this basis, when in reality large areas of the wheat acreage will not be cut. It has either been totally destroyed by storms or drought or will not yield enough to pay for harvesting. South Dakota will yield about 38,000,000 bushels of wheat.

North Dakota Wheat.
North Dakota is less difficult to judge. There is some good wheat here, and there is also a large area that will produce nothing. One of the best authorities says: "Place the yield at nine bushels per acre on the seeded acreage, and this is making a very liberal allowance. This will give North Dakota 50,000,000 bushels of wheat—all that the state is justified in claiming."

This estimate is about right, taking all conditions into consideration, by one who has followed the crop from seeding time to harvest.

Minnesota Crop.
Minnesota is the problem. It is admitted that the wheat acreage was not increased in this state and that the grain is in excellent condition in some localities, but much of the wheat is very late and farmers are apprehensive of the weather for the next ten days. Every storm decreases the chances of a full crop, but fortunately the temperature has been favorable thus far. Estimates run from 70,000,000 000, giving to the three states in servative figure would be about 80,000,000, giving to the three states in the neighborhood of 170,000,000, or just a little less than last year. These estimates apply only to wheat.

JUDGE GRAY ACCEPTS PLACE AS ARBITRATOR

Federal Jurist Will Act if Alabama Coal Commission Will Do Its Work in August.

Wilmington, Del., dispatch: Judge George Gray has decided to accept appointment as the fifth member of the Alabama coal strike commission and so telegraphed to the other members of the commission at Atlantic City. He made his acceptance conditional, however, on the commission's work being done during August, as he will have to preside over the United States Circuit court of appeals the second week in September. In order to attend to the commission work he will have to forego his August vacation.

Judge Gray will leave Wilmington Aug. 8 for Birmingham, Ala., where the commission will sit. He expects the sessions to begin the following Monday.

Birmingham, Ala., July 31.—News that Judge Gray had accepted the position of fifth member of the board of arbitration caused rejoicing throughout Birmingham and the mining district. Shortly after the receipt of the press message Secretary Clemo of the United Mine Workers received the following from Edward Flynn, district president:

Atlantic, N. J., July 30.—J. L. Clemo, Birmingham: Judge Gray accepts. Notify men to return to work at once. Edward Flynn.

President E. B. Roden of the Coal Operators' association announced that the 14,000 miners would return to work at once.

DANVILLE RIOTS BRING ARRESTS

Fourteen Men, Mostly Miners, Are Taken Into Custody by the Sheriff.

MAY GO TO STATE'S PRISON

Prisoners Are Charged With Defacing Jail, the Penalty for Which is From One to Ten Years in the Penitentiary.

Danville, Ill., dispatch: Fourteen men charged with being members of the mob which assaulted the county jail July 25 were arrested by Sheriff Whitlock and his deputies. Coincident with their arrest a special session of the grand jury has been called. The grand jury of the May term of court, which has not been concluded, will reconvene to take up the riot in detail.

Warrants for at least thirty more men charged with participating in the riot were sworn out and placed in the hands of deputy sheriffs.

The arrests are regarded as merely the beginning of the campaign to be made against the rioters by the authorities. Between 75 and 100 warrants will be sworn out in all, and the authorities announce that they will make every effort to accumulate enough evidence to convict those who participated in the riot.

Guard Is Sufficient.

Two companies of the Seventh regiment are still in the city and will remain here for several days. The troops are still encamped opposite the jail and the picket lines are out. Sheriff Whitlock summoned to the this city, was arrested charged with assault with a deadly weapon, but was later released. He was supposed to have been one of the men who stoned Sheriff Whitlock on the night of the riot.

Three With Sore Fingers.

Three of the men arrested, Merry, Hart and Slade, are among those wounded in the assault on the jail. None of the other wounded men have been arrested as yet, but will be soon. The arrest of Van Gundy caused some surprise, as he has resided here for a number of years and has the reputation of being an excellent citizen. It is stated, however, he was seen in the foremost ranks of the mob at the jail by both Sheriff Whitlock and State's Attorney Keeslar, who tried in vain to persuade him to go home. Cundiff is a well-known farmer, who has also enjoyed a good reputation.

STATE GAME LAW IS UPHELD

Attorney General Hamlin Says Preserves Are Not Exempt.

Springfield, Ill., special: In reply to a query from the state game warden, the attorney general has given an opinion concerning a clause in the state game law which appears to exempt from the penalties of the act persons who hunt on the lands of others by invitation. The attorney general declares that the attempted exception is directly repugnant to the body of the act and its purposes and for this reason cannot stand.

"It is a rule of statutory construction," he says, "both at common law and as adopted and followed by the modern current of judicial decisions, that a proviso which is repugnant to the body of the act or its purview is itself void and can be given no effect."

city all of the deputy sheriffs in various parts of the county. They have all arrived and will not only assist the sheriff in arresting rioters but will also swell the numbers of the defendants of the jail. Sheriff Whitlock's force of deputies now in the city numbers twenty-five, a sufficient force, it is thought, to successfully defend the jail even if the troops leave. The arrests have caused much comment, but there seems to be no danger of any uprising on the part of the friends of the imprisoned men, and, while guarding against any possible contingency, the authorities expect no trouble.

Those Under Arrest.

The men who have been arrested are: Harry Bicknell, miner, Danville; Sherman Cundiff, farmer of Tilton; Cleo Davis, miner, Missionfield; Thomas Dell, miner, Danville; Charles Devore, miner, Danville; Ed Hart, miner, Missionfield; Adam Merriker, miner, Danville; William Pettis, laborer, Hillary; Henry Rennick, miner, Catlin; Dick Roberts, waiter, Danville; Newton Slade, Vermilion Heights; Harry Van Gundy, electrician, Danville; John Walton, miner, Danville.

The men were arraigned before different justices of the peace and their hearings were continued to Aug. 6. The bonds were fixed at $500 each and only two, Cundiff and Van Gundy, were able to furnish them. The others are imprisoned in the jail they are accused of having assaulted.

Face Prison.

The charge upon which the men are arrested is that of defacing a public jail. The penalty for this, when the damage done exceeds $15, is not less than one nor more than ten years' sentence. As the damage in this case is far above the amount named, every man arrested faces a possible penitentiary sentence.

"IN ALL THE WORLD NO TRIP LIKE THIS."

Thomas F. Woodcock in "Wall Street Journal," July 15th.

 Your correspondent is more or less of an Atlantic traveler, having made some fifteen trips across the ocean, and is more or less familiar with this particular form of holiday. Its strong points are:

- (1) Absolute rest for mind and body.
- (2) Unlimited fresh air.
- And its weak points are:

- (1) Monotony.
- (2) Bad weather—frequently, with, of course, the strong points much the most important and entirely predominant.

Circumstances compelled the writer this year to forego the usual Atlantic trip, as he had to go West. Having some detailed acquaintance with railroad affairs, he was  aware that the Northern Steamship Company—owned by the Great Northern—operated a steamer from Buffalo to Duluth, making the trip in three days, and he determined to try it.

 He found a magnificent ocean-going steamer close upon 400 feet long, of 8,000 horse-power, developing a speed of 18 to 22 miles an hour, fitted up in a style that he has never seen surpassed on any ocean vessel, whatever her size, furnished with large airy staterooms, lofty saloons and decks innumerable, the top deck being something like 70 feet above the water. Brilliantly lit, admirably ventilated, most conveniently arranged as to all appointments ***

Lake Erie is not especially picturesque as to its eastern end.  When the St. Clair river was entered the scenery became beautiful.  From that time, with a very few hours of open lake, the trip to Duluth was a succession of charming pictures, any one of which would make the fortune of an Atlantic route lucky enough to possess it exclusively. Just above Detroit there is Belle Isle Park, which is surely the most beautiful public park in the world, and it lies at the water's edge. Across the river is sleepy Windsor. The river is full of excursion steamers plying up and down to half a dozen resorts, all on the river and all full of holiday crowds, and our steamer threaded its way among them, meeting all kinds of craft from ore-carriers and whale-backs, to naphtha launches and rowing boats. All this at sunset after a typical summer's day with the mercury standing at 70 degrees, and no more!

Next day there was Mackinac Island, looking something like a little Welsh fishing village, the hill rising directly from the water's edge, dotted with summer cottages and here and there a large hotel, and the bay filled with all kinds of sailing craft. Beauty enough for one day's steaming, you would think, but in three hours we reached St. Mary's River and passed the famous "Soo" canal by moonlight. You are to imagine a stretch of river some miles long with campers on every point, their tents lit up, and here and there remains of the Fourth's pyrotechnics in course of dissolution—all on a still summer's evening, so still that the voices on the shore could plainly be heard on our steamer as we passed, until the roar of the "Soo" rapidly drowned them as the town and the great lock came in sight. Finally we came into Lake Superior and entered on the last day of the trip.

Once more a variation in the scenery. The red banks of Lake Superior sandstone topped with pine and cedar and a refreshing coolness in the air marked the change and presently there was the Houghton-Hancock ship canal opening up with its twin copper cities on the hills rising on each side, and its red waters. The temperature at the Houghton dock was 90 odd degrees, with a strong southwest wind, but we were hardly out of the canal when wraps and overcoats were in order for the first time since leaving Buffalo, and we were headed direct for Duluth.

 The emotion of surprise in its ultimate degree is susceptible of change into other emotions. To find the bell boys (or cabin stewards) attentive yet unobtrusive, the waiters courteous and painstaking, the ship's officers genial and communicative, the purser a gentleman and a diplomat of the first water, the cooking absolutely first-class, the staterooms clean and cool—and all this with the other advantages noted in the foregoing is enough to arouse the ire of a man who only finds it out after it has been available nine years. ***

 The Steamship Northwest sails from Duluth for Buffalo and intermediate points every Tuesday at 11:30 p. m.

A LOVE STORY BY AMELIA E. BARR

(Copyright, 1900, by Amelia E. Barr)

"Does he remember how he was hurt?"

"He declares his men muffled, because instead of returning to New York, he had taken on a cargo for the East India company, and that the blow was given him by his first or second mate. He vows he will get well and find his ship and the rascals that stole her; and I should not wonder if he does. He has will enough for anything. Madame desires to see you, Cornelia. Can you go there with me in the morning?"

"I shall be glad to go. Madame is like no one else."

"She is not like herself at present. She has but one thought, one care, one end and aim in life—her husband."

Cornelia was taken to the dim uncanny drawing-room by Amec, and left among its ill-omened gods, and odd treasures for nearly half an hour. When Madame at length came to her, she looked ten years older. Her wonderful dark eyes glowing with a soft tender fire alone remained untouched by the withering hand of anxious love. They were as vital as ever they had been, and when Cornelia said so, she answered, "That is because my soul dwells in them, and my soul is always young. I have had a year, Cornelia, to crumble the body to dust, but my soul made light of it for love's sake. Did your father tell you how much Capt. Jacobus had suffered?"

"Yes, Madame."

"Poor Jacobus! Till I be key-cold dead, I shall never forget my first sight of him in that dreadful place—" and then she described her overwhelming emotions when she perceived he was alike apathetic to his pauper condition, and to her love and presence. There never came a moment during the whole visit when it was possible to speak of Hyde. Madame seemed to have quite forgotten her liking for the handsome youth, it had been swallowed up in her adoring affection for her restored husband.

One morning, however, the long-looked-for topic was introduced. "I had a visit from Madame Van Heemskirk yesterday afternoon," she said, "and the dear old Senator came with her to see Capt. Jacobus. While they talked Madame told me that you had refused that handsome young fellow, her grandson. What could you mean by such stupidity, Miss Moran?"

Her voice had just that tone of indifference, mingled with sarcastic disapproval, that hurt and offended Cornelia. She felt that it was not worth while to explain herself, for Madame had evidently accepted the offended grandmother's opinion and the memory of the young Lord was lively enough to make her sympathize with his supposed wrong.

"I never considered you to be a flirt," she continued, "and I am astonished. I told Madame Van Heemskirk that I had not the least doubt Doctor Moran dictated the refusal."

"Oh, indeed," answered Cornelia, with a good deal of spirit, and some anger, "you shall not blame my father."

"I have been thoughtless, selfish—" He knew nothing whatever of Lord Hyde's offer until I had been subjected to such insult and wrong as drove me to the grave's mouth. Only the mercy of God and my father's skill, brought me back to life."

"Yes, I think your father to be wonderfully skillful. Doctor Moran is a fine physician; Jacobus says so."

Cornelia remained silent. If Madame did not feel interest sufficient in her affairs to ask for the particulars of one so nearly fatal to her, she determined not to force the subject on her. Then Jacobus rang his bell and Madame flew to his room to see whether his want had received proper attention. Cornelia sat still a few moments, her heart swelling, her eyes filling with the sense of that injustice, harder to bear than any other form of wrong. She was going away, when Madame returned to her and something in her eyes went to the heart of the older woman.

"I have been thoughtless, Cornelia, selfish, I dare say, but I do not wish to be so. Tell me, my dear, what has happened. Did you quarrel with George Hyde? And pray what was it about?"

"We never had one word of any kind, but words of affection. He wrote and asked me if he could come and see my father about our marriage, on a certain night. I answered his letter with all the love that was in my heart for him, and told him to come and see my father that very night. He never came. He never sent me the least explanation. He never wrote to me, or spoke to me again."

"If what you have told me be so—and I believe it is—then I say Lord George Hyde is an intolerable scoundrel."

"I would rather not hear him spoken of in that way."

"Very well! I would rather have a man 'intolerably rude' like my nephew Rem, than one like Lord Hyde who speaks well of everybody. Upon my word, I think that is the worst kind of slander!"

"I think not."

"It is, for it takes away the reputation of good men by making all men alike. But this, that, or the other, I saw Lord Hyde in devoted attendance on Lady Annie. Give him up totally."

"I have done so," answered Cornelia. And then she felt a sudden anger at herself, so much so, that as she walked home, she kept assuring her heart with an almost passionate insistence, "I have not given him up! I will not give him up! I believe in him yet!"

CHAPTER XII.

A Heart That Waits.

Late summer on the Norfolk Broads! And where on earth can the lover of boats find a more charming resort? Close to the Manor of Hyde, the country home of Earl Hyde in Norfolk, there was one of these delightful Broads—flat as a billiard table, and hidden by the tall reeds which bordered it. But Annie Hyde lying at the open window of her room in the Manor House could see its silvery waters, and the black-sailed wherry floating on them, and the young man sitting at the prow fishing, and idling, among the lilies and languors of these hot summer days.

An aged man sat silently by her, a man of noble beauty, whose soul was in every part of his body, expressive and impressive—a fiery particle not always at its window, but when there, infecting and going through observers, whether they would or not.

There had been silence for some time between them, and he did not appear disposed to break it, but Annie longed for him to do so, because she had a mystical appetite for sacred things and was never so happy and so much at rest as when he was talking to her of them.

"Dear father," she said finally, "I have been thinking of the past years, in which you have taught me so much."

It is better to look forward, Annie, he answered. "The traveler to Eternity must not continually turn back to count his steps, for if God be leading him, no matter how dangerous or lonely the road, 'He will pluck thy feet out of the net.'"

As he spoke these words Mary Damer entered, and she laid her hand on his shoulder and said, "My dear Doctor Roslyn, after death what then we are not all good—what then?"

He looked at her wistfully and answered, "I will give you one thought, Mary, to ponder—the blessedness of heaven, is it not an eternity older than the misery of hell? Let your soul fearlessly follow where this fact leads it; for there is no limit to God's mercy."

Then he rose and went away, and Mary sat down in his place, and Annie gradually came back to the material plane of everyday life and duty. Indeed Mary brought this element in a very decided form with her; for she had a letter in her hand from an old lover, and she was much excited by its advent, and eager to discuss the particulars with Annie.

"It is from Capt. Seabright, who is now in Pondicherry," she explained. "He loves me, Annie. He loved me long ago, and went to India to make money; now he says he has enough and to spare; and he asks me if I have forgotten."

"There is Mr. Van Ariens to consider. You have promised to marry him, Mary. It is not hard to find the right way on this road, I think."

"Of course. I would scorn to do a dishonorable or unhandsome thing. But is it not very strange Willie Seabright should write to me at this time? How contradictory life is! I had also a letter from Mr. Van Ariens by the same mail, and I shall answer them both this evening." Then she laughed a little, and added, "I must take care and not make the mistake an American girl made, under much the same circumstances."

"What was it?" inquired Annie languidly.

"She misdirected her letters and thus sent 'No' to the man whom of all others, she wished to marry."

As Mary spoke a soft brightness seemed to pervade Annie's brain cells, and she could hardly restrain the exclamation of sudden enlightenment that rose to her lips.

"Mary," she said, "what a strange incident! Did you know the girl?"

"I saw her once in Philadelphia. Mr. Van Ariens told me about her. She is the friend of his sister the Marquise de Tournelle."

"I am sorry for that unfortunate American girl!"

"So am I. She is a great beauty. Her name is Cornelia Moran; and her father is a famous physician in New York."

"And this beauty had two lovers?" "Yes; an Englishman of noble birth; and an American. They both loved her, and she loved the Englishman. They must have both asked her hand on the same day, and she must have answered both letters in the same hour; and the letter she intended for the man she loved, went to the man she did not love. Presumably, the man she loved got the refusal she intended for the other, for he never sought her society again; and Mr. Van Ariens told me she nearly died in consequence."

"And what became of the two lovers, Mary?"

"The Englishman went back to England; and the American found another girl more kind to him."

"I wonder what made Mr. Van Ariens tell you this story?"

"He talked much of his sister, and this young lady was her chief friend and confidante."

"When did it happen?"

"A few days after his sister's marriage."

"Then the Marquise could not know of it; and so she could not have told her brother. However in the world could he have found out the mistake? Do you think the girl herself found it out?"

"Your servant, ladies."

"That is inconceivable," answered Mary. "She would have written to her lover and explained the affair."

"Certainly. It is a very singular incident. I want to think it over—how did—Mr. Van Ariens—and it—out, I wonder!"

"Perhaps the rejected lover confided in him."

"What did Mr. Van Ariens say about the matter? What did he think? Why did he tell you?"

"We were talking of the Marquise. The story came up quite naturally. I think Mr. Van Ariens felt sorry for Miss Moran. Of course he did. Will you listen to Capt. Seabright's letter? I had no idea it could affect me so much."

"But you loved him once?" "Very dearly."

"Well then, Mary, I think no one has a double in love or friendship. If the loved one dies, or goes away, his place remains empty forever. We have lost feelings that he, and he only, could call up."

At this point in the conversation Hyde entered, brown and wind-blown, the scent of the sedgy water and the flowery woods about him.

"Your servant, ladies," he said gayly, "I have bream enough for a dozen families, Mary; and I have sent a string to the rectory."

The Northwest Territory.

The Canadian government has issued a census bulletin, which gives statistics as to agriculture in Alberta, Assiniboia and Saskatchewan, which united comprise the Northwest Territory. The total area of these territories is 199,963,117 acres. Of this area, 75.39 per cent is unimproved. Field crops, exclusive of hay, occupy 53 per cent of the improved land, but only a fair beginning has been made with fruit trees and vegetables. The area of land in wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn, peas, potatoes and other field roots in 1891 was 194,773 acres, an increase in a decade of 333 per cent.

New Method in Photography.

Katatype, the new method in photography, is described as follows: "Over the finished negative is poured a solution of hydro-superoxide. This leaves, after the evaporation, a uniform layer of peroxide of hydrogen. Soon the silver of the plate works upon this peroxide and produces a catalytic dissolution wherever there is silver, while in the places free from silver the peroxide remains. By this means an invisible picture of hydro-superoxide is produced upon the plate. This picture can be printed from the plate directly upon common paper, to which the image is transferred."

Danger of Gas Poisoning.

The modern method of mixing coal gas with "water gas" greatly increases the amount of carbon monoxide in the gas supplied for illumination. Hence an alarming increase in the number of cases of carbon monoxide poisoning has recently been noticed.

These, they say, are worth from $10 to $20 each. The first lot was shipped to a dealer in Chicago and the men engaged in the business say if they continue to find pearls as plentiful, they will not leave until their fortunes are made. STEER IS BURIED IN QUICKSAND

Animal Passes the Night Covered to Its Horns.

A large steer, driven to a farm from the north part of Richmond, became vicious, and its drivers were unable to control its movements. At the city limits, while crossing a stream, the animal ran into a bed of quicksand and almost entirely disappeared from view. The head alone remained above the surface. A team of horses was procured, and an attempt made to free the animal from its position, but this could not be done and when darkness came work was abandoned. Next morning two large teams were procured, and after much trouble chains were fastened about the animal's body. The pull was a strong one, but the steer was finally pulled to the surface and appeared to be uninjured.

Public Failed to Appreciate His Book on Lost Children.

Theodore Laffin, of St. Joseph county, is dead of a broken heart, because a book written by him, entitled, "The Lost Children of Israel Found Beyond the Arctic Seas," and upon which he put twenty years' effort failed to meet the popular fancy. The book is full of Scriptural quotations, to indicate the journeyings of the Israelites, and he calmly concluded in his work that the lost children climbed the tallest thing they could find, which was the north pole, which proved to be hollow, and in which they remained at peace. Before dying he bequeathed $1,000 to the orphan's home.

Hamilton County Youth Threatens to Kill His Relatives.

Crazed from the effects of excessive cigarette smoking, Homer Weaver, living east of Noblesville, wielded a razor and shotgun in the home of his parents, threatening to murder the entire family, and finally succeeded in escaping after being chased through fields and across streams for six miles by Sheriff Fot and his deputies. Weaver, after sleeping until 10 o'clock in the morning, became angry at his mother because she had not watered his horse. He then got mad at his father, and, obtaining a razor, flourished it viciously. When his uncle, Daniel Weaver, interfered, the boy procured a gun and made all sorts of threats. When the sheriff appeared upon the scene the young man took to his heels and clearly outclassed the officers as a sprinter.

Southern Fruit and Vegetable Growing.

The fertile lands along the Louisville & Nashville R. R. in Alabama, West Florida and Mississippi are veritable bonanzas for the fruit grower and truck gardener. One man sold from one single acre, 100 barrels of radishes for $900 gross; another patch of 4 acres radishes yielded $1,463 net. In the spring of 1902, another truck gardener sold 300 barrels of potatoes in Pittsburgh from 3 acres of ground for $1,548, and after paying all expenses, cleared $892 or $297.33 per acre. Within two weeks after selling his potatoes, corn was up and watermelon vines were running on the same land. He harvested his corn, sold his melons, and afterwards cut two crops of hay off of the same land, and on January 20, 1903, was planting it again in potatoes. Strawberries yield from $300 to $550 per acre; as high as 12,480 quarts of luscious berries have been grown on a single acre. Address

Old Marshall County News.

When this county was organized in 1836, merchants, grocers, men, hotel keepers and all retail dealers had to have a license to do business. The license fee was five dollars.

The first licensed hotel keeper was John Compton, in 1836. In July of the same year, Charles Osterhaut was authorized to "keep tavern" at his place two miles south of Plymouth. In January, 1837, Robert Beattie took out license for the same purpose; but at about the same time James and William Owens were licensed to keep tavern in Green township.

The first estate administered on was that of Mary Patingale, Adam Vinnedge was the administrator. He was, we believe, an uncle of Adam Vinnedge, who died in this city recently.

The first white child born in the county, was Cyrus Taber.

The first indictment in the county was against Robert Beattie for selling liquor without a license. He pleaded guilty and was fined two dollars and costs.

The first blacksmith in the county was Uriah Metcalf.

The first newspaper, the Plymouth Pilot, was published by John Q. Howell, in 1841. Mr. Howell now lives in Kewanna. He visits Plymouth two or three times every year and is a wonderfully well preserved man of his age.

The first county clerk was Jeremiah Muncy; Adam Vinnedge was the first sheriff; William Dunham, the first auditor; John Houghton, the first treasurer; Silas Morgan, the first recorder; Daniel Roberts, the first surveyor; John Johnson, the first coroner and Grove Pomeroy was the first probate judge.

The first grist mill in the county was as what was known as the "Old Forge" about seven miles southwest of Plymouth, where Zehner's mill was afterward built.

The first located physician was Dr. Thomas Logan, who resided near the present Wolf Creek mill.

The year 1850, has always been known in Marshall county, as the sickly season; seventy-eight deaths were caused by flux and typhoid fever, diseases almost unknown in this county, during the past twenty-five years. Most of the deaths from typhoid fever were in Plymouth and the central part of the county. Most of the deaths caused by flux were in the north part of the county. When we recollect that this was 53 years ago and the population of the county was small the number of deaths is remarkable.

Fight for Temperance.

If the scheme of Rev. Sidney Bennett, the great temperance worker, carries out, the better class of saloons of Indiana will soon be lined up with the temperance people in a fight against the dives. Such in a brief is the plan of the Rev. Mr. Bennet, as announced in Anderson Saturday. The Rev. Mr. Bennet states that he will make a personal appeal to the better class of saloonists to co-operate with him in driving out the very vicious saloons, and will ask in each town and city in the state that the leading saloonists meet with him and form a plan of camping.

The Indianapolis Excursion.

The Vandalia took eighteen loaded coaches to Indianapolis Sunday arriving there at 12:30 o'clock. The train left South Bend with eight coaches but at Logansport it was necessary to add ten more. A goodly number from Culver took advantage of the low rate and spent a very enjoyable day at our capital, arriving home about 3 o'clock a. m.

For Sale.

Keeper Took No Chances with the Poor Marksmen.

A gentleman who is very well known, a keen sportsman, and an excellent marksman, some time ago was with Lord X's shooting party, and had the misfortune to half-cripple a keeper. After this experience, the head keeper took extra precautions for the safety of himself and others.

On the occasion of the gentleman's last visit the keeper who usually attended him happened to be ill, so another was substituted.

The new man was not allowed to take up his position until he had received his instructions from the head keeper himself.

Toward the close of a busy day, during which the gentleman had been distinctly unfortunate—having hit nothing—he was told by his keeper that his ammunition was expended.

"Indeed!" he exclaimed, espousing a number of cartridges in the bag, "then what are those?"

"Oh," stammered the man, "them's not for you, sir. They're for another gent. They've got shot in 'em."—Pearson's Weekly.

What Was It?

Friarpoint, Miss., Aug. 3rd.—One of the strangest cases ever reported occurred here recently. The son of Mr. G. L. Butler was very ill. The doctor said he had some disease of the spinal cord, and treated him for two months, but he grew worse all the time, and finally the doctor told Mr. Butler that he did not know what was the trouble.

The boy would wake up in the night and say that he was dying. He would be nervous and trembling and want to run out of the house, saying he saw ugly things which frightened him.

His father was very much discouraged till one day he saw a new remedy called Dodd's Kidney Pills advertised, and he at once bought some and began to give them to his boy.

He used altogether eight boxes before he was entirely cured. He has not been troubled since. Mr. Butler says:

"I feel it my duty to tell what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for my boy. All this remedy needs is a fair chance and it will speak for itself."

Poetic Progress.

Edmund Vance Cook is developing into one of the most skilled poets of the land. He has just succeeded in rhyming "captains of effrontery" with "father of his country."—Denver Evening Post.

FORCE MINERS TO LEAVE TOWN

Idaho Springs Vigilance Committee Drives Union Men Away.

SAY THEY RUINED BUILDINGS

Citizens Suspect That the Refugees Caused an Explosion at the Sun and Moon Mine and Order Them to Leave.

Idaho Springs, Colo., special: The Business Men's alliance met at the town hall and resolved themselves into a vigilance committee to clear the town of all members of the Western Federation of Miners, whom they accuse of blowing up the Sun and Moon mine buildings.

After hearing addresses the meeting, under the leadership of President Hanchett of the local national bank, marched to the county jail and ordered the fourteen miners held there under suspicion to march out.

They were ordered to leave town instantly and not to appear again under penalty of more drastic treatment. The prisoners were then ordered into line and with lock step marched down the canon. Some of them pleaded that they were without funds and a subscription was taken up by the mob and handed to the miners. There was no evidence against the men, but the committee decided that the explosion could be traced to the agitation that had been maintained since the strike last fall.

Mayor Appeals to People.

At the meeting Mayor Dick said it had come to a question as to whether the people of Idaho Springs would run the town or a few agitators be permitted to dictate the policy, and urged that it was time for the citizens to be awake to their own.

He was followed by L. Hanchett, manager of the Lamartine mine and Newhouse tunnel, president of the First National bank and vice president of the Cascade Electric company. Mr. Hanchett began with the statement that he and H. N. Sims, manager of the Sun and Moon, had been for a number of months marked men and were to be assassinated like Collins at Telluride.

He stated that for months his property was in danger and the electric power plant at Georgetown had been threatened with destruction because they furnished power to the Sun and Moon. He urged that no violence should be done, but that the inmates of the jail should be taken therefrom and quietly escorted to the city limits and told never to return.

Keep Within the Law.

In closing he moved that the gathering proceed to take such action, which motion was seconded by a dozen people. Before the motion was put J. W. B. Smith, assistant state's attorney, took the floor and made a speech against mob violence.

He said that he recognized in the citizens' gathering the bone and sinew of the town representing the social, moral, and business interests of the community, but urged that they take no steps that were not within the limit of the law.

The men driven out include Howard Tresdell, president of the local union; A. D. Alcott, vice president; George Becker, secretary; Peter Bender, treasurer; and two or three members of the executive committee. All the others are prominent members of the union.

Rattlesnake Bites Woman.

St. Joseph, Mich., dispatch: There is an "epidemic" of rattlesnake bites in the vicinity of Coloma. One of Robert Umphrey's cows was bitten and died from the effects. Mrs. Vincent Wonslick was bitten on a finger by a rattler in the cellar. Her recovery is doubtful.

Lovemaking in Mexico.
Mr. Carl Lumboltz has some interesting things to tell about his recent experiences among the American aborigines, but nothing is more curious than his account of the lovemaking among the natives of Northwest Mexico.

There, he says, the courting is all done by the lady. The young people meet at the feasts, and there the damsel, who has fixed upon a member of the opposite sex whom she wishes to become her husband, tries to attract his attention by dancing before him, persistently keeping her back turned toward him. Eventually she may sit down near him and pull his blanket and sing to him in a gentle, low voice. When she desires to bring matters to a focus she begins to throw pebbles at the chosen one. If he throws them back they are betrothed.

Model Time Table Folders.

Model time-table folders, which are superior to any time-table folders ever printed, have been issued by the New York Central's passenger department. They are Numbers "29" and "30" of the famous "Four-Track Series," and both are literary gems and compendiums of railway travel. General Passenger Agent George H. Daniels has incorporated various suggestions made by bright people, and he has tried to include in these folders all that could reasonably be put into such books.

They are worth a prominent position in every library, and on every business man's desk.—From the Buffalo Commercial.

Service Trick.

At Rostoff on the Don a woman named Ichenholz and several accomplices have received sentences of imprisonment ranging from ten months to three years for artificially maiming young men to enable them to escape military service. In some cases she injected a substance into the blood of her "patients" to give the appearance of blood poisoning; in others, she produced palpitation of the heart, which gave the appearance of acute heart disease. Frau Ichenholz also made permanent invalids of persons who were insured against disablement, thus obtaining for them the annual pensions required by their policies with insurance companies.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: J. C. William Robinson, postmaster at Kanawha, W. Va., is a Seventh Day Adventist and refuses to open the postoffice on Saturdays. He also refuses to resign. The postoffice department is looking for some one who will keep the office open on the usual day, but is finding trouble because there are so many of that religious belief at Kanawha.

Workers Quit Norway.

Emigration from Norway to America has lately shown a heavy increase. Last year 30,000 persons emigrated, but it is estimated that at least 40,000 will leave during 1903. The matter is considered serious in Norway, as it is the better class of working people who are quitting the country.

So Ed raises his rifle and shoots at the calf, but imagine if you can, his consternation at seeing—not the calf—but a cow that was standing near fall seriously wounded in the shoulder. Mr. Osborn then purchased the cow and butchered it. Ed is the recipient of a lot of good natured guying.

Mike Freek Throws Himself In Front of a P. F. W. & Chicago Fast Line.

Special Correspondent, Oher, Ind.

Mr. Mike Freek, of Grovetown, attended the big show at Plymouth, stayed over night and came home the next day at noon. He asked his wife to get him some dinner and she said she would as soon as possible. He then began acting very queerly, thumping the side of the house with an ax, pulled up corn and then returned to the house, kissed his wife goodbye and told her that when they met again it would be in Heaven. He then went over on the P. F. W. & Chicago track and committed suicide by throwing himself in front of the Fast Line. His skull was crushed, both legs broken and his body otherwise mangled. He had been drinking while in Plymouth and undoubtedly was not in his right mind when he committed the deed.
