CADETS OFF FOR ST. LOUIS.

Students Leave on Special Train for the Exposition.

Two hundred and thirty-two cadets, eighteen officers, with forty-four horses, left Culver academy on a special train at 7 o'clock Monday evening on their trip to the St. Louis exposition. The train was composed of seven sleepers, two baggage and three cars for the transportation of horses. Capt. Noble, in charge of the cavalry department, superintended the loading of the horses, which was accomplished only with effort, as they objected to being crowded into such narrow quarters. Capt. Noble stated that exhibitions will be given daily in the Stadium, a great building erected on the grounds where the athletic and sporting features of the exposition will be held. It is provided with race tracks, hurdle and steeple-chase tracks, ball grounds, drill grounds, etc., and will be a great place for Culver's exhibition drills. By the arrangement plans the first hour of the day's exercises at the Stadium will be given to Culver, to be followed by exhibitions in riding, drills and athletics by expert performers from all over the world. June 2d will be Culver day at the fair, at which time a bronze equestrian statue, three-quarters life size, will be unveiled by Gov. Durbin, with appropriate ceremonies. The Black Horse troop will that occasion.

A PIONEER MERCHANT GONE

Mayer Lauer, one of the county's best known and most substantial citizens, died at Plymouth last Friday evening at the age of 71 years. He was born at Gehans, Saxe-Weimer, Germany, and came to America at the age of nineteen, and remained in New York City about a year, where he worked at cabinet making. Giving up this calling, he removed to Cincinnati, Ohio, and engaged in business in a small way, traveling through the Southern states.

He was married in 1858, at Cincinnati, to Caroline Marks, whom, with four children, Ben M., of Osage City, Kan., Leopold M. and Moses M., of Plymouth, and Mrs. Jacob Speyer, of Lexington, Ky., survive him. He settled in Plymouth and started in the clothing business in 1861, and has been engaged in the same line continuously up to the time of his death, being associated with his son, Moses M., in the well known firm of M. Lauer & Son.

He was a member of Plymouth-Kilwinning Lodge No. 149, F. & A. M.; of the I. O. O. F., and also of the Jewish Order of B'nai Brith. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at two o'clock, with interment at Oak Hill cemetery.

DEATH OF JOSEPH BENNER.

Joseph Benner was born in Summit County, Ohio, June 16, 1843.

He was married to Emmaline Gandy, July 29, 1866. To this union were born seven children, of whom five have died in infancy, two sons and a loving companion remain living.

Joseph Benner died May 17, 1904, aged 60 years 11 months and 1 day.

Mr. Benner has lived in this locality since 1846, a span of 58 years and has seen the country reclaimed from wilderness to fertile fields and farms. He had his share in the wonderful transformation.

Funeral services were held at Burr Oak, Rev. Klopfenstein officiating.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Decoration day, with its attendant thoughts, will be the subject from the pulpit and the press next Sunday all over our land. Interest in the day seems to increase with the years. The thought of the day is not that one army defeated the other in conflict. The spirit of war, enmity and bitterness has passed away and is buried by common consent. But the day affords a great occasion for holding before the people those higher ideals of citizenship wherein it is recognized that a clean public conscience, honesty in administrative service, recognition of mutual rights and the establishment of moral virtues form the kind of patriotism that makes a country truly great.

C. W. Lovgreen, a Hammond grocer, was bitten by a tarantula while picking bananas off a bunch, and may die.

A GREAT SUCCESS.

The May Festival given last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at the M. E. church, was a pronounced success.

The first evening Dr. Alfred Kummer entertained the audience with his lecture "Alaska During the Gold Excitement" and numerous stereopticon views.

When all are so worthy of mention, it is difficult in a long program such as was given Thursday evening, to emphasize any particular one. We must say however, that the duet "The Burial at Sea" by Mrs. Gertrude Behmer and Mr. Sumner Wiseman, the instrumental solo "The Lost Chord" by Master Ernest Zechiel, the solos "Still wie die Nacht," "Dites-Moi" and "Roses in June" by Miss Ethel Streeter were exceptionally pleasing.

The quartet "It was the Dutch" and the solo "Off for Philadelphia" by Mr. Tim Wolfe were also well received.

The young ladies in the Japanese Scarf Drill, under the direction of Misses Ethel Streeter and Minnie Shilling, acquitted themselves very creditably. In fact every number on the program was rendered satisfactorily. At the close of the evening's entertainment the ladies served refreshments.

The features of Thursday evening were a lecture on "Modern Hoosiers" by Prof. Banta, of the Rochester Normal University, and solos by Misses Dollis Moss and Mary Matthews and Mrs. Behmer. By request the Japanese Scarf Drill was repeated.

IT LOOKS QUEER.

The South Bend Tribune of last Thursday says: H. Jensen & Co., of Bremen, filed their schedule of assets and liabilities with Referee Lambert. The assets are $39,25 and the liabilities $1,853.82. This has a queer look to Bremen people. The liabilities of the firm must largely exceed that amount, while the stock on hand here is worth perhaps $2000 and the machinery was invoiced once at about twice that figure. There seems to have been some remarkable juggling with the truth in this transaction.—Bremen Enquirer.

John C. Zechiel took charge of the bakery this week. He will endeavor to make supplies and as soon as arrangements can be completed will do up to date business. He has secured the services of a firstclass baker, of Portland, Ind., who will be here within a few days.

Merchants and storekeepers have not done the business so far this spring that they had provided for. Much of the spring goods are still on the counter, as the weather has been too cold to make changes and people are still wearing their winter "duds." There is a general desire for the "good old summer time."

The busiest man anywhere to be found now is the farmer. At last the favorable summer weather seems to be at hand and the long delayed farm work is being pushed as rapidly as men and teams can do it. The ground has not been in good condition for either plowing or planting, but now with favorable weather the farm work will be done in fairly good season, although not so early as in former seasons. The farmer is subjected to a good many hindrances and adverse conditions that are not met in other departments of labor, but he is receiving better prices for his products than has been paid in many years, so that in the general round-up the farmer has no more cause to complain than other mortals who have to work hard for a living.

HEAVY LOSS TO JAPAN

Two of the Mikado's Warships Sunk Off Port Arthur, with the Loss of Five Hundred Men ---Rumor of Another Russian Defeat.

Vice Admiral Togo cabled the news of the first great disaster to the Japanese fleet since the war began. Sunday morning, May 15, the battleship Hatsuse struck a Russian mine and sank, near Port Arthur, and on the afternoon, in a dense fog, the cruiser Kasagi ramméd the cruiser Yoshino. The latter ship sank almost immediately.

Vice Admiral Togo's official report gives the following details: "At 1:14 o'clock on the afternoon of May 15, in a dense fog off Port Arthur, the Kasagi ramméd the Yoshino, sinking the latter in a few minutes. Ninety of the crew were saved.

"The same morning the Hatsuse, while cruising off Port Arthur, covering the landing of the soldiers, struck a mine ten knots southeast of the harbor entrance. It signaled for help and instantly struck another mine. It sank in half an hour. Three hundred of its crew were saved by torpedo boats."

Later advices state that among those rescued from the sinking battleship Hatsuse were Rear Admiral Mashiba and Capt. Nakao.

The sinking of the Hatsuse was followed by a naval battle. The disaster to the Japanese battleship was witnessed from Port Arthur and almost immediately a flotilla of sixteen Russian destroyers and torpedo boats dashed out of the harbor and attempted to discharge torpedoes at the Japanese ships off the port.

The Japanese fleet at once opened fire and the Russian flotilla retreated to the harbor within a few minutes.

Rumor of Another Russian Defeat.

The London Standard's correspondent at Tientsin cables that while the Japanese fleet was covering the landing of troops near Kaichow May 16 a fierce engagement occurred at Hsienyencheng.

Two thousand Russians were killed or wounded.

The Russians retreated and the Japanese occupied both Kaiping and Kaichow.

The Chinese governor at Chenchow has received news, the correspondent adds, that the Russians have destroyed the railway between Tashichiao and Newchwang.

There is no official confirmation of the Standard's sensational report of the loss of 2,000 Russians in the fighting at Kinchou, but there is evidence in other dispatches that the battle must have been a severe blow to the Czar's forces.

A cablegram from Tokio says: "The newspaper Asahi reports that when the Russians fled before the Japanese from Kaiping to Tashichiao they abandoned a large quantity of army stores."

Great events, apparently, are transpiring in the vicinity of Port Arthur, but they are being enacted behind an impenetrable curtain. Admiral Togo lifted the curtain only for an instant when he reported that the Hatsuse struck a Russian mine ten knots southeast of the entrance to the harbor of Port Arthur while engaged with the fleet in "covering the landing of soldiers."

If the Hatsuse was lost ten knots from the entrance to the harbor the soldiers must have been landing extremely close to Port Arthur itself.

This conclusion is supported by a dispatch from Weihaiwei to the Express, which quotes the captain of a Chinese vessel to the effect that the Japanese on May 15 bombarded Port Arthur simultaneously with the landing of a great force behind the fortress, the evident object being a combined land and sea attack.

According to a Tientsin dispatch, the Japanese advanced lines are only seven miles from the Russian batteries. The dispatch adds that the Japanese intend to attack with their whole force when it numbers 50,000. They are mounting naval 6-inch guns on steel wheels in order to silence the Russian batteries.

Losses in the Yalu Battle.

Final official reports from Gen. Kuroki give the following details of Japanese and Russian losses in the battle of the Yalu at Kiuliencheng on May 1. Japanese losses: Killed, 5 officers and 218 men; wounded, 34 officers and 782 men.

Thirteen hundred and sixty-three Russian dead were buried and 18 officers and 595 men were made prisoners.

The Japanese captured 21 quick-firing guns, 19 ammunition wagons, 1,417 shells, 8 machine guns and 37,000 shells for these guns, 1,021 rifles and 350,000 rounds of ammunition, 63 horses, 10 wagons, and 1,244 coats and 541 tents.

At Fengwangcheng the Japanese captured 350 shells for mountain guns, 188,000 rounds of rifle ammunition, 1,720 coats, 40,000 loaves of bread, and other supplies, together with a quantity of tools and telegraph stores.

Think Russians Are Deceived. Russian official reports indicate that the Japanese army advancing northward toward Mukden, in a line east of Liaoyang, has been defeated and driven back to Fengwangcheng.

The Russian reports, however, are not accepted in Europe at their face value. So far as can be judged from the news thus far received the action of May 18 was little more than a skirmish.

It is not known how many Japanese troops were engaged. Gen. Kouropatkin makes no reference to the number. He reports that his Cossacks attacked the advance guard of the Japanese army on May 18 twenty-eight miles north of Fengwangcheng. The Japanese troops retired before the Cossack onslaught, retreating fifteen miles.

The prisoner adds that one Japanese naval officer and thirty men are prisoners at Port Arthur. They are survivors of the last blocking operation.

The following official report of another engagement has also been issued: "A section of infantry of the Liaoting forces went in the direction of Shanchuan to reconnoiter and met two sections of Russian infantry. The Russians were repulsed in thirty minutes. Our casualties were one officer and four men killed and one officer and eight men wounded. The Russian casualties were one officer and forty to fifty men killed."

Will Give Battle at Liaoyang. Gen. Kouropatkin apparently has decided to give battle at Liaoyang, and troops are being hurried to that point. Eleven military trains carrying Ural Cossacks have arrived at Liaoyang daily for several days.

A dispatch to the London Standard from Japanese headquarters, dated May 19, says: "Both armies are preparing for the next phase of the campaign. The Russians appear to be resolved to make a stand at Liaoyang. Their right front rests on Haicheng and crosses the great Pekin road at Reichenchankung. It runs northwesterly as far as the Taitse river. Their center is protected by the difficult Motien pass. The position, which is of great strength, is rendered more formidable by earthworks."

The correspondent adds that the main body of the Russians cannot be persuaded to venture further south pending strategical developments in the west.

Still Marching on Mukden. While the Japanese have retired to Fengwangcheng, it is known that other divisions are moving northward, their apparent destination being Mukden.

Fifty-five battalions of Japanese troops have been landed on the Liaoting peninsula. In order to embarrass their advance the Russians have destroyed the railroad bridges.

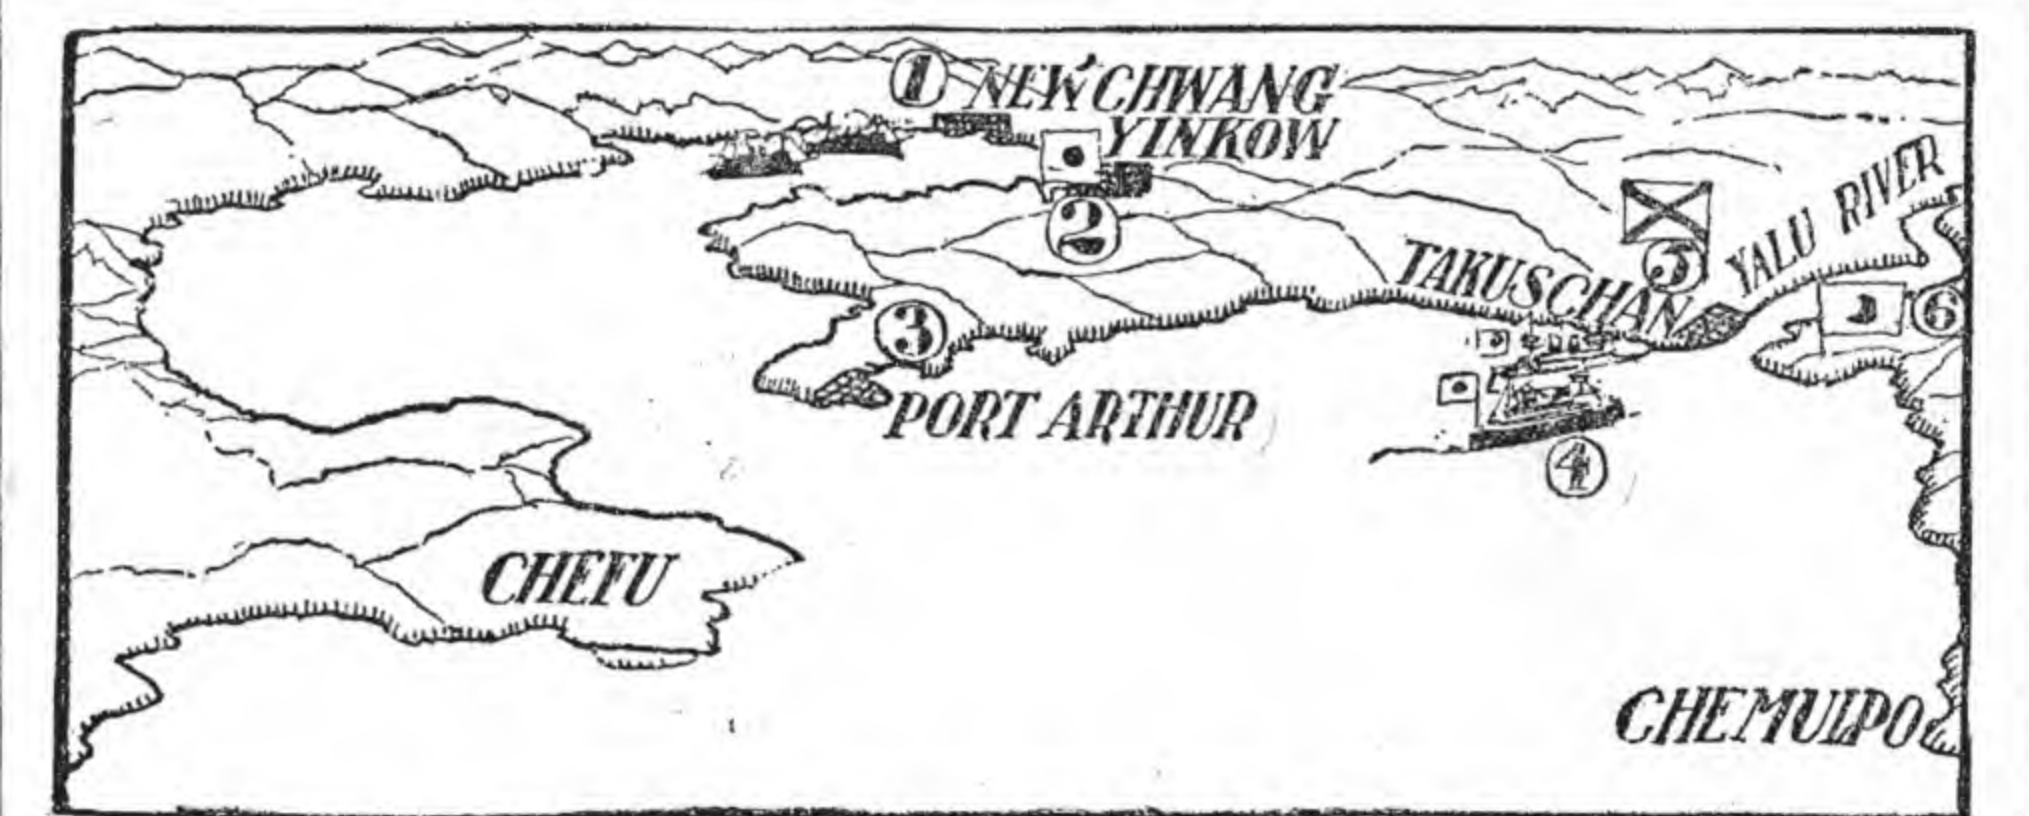

The excitement among the Chinese has been increasing the last few days. The Chinese bandits are causing considerable trouble and are being energetically hunted by Cossacks.

The eastern Chinese railroad has increased its carrying capacity and for some days past troops have been arriving at Liaoting quickly and in splendid condition.

Port Arthur Sortie Unconfirmed. A dispatch to London from St. Petersburg admits that the report of a sortie by the Port Arthur garrison has not been confirmed. It appears to have originated in the receipt of Lieut. Gen. Stoessel's report of the fight at Kinchou, this, together with the fact that Gen. Stoessel commands at Port Arthur, giving rise to the rumor that the garrison had made a sortie.

Green Plague in Russian Camp. A new disease, called "green plague," has broken out among the Russians quartered in Chinese houses in Mukden. The eyesight is first affected, after which green spots appear on the body. The disease is highly contagious and in a majority of cases fatal. The doctors are baffled. The Chinese seem to be immune.

A cat will not look at a king if there is a mouse in sight.

No. 1 indicates New Chwang, reported to have been bombarded by Japanese troops, which landed at Yinkow and cut off Russian retreat from Port Arthur. Kinkow is indicated by No. 2 and Port Arthur by No. 3. No. 4 shows the Japs landing at Tausuchan and No. 5 indicates a Russian post on the Yalu river. No. 6 shows where the Russians were forced to cross the river in flight and hundreds were drowned.

TIE-UP ON LAKE AFFECTS TRADE

Inability to Adjust Wages for Marine Workers Reduces Freight Traffic.

BETTER OUTLOOK IN COUNTRY

Agricultural Conditions Are Reported to Be Much Improved—May Wheat at Chicago Shows Big Advance—Live Stock and Provisions.

Chicago Special: Dun's weekly review of Chicago trade says:

"The protracted tie-up of lake commerce has remained the most significant barrier to a close return to normal business activity. Notwithstanding that drawback and its adverse effect upon receipts of lumber, coal and ore, the forwarding of food stuffs reached the heaviest aggregate in two months past, making a considerable addition to railroad traffic.

"Following the strike settlement and resumption of building work there was a strong demand for materials of all kinds for structural purposes and dealers reduced stocks at firm prices. Receipts of farm products declined owing to the rush in completing seeding, but railroad earnings are reaping the benefit of heavier passenger carrying.

Country Conditions Improve.

"Reports emphasize much improvement in agricultural conditions, especially throughout Illinois, and dealings reflect enlarged consumption of necessities both in city and country. Stocks of heavy weight wear have been measurably reduced and the demand has turned to the lines adapted to warm weather. The local buying at retail was well distributed and strongest in dress goods and footwear. Wholesale transactions were steady in dry goods, clothing and men's furnishings, with records more numerous. Mercantile collections have continued satisfactory.

Pig Iron Is Weak.

"Aside from a weakness in the price of pig iron, the manufacturing branches exhibit no material change. The new order represents a moderate tonnage in furnace product and finished steel. There was a steady demand for farm implements and machinery and larger deliveries appear in heavy and shelf hardware. Receipts of lumber were 27,469,000 feet, compared with 41,709,000 feet a year ago. Shipments ran larger than the fresh arrivals, the country needs having gained, and prices maintained firmness. Furniture and mill works report increased outside demand and capacity well engaged for the season. Receipts of hides were 2,667,118 pounds, compared with 3,726,181 pounds the previous week and 1,586,000 pounds a year ago.

Grain and Live Stock.

"Grain shipments were 2,742,345 bushels, while the best aggregate recently reported is 30 per cent under those a year ago. Dealings in the coarse grains showed improved demand. The market for cash wheat and flour was very narrow. Compared with closings a week ago, May wheat advanced 9 cents per bushel, due to speculative influences, and corn gained 1 cent, while oats were practically unchanged. Provisions were in less request for export, and although less freely offered than during last week values declined in pork 35 cents per barrel, in lard 17 1/2 cents and in ribs 15 cents. Receipts of live stock were 239,754 head, compared with 239,345 head the previous week and 275,223 head a year ago. The best mutton sheep held steady, but choice beefs declined 15 cents per hundredweight and hogs shrunk 10 cents.

"Failures reported in Chicago district number twenty-four, against thirty the previous week and thirty-eight a year ago."

THIRTEEN PERISH WITH SHIP

Coal Steamer Strikes Rock and Sinks in Fog Off Cape Breton.

North Sydney, N. S., Special: The worst marine disaster in the history of the St. Lawrence river coal trade occurred off Cape North, the northernmost point of Cape Breton, when the British steamer Turret Bay, laden with coal and bound from Sydney to Montreal, struck on the rocks off St. Paul's island and sank in deep water twenty minutes later, causing a loss of thirteen lives. Only nine men of a crew of twenty-two were saved.

Porters Must Depend on Tips.

New York Dispatch: The negro porters at the Grand Central station, who were drawing salaries of $16 per month, have been laid off the pay roll and will have to depend on tips received from the traveling public. It is said that each porter averages $60 per month from the tips alone.

Discover Oil in Indiana.

Laporte, Ind., Special: A fine flow of lubricating oil has been discovered at a depth of 298 feet on the farm of George Cole, near Chesterton. Much excitement has been caused and scores of the farmers in the vicinity are preparing to drill for the product.

Rock Misses Fair Colfer.

Ardmore, Pa., dispatch: Miss Frances C. Griscom, a daughter of Clement A. Griscom, the steamship capitalist, had a narrow escape from being killed while playing golf. A big piece of blasted rock flew by within an inch of her head.

THE GIRL AT THE HALFWAY HOUSE

A STORY OF THE PLAINS
BY E. HOUGH, AUTHOR OF THE STORY OF THE COWBOY
Copyrighted, 1908, by D. Appleton & Company, New York

CHAPTER XXV.—Continued.

The sun came on, valiantly stripped bare, knowing what was to be. Still louder rose the requiem of the wire. The sky smiled on. There was no token to strike with alarm these human beings, their faculties dulled by a thousand years of differentiation.

To the north there appeared a long, black cloud, hanging low as the trail of some far-off locomotive, new upon the land. All at once the cloud sprang up, unfurling tattered battle flags, and hurrying to meet the sun upon the zenith battle ground.

Once the wind pelted the slant snow through the interstices of the grasses upon the furry back of the cowering coyote. Now they found a new sport in driving the icy powder through the cracks of the loose board shanty, upon the stripped back of the mother huddling her sobbing children against the empty, impotent stove, perhaps wrapping her young in the worn and whitened robe of the buffalo taken years ago. For it was only the buffalo, though now departed, which held the frontier for America in this unprepared season, the Christmas of the Great Cold. The robes saved many of the children, and now and then a mother also.

The men who had no fuel did as their natures bid, some dying at the ice-bound stove and others in the open on their way for fuel. Mishap passed by but few of the remoter homes found unprepared with fuel, and Christmas day, deceitfully fair, dawned on many homes that were to be fatherless, motherless, or robbed of a first-born. Thus it was that from this, the hardest and most self-reliant population ever known on earth, there rose the heartbroken cry for comfort and for help, the frontier for the first time begging aid to hold the skirmish line.

Sam Poston came into the office go some day." His words drove Franklin again to his feet, and he walked up and down, his face gone pinched and old.

At dawn the wind lulled. The clouds swept by and the sun shone for an hour over a vast landscape buried under white. Sam was ready to start, having worked half the night making runners for a sled at which his wild team snorted in the terror of unacquaintedness. The sled box was piled full of robes and coal and food and liquor—all things that seemed needful and which could hurriedly be secured.

With perfect horsemanship Sam drove his team rapidly on to the south, five miles, ten miles, fifteen, the horses now warming up, but still restless and nervous, even on the way so familiar to them from their frequent journeys. The steam of their breath enveloped the travelers in a wide, white cloud. The rude runners crushed into and over the packed drifts, or along the sandy grime where the wind had swept the earth bare of snow. In less than an hour they would see the Halfway House. They would know whether or not there was smoke.

But in less than two hours on that morning of deceit the sun was lost again. The winds piped up, the cold continued, and again there came the blinding snow, wrapping all things in its dancing, dizzy mist.

"The wind's just on my right cheek," said Sam, putting up a mitten. "But where's it gone?"

"You're frozen, man!" cried Franklin. "Pull up, and let me rub your face."

"No, no, we can't stop," said Sam, catching up some snow and rubbing his white cheeks as he drove. "Keep the wind on your right cheek—we're over the Sand Run now, I think, and on the long ridge, back of the White which looked questioningly back at him, their heads drooping, their breath freezing upon their coats in spiculae of white.

"Wait!" cried Franklin. "I know this hole! I've been here before. The team's come here for shelter—"

"Oh, it's the White Woman breaks—why, sure!" cried Sam in return. "Yes, that's where it is. We're less than half a mile from the house. Wait, now, and let me think. I've got to figure this out a while."

"It's off there," said Sam, pointing across the coulee; "but we can't get there."

"Yes, we can, old man; yes, we can!" insisted Franklin. "I'll tell you. Let me think. Good God! why can't I think? Yes—see here, you go down the bottom of this gully to the mouth of the coulee, and then we turn to the left—no, it's to the right—and you bear up along the side of the draw till you get to the ridge, and then the house is right in front of you. Listen now! The wind's northwest, and the house is west of the head of the coulee; so the mouth is east of us, and that brings the wind on the left cheek at the mouth of the coulee, and it comes more and more on the right cheek as we turn up the ridge; and it's on the front half of the right cheek when we face the house. I'm sure that's right—wait, I'll mark it out here in the snow. God! how cold it is! It must be right. Come on; come! We must try it, anyway."

"We may hit the house, Cap," said Sam calmly, "but if we miss it we'll go God knows where! Anyhow, I'm with you, an' if we don't turn up, we can't help it, an' we done our best."

"Come," cried Franklin once more. "Let's get to the mouth of the coulee. I know this place perfectly."

And so, advancing and calling, and waiting while Sam fought the stubborn horses with lash and rein out of the shelter which they coveted, Franklin led out of the flat coulee, into the wider draw, and edged up and up to the right, agonizedly repeating to himself, over and over again, the instructions he had laid down, and which the dizzy whirl of the snow mingled ever confusedly in his mind. At last they had the full gale again in their faces as they reached the level of the prairies, and cast loose for what they thought was west, fearfully, tremblingly, the voyage a quarter of a mile, the danger infinitely great; for beyond lay only the cruel plains and the bitter storm—this double norther of a woeful Christmas tide.

Once again Providence aided them, by agency of brute instinct. One of the horses threw up its head and neighed, and then both pressed forward eagerly. The low moan of penned cattle came down the wind. They crashed into a fence of lath. They passed its end—a broken, rattling end, that trailed and swept back and forth in the wind.

"It's the chicken corral," cried Sam, "an' it's down! They've been burnin'—"

"Go on! Go on—hurry!" shouted Franklin, bending down his head so that the gale might not quite rob him of his breath, and Sam urged on the now willing horses.

They came to the sod barn, and here they left the team that had saved them, not pausing to take them from the harness. They crept to the low and white-banked wall in which showed two windows, glazed with frost. They could see the chimney plainly, but it carried no smell of smoke. The stairway leading down to the door of the dugout was missing, the excavation which held it was drifted full of snow, and the snow bore no track of human foot. All was white and silent. It might have been a vault far in the frozen northern sea.

ADMIRAL TOGO'S CADET DAYS.

Reminiscences of the Foremost Japanese Admiral.

A retired English naval officer, who, when a lad, was on board the training ship Worcester at the same time as the prominent Japanese Admiral Togo, tells the following reminiscences:

Togo was constantly the victim of all manner of chaff from the young Britishers on board, who called him "One-go-two-go-three-go." Disliked at first, perhaps because he was unlike his mates, he grew in popularity on account of his remarkably alert mind and agile body, until at length he became a general favorite with officers and boys.

He stood all chaff with a certain amount of bravado, unless it touched on his resemblance to the Chinese. To one fellow sailor who dubbed him a Chinaman he said with emphasis: "You wait; when I am 'the' admiral I hang you on the yardarm."

One day that Togo had his leave stopped for some small offense, "Liberty boys to go ashore" was piped, and the boys went up to him and said, "Are you to go?" "No," he replied. Immediately the youngsters got round him and pinched him for telling lies, shouting at the same time, "You are Togo!"

His Christian name being rather difficult to pronounce, Togo was told by one of the boys to shoot his godfather and godmother on his return home. "We do not shoot gods in Japan," was his reply.

Traveling Together.
"Where's that dude hunter?"
"Oh, he left me to go after a bear."
"When's he coming back?"
"Whenever the bear does."

Couldn't Find It.
"Why don't you appeal to his conscience?"
"I'd have to locate it first, and I have no microscope."

PASSING OF THE GRAND ARMY

The object of the Grand Army in its relation to civil life, and aside from its traditional association and charitable work, was to organize the victory which had been won on the field of battle. The post rooms become schools of loyalty, where reverence for the flag as the symbol of the nation has been persistently inculcated and where the national idea has been constantly exalted. Then came the work in the schools of which mention has been made and whereof all the land knows.

It is not too much to say that owing to the far-reaching influence of the Grand Army of the Republic more than to anything else the flag is now universally revered, and there is no longer any question in the land, either in the North or South, that the American people now constitute a nation.

Day after day, as the glory of their achievements in all the arts of peace is finding new acknowledgment in every quarter of the globe, there comes new evidence that they are a unit—the world encompassing power of the future—great, glorious, invincible.

But what of the men who won this priceless heritage in the most stupendous struggle of the modern age? They are passing, passing, swiftly passing. More than ever now each annual encampment brings home the tragedy of death in life. More than ever now each annual encampment emphasizes the grim, solemn fact that soon—all too soon—the Grand Army of the Republic, with all that it symbolizes, will be nothing but a tradition. Figures that do not lie give much food for thought—sad, introspective thought.

In April, 1865, more than a million of men were in the military service of the United States. To these must be added a roll of names which at that time numbered over three hundred and fifty thousand—the grand army of the dead.

During the four years of the desperate conflict altogether 2,859,132 men had been enrolled in the military service. There had been killed in battle 67,058; died of wounds and other injuries, 43,032; of disease, 224,586, and from causes not classified, 24,852—a total death roll of 359,528.

This vast army had taken part in more than two thousand engagements, sands will be no more. That is what the passing of the Grand Army of the Republic means.

And try to realize, too, what sentiment clusters round that thought. It will be fresh, vivid, real in the minds of each and every one of those marching thousands—the men who fought and suffered for a glorious cause—the passing of the Grand Army of the Republic.

But notwithstanding this sad decrease it has been suggested that the membership ought to increase year by year. There are still living over 900,000 of the men who were part of that grand army of the sixties, and of that number less than 75,000 are over 64 years old. Short, therefore, as it may be, the Grand Army may still look forward to a glorious future.—From a speech delivered at the last national encampment of the G. A. R.

BEECHER AT FORT SUMTER.

The Rehoisting of the Stars and Stripes in Glory.

Since this flag went down on that dark day who shall tell the mighty woes that have made this land a spectacle to angels and men? The soil has drunk blood and is gutted. Millions mourn for myriads slain, or, envying the dead, pray for oblivion. Towns and villages have been razed. Fruitful fields have been turned back to wilderness. It came to pass, as the prophet said:

"The sun was turned to darkness and the moon to blood."

The course of law was ended. The sword sat chief magistrate in half the nation; industry was paralyzed; morals corrupted; the public weal invaded by rapine and anarchy; whole states ravaged by avenging armies. The world was amazed. The earth reeled.

When the flag sank here it was as if political night had come, and all the beasts of prey had come forth to devour. That long night is ended. And for this returning day we have come from afar to rejoice and give thanks.

No more war. No more accursed secession. No more slavery, that spawned them both.

Let no man misread the meaning of this unfolding flag. It says:

"Government has returned hither."

Dairying in Mexico.

Mr. Lespinasse, the United States consul at Tuxpan, Mexico, in a report to the government, says: The old methods of milking, churning, and general manipulation of milk products are still in existence here, thereby rendering it impossible to produce good butter. Cows are allowed to roam over the grazing lands and are rarely sheltered or given the least care. The milking process is performed in the most unskilled manner conceivable. The cow is tied by the head, and the operator proceeds to milk the animal in his rough and unsystematic manner until he finally forces a quart or two of inferior milk from the cow's udder. The milk is placed in ropy wooden vessels and transferred to some shed or outhouse, where it is allowed to remain unprotected over night. The following morning the cream is skimmed and either beaten with a forked stick or violently agitated in a bottle until the butter granules are formed. It is then indifferently washed and offered as butter. It quickly turns rancid. It sells at from 30 to 40 cents per pound United States money, and is good neither to look at nor to taste. The sour milk is compressed in a coarse cloth, salted and allowed to dry for several days. It is then an insipid, spongy mass, which sells for from 5 to 8 cents (U. S.) a cheese. Each of these cheeses is round, about an inch thick and about 8 inches in diameter. They find a quick sale in this market. Such a thing as the most simple, modern dairy appliance is unknown or at least not used.

New Meat Preservative.

A new meat curing process is reported from Germany, where Professor Emmerich claims to be able to preserve meat in a fresh condition by injecting into the veins of the dead animal acetic acid. The blood is first permitted to run out and then the acid is put in. It permeates the flesh, so the professor claims, and that prevents all decay and makes the use of refrigeration unnecessary. It is obvious that if this process proves to be all that is claimed for it, it will revolutionize the meat curing industry, as acetic acid is not an expensive preservative. The reports say that meat so cured has been shipped from Germany to South African ports and was found on arriving at its destination to be of good quality and perfectly preserved. Our readers must remember however that great things are claimed for all new processes.

Feeding the Bull.

The feeding of the bull is a very important matter, more so than the feeding of the cow, for the reason that the bull is generally kept up all the time. Under such an abnormal condition he becomes too fat if he is fed a too large ration of corn. It is better to feed him on a mixed grain ration, including oats, and to give him a rough feed rich in nitrogen rather than rich in carbon. Bran, which is comparatively low in carbon and high in nitrogen, should be a part of the daily ration. For the bull at least roots should be fed in considerable quantities, unless he has an abundance of exercise, which most of our bulls do not get. If under a properly balanced ration the bull becomes too fat it is indicative of a lack of vigor, and such a bull should be disposed of and one substituted that has the vigor desired.

Reject Decayed Food.

The farmer is sometimes tempted to feed decayed or musty food to his poultry. It should never be done. Just what effect it might have on the eggs produced by the fowls we do not know, but it may have a very serious effect on the digestive apparatus. We have seen it urged not to feed such foods because they would give to the eggs the same taints they had themselves, but this may be doubted. One writer tries to prove his case by asserting that onions fed to fowls produced the smell of onions in the eggs. This may well be true, as the onion contains a very penetrating oil that will pass through the systems of most animals. It will appear in the egg of the hen or the milk of the cow. But that does not apply to the general run of foods. They should be rejected, but rejected for the reason that they endanger the health of the birds.

Green Manuring Crops.

There are many soils that are not benefited by green manuring crops. Such soils are those already rich in nitrogen and in humus. An investigation by the University of Illinois has shown that on many of the soils in Illinois an addition of humus and of nitrogen would be a positive detriment. This leads to the remark that we must have a reason for every farm operation. The green manure crop is needed on the soil that is deficient in humus and nitrogen, but is labor lost on many other soils. It is obvious that we cannot lay down rules that can be followed blindly on all farms. The green manuring crop is valuable where it is needed, but worthless or worse, where it is not needed. The intelligence of every farmer must determine the necessity for each operation on the farm.

Many failures with incubators are due entirely to ignorance in those trying to run them. In this, as in everything else, a person must learn how.

"Whoa, Jack! Whoa, Bill! Git out o' here!"

where Franklin sat on Christmas eve, listening to the clinking rattle of the hard snow on the pane. Sam was white from head to foot. His face was anxious, his habitual uncertainty and diffidence were gone.

"Cap," said he, with no prelude, "the whole country below'll be froze out. The blizzard's awful."

"I know it," said Franklin. "We must get out with help soon as we can. How far down do you think the danger line begins?"

"Well, up to three or four miles out it's thicker settled, an' most o' the folks could git into town. As far out as thirty miles to the south, they might git a little timber yet, over on the Smoky. The worst strip is fifteen to twenty-five mile below."

Franklin felt a tightening at his heart. "About fifteen to twenty five miles?" he said. Sam nodded. Both were silent.

"Look here, Cap," said the driver presently, "you've allus told me not to say nuthin' 'bout the folks down to the Halfway house, an' I hain't said a thing. I 'low you got jarred down there some. I know how that is. All the same, I reckon maybe you sorter have a leanin' that way still. You may be worried some—"

Franklin groaned as he sank into a chair, his face between his hands. Then he sprang up. "We must go!" he cried.

"I know it," said Sam simply. "Get ready!" exclaimed Franklin, reaching for his coat.

"What do you mean, Cap—now?" "Yes, to-night—at once."

"You d—d fool!" said Sam. "You coward!" cried Franklin.

"What! Are you afraid to go out when people are freezing—when—?" Sam rose to his feet, his slow features working. "That ain't right, Cap," said he. "I know I'm scared to do some things, but I—I don't believe I'm no coward. I ain't afraid to go down there, but I won't go to-night, ner let you go, fer it's the same as death to start now. We couldn't maybe make it in the daytime, but I'm willin' to try it then. Don't you call no coward to me. It ain't right."

Franklin again cast himself into his chair, his hand and arm smiting on the table. "I beg your pardon, Sam," said he presently. "I know you're not a coward. We'll start together in the morning. But it's killing me to wait. Good God! they may be freezing now, while we're here, warm and safe!"

"That's so," said Sam sentimentally. "We can't help it. We all got to Woman. It can't be over two miles more. Git along, boys. Whoa! What's the matter there?"

The horses had stopped plunging at something which they could not pass. "Good God!" cried Franklin, "whose fence is that? Are we at Buford's?"

"No," said Sam, "this must be at old man Hancock's. He fenced across the old road, and we had to make a jog around his d—d broom-corn field. It's only a couple o' miles now to Buford's."

"Shall I tear down the fence?" asked Franklin.

"No, it's no use; it'd only let us in his field, an' maybe we couldn't hit the trail on the fur side. We got to follow the fence a way. May God everlastingly damn any man that'll fence up the free range! Whoa, Jack! Whoa, Bill! Git out o' here! Git up!"

They tried to parallel the fence, but the horses edged away from the wind continually, so that it was difficult to keep eye upon the infrequent posts of the meagre, straggling fence that this man had put upon the "public lands."

"Hold on, Sam!" cried Franklin. "Let me out."

"That's right, Cap," said Sam. "Git out an' go on ahead a way, then holter to me, so's I kin come up to you. When we git around the corner we'll be all right."

But when they got around the corner they were not all right. At such times the mind of man is thrown off its balance, so that it does strange and irregular things. Both these men had agreed a moment ago that the wind should be on the right; now they disagreed, one thinking that Hancock's house was to the left, the other to the right, their ideas as to the direction of the Buford ranch being equally at variance. The horses decided it, breaking once again down wind, and striking a low-headed, sullen trot, as though they would out-march the storm. And so the two argued, and so they rode, until at last there was a lurch and a crash, and they found themselves in rough going, the sled half overturned, with no fence, no house, no landmark of any sort visible, and the snow drifting thicker than before. They sprang out and righted the sled, but the horses doggedly pulled on, plunging down and down; and they followed, clinging to reins and sled as best they might.

"We've lost the trail, but we done the best we could," said Sam doggedly, going to the heads of the horses, many of them of minor importance as to the number of men engaged or results attained, while others were mighty battles which strained all the resources and tested the fullest powers of endurance of the great opposing armies, to an extent which must make the legend, which floated from a banner stretched across the front of the Capitol, while the conquerors were marching by during those two memorable days of the grand spectacular peace review: "The Only National Debt We Never Can Pay is the Debt We Owe the Victorious Union Soldiers," ring down the ages forever.

It was out of all this that the Grand Army of the Republic grew into being in 1878, with a membership of only 31,016, out of all those hundreds of thousands of veterans. But its growth was inevitable—as inevitable as its decline and death. In 1890 the organization reached the high-water mark with an enrollment of 469,489, since which time it has diminished at the rate of two, three, four, five, six, seven, yes, and even eight thousand a year and more. In 1892 the roll had sunk to 263,745. In that year alone 8,200 answered their final summons.

Pause for a moment and think what that means. Over eight thousand members passing away every year and the ratio increasing rapidly. Can your mind grasp the figures in all their pathetic significance? Eight thousand every year, and soon it may be nine, ten, eleven—who shall say how many more thousands—till the roster is totally effaced.

Stand on the street when the men who have come to live over again the stirring days of the past go marching by. Count them if you can and you will find that there are nearly eight thousand in line. It is an imposing array; a vast host, the like of which is rarely seen in one tense, eager body. And then let your mind try to grasp the thought that before another year has passed all those marching thou-

Shortness of Breath Is One of the Commonest Signs of Heart Disease.

Notwithstanding what many physicians say, heart disease can be cured. Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure has permanently restored to health many thousands who had found no relief in the medicines (allopathic or homoeopathic) of regular practicing physicians. It has proved itself unique in the history of medicine, by being so uniformly successful in curing those diseases.

Nearly always, one of the first signs of trouble is shortness of breath. Whether it comes as a result of walking or running up stairs, or of other exercises, if the heart is unable to meet this extra demand upon its pumping powers—there is something wrong with it.

The very best thing you can do, is to take Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. It will go to the foundation of the trouble, and make a permanent cure by strengthening and renewing the nerves.

"I know that Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a great remedy. For a number of years I suffered from shortness of breath, smothering spells, and pains in my left side. For months at a time I would be unable to lie on my left side, and if I lay flat on my back would nearly smother. A friend advised using Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which I did with good results. I began to improve at once, and after taking several bottles of the Heart Cure the pains in my side and other symptoms vanished. I am now entirely well. All those dreadful smothering spells are a thing of the past."—F. P. DRAKE, Middletown, O.

The Indiana building at the World's Fair, St. Louis, will be dedicated at 2 P. M., June 3, 1904. A very elaborate program has been arranged, with a reception by the Governor of Indiana and members of the commission.

Bourbon property owners are suffering from petty thieves, who confiscate their flowers and destroy the shrubbery and lawns. We presume that this is the only form of excitement, which is obtainable by the youths, in that staid old city.

There is probably no town in Marshall county aside from Plymouth that does so large a postal business as the Culver postoffice. One can scarcely believe it until he sees it that so large amount of mail matter is distributed daily and weekly by this postoffice.

Clyde Jones, the abductor of Nellie Berger, the Deedsville girl, and whose escapade furnished northern Indiana plenty of excitement a few years ago died Friday in the hospital of the prison North. Death resulted from consumption.

Lawrence Emenacker, who was caught in the fly-wheel of an engine at the Tribune office, five weeks ago and so badly mangled that his life was despaired of, is now nearly recovered from the terrible experience, and with the exception of the scars upon his head is no worse for it. He will be able to leave the house again within a week.—Plymouth Democrat.

A considerable number of the lady school teachers of our county spend their summer vacation in traveling, and come back to their schools from some mountain retreat or some lake resort with new ideas and illustrations to use in their schools. This year the direction of the teachers who will go away is toward St. Louis exposition. It will afford them many valuable aids to their school work the coming year.

A smooth swindler has been working in Indiana selling subscriptions to the Ladies' Home Journal and Delinator, and incidentally offering goods by sample. The man's plan is to call at a house and after making a special inducement for subscription at a marvelously low figure insist that he be paid fifty cents. None of his victims ever hear of him after placing the orders and paying their money in advance.

Shirt Waists at the World's Fair.

In these early days it already appears inevitable that the shirt waist must be the only garb above the belt for men, says a St. Louis correspondent. Women are already appareled for long walks under the sun. The man who clings to his coat and vest, while they likewise cling to him, may find himself hurried in an ambulance to a place where he can be picked in ice. It is not the heat that he must contend with, but the unavoidable walking. Do not think you are going to look stylish, for beauty you must depend on the gifts of nature mostly unadorned. The plug-batted foreigner will have to unbind. He will be compelled to descend to our level of comfort and dishabille. The costumes of the seaside grafted upon that of Cuba is the one for doing the fair. Don't forget it, leave your vest at home and bring a gripsack full of negligees. Then you will feel perfectly at your ease when you attain the summit of slight-seeing bliss upon the Pike.

LA FOLLETTE IS THEIR CHOICE

Governor Is Renominated for the Third Term at Madison.

ALL OLD OFFICERS NOMINATED

Adherents of Wisconsin Executive Hold Harmonious Convention After the Opposition Breaks Away—Platform Indorses Roosevelt.

Delegates at Large.—Robt. M. La Follette, W. D. Connor, Isaac Stephenson, James P. Stout, Electors at Large.—Charles F. Isley, A. R. Wall, State Ticket, For Governor—Robert M. La Follette, For Lieutenant Governor—James O. Davidson, For Secretary of State—Walter L. Houser, For Attorney General—L. M. Shudevant, For Treasurer—John J. Kempf, For Insurance Commissioner—Zeno M. Host, For Railroad Commissioner—John W. Thomas.

Madison, Wis., dispatch: By a convention comprised strictly of his own delegates—555 out of 1,065 accredited to the convention—Gov. Robert M. La Follette was nominated for a third time to lead the republican state ticket in Wisconsin. The remainder of the allotment of delegates had bolted and were engaged in the work of nominating an opposition ticket.

With the absence of all opposition, every question which came before the convention went through with a rush, not a dissenting vote or objection being offered to a single proposition. The feature of the convention was the appearance of Gov. La Follette before the convention after he had been officially notified of his nomination. Gov. La Follette was accorded an enthusiastic reception. In his speech of acceptance he reviewed the work of his two administrations and scored the opposition for failure to carry out the promise contained in the party platforms. The resolutions adopted indorsed the national and state administrations.

Gov. La Follette, in his speech of acceptance, dwelt at length upon the taxation question governing public service corporations. He said, in part: "Those gentlemen in this state who have arrayed themselves against an administration which has sought simply to secure equal and just rates for all shippers in Wisconsin similarly situated, must be brought to understand that the republican president of this country has declared principle, standstill specifically: 'The rates of the railroads should be, and must be, open to all shippers alike.' He further proclaims that the shippers shall not be left single-handed and alone to contest with the powerful corporations of this country for those rights. He says that it is the duty of the government to see to it that such equal rights and equal privileges are furnished to all."

The platform indorses President Roosevelt, declares for the protection of American labor, and pledges support to the president and the interstate commerce commission in their efforts to secure relief from the burdens of public service corporations.

HAT PURLOINER IS GIVEN LIFE
Judge Says Man Twice Convicted Must Die in Penitentiary.

Mason, Mich., special: Judge West sentenced Lewis Oliver, guilty of stealing $3 and two hats to life in Marquette prison. It was his third offense for burglary and the court acted under the law providing that where a prisoner has twice been sentenced for felony and is again arrested, he may be sentenced for life. Oliver has been arrested a number of times and the court thought it well to rid society of such a character.

DESPERATE STRUGGLE FOR LIFE
Man Cuts Steps in Side of Deep Hole With Sharp Stone.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., special: John Sabolick has narrowly escaped death in a hole 150 feet deep, caused by cave-in near Stockton. While returning from a fishing trip he fell into the hole and rolled nearly to the bottom, where an old prop saved him from drowning. The sides of the cave-in were at an angle of 80 degrees, and Sabolick was only able to get out after eight hours' struggle, during which he cut steps up the side with a sharp stone.

POLITICS CAUSE OF A SUICIDE
Man Cuts His Throat on Hearing of La Follette's Nomination.

Applinton, Wis., special: M. P. Griswold lying in bed at St. Elizabeth's hospital here, fatally cut his throat with a razor which he secured under pretense of wanting to shave himself. A few minutes before he had received word that Gov. La Follette had been renominated. He was the governor's bitter political enemy.

DRUNKARDS ARE TO MINE COAL
Iowa Plans to Employ the Inmates of the Inebriate Hospital.

Des Moines, Iowa, dispatch: Iowa drunkards will be forced to work in coal mines, according to present plans of the state board of control. It is planned to buy extensive coal land at the new inebriate hospital near Knoxville and put the men sent to the institution at work to supply all state institutions with fuel at actual cost of production.

ANTIS NOMINATE SAMUEL A. COOK

Opposition Convention Is Held by Republicans in Badger State.

IS APPROVED BY THE SENATORS

Spooner and Quarles Take Sides With the Element in the Party That Is Fighting Gov. La Follette—Presidential Electors Are Identical.

Delegates at Large.—John C. Spooner, Joseph W. Babcock, Joseph V. Quarles, Emil Baensch, STATE TICKET, For Governor—Samuel A. Cook, For Lieutenant Governor—George H. Ray, For Secretary of State—Nels P. Holman, For State Treasurer—Gustav Wollaefer, For Attorney General—Judge D. E. Classon, For Railroad Commissioner—Charles Barker, For Insurance Commissioner—J. C. Roenitz.

Madison, Wis., dispatch: Charging Gov. La Follette with treason to the party, Senator John C. Spooner, Senator Quarles, and other leaders of the anti-third term republicans indorse the work of the so-called bolters' convention which placed a second state ticket in the field. The anti-third termers' convention, which nominated Samuel A. Cook for governor, was the most impassioned gathering ever held in the state.

The feature of the day included the release of more than 400 delegates pledged to Judge Emil Baensch, by a short, eloquent speech by their leader, the slogan of which was "party peace." When Judge Baensch sat down every delegate was ready to vote for Cook's nomination.

Indorse Opposition Electors.
So careful were the antis to insure the state to Roosevelt that they chose electors identical with those picked by the La Follette men.

The determination of the legal right of the two sets of national delegates will devolve upon the national convention. Gov. La Follette will likely be pitted against Senator Spooner in this debate before the committee on credentials.

Each side is now anxiously awaiting to see if the other will place in the field rival candidates for the legislature. This plan, if carried out, probably would mean a democratic legislature. Senator John C. Spooner denounced the La Follette delegates as the bolters and swore allegiance to the Cook following.

Senator Quarles and Congressman Babcock repeated the sentiment of Wisconsin's senior senator.

Speeches by Senators.
Senator Spooner, whose speech was the feature of the convention, declared that he appeared before the convention to indorse its action with regard to the La Follette convention, and that he would stand by the anti-third termers to the end.

Senator Quarles followed, declaring his allegiance to the anti-third termers, and denouncing what he termed the disgraceful effort of the La Follette men to steal the state convention. He declared the convention to be legally organized and possessing a proper majority, and ended: "If you go down to defeat I will go down with you."

The resolutions passed by the convention pay a tribute to the national standing of the Republican party, laud the present national administration, and contain a condemnation of the alleged faults of the La Follette state administration. In reference to Senator Spooner the resolutions say: "The re-election of John C. Spooner by the unanimous vote of the Republican members of the last legislature receives the heartiest approval of the entire people of the state. They also urge the re-election of Joseph V. Quarles."

FOUR BISHOPS ARE ELECTED
Belief That Two More Have Been Chosen on the Fifth Ballot.

Los Angeles, Cal., dispatch: At Thursday's session of the Methodist general conference two additional bishops were elected on the second ballot, and one on the fourth. The third ballot resulted in no election. The election of Dr. W. F. McDowell and Dr. Henry Spellmeyer was announced at the morning session, and Dr. J. W. Bashford was chosen on the fourth ballot, held in the afternoon.

A fifth ballot was held just before adjournment, and it is reasonably certain that Dr. William Burt and Dr. T. B. Neely were elected on this.

Four of the eight bishops to be elected who have thus far been chosen are as follows: Dr. Joseph F. Berry, Chicago; Dr. Henry Spellmeyer, Newark, N. J.; Dr. William F. McDowell, New York; James W. Bashford, Delaware, Ohio.

BANKER'S DAUGHTER A SUICIDE
Mrs. Constance Classon of Staten Island Ends Her Life.

New York special: Mrs. Constance Classon, daughter of Charles F. Zentgraf, president of the Staten Island Savings Bank and a millionaire manufacturer, was found dead in her home on Bard Hill, Staten Island. Death was due to carbolic acid poisoning. Mrs. Classon, according to her father, was subject to melancholia.

TIRED, SUFFERING WOMEN.

Women run down and endure daily tortures through neglecting the kidneys. Kidney backache makes housework a burden; rest is impossible; sleep fitful; appetite gives out and you are tired all the time. Can't be well until the kidneys are well. Use Doan's Kidney Pills, which have restored thousands of suffering women to health and vigor.

Mrs. William Wallace, of 18 Capitol St., Concord, N. H., says: "I was in the early stages of Bright's Disease, and were it not for Doan's Kidney Pills, I would not be living to-day. I ain in the back was so intense that at night I had to get out of bed until the paroxysm of pain passed away. I was languid and tired and hadn't the strength to lift a kettle of water. I could not work, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me, and two boxes absolutely cured me."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Wallace will be mailed to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box.

Free to Twenty-five Ladies.

The Defiance Starch Co. will give 25 ladies a round trip ticket to the St. Louis Exposition, to five ladies in each of the following states: Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri who will send in the largest number of trade marks cut from a ten-cent, 16-ounce package of Defiance cold water laundry starch. This means from your own home, anywhere in the above named states. These trade marks must be mailed to and received by the Defiance Starch Co., Omaha, Nebr., before September 1st, 1904. October and November will be the best months to visit the Exposition. Remember that Defiance is the only starch put up 16 oz. (a full pound) to the package. You get one-third more starch for the same money than of any other kind, and Defiance never sticks to the iron. The tickets to the Exposition will be sent by registered mail September 5th. Starch for sale by all dealers.

An Unattractive Ruler.

"When I saw his highness the Sultan of Sulu," says J. Hogan in Everybody's Magazine, "he was attired in tight-fitting, yellow-and-red striped trousers, a jacket of red silk with small white dots, black and white turban, and Chinese slippers. From his right hand flashed a large diamond, on his left he wore a beautiful pearl. He had a squat nose, blackened teeth, betel-red lips; he was not strong in uncomplimentary savary, but merely repulsive; a mixture of stupidity and viciousness. Weakness and vacillation dominated his expression."

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is simply "that tired feeling," a lassitude caused by a starchy condition of the blood. The liver and bowels need a cleaning out in the spring and nothing is so effective and at the same time so pleasant to take as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Too many people make the skin do the work that the bowels and kidneys should do. A bilious, constipated condition means a yellow skin, lusterless eyes, foul breath, and a general worn out feeling. All this can be remedied by the use of Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepsin, which is sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine.

Midgets to Present Plays.

Mrs. Tom Thumb (the Countess Magri) and some two score other midgets have arrived in New York from Europe, having been brought to this country by an enterprising showman, who will establish a colony of lilliputians at Coney Island. With them comes a giant, who is 8 feet 3 inches tall. The midgets will give operas, dramas and other performances. They come from Buda-Pesth, where there is a colony of dwarfs.

The advance of civilization into Tibet still continues. Latest statistics: Tibetans, 200 killed; British, 4 killed, 21 wounded.

Those Who Have Tried It will use no other. Defiance Cold Water Starch has no equal in Quantity or Quality—16 oz. for 10 cents. Other brands contain only 12 oz.

A temperance lecturer walked in front of a passenger train down in Ohio just the same as a man does who mixes his drinks.

Why It Is the Best is because made by an entirely different process. Defiance Starch is unlike any other, better and one-third more for 10 cents.

Prof. Starr thinks the time is not far distant when the white race will be washing the yellow race's shirts.

Pise's Cure is the best medicine we ever used for all affections of the throat and lungs.—Wm. O. ENDSLEY, Vanburton, Ind., Feb. 10, 1900.

A woman is far more heroic than a man—as any shoe dealer will tell you.

ALL UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPERS Use Red Cross Ball Blue. It makes clothes clean and sweet as when new. All grocers.

Even the fellow who lives in an attic may look down on his neighbors.

GUNBOATS TO FOLLOW UNITED STATES FLAG

Rear Admiral "Bob" Evans Establishes New Rule for Dealing With Chinese Officials.

Washington dispatch: China has been informed that the United States claims the right to dispatch warships not only to those Chinese ports declared by treaty to be open to the world, but also upon the inland waters of China "wherever Americans may be, and where by treaty with China they are authorized to engage in business or reside for the purpose of spreading the gospel."

The state department publishes the correspondence between Mr. Conger, the American minister at Peking, and Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, late commander in chief of the Asiatic station, which followed a protest of the Chinese government against the visit of the gunboat Villalobos last summer in the Yangtze valley, whither it was ordered by Rear Admiral Evans to gather such information about the Americans residing there as would be of assistance in rendering them prompt assistance in case of an expected native outbreak against foreigners.

The taoti of Kiukiang protested to the American consul at Hankow against the visit of the Villalobos to Nanchang on the ground that "bad men" inhabited that section. Minister Conger called on Admiral Evans for the facts. A long correspondence ensued, Admiral Evans stoutly maintaining American warships had the right to go wherever Americans were allowed to reside and engage in business. Secretary Hay has approved the stand taken by Admiral Evans.

Minister Conger sent this note to Rear Admiral Evans:

"I shall be pleased to have you point out to me the provisions of the treaty which give our gunboats the right to go wherever they please in the interior of the empire except on rivers leading to open ports."

"In reply," wrote Admiral Evans, "I may be unable to point out any specific paragraph granting this general authority, but I consider it my duty to watch over and protect the lives and property of the citizens of our country who may be in China, engaged in any lawful pursuit."

OLD FREMONT VOTERS TO MEET

Plan to Take Part in Fiftieth Republican Anniversary at Jackson.

Jackson, Mich., dispatch: A state convention of those citizens of Michigan who voted for Gen. John C. Fremont for president in 1856 was held here. The purpose of the convention was to make arrangements for the representation of the Fremont voters at the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the Republican party "under the oaks" at Jackson July 6 and also for the purpose of taking steps for the preparation of a roster of all living Fremont voters of Michigan to be filed with the state historical society. Silver-haired veterans, followers of the "pathfinder" as delegates were here from nearly every county in Michigan. There were about 200 present.

SOLDIERS ARREST UNION MEN

Refuse to Be Registered, the Protection Sought Against Fires.

Trinidad, Colo., special: One hundred striking union coal miners who refused to be registered by the military authorities of Las Animas county, which is under martial law, were brought to this city as military prisoners from the strikers' camp near Ludlow. They were forced to march eighteen miles under cavalry escort. As the county jail is already full, a bull pen will be constructed, in which the strikers will be herded. Major Zeph T. Hill, commanding the military forces, decided on the policy of registering all the 3,000 idle men in the county, in consequence of a number of fires that have occurred in the vicinity of the strikers' camps.

EPISCOPAL MONASTERY OPENS

Many Monks and Nuns Take Part in Impressive Ceremonies.

West Park, N. Y., dispatch: With impressive ritualistic ceremonies the first monastery established in the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York was dedicated May 15. The ceremony brought from far and near the representatives of the Catholic party in the church. Monks in cowls and girdled with cords, nuns in habits of black and carrying crucifixes to part. Smoking censers and long candles were features of the impressive scene. Practically every church of the ritualistic branch of the Protestant Episcopal church in the country was represented.

BANKER GUILTY OF LARCENY

Lumbermen Adopt Inspection System.

Cincinnati Special: The seventh annual convention of the National Hardwood Lumber association completed its most important work, that of perfecting a more uniform system of inspection. It was decided to put the surveyor-general and about sixty inspectors on fixed salaries hereafter.

A prominent club woman, Mrs. Danforth, of St. Joseph, Mich., tells how she was cured of falling of the womb and its accompanying pains and misery by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Life looks dark indeed when a woman feels that her strength is fading away and she has no hopes of ever being restored. Such was my feeling a few months ago when I was advised that my poor health was caused by prolapsus or falling of the womb. The words sounded like a knell to me, I felt that my sun had set; but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to me as an elixir of life; it restored the lost forces and built me up until my good health returned to me. For four months I took the medicine daily and each dose added health and strength. I am so thankful for the help I obtained through its use."—MRS. FLORENCE DANFORTH, 1007 Miles Ave., St. Joseph, Mich.

A medicine that has restored so many women to health and can produce proof of the fact must be regarded with respect. This is the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which cannot be equalled by any other medicine the world has ever produced. Here is another case:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For years I was troubled with falling of the womb, irregular and painful menstruation, leucorrhoea, bearing-down pains, backache, headache, dizzy and fainting spells, and stomach trouble.

"I doctored for about five years but did not seem to improve. I began the use of your medicine, and have taken seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, three of Blood Purifier, and also used the Sensitive Wash and Liver Pills, and am now enjoying good health, and have gained in flesh.

I thank you very much for what you have done for me, as to all suffering women your medicine SYPDER, 218 East Center St., Marion, Ohio.

"FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO WOMEN."

Women would save time and much sickness if they would write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice as soon as any distressing symptoms appear. It is free, and has put thousands of women on the right road to recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence thus entrusted to her, and although she publishes thousands of testimonials from women who have been benefited by her advice and medicine, never in all her experience has she published such a letter without the full consent, and often by special request of the writer.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

THE MAN BEHIND THE GUN

Is our name for the patent Separating Grate and Cheek Plate in the famous RED RIVER SPECIAL THRESHER.

It has the Big Cylinder, with lots of concave and open grate surface.

It has the Man Behind the Gun, that does most of the separating right at the cylinder.

Besides these, it has all the separating capacity of other machines.

The average old-style small cylinder thresher wastes enough grain and time to pay your thresh bill.

Why not save the grain ordinarily put into the straw stack? Why not save the time which the ordinary threshing outfit wastes for you?

This can be done by employing the RED RIVER SPECIAL.

It runs right along, saving your grain and saving time, regardless of conditions.

TO COMPETE WITH THE BELL

A movement is being made for the establishment of an independent long distance telephone service to compete with the Bell Telephone company, heretofore having exclusive monopoly of all long distance phone communication. The proposed company intends to interest all local independent lines with which almost every city and town in the country is supplied, and to practically combine them by means of the measured service plan, the local subscribers of independent exchanges thereby having access to the use of the independent long distance line. This, when fully completed will enable a conversation to be carried on from New York to San Francisco.

Dragging Pains

2825 Keeley St.,
 CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 2, 1902.

I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groins. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui, that blessed remedy for sick women. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.

Maudie Bush

Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and blinding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.

Some Literary Inquiries.
Herbert Putnam, Librarian of Congress, was for a long time connected with the Boston public library. While in Boston Mr. Putnam met with many ludicrous experiences.
One day a very stern looking woman asked of the clerks for "The Recollections of a J. A. R." The clerk told her that he could not give her that book, but that he could give her "The Recollections of a Married Man."
"That will do," she answered. "It's practically the same thing."

Modern Cupid.
Some one met Cupid in a pair of goggles.
"At last we find love is really blind," they said.
"Oh, I'm not blind," said Cupid, quickly. "These are automobile goggles. I find more courtships in automobiles these days than anywhere else."

THE DANGER IN TUBERCULOSIS.
Its Presence Frequently Unsuspected Until Too Late.

"How do you know you haven't consumption?" asks Eugene Wood in Everybody's Magazine. "Plenty of men have consumption and pass for having better than ordinary health. They are a little more subject to colds than other people, and their joints are sore all the time. They cough a good deal, but who coughs long, lives long. "Don't live in a fool's paradise. The worst thing about consumption is that it isn't suspected to be consumption until it gets so far along that the fight becomes a hard one to win. If you could detect it in its earlier stages before the system had become weakened and worn out by the daily fever, you could easily get the victory. In New York the board of health will make a free microscopic examination of your sputum and tell you certainly whether it has tuberculosis germs in it or not. It ought to be so in every city, and in every village. It is the part of wisdom for a man to take stock of himself at least once a year on this point."

An Ohio Notary.
Salineville, O., May 23.—Mr. John W. Manning, Notary Public for Columbiana County, and one of the most respected men of the state, has caused to be published the following letter:

"About one year ago I was suffering terribly from Kidney Trouble. I saw an advertisement of a medicine called Dadd's Kidney Pills and sent for two boxes.
"In the meantime, I suffered awfully and as soon as I got the Pills, I began taking them according to directions and got almost immediate relief and I have this further to say, that after using the two boxes, I have never been troubled with my Kidneys since."

"I have recommended Dadd's Kidney Pills to others who have tried them, and everyone who used them has been cured. I think they are a great remedy and all that is claimed for them."

Mr. Manning's letter is a strong recommendation for Dadd's Kidney Pills and is worth the attention of all who suffer with Kidney troubles.

When Animals Faint.
The little gray dog tumbled headlong into the area and the maid, who happened to be standing there, closed the gate. When the dog saw she was safe from her two-legged pursuers she toppled over in a dead faint. At any rate the maid insisted that she fainted. The boarders, who crowded out into the area to help bring the little animal, derided the assertion, but the doctor that finally joined the group said there was nothing preposterous about it.
"Of course, she fainted," he said. "Lots of animals faint. Cats and dogs and even more stolid animals keel over in moments of fear and exhaustion. In the case of horses the prostration is generally attributed to stroke, but quite often they are knocked out by a plain, every-day faint instead of atmospheric excesses. Fowls faint, too, and the birds of the air. In fact, it is hard to find any living creature that doesn't topple over in crucial circumstances. If the lioness of the jungle were up on etiquette she would be just as much justified in carrying a camphor bottle as the finest lady in the land."—New York Press.

A Massachusetts Snake Story.
S. C. Bradley of Rockville and W. D. Cushman of Westfield had a quite remarkable experience hunting snakes in the North Cemetery in Tolland yesterday. They were at work when they noticed in a lot near by some black-snakes in the high, dry grass. Mr. Cushman at once began war on the snakes, and had a very lively skirmish for a few minutes, as some of the snakes were inclined to show fight. He killed ten, and only one or two got away. The last two were killed in a tree in which they had taken refuge. Mr. Cushman brought them to Rockville in a big box. The largest snake measured almost six feet long and the smallest snake was 3 1/2 feet long.—Springfield Republican.

WHAT THE KING EATS.
What's Fit for Him.
A Mass. lady who has been through the mill with the trials of the usual housekeeper and mother relates an interesting incident that occurred not long ago. She says:
"I can with all truthfulness say that Grape-Nuts is the most beneficial of all cereal foods in my family, young as well as old. It is food and medicine both to us. A few mornings ago at breakfast my little boy said:
"Mamma, does the King eat Grape-Nuts every morning?"
"I smiled and told him I did not know, but that I thought Grape-Nuts certainly made a delicious dish, fit for a King." (It's a fact that the King of England and the German Emperor both eat Grape-Nuts.)
"I find that by the constant use of Grape-Nuts not only as a morning cereal but also in puddings, salads, etc., made after the delicious recipes found in the little book in each package it is proving to be a great nerve food for me besides having completely cured a long standing case of indigestion." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.
"There is no doubt Grape-Nuts is the most scientific food in the world. Ten days' trial of this proper food in place of improper food will show in steady, stronger nerves, sharper brain and the power to "go" longer and further and accomplish more. There's a reason.
Look in each pkg. for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

IOWA OPPOSES TARIFF REVISION

"Stand Pat" Element Controls the Convention at Des Moines.

UNITES DISCORDANT FACTIONS
Declaration in Platform Favors Reciprocity in Non-Competitive Products Only—National Delegates Are Instructed for Theodore Roosevelt.

National delegates—At large—W. B. Allison, J. P. Dolliver, A. B. Cummins, J. W. Blythe, Alternates—D. H. Bowen, C. W. Grimm, F. W. Simmons, Frank R. Crocker.
District delegates—J. M. W. Bailey, C. A. Carpenter, G. W. French, G. M. Curtis, O. M. Gilbert, E. S. Ellsworth, A. H. Gale, Harry Green, S. J. W. Dossie, E. L. Clarke, S. H. L. Waterman, J. A. DeMuth, J. H. Henderson, Dr. J. Hostetter, S. W. P. Postman, H. R. Jaques, G. George Wright, W. S. Ellis, B. Mahlon Head, E. K. Winne, H. R. L. Cleaves, A. Van Der Helde.

Des Moines special: The Iowa delegation to the national Republican convention was selected by a state convention Wednesday, which declared itself opposed to tariff revision and in favor of a declaration of reciprocity on non-competitive articles only. The change from an advocate of the "Iowa idea" during three years to this attitude was affected by an almost unanimous vote, but over the protest of a minority of the resolutions committee.

An indorsement of tariff revision when necessary was rejected by the dominant faction, the "stand patters," and a declaration for a reciprocity which would not injure American industries or harm American labor was defeated by the committee on resolutions. And when the plank declaring for reciprocity in non-competitive products only was read to the convention the "stand pat" delegates shouted themselves hoarse in its indorsement.

Limits Reciprocity.
The original program of the "stand pat" element was carried out. This contemplated the adoption of a resolution to the effect that the Republicans of this state "Believe it unwise to seek markets abroad by sacrificing any part of the home market, and equally unwise to legislate in a manner to provoke American industries into making war upon one another," and the added declaration "for reciprocity in non-competitive products only."

Secretary Shaw addressed the convention to say that the principal issue in the campaign this year probably will be based on the claim that protected industries are selling abroad cheaper than at home. He declared that no Republican should be afraid to admit the truth of it and defend it, for, said he, but one-third of 1 per cent of the products sold abroad are sold cheaper than at home, and it is both good business and good state-manship.

Hepburn in Denunciation.
Congressman Hepburn, in an address which won for him his election as chairman of the state convention to be held here July 20, said that he wanted to repudiate with all the indignation of his nature the assaults which have been made on some of the great leaders who are dead, under the pretense that in their last utterance they recanted the views and beliefs of a lifetime.
"It is slander upon the reputation and character of the mighty dead," he said.

Congressman Hull of Des Moines was the permanent chairman. The temporary chairman was John N. Irwin of Keokuk, former minister to Portugal.

PINIONED UNDER ENGINE FIREMAN MAKES WILL
Last Act of Brave Man, Who Lay Crushed and Suffering, Was to Provide for His Family.

Tacoma, Wash., dispatch: Praying for his wife and child, penning them an affectionate letter, and executing his will, Fireman Downey, pinioned beneath the massive weight of his engine, suffering the acme of human agony, and conscious of his approaching death, was the calmest of the crowd that witnessed the pathetic scenes following the wreck of the Great Northern flyer at Monroe.
"I will have to die here, boys," he said. "You can't get me out."
Toward the last he asked for a pencil and paper, which were handed to him, and surrounded by hissing steam, crushed and mangled, he penciled a note to his wife and child in Seattle and made out his will. He handed these out from amid the wreckage with the injunction that they be delivered to his dear ones, and in a few minutes later the four hours' struggle was over.

DRIED FRUIT DEALERS TO UNITE
New York Men Will Form an Organization to Regulate Trade.

New York special: Members of the dried fruit trade here have decided to form an organization to be known as the New York Dried Fruit association. An effort will be made to establish rules for deliveries and to govern the sales of evaporated apples. Several attempts have been made previously to regulate the apple business, which has always been the source of much friction among dealers.

He Had a Friend on the Jury.

The late Judge William A. Stewart of the Supreme bench of Baltimore was very fond of a joke, and he had an inexhaustible fund of good stories. On one occasion he told how, when he was a practicing attorney, he obtained a verdict for a larger sum than the amount of his claim. After the verdict had been rendered he asked a juror whom he knew well how it came about that the verdict was far more than he asked.

"It was this way," the juror replied. "A number of the jurors were against you, Mr. Stewart, while I thought you ought to have what you asked for. Finally, as a compromise, we agreed that each juror should put down the amount you ought to have, and that the total, divided by twelve, the number of the jurors, should be the verdict. I knew that some of the jurors would put down nothing or a very small sum, so I put down a large amount, so as to be sure you would get what you asked."

The result was that when the total was divided by twelve the quotient was more than Mr. Stewart asked.—Baltimore Sun.

A World Wide Reputation.
Wherever men are there will be illness and wherever people are ill, Dadd's Kidney Pills will be found a blessing. Solely in their merits have they pushed their way into almost every part of the civilized world. Their reputation as a honest medicine that can always be relied on has been built up by the grateful praise of those who have been cured. The two following letters indicate just how the reputation of this remedy knows no geographical bounds. The sick and suffering all over the world are asking for Dadd's Kidney Pills:

Dear Sirs: I have been suffering from some months from a kidney complaint. The doctor who attended me has recommended me to take your Pills, "Dadd's Kidney Pills." After two boxes I got some relief. But unfortunately I have not been able to go on with the treatment, being unable to find any Pills in Cairo. The Chemist who sold me the two boxes has informed me that he had sent an order for some, and has been keeping me waiting for more than one month. This is the reason why I am writing you to get you to have the goodness to send me by return of post six boxes for which I will pay as soon as I receive them from the post. Kindly let me know "at the same time" where your branch agency in Egypt is to be found. Thanking you in anticipation, Mohamed Raehed, "Immeubles Libres de l'Etat," Office of the Minister of Finance, Cairo, EGYPT.

Dear Sirs: I want to purchase six boxes of Dadd's Kidney Pills, but I don't know exactly where to apply at Buffalo or London. I suppose they can be sent by express or registered mail from either place. Please advise me of how to proceed in order to get the pills without delay. Yours truly, J. P. Simonson, Viborg, V. Mark, DENMARK.

Chamberlain Father and Son.
That Austen Chamberlain assiduously cultivates his resemblance to his father no one doubts for a moment. The monocle, the method of parting the hair and the peculiar cut of cuffs are obviously aids intended to enhance the naturally strong likeness. The attitude of the body when walking is identical in both men, though this is probably a matter of heredity.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.
As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should be used except on the strictest directions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Chamberlain's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co., Sole Proprietors.
Sold by Druggists. Price, 25c. per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

In a Fix.
"Come, go out," said the artist.
"I can't," responded the garret bard, "I wrote a spring poem on the only shirt front I had."
"Oh, no one will notice that."
"But I sent it away and the editor accepted it."

SOCIETY WRECKED HER LIFE.

Mrs. J. E. Finn.

In Society.
A woman in society is obliged to keep late hours. She must attend receptions and balls. She seldom allows herself a quiet evening at home. Her whole time is taken up in keeping engagements or entertaining in her own home. Her system becomes completely run down as a consequence. She soon finds herself in a condition known as systemic catarrh. This has also been called catarrhal nervousness.
If every society woman could know the value of Peruna at such a time, if they could realize the invigorating, strengthening effect that Peruna would have, how much misery could be avoided.
Letters from society women all over the United States testify to the fact that Peruna is the tonic for a run down, depleted nervous system.

Gentlemen:—"A few years ago I had to give up social life entirely, as my health was completely broken down. The doctor advised a complete rest for a year. As this was out of the question for a time, I began to look for some other means of restoring my health.
"I had often heard of Peruna as an excellent tonic, so I bought a bottle to see what it would do for me, and it certainly took hold of my system and rejuvenated me, and in less than two months I was in perfect health, and now when I feel worn out or tired a dose or two of Peruna is all that I need."—Mrs. J. E. Finn.

Mrs. J. W. Reynolds, Elkton, Ohio, writes:
"I owe my health and life to Peruna. We rarely call in a physician, in fact it has been years since I have taken any other medicine than yours. I am afraid of drugs, and although I have been sick many times I have taken only your medicines. They are wonderful indeed. We have a very large house and entertain a great deal and I do all my own work, thanks to Peruna."—Mrs. J. W. Reynolds.

Old Friends.
Senator Bard of California took a constituent to see the president. The friend had served in the Rough Riders. "Mr. President," began Bard, "I want to introduce my friend—"
"Why, hello, Jim!" the president broke in; "How are you?"
Then there was a ten minute talk in which Bard could take no part. As the two men left the president exclaimed, "By the way, Jim, come up to dinner to-night and bring Bard with you."—Boston Post.
