ROMANTIC MARRIAGE OF SULLIVAN YOUNG PEOPLE.

Miss Glenn Lucas and Harold C. Bays Surprise Parents by Wedding at Ottawa Beach, Mich.

Miss Glenn Lucas and Harold C. Bays were married at Ottawa Beach, Mich., Sunday afternoon, as a culmination of a courtship of many months. Their wedding came as a complete surprise to their parents and friends, their plans being so carefully laid that there was not the least suspicion of their intentions.

The bride left home last Saturday morning with the ostensible purpose of visiting a school friend at Terre Haute, but instead she took the Vandalia train which passes through Culver and was joined by her lover. They went to South Bend and from there to Ottawa Beach, Mich., where the ceremony was performed. After a brief outing Mr. Bays returned to his studies at Culver where his career as a student has been eminently successful. His instructors have praised his abilities and rewarded him with the highest honors of the school while the student body has admired his personal qualities and applauded his athletic record. Mr. Bays is a son of attorney and Mrs. John S. Bays. The bride, the only daughter of Capt. and Mrs. W. H. Lucas, is a popular young lady of the city and is greatly beloved in the circle in which she is best known. During the past year she has been a student at the Indianapolis Conservatory of Music and made splendid progress in her work. She returned to the home of her parents Monday evening.—Sullivan Democrat.

Jones-Houghton.

Sunday, July 31st, at 1:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Houghton occurred the marriage of their eldest daughter, Bertha E. to Samuel W. Jones, both of Culver. While the strains of The Fairy Wedding March were being rendered by Miss Delia Overmyer the young couple marched into the parlor where the ceremony which made them man and wife, was pronounced by Rev. Streeter. Manford Houghton, brother of the bride, acting as best man and Miss Mary Matthew as bridesmaid.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white silk mull and lace while the groom wore the conventional black.

After the ceremony congratulations were in order and after showers of blessings and well wishes all partook of a bountiful repast. Keen Bros. photographed the group. The groom is a young man of sterling integrity and is well known by all. The bride is a loving and dutiful daughter and deserves the love, care and protection of a good husband. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will live at the bride's home for the present.

Those present from out of town were Manford Houghton, of Waukegan; Mrs. Maud Hummel, of Sand Hill, O.; Clarence Jones, of Plymouth; Mrs. Sarah Little, of Missouri; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Myers and son, of California; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Houghton, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. John Downing and children, of Bourbon; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. LEITER IMPORTS MEN TO WORK IN HIS MINES

Train Load of Workers Arrive at Ziegler From St. Louis, Protected by Chicago Detectives.

Carbondale, Ill., dispatch: Imported workmen were placed in Joseph Leiter's town of Ziegler Wednesday afternoon, after a journey of four hours from East St. Louis. The trip was full of intense interest and at times it seemed impossible to avert serious trouble. The train was accompanied by about twenty armed Chicago detectives. The union miners' officials, George Bagwell, the president, of Murphysboro; William T. Morris of Duquoin, and P. H. Strawman of Murphysboro, succeeded in boarding the train and talking to the imported men, who claimed they were traveling under a misapprehension, some saying they did not know that a strike was on at Ziegler.

At Pinckneyville, Duquoin and Christopher a large number of miners had congregated, and at the last point trouble was expected. The miners' officials counseled peace and pleaded with the union men not to commit any overt act, for the success of the strike depended largely upon their own acts. At Christopher, where every indication pointed to bloodshed, the miners were armed, but the pleading of the leaders was successful and the train sped on to Ziegler.

When the train returned five of the imported men were on board, having refused to work. They told the story of the plans Mr. Leiter had used to induce men to work at his plant.

Mr. Leiter is supposed to be in Chicago. No further importations of men, it is claimed, will be attempted until the plant is protected by a stockade and the various men needed to operate the machinery have been secured.

INVALID EXPELS PENNY AND HEALTH IMPROVES

Coin Swallowed Fifteen Years Ago is Brought Up During Spasm of Coughing, Affording Relief.

Boston special: After years of suffering from an illness which several physicians said was consumption, Miss Iva Blakeman, 23 years old, of Newton Upper Falls, has coughed up a penny, and her health is improving.

When the girl was recovering from diphtheria, fifteen years ago, she swallowed the penny. She became ill about five years ago, and would be seized with coughing spells, followed by the formation of abscesses on her lungs. Miss Blakeman was seized with a violent cough attack a few days ago, and in an effort to prevent herself from choking, she thrust her finger down her throat. The next instant she withdrew her hand and up came the penny.

MUST SERVE MINIMUM TERMS

Michigan Supreme Court Makes Ruling on Indeterminate Law.

Lansing, Mich., dispatch: The supreme court holds that the indeterminate sentence law enacted at the last session of the Michigan legislature cannot apply to offenses committed before it took effect. Sept. 16, 1903, even though sentence was pronounced after the law took effect. The court, however, denies the contention that such sentences are wholly void and that convicts so sentenced should be released. It holds that the sentence is valid for the minimum term fixed by the court. This decision will affect the sentences of about 200 convicts in Michigan prisons, all of whom must be released upon the expiration of their minimum term.

FATALITY IN ILLINOIS WRECK

Fireman is Killed in Accident Caused by Miscreants.

Hoopeston, Ill., dispatch: Fireman James Frames of Chicago was killed and four trainmen were seriously injured in the wreck of the northbound Chicago & Eastern Illinois passenger train here. The train ran into an open switch and the battered locomotive near by indicates an attempt to wreck the train. The injured men—Samuel Baldwin, engineer; Dan Floyd, engineer, and Earl Wacks, baggageman, Chicago, and Joseph Donovan, Danville, are being cared for here. Supt. Russ of Danville is here investigating the wreck.

FISHERMAN FINDS A MONSTER

Says It Bites on Line and Causes His Boat to Capsize.

New London, Wis., dispatch: James Thorson of this city, while fishing from a rowboat at Northport, says he was pulled into the river and nearly drowned by some unknown monster. Thorson had been fishing for two hours without a bite when suddenly, according to his story, his line was given a strong jerk and his boat was pulled through the water at a tremendous rate. It finally collided with a log and overturned. Thorson gained the bottom of the boat and paddled to shore with his hands. The pole disappeared down the river.

El Paso, Tex., dispatch: Three Mexican prisoners charged with murdering and robbing American prospectors in Sonora have escaped from jail at Agua Prieta, a border town in Mexico, opposite Douglas, Ariz. KOREA SAFE IN PORT American Steamship With Rich Cargo Arrives at Tokio—Russia to Make Amends for Any Mistakes Committed.

After a day of the wildest excitement ever known on the Pacific coast, caused by the apparently trustworthy report that the Pacific Mail Steamship company's vessel, the Korea, had been captured by the Vladivostok squadron, the news was flashed under sea July 28 that the richest Argosy that ever left these ports had reached Tokio in safety. The great vessel and her cargo were valued at $3,000,000. In addition, there lay in her strong boxes $1,000,000 in silver and gold funds intended for the government of Japan.

The vessel narrowly escaped seizure by the Russian raiders. When, with powerful engines driving her at topmost speed, she was on the last stage of the journey into port she must have passed the Russian warships by a narrow margin. According to dispatches from Tokio, the three cruisers have been sighted scouting off Yokohama.

England Now Sees Peace.

The tension in the Russo-British relations has been relaxed and no rupture is probable. Count Benckendorff, Russian ambassador to Great Britain, informed Lord Lansdowne that if Russia had committed a wrong she was ready and willing to make full reparation, but before any action could be taken in the Knight Commander case the Russian government must have the opportunity of receiving the report of the commander of the Vladivostok squadron. Lord Lansdowne was not disposed unduly to press the matter and promised to wait a reasonable time.

It has developed that the United States is depending on Great Britain to obtain compensation for the loss of the Knight Commander's cargo. It is the custom for ship owners to be responsible for cargoes.

While Russia is willing to make full reparation of any wrong in the case of the Knight Commander, Count Benckendorff, in conversation with Lord Lansdowne, made no admission that the commander of the Vladivostok squadron had violated international law in sinking the vessel.

Russia Watches America.

The United States is preparing to take a strong position for the protection of neutral ships carrying American cargoes. This is indicated by the fact that the United States has made an official inquiry of Russia regarding the British steamer Ordova, seized by the volunteer fleet vessel Smolensk in the Red sea, which had American government stores on board. The Ordova had already been released when the inquiry was made.

Assume Control of New Chwang.

Takayama, the Japanese administrator of New Chwang, has arrived in that city and has issued notification to the population that New Chwang and Yingkow are now under Japanese control and that lives and property will be protected. Mr. Gilchrist, an American, who was deputy commissioner of customs under the Russian administration, has been appointed commissioner of customs.

United States Consul General Miller is to continue in office under the Japanese administration. He watched Japanese interests there during the Russian administration, and his conduct of the affairs which came to his hands since the beginning of the war has won for Mr. Miller the highest praise.

Jap Invasion Feared.

The war is expected to enter on a new phase by a Japanese invasion of the island of Sakhalin, a Russian convict settlement in the north Pacific off the east coast of Asia. The Russians have already taken precautions in view of this move and troops have been sent to the island. A Red Cross detachment has also been ordered to proceed there.

Japanese Take Haicheng.

Reports have reached Shan-Hai-Kuan that the Japanese have made another move northward and have taken Haicheng with little opposition. According to these reports only a small Russian force was left to hold the Russian positions south of Haicheng, and when the Japanese advanced in force the enemy retired on the main positions.

Here a more determined effort was made to check the advance, but the Japanese made short work of the opposition.

The railroad from Liao Yang to Mukden is still reported to be running, but the Japanese are within a few miles of the railroad and can cut it whenever they see fit.

Russians Are in Despair.

The Russian retreat from Tatchekiao was terribly galling to the rank and file, who, after two days' hard fighting, held their position and believed themselves on the eve of a great victory. The Russian artillery was better disposed than in any previous fight. On the last day's fight, July 24, the Russians fired 4,016 shots and frequently smothered the Japanese fire.

Col. Paschenko was wounded in the hand while waving a signal to the guns.

Marquis Oyama, commander in chief of the Japanese field forces, is reported to have been personally in command.

Supplies at Haicheng are running low and the terrific heat and torrential rains are delaying movements.

The Japanese loss at Tatchekiao is estimated at from 4,000 to 5,000 men, resulting chiefly from their attempts to take intrenched positions in the face of a heavy artillery fire.

Port Arthur Under Fire.

It is declared in special dispatches to the London papers from Shanghai and Yokohama that a general assault on Port Arthur has begun. The attack by sea and land is declared to be terrific.

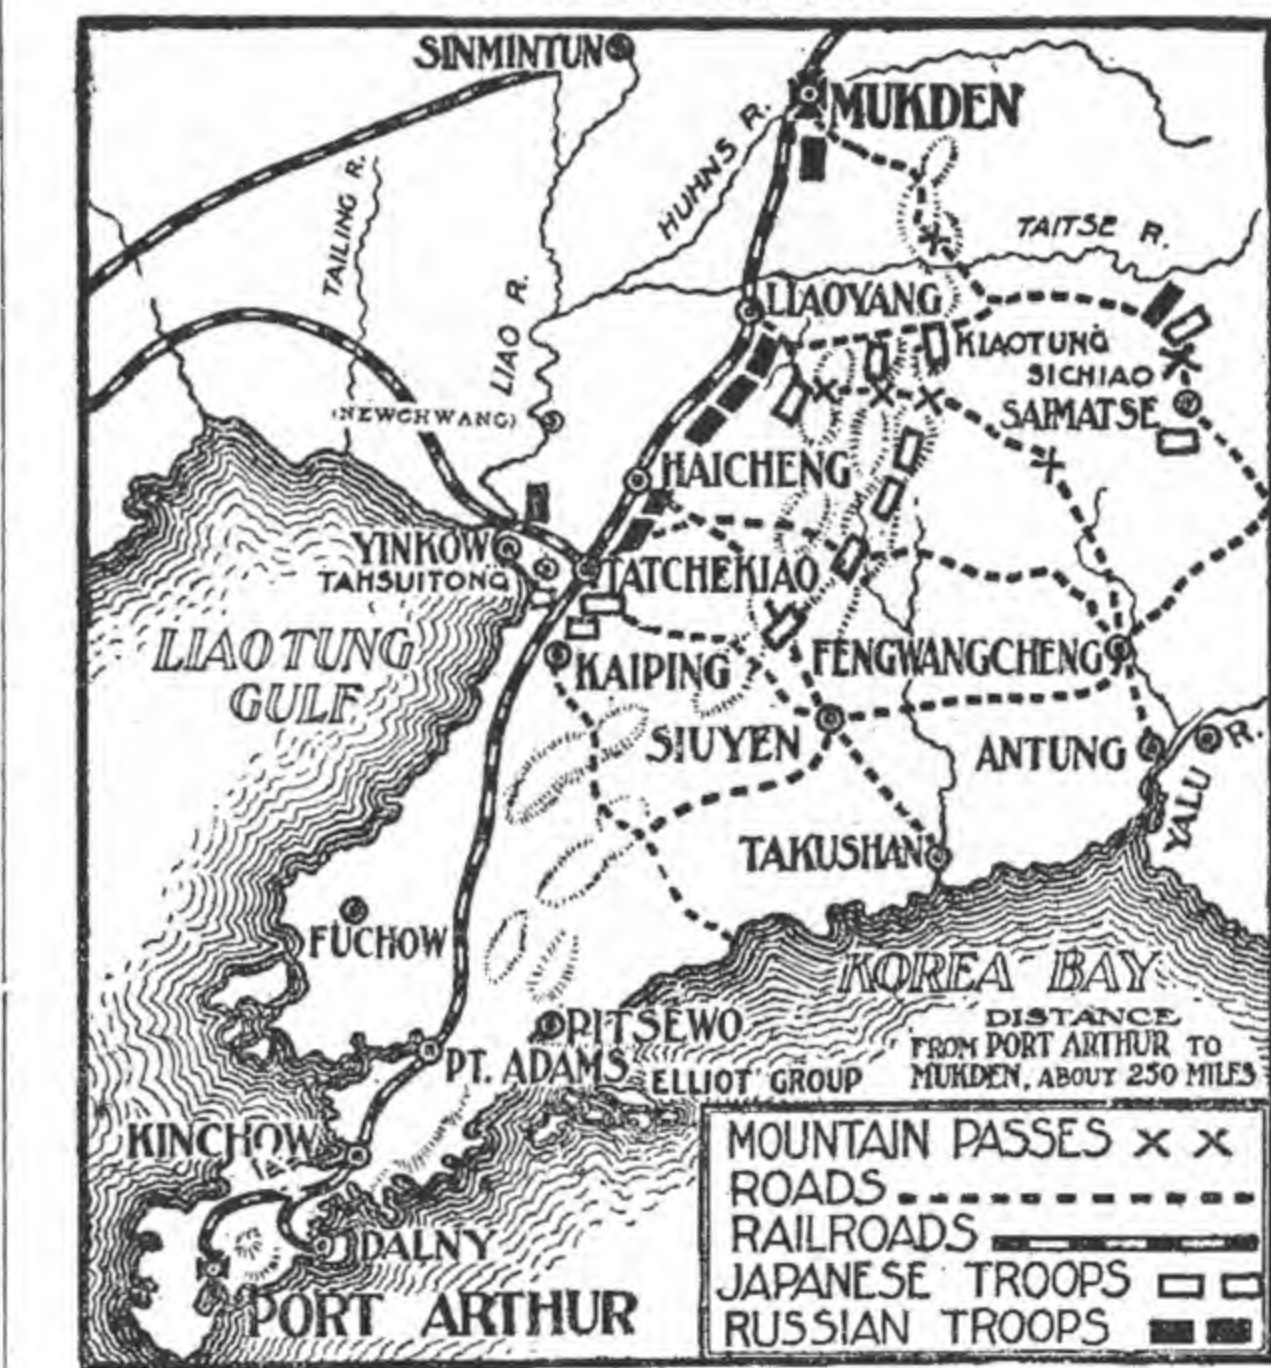

Ships Quit Port Arthur.

Chinese refugees from Port Arthur arriving at Chefoo say that three large warships have left that port. The Chi-must now either fight or withdraw the whole army northward. He is being closely pressed at Hai-Cheng. At that place Kuroki's northern column makes it extremely dangerous to remain there, because while holding the position to give battle against the Japanese, whose advance always is notoriously slow and careful, Kuroki might push through and cut his railway communication to Liao-Yang.

While nothing is definitely known, there are some unofficial indications that matters are rapidly maturing for either a battle or a retreat. For instance, the refusal to accept further press telegrams from Hai-Cheng is shown by the fact that one of the correspondents of the Associated Press had to ride through to Mukden to file an account of the Tatchekiao.

MAP SHOWING TATCHEKIAO, EVACUATED BY RUSSIA, AND SCENE OF RECENT BATTLES.

Tatchekiao has been evacuated by the Russians, following a battle lasting fourteen hours. The battle near Tatchekiao was between the same forces which had been engaged in a conflict between Newchwang and Tatchekiao. According to Chinese information the strength of the Japanese forces in the neighborhood of Siamatse numbers 30,000, menacing Mukden.

nese cannot give names or the types of the vessels. It is impossible to confirm this story from foreigners.

A Russian army officer, who is a trusted agent of Gen. Stoessel, the commander of the forces at Port Arthur, has arrived at Chefoo to purchase steel for use in the dockyards at Port Arthur.

Japanese Fire Kills Hundreds.

The London Daily Mail's Newchwang correspondent, in a long description of the battle of Tatchekiao, which mainly repeats the details already known, says it was not until the Japanese attacked all along their front that the Russians retreated. The Japanese artillery was immeasurably superior, and their shrapnel was frightfully destructive. Russian gunners went down by hundreds, but their guns were fought with magnificent bravery.

The Russian officers, the correspondent adds, speak in the highest terms of the bravery of their men. They say Russia already has lost one campaign, owing to the recklessness of the emperor's advisers, but that she must have Manchuria, and that she is now preparing for another campaign.

Armies Now Face to Face.

Gen. Kouropatkin's army now stands face to face with Gen. Kuroki's force. It is significant that newspaper correspondents have been ordered to return to Harbin, not being allowed to remain even at Mukden. Kouropatkin, however, will not precipitate a fight and Kuroki is not expected to force an action until Oku has time to bring up his army.

Lull in Fighting.

All is quiet on both the south and east fronts, according to a dispatch from Liao-yang, and nothing important is anticipated short of five days.

The statement that the British residents of Newchwang, headed by the British consul, made a pro-Japanese demonstration upon the arrival of the Japanese in that town, and that the British flag and also the United States flag were displayed alongside the flag of Japan, is denied.

On entering the town the Japanese captured a few Russians. They gave to each of them three rubles, then released them and told them to tell the Russians that the Japanese never kill their prisoners.

Must Fight or Retreat.

The situation at the front is regarded by Russian military authorities as critical.

The enveloping movement of the three Japanese armies of Gen. Kuroki, Nodzu and Oku around Gen. Kouropatkin's position appears to be almost complete, and the extended line of the Japanese seems to be the only drawback to concerted action. It is realized that the Russian general

CZAR'S MINISTER IS ASSASSINATED

Von Plehve of the Interior Department Is Victim of Bomb Thrower.

MURDERER ELUDES THE GUARD

Secret Police, Whose Duty It Was to Protect the Cabinet Chief, Are Outwitted by Young Finn, Who Threw the Deadly Missile.

St. Petersburg cable: The bomb that killed M. von Plehve, the Minister of the Interior, Thursday morning has thrown official Russia, from the Czar down, into a panic.

The deed of the assassin is regarded as the first in a revolutionary and anarchist plot which has for its aim the liberation of Russia from despotic government.

The assassination is believed by the police to be the outcome of an international anarchist movement with which Gerschunin, the Russian revolutionary agitator, who was arrested at Kieff last year, was connected. The police have already also traced an analogy between the crime and the murder of Governor Bobrikoff some weeks ago.

The reckless manner in which the assassination was planned and the success with which it was carried out have astounded the police.

The fear is entertained that the crime is the prelude to an anarchistic carnival of assassinations, and the question uppermost in the mind of every official is, Who will be the next to fall? Not even the Czar himself is believed safe.

Attack Minister of Justice.

While the capital was still stunned by the assassination of M. von Plehve, its population blanched at the news of an attack upon another official, Minister of Justice Muraviev, while driving to the Peterhof palace to report to Emperor Nicholas the assassination of Minister of the Interior von Plehve. Stones were thrown at him, and his carriage windows were broken. The identity of the Minister's assailants has not yet been discovered.

Outside of the Emperor, no man in all Russia was more thoroughly guarded from attack than Minister von Plehve. His movements were kept absolutely secret from the public. His every movement was watched by a body guard of secret police. Armed guards on bicycles preceded and followed his carriage at a distance of a few paces. He moved constantly surrounded by a cordon of men whose sole duty was to guard his safety.

Foresaw His Fate.

Since his appointment as Minister of the Interior he had frequently expressed the fear that he would meet a fate similar to that of his predecessor, M. Sipiaguine—death at the hands of an assassin. He had a premonition which he had frequently voiced that if he were killed he would be assassinated on a Thursday. On the morning of this day each week it was his custom to carry his weekly report to the Czar. A knowledge of this fact was public property, and on this day above all others he was rigorously guarded.

It was while engaged on this duty that he was slain. The carriage in which he was driving was proceeding rapidly to the Warsaw station. The carriage had reached the corner of Zabalansky street and a street bordering on the Circular canal. Here the traffic is great, and the carriage was forced to slow down.

Assassin Hurls Bomb.

Suddenly a man darted through the crowd on the sidewalk, ran up to the rear of the carriage, and hurled a bomb. Instantly there was a terrific explosion. The carriage was blown to pieces. The horses, terrified by the roar of the explosion, dashed down the street, dragging with them the front wheels of the vehicle. In the wreck of wheels and carriage strewn in the street lay the lifeless and mangled body of M. von Plehve.

Police officials are positive that the assassination is the outcome of a widespread plot, the existence of which has been suspected for several days. Numerous arrests have been made, including that of the assassin, a young man who is believed to be a Finn named Legio, and who is now in a hospital severely and perhaps fatally injured by the explosion of his own bomb.

Satelli at West Point.

Highland Falls, N. Y., special: Cardinal Satelli arrived here, accompanied by several prominent priests who had joined him en route. The visitors were conducted to West Point, where they reviewed the corps of cadets.

Morning Jacket.

Never has the demand for tasteful jackets been greater than at the present time. This one is eminently graceful and attractive at the same time that it is most comfortable to the wearer and lends fashion of wearing with a skirt to match. The model is made of white batiste with collar of inserted tucking and trimming of lace frills; but all materials in use for garments of the sort are equally appropriate, the thin wash silks, the long list of lawns and batistes and, for cooler days, the very attractive and serviceable thin wools.

The jacket is made with fronts and backs and is shaped by means of shoulder and under-arm seams. The backs are cut off at the waist, giving a bolero effect, but the fronts form long points which can be allowed to hang or be knotted at the waist as preferred for garments of the sort and the sleeves are loose and wide, cut to form points at their lower edge.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

and pale green, to match linen frocks of the same shades, and they are made with plain hems or edged with narrow lace.

Risotto.

Put a heaping tablespoonful of butter into a saucepan with a finely minced onion, and stir over the fire until the butter begins to color. Pour into this a scant cupful of raw rice and stir off and on for fifteen minutes. Should the rice get too dry add a very little hot water. At the end of the fifteen minutes pour into the saucepan a scant quart of boiling water and cook fast for another fifteen minutes. Finally, drain off and put in rather more than half a cupful of strained tomato juice seasoned with pepper, salt, a pinch of mace and a large pinch of lemon peel, grated. Simmer for ten minutes more and serve. The rice will remain whole, but be soft and most savory.

This is a popular Italian dish and very good.

Wide Collars and Other Frills.

A summer feature is the wide collar. It is made of various materials, one of the prettiest being of white taffeta. It has black polka dots applied. These dots are of black silk upon the background of white silk. Around the edge there is a piping of black silk, and underlying the collar there are points of salmon pink taffeta. Each point is trimmed with a lace medallion. Such a collar dresses up any evening blouse wonderfully. Worn over black or white it really makes the whole dress, for it gives the note which was lacking.

Good Way to Serve Orange Jelly.

Care and a little time are needed to serve orange jelly in the following way: Select even-sized oranges and cut them in halves. Carefully remove the pulp, leaving the compartments unbroken. Fill every other space with a thin orange jelly, poured in with a spoon, and put the shells on ice until the jelly is firm. Then fill the empty compartments with stiff whipped cream and serve.

Gay Striped Ribbons.

Color is plentifully used in the lives and stools of the year, the idea being that a plain gown is thus easily brightened and smartened. Striped ribbon, such as green and gold and biscuit, and so forth, is employed. It is no exaggeration to say that there are hundreds of different designs in neckwear on view at present.

To Keep the Hair in Curl.

Put a teaspoonful of borax and a piece of castile soap into a jar, and pour over them half a pint of boiling water. Stir until they are dissolved. Put the mixture into a bottle and cork it up tightly. Damp the hair thoroughly with this mixture before curling it.

Bust Conformer and Reducer.

Every woman of generous proportions knows the difficulty of wearing the fashionable thin blouse and its necessary full corset cover with satisfaction. This very excellent garment is designed to meet just that need and will be found absolutely practical. It extends down well over the top of the corset, so supporting the bust and confines not it alone, but also the flesh under the arms, which so often is annoying in conjunction with the thin waists, and is worn beneath the dainty cover of lawn or batiste. The model is made of heavy, strong white linen, the casings at the back being of webbing, or belting, which gives additional strength, but English drill and coutil are equally appropriate and satisfactory.

The straps over the shoulders are elastic, so allowing perfect freedom at the same time that the object of the conformer is attained.

The garment is made with fronts, side portions, backs and upper front portions which are joined one to the other, and is closed with buttons and buttonholes at the front and adjusted with lacing at the back.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 1 1/2 yard 38 inches wide.

Hats for Children.

Children's pique hats are now made with high poke crowns. Both crown and brim are of the pique, and from the latter depend full lingerie ruffles.

FIRST PROTEST FROM AMERICANS

Senator Mitchell of Oregon Appeals to State Department for His Clients.

HAD FLOUR ON SEIZED STEAMER

Ambassador to Russia is Instructed to Ascertain the Facts in Connection With the Case Before the United States Takes Official Action.

Washington dispatch: Acting on a formal protest received from the American owners of a portion of the cargo of the Hamburg-American steamship Arabia, the state department has cabled to R. S. McCormick, United States ambassador at St. Petersburg, to get a full statement of the seizures of that vessel by the Russian Vladivostok squadron. This is the first protest which has come to the department from American owners of goods seized by Russia and was in the form of a telegram from John H. Mitchell, United States senator and attorney for the Portland Milling company of Portland, Oregon.

Not a War Order.

Mr. Mitchell declared that his clients had shipped on the Arabia 99,000 sacks of flour, valued at $100,000; that the flour was consigned largely to Hongkong, and was not a war order, but a part of the normal trade of the company, and therefore it should under no circumstances be considered contraband. The owners ask the United States to demand indemnity from Russia.

The protest was given prompt attention by the state department, but no statement was made as to the probable action of the United States. It was said that this government must first have complete official reports of all the attending circumstances, and the ambassador was instructed to obtain these from the Russian government at once.

Must Have Official Reports.

It is understood at the state department that the United States had laid down a regular policy in regard to seizures to be followed in all cases. No action will be taken on unofficial protests. When protests are made an official report of the occurrence will be obtained through regular sources and then action taken according to this policy.

What action is taken depends almost entirely on whether or not the owners of the seized goods are able to furnish good proof that they were in no sense contraband. The United States will not protect or aid even her own citizens who are guilty of dealing in contraband of war with either of the belligerents in the present contest.

WASHINGTON'S ELM CUT DOWN

Lafayette Made a Speech Under the Famous Morristown Tree.

Morristown, N. J., dispatch: Washington's elm, a famous old tree which has stood at the corner of Elm and Morris streets for more than a century and three-quarters, has been cut down. It was an ancient elm at the time Washington had his headquarters here during the winter of 1779. At that time there was talk of cutting the tree down, but on account of its magnificent beauty and great age Washington prevailed upon the owner to leave it standing. Since then it has been known as Washington's elm and has been protected in every possible way. When Lafayette visited Morristown in the early part of the nineteenth century he visited the historic tree and made a short address under its spreading branches. It was cut down because it had become a menace to public safety.

RECLAMATION FUND INCREASES

Report for Fiscal Year Shows Amount Approximately $25,000,000.

Washington dispatch: An increase of the arid land reclamation fund held by the treasury to approximately $25,000,000 is announced in the report of the auditor for the interior department for the fiscal year ended June 30. This is the fund accumulated from the proceeds of public land sales in California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming and set apart under the act of congress of June 17, 1902, for the construction and maintenance of irrigation works for the reclamation of arid lands in these states and territories. The fund thus accumulated and set apart for the three fiscal years ended June 30, 1903, aggregated $16,444,339.

CONTRACT MUSICIANS MUST ABIDE BY THE LAW

Players Coming to This Country to Replace Americans Will Not Be Allowed to Land.

Washington dispatch: Secretary Metcalf says, in regard to the protest recently filed with the president by New York musicians against the alleged admission into this country of foreign musicians in violation of the immigration laws:

"The immigration law is being rigidly and conscientiously enforced. No evidence of any violation has been submitted at any time to the bureau of immigration by the musical unions. If it should appear that musicians are being imported to take the places of Americans as a result of the refusal of the latter to work at a reduced compensation, the administrative officer at once will apply the law."

"The immigration officers have been fully and carefully instructed as to their duties under the law. As a precautionary measure the commissioner general of immigration has issued instructions to immigration officers to question all musicians coming to this country for the purpose of ascertaining if they come here under contract for the purpose of taking the places of American musicians. If any such are found the department undoubtedly will hold, in accordance with precedents, that they are here in violation of the law, leaving it to the courts ultimately to decide whether they come under the excepted classes or not."

REFUSES TO RELEASE SECURITIES DIVIDENDS

Federal Judge Denies Appeal by Secretary of War Root for Partition Pending Decision of Case.

Wilmington, Del., dispatch: Federal Judge Bradford denied an appeal by former Secretary of War Root that the decree for the temporary injunction in the case of Harriman et al. vs. the Northern Securities Company be so framed as to allow the securities company to pay dividends and distribute such stocks as are not involved in the Harriman suit. Mr. Root, who appeared as counsel for the merger company, declared that if the payment of dividends were not permitted many people would suffer by being deprived of their incomes.

Judge Bradford held that to make such a ruling would be to decide the merits of the case, and added: "From my observation the people interested in this suit are Harriman, Hill, Morgan and some other financial magnates, and I do not think they would be in any immediate danger of starving if they were compelled to wait a time for their dividends."

"The court will not do injustice to a poor man or a financial magnate, but it would appear that those interested ought to be able to find some plan to tide the people over."

MAY AGAIN SEEK AMERICA'S CUP

Lipton Writes of Possibility of Building Another Challenger.

Albany dispatch: Dr. Andrew S. Draper, state commissioner of education, has received from Sir Thomas J. Lipton a letter in which the latter speaks about the possibility of sending another yacht to America to compete for the America's cup. In the letter he says: "Whether or not I shall make another attempt I cannot say with any certainty, as this depends upon many things outside of my control, although I may say I have not given up hope of lifting the famous old trophy, and I do not imagine I could rest content to leave it in its present environment. I presume it has by now become somewhat naturalized; nevertheless, I think a change of air and a visit to its original home might do it good."

FISH FIRM MAKES ITS DEFENSE

Booth Concern Declares It Is Not a Trust in Legal Meaning.

Columbus, O., dispatch: Charles Thornton of Chicago, acting for the fish firm of A. Booth & Co., filed an answer to the quo warranto proceedings brought in the circuit court by Attorney General Wade H. Ellis to oust it from its franchise in Ohio on the grounds that the concern was a trust. It is averred that the twenty-one former competing companies absorbed by the company represented independent and outright purchases, that there was no arrangement to restrain trade, prevent competition or fix prices of fish. The company claims it does not control 1 per cent of the business of the country, and only 15 per cent of the state's business, instead of 95 per cent, as alleged in the petition.

"Battling" Nelson of Chicago Is Victor in Featherweight Fight.

The contest was fierce all the way, and the followers of both the little fellows got their money's worth. Before the contest, both boys were confident of victory, and, although Hanlon ruled favorite in the betting, many Chicago men were on hand to back the representative of their city. It is estimated that $50,000 changed hands on the result. Both boys entered the ring in the best of condition, trained to the minute. Both weighed in below 130 pounds.

CASTRO SEIZES ASPHALT LAKE

Venezuela Soldiers Are Guarding It in the Interest of the Government.

MAY THREATEN VESTED RIGHTS

Attachment Thought to Have Been Made to Recover Damages for Alleged Aid Given to the Revolutionists by Company Officials.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, cablegram: President Castro has seized the lands and property of the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company in spite of all protests of those in charge.

The seizure was conducted under the direction of Howard Camer, former manager off the company, now the agent of Castro. He was backed up by the gunboat Bolivar of the Venezuelan navy and a force of soldiers of the Venezuelan army.

All the property of the company, including the big asphalt lake, was seized, and Venezuelan soldiers are guarding it in the interests of the Venezuelan government.

Company's Steamer Escapes.

The steamer Viking, belonging to the company, escaped seizure and reached this port with the news of the government's drastic action.

Foreign companies residing in Venezuela are alarmed over President Castro's aggressive policy, which is directed also against French, British, and German companies.

Courts Uphold Corporation.

Washington special: The action of the Venezuelan government in seizing the properties of the New York and Bermudez Asphalt company has caused an unpleasant impression in government circles. Officials are unable to understand the reason for what appears to be such an arbitrary procedure, as the Supreme court of Venezuela heretofore has upheld the claims of the company to its properties.

Claim Aid to Rebels.

Following notice of the action of the Venezuelan government a few days ago in securing an attachment against the company with a view, it was understood, of obtaining damages because of aid alleged to have been given the revolutionists, United States Minister Herbert W. Bowen at Caracas was instructed to make a full and complete report to the state department of the various legal steps which have been taken by Venezuela, together with other information bearing on the subject that may be available.

Await Bowen's Report.

His report is anxiously awaited, and on it will depend the course to be taken by the United States for the protection of the vested rights of the company, which seem to be so seriously endangered by the attitude of the Castro government.

The Venezuelan claims, it is understood, have been so drawn as to amount to several million dollars.

DEATH REVEALS A SHORTAGE

Receiver Is Appointed for Iowa Bank After Cashier Drowns.

Grinnell, Iowa, dispatch: The death of H. C. Spencer, cashier of the First National bank, by drowning, July 21, caused the bank to be closed pending an examination by an examiner. The work is not completed, but enough has been discovered to show that there is a large shortage; forged paper and padded assets will make it necessary for the stockholders to make up a deficit estimated from $50,000 to $100,000. Mr. Spencer was a leading citizen and the city is greatly excited over the developments.

Washington, July 28.—The comptroller of the currency has appointed E. B. Shaw, a national bank examiner, as receiver of the First National bank of Grinnell, Iowa, whose doors were closed by the directors.

AIR BRAKES PREVENT DEATHS

Fatalities Among Railroad Employees Show 32 Per Cent Decrease.

Washington dispatch: According to the accident bulletin issued by the interstate commerce commission there were 79 passengers and 840 employees of railroads killed and 1,590 passengers and 10,854 employees injured in accidents on railroads in the United States during the quarter ended March 31, 1904. This is a decrease of 8 killed over the corresponding quarter last year. The amount of damage to railway property caused by the accident during the quarter was $2,259,447. The bulletin says that the increased use of the air brake, diminishing the necessity for employees on top of trains, has made a reduction of 32 per cent in the number of persons falling off cars.

COUNTY MUST PAY INCOME TAX

Bequest for Courthouse Is Subject to Wisconsin Rate.

Madison, Wis., special: The attorney general has given an opinion in the case of the bequest of Martin Murphy of Darlington, who left $100,000 to Lafayette county for a courthouse. The county authorities held that, since the money came to the county, it was exempt from the income tax. The attorney general rules that the county must pay the tax on the money, amounting to $11,000, as the money was assessable before it became the county property.

FILIPINOS MAKE GAS FROM COCOANUT OIL

Basic Material Is Fed Into Cast-Iron Retorts After They Are Brought to Red Heat.

Washington dispatch: An ingenious method employed in the Philippines to secure an adequate gas supply is reported to the bureau of insular affairs by the Philippine bureau of government laboratories. This scheme is to slowly feed coconut oil, a native product, into strong cast-iron retorts after the latter are brought to a red heat in furnaces. This produces a very high quality of illuminating gas free from smoke and tar.

This Philippine report also shows that the struggle waged by the bureau of laboratories against rinderpest, which threatened to exterminate the draft animals on the islands, has been successful. The veterinarians now have about seventy-five animals available to furnish a serum for inoculating nonimmune herds. A great demand for vaccine virus also is announced. Until the advent of the Americans no systematic efforts ever had been made to vaccinate the Philippine people. The islands now are declared to be practically free from the plague as a result, it is said, of the intelligent employment of a plague prophylactic furnished the board of health in sufficient quantities.

The biological laboratory is investigating human diseases and is preparing a work on a method of protective inoculation against Asiatic cholera.

HORSEWHIPS SON WHO FAILS TO SAY PRAYERS

Des Moines Mother Insists That She Was Justified in Punishing Her Four-Year-Old Boy.

Des Moines, Iowa, dispatch: Humane Officer Jones was called to the residence of Mrs. Jacob Stein, who had been charged with having whipped her little four-year-old son with a buggy whip. She did not deny the accusation, but said she had a right to punish the child, and was justified because the lad refused to say his prayers.

She said this was the cause of the punishment. The officer could not make the woman promise to refrain from similar punishment in the future until he placed her under arrest and threatened to take her to the station. She then reluctantly promised and was released.

MISS GILLETTE LOSES CONTEST

Suit Over Will Involving $500,000 Is Settled at Lincoln, Ill.

Bloomington, Ill., special: The jury in the famous Gillette case rendered a verdict at Lincoln in favor of the defendants. In substance it was that John G. Gillette was of sound mind when he made the codicil to his will leaving property to the defendants, Mrs. Emma J. Oglesby and Hiram C. Keys. The suit was brought by Jessie Gillette to set aside the codicil and have the courts give her property as stated under the original document on the ground that her brother was insane when the codicil was made. The estate involved $500,000 and the case has been bitterly fought. Thomas McDaniel, who was arrested at the instigation of Mrs. Richard J. Oglesby, was held to the grand jury for perjury in connection with the case.

Marching Members of California Lodge Are Awarded $500.

Cincinnati, O., dispatch: At the reunion of the Elks here last week the awarding committee was unable to decide whether the prize of $500 for the greatest mileage belonged to the Manila lodge or to the Los Angeles lodge, and the matter was referred to the general local committee on arrangements for a decision. That committee has awarded the money to the Los Angeles lodge on the ground that all of the marching members had come to Cincinnati especially for that purpose. The Manila lodge had the greatest aggregate mileage, but it was held that they had several members in line who were in this country for other purposes than attending the Elks' reunion.

He went to see the editor about it and the editor showed him some duns that he had received himself; one for paper, one for plates, one for ink and several others. W. C. T. U. State Evangelist Delivers Interesting Lectures.

State Evangelist, Mrs. Trish, better known as "Mother Trish," preached a very eloquent sermon on "Prayer and Faith," Sunday at 11 a. m., at the Reformed church. That the truths she presented went home to the hearts of the large audience that greeted her was plainly discernable in the rapid attention and tearful eyes of many of her hearers.

She was also greeted at her lectures at the Evangelical and M. E. churches with large and appreciative audiences. She presented at these lectures some facts and figures concerning the work of liquor traffic in Indiana that ought to be alarming to every one who loves home and native land.

A momentary glance at some facts connected with our prisons, insane asylums and reformatories should be sufficient to remind us of what we are doing and whether we are drifting. Looking at this from the light of common sense, we can but consider it the "nursery of crime and the father of want."

"Mother Trish" possesses wonderful vigor, both of body and mind, for one who has reached her 73rd year and has reared a large family. She was born and raised in Germany and speaks with that rich German phraseology that makes her language very attractive. Her lectures are principally a recital of her own experiences. She has traveled in twenty-two states, working and lecturing among all classes in the interest of "Temperance and Purity in the American Home."

Injustice of the Fish Law.

Albert Loeffel, living southeast of Silver Lake, was summoned before the Grand Jury, Wednesday, falsely accused of fishing on Mud lake Friday, July 22, at 2 p. m.

His name was reported to the fish commissioner at Wabash by a boy named Kites, living at Sidney.

Mr. Loeffel appeared and report says that the fish commissioner identified him as being the person reported, although he had not seen Mr. Loeffel before; neither was the boy present who reported the matter.

The facts are: Mr. Loeffel was not at Mud lake, but was making hay on the day and hour named. The inconsistency of the present fish law is shown in this case.

Mr. Loeffel was compelled to give bond in the sum of $50 and will be put to the expense and annoyance of a trial. He should have recourse for heavy damages in this case.—Silver Lake Record.

FORMER TREASURER SUED.

Sterling R. Holt and Bondsman are Asked for $90,000.

Romas Stuart, in behalf of the taxpayers of Marion county, has brought suit in the superior court against Sterling R. Holt, former county treasurer of Marion county and his bondsman, and demands judgement to the amount of $90,000.

The complaint filed at noon Friday at Indianapolis contains many allegations of gross neglect of duty on the part of Mr. Holt while serving as treasurer.

It is alleged by Stuart that Holt made a practice of collecting delinquent taxes and appropriating the money thus collected, not making the necessary entries in his books to show the money had been paid. It is also alleged that other duties of his office were wilfully neglected and that he, in few instances, met the demands of the oath of his office. The suit will be one of the largest ones for the recovery of money instituted in the Marion county courts for some time.

Serious Conditions at Lapaz.

Word comes from Lapaz that Preston W. Green, the town marshal, was stoned last week while carrying the U. S. mail to the railway station. On the same night, the marshal's horse and buggy were stolen. The buggy was taken outside the corporation and burned. It is said that state officials at Indianapolis have been notified of the serious condition of affairs. The trouble is due to the recent incorporation of the town, a certain rowdy element endeavoring to defeat the plans of the majority of the citizens.

To Ditch Kankakee River.

Edward Johnson and E. W. Hanna, of Chicago, government engineers, are engaged in the Kankakee district in running a line for the construction of a big ditch to connect the Kankakee and Tippecanoe rivers. This would cause the waters of the Kankakee to be diverted and result in the reclamation of thousands of acres of land and would develop the Tippecanoe river for water power.

The Ward of King Canute

A Romance of the Danish Conquest.

By OTTILIE A. LILJENCRANTZ, author of The Thrill of Lief the Lucky.
Copyright, 1905, by A. C. McCLURG & CO.

"Keep in mind, lord, that it is no more than a week that you have been at his heels," he said.

"I know him in mind whose son he is," the man with the drinking-horn added grimly.

Flushing, the young noble ceased examining his sword-edge to meet the eyes bent upon him.

"I hope you do not think I stand in need of a rebuke for lukewarmness, Morcard," he said gravely. "I have no more forgot that King Edmund's father gave the order for my father's murder than I have forgot that Edric was the tool who did the deed. But what sense to continue at that after Edric was dead, and the valor of his son was to that degree exalted as if he had sprung from Alfred? Your self counselled me to join him at Gillingham, and take the post under his banner that my fathers have always held beside his fathers."

Two of the three warriors made no other answer than to gurgie their drink noisily in their throats; but the one whom he had called Morcard answered dryly, "It is not against testing the new king that we would advise you, Lord Sebert; it is against trusting him." He lifted his hand suddenly to his ear. "Horses' feet! And stopping by the King's fire—"

What else he said, Randalin did not hear. Her wits had crawled heavily after the sound of the hoofs. Now the beat changed to a clamping and stamping among dry leaves not many rods to her right. She wondered indifferently if there was any likelihood of their running over her; then forgot the query before she had answered it. The Etheling was speaking again, with all the earnestness of hero-worship.

"—the battles he has fought, the abundance of warriors he has gathered together, the land he has won

could not prevent it when Ethelred took Alfric back. And to-night, few but thanes have resorted thither—men whom the Redeless took from ploughing his fields to gild with nobility. Is it likely that they will oppose the hand that can strip off their gilding?"

It appeared that the young man could find no answer to that, for he made none.

"At least once, my lord, Ethelred's wilfulness has shown in his son, when he set aside the King's command to take possession of Sigeforth's widow and her estates. And I think it was Ethelred's temper that moved him to spend an energy, much better directed against the Pagans, in laying waste two of his own shires. Remember what happened when your father raised himself against Ethelred."

Restive under the restraining hand, the young noble faced him desperately. "Morcard, in God's name, what would you have me do? I will not bend to it, nor would you wish me to. Or sooner or later—"

"Let it be later, lord. After you have had time to marshal your men at your back."

After a while, the Etheling yielded and turned aside. "Let it be as you have said—though I cannot believe yet that it will happen." Coming back where a fallen tree made a mossy seat, he dropped down upon it and sat staring at the ground in frowning abstraction.

The motion dropped him out of the range of Randalin's vision, and her eyes wandered away discontentedly. If there was nothing more to look at, she might as well go to sleep. She was just losing consciousness when the figure of a second yeoman-soldier moved across her vision, looming black against the firelight. His whisper came sharply to her ears.

"It is done, chief. May they have tried to be brave, but I am really a woman; it is not possible for me to have a man's heart."

The grinning shadows mouthed at her. "You have not dared to be a woman," they mocked. "You have not dared to be a woman, so you must dare to be a man."

A night wind shuddered through the trees, and the hovering shades seemed to hiss in her ear.

"Coward! Traitor! Nothing! Do you not get afraid that you will experience the wrath of the dead? Listen! Is that the wind rustling the leaves? Or is it—"

A gasp burst from the white lips, and the die was cast. While the cold drops started on her pain-racked body, she dragged herself to her knees and fumbled with trembling hands about her belt. For an instant, something like a moonbeam glimmered amid the shadow; then her lips closed convulsively upon the steel. Tipping forward upon her hands, she tested cautiously the strength of her wounded leg, smothering groans of pain that seemed to tear her throat in the swallowing. Inch by inch, she crawled steadily toward the flickering light.

CHAPTER VII.

As the Norns Decree.

It was a long way to the King's fire, but at last it lay before her; before and below her, for it had been built in a depression of the little open. The last charred log had fallen apart, spreading a swarm of golden glow-worms over the black earth, but there was still enough light to reveal a ring of muffled forms sprawling around the sloping sides of the hollow, with their feet toward the fire and their heads lost in darkness. Pausing in the tree-shadow, the girl thrilled with sudden hope. Since their faces were all hidden, how was she to distinguish her victim?

At that moment, the warrior directly in front of her stirred in his sleep and lunged a jeweled hand over his face. Those broad gold rings with the green stones that sparkled like serpents' eyes as they caught the light! They were fixed indelibly in her memory, for she had seen them on the rapacious hand that had seized upon her while it was still red with her father's blood. Suddenly, in the rage that rose in her at the recollection, she found determination for the deed.

There was no time to lose, she told herself feverishly, and moved forward with snake-like stillness. Between the sheltering arm and the neck of the steel shirt there was a space of naked throat. Setting her teeth, she raised her knife and struck down at it with a strong hand.

The point never reached its mark. For an instant she could not tell what had happened. Fingers closed like iron bands around her wrist, pulling her backwards so that the pain of her twisted wound wrung a cry from her lips. They were not Norman's fingers, yet he also was stirring; while darting flashes from the dusk about them told that the other sleepers were drawing their weapons. Then some one threw a branchful of dead leaves upon the fire.

The flame that flared up showed her arm to be in the grasp of the Lord of Ivarstale.

"You mad young one!" he gasped, as he wrenched the blade from her hold.

LOCUST PLAGUE IN EGYPT.

The Invasion of Insects is a Very Serious One.

There is every probability of the plague of locusts which has now descended on Egypt proving a very serious one. Great anxiety is felt for the young cotton and other crops.

The locusts first arrive in comparatively small numbers, but they multiply very rapidly as soon as they reach the edge of cultivation. Within ten days the young insects, though still wingless, advance in a solid phalanx sometimes two or three feet deep and several miles in length.

It is essential that at this stage they should be destroyed, as it would be impossible to check the ravages of flying locusts.

The method adopted during the last visitation, that of 1890, was to dig deep trenches, sometimes miles in length, between which and the advancing swarm huge heaps of straw were laid and fired. Any locusts which succeeded in escaping the flames and smoke fell into the trenches, where they were destroyed by natives under the supervision of English instructors.

It is a providential habit of young locusts never to turn back or aside when once started, no matter what obstacles are put in their way.—Cairo Correspondent London Daily Mail.

Diet of the Crocodile.

Of a crocodile, which measured seventeen feet in length and which a noted hunter shot, he writes: "On cutting him open he was found to contain the remains of an Mpala ram (with horns intact), which he had probably caught while it was drinking. On one occasion I cut up a crocodile which contained no less than forty-nine bangles of ivory and copper, showing that he had swallowed one or more natives, so I always get the boys to cut up any we shoot. They are loathsome reptiles, and I never consider a shot at them wasted. Many a native while drawing water after dark is caught by the arm and dragged into the river. A fine old hunting dog which had served me for two years was caught by a crocodile right under my nose one day in a small stream, where he had gone to drink after running down a wounded puku."

CURE FOR VARICOSE VEINS.

French Physician Finds That Walking Is Helpful in Most Cases.

Dr. Marchais of the Paris hospitals has just submitted to the French Academy of Medicine, a somewhat novel treatment for the cure of varicose veins in the legs.

He had observed that among rural postmen, obliged to go long distances on foot, there were few men who suffer from varicose veins and those who had varicose veins quickly recovered from them. Now, as a rule, patients with varicose veins are advised to walk as little as possible, but Dr. Marchais has changed all this and as the result of experiments he has successfully carried out on twenty-one patients he asserts that the most effective cure for varicose veins in the legs consists of walking.

He shows that, in order to obtain lasting results, it is necessary to go back to the cause of the affliction, which is the hypertension of the blood in the veins. It is, he says, possible even for those badly afflicted to cure themselves by rational daily walking exercises, preceded by massage of the legs.

Arriving at a Verdict.

Kushequa, Pa., Aug. 1.—(Special)—In this section of Pennsylvania there is a growing belief that for such kidney diseases as Rheumatism and Lame Back there is only one sure cure and that is Dodd's Kidney Pills. This belief grows from such cases as that of Mrs. M. L. Davison of this place. She tells the story herself as follows:

"I have suffered from Rheumatism for thirty years and find that Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken. I was also bothered with Lame Back and I can only say that my back hasn't bothered me since I took Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Considering that Mrs. Davison only took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the result would be considered wonderful if it were not that others are reporting similar results daily. Kushequa is fast arriving at a verdict that "Dodd's Kidney Pills are the one sure cure for Rheumatism."

Civil War Correspondents.

The roll call for the American newspaper correspondents of the civil war is growing shorter each year. They may be counted off on one's fingers—that is, those who represented great papers. One of the survivors, calling them over, finds only these: Whitelaw Reid, Edmund C. Stedman, George Alfred Townsend, Joseph Howard, Jr., George W. Smalley, Henry Watterson, George Cadwallader and W. F. G. Shanks. All these journalists, with the exception of Townsend, are in active service. He reformed late in life and took to farming on the Maryland "eastern shore."

"In the Bishop's Carriage," by Miriam Michelson, published by Bobbs, Merrill & Co., Indianapolis, is a book that will be remembered when many another of to-day has been forgotten. Sometimes criticised from the standpoint of ethics, the criticism reacts upon the critics, for there is nothing in the book that is not strong, true and helpful. It merely tells in language that never revolts of the struggle of a soul upwards from the unfortunate environments in which it finds itself placed, and it does it with such force and cleanliness that the number of its readers should constantly increase.

Strengthen the German Navy.

During the year 1903 the German navy was augmented by the construction of ten warships, representing an aggregate displacement of 59,477 tons. This is an increase in the tonnage over the previous year of 29,082 tons. Of this total launched there were three armoured cruisers aggregating 23,600 tons, one armoured cruiser of 9,500 tons, three small cruisers of 9,000 tons and a gunboat of 977 tons.

Improves Pay Service.

In order to avoid the delay and general disturbance which always occur on "pay day," shopmen of the Illinois Central at Waterloo, Iowa, received pay envelopes at their benches recently. If the experiment proves successful, the plan will be placed in general use over the system.

Some grocers say they don't keep Defiance Starch because they have a stock in hand of 12 oz. brands, which they know cannot be sold to a customer who has once used the 16 oz. pkg. Defiance Starch for same money.

ROOSEVELT IS TOLD OF HONOR

President Accepts Nomination at Hands of the Republican Party.

DISCUSSES VARIOUS ISSUES

Finance, Revision of Tariff Schedules, Protection, Organization of Capital and Labor, Reciprocity and Foreign Relations Are Touched Upon.

Oyster Bay, L. I., special: President Roosevelt Wednesday was notified of his nomination by the Republican party for the presidency.

In his speech the president starts in a normal way by extolling the record of his party.

Regarding financial legislation and the management of the finances, the president claims there is ample circulation and every dollar is worth a dollar in gold. The interest bearing debt has been decreased and the war taxes repealed.

President Roosevelt says he is for the revision of tariff schedules whenever the need arises, but he contends that that revision can be made with safety only by those who believe in the principle of protection and who will always keep duties high enough to cover the difference between labor cost here and abroad.

"We believe in reciprocity with foreign nations," said the president, "on the terms laid down in President McKinley's last speech."

Of labor and capital he said that the organization of each is recognized as a natural outcome of our industrial system. "Each kind of organization is to be favored as long as it acts in a spirit of justice and of regard for the rights of others. Each is to be granted the full protection of the law, and each in turn is to be held to a strict obedience to the law."

The foreign policy of the government, he says, has been so conducted that there is not a cloud on the horizon. The Alaskan question has been settled. In Venezuela and Panama it has been shown that the Monroe doctrine is a living reality, "designed for the hurt of no nation, but for the protection of civilization on the Western continent and for the peace of the world."

The only reference to the "open door" is the remark that "we have proved in effective fashion that we wish the Chinese empire well and desire its integrity and independence."

Of the Filipinos the president says it would have been disastrous to give them self-government more rapidly than has been done. He argues that to give the islands political independence now would result in the immediate loss of civil rights, personal liberty and public order as regards the mass of the Filipinos.

In conclusion he says: "We face the future with our past and our present as guarantors of our promises, and we are content to stand or to fall by the record which we have made and are making."

BOY KILLS HIS FANCIED RIVAL

Plunges Knife into Married Man Who Danced With Sweetheart.

Greensburg, Pa., dispatch: Crazed by jealousy at the sight of sweetheart dancing with Mike Madock, a married man, Steve Popovich, a boy of 17, is alleged to have murdered the latter at a wedding celebration in the Hungarian quarter. Popovich was arrested and placed in jail here. A marriage was performed in the afternoon and in the evening a big party gathered to celebrate the nuptials. Several barrels of beer were provided. While the dancers were whirling about the crowded room Popovich was joined by Madock. Quick as a flash he withdrew his arm from his partner's waist, whipped out a knife and plunged it into Madock's neck, severing both of the main arteries.

SHOOTS SELF IN JAIL AND DIES

How Self-Confessed Murderer Got His Weapon Puzzles Police.

Sibley, Iowa, dispatch: Fred F. Hout, the self-confessed slayer of Peter Johnson, who shot himself in jail here Friday, died Monday of his wounds. It remains a mystery how he obtained possession of the weapon, the dying man refusing to the last to give the name of the person who aided him. He said he had the revolver in his possession ever since his incarceration, but this is not believed by the authorities.

Gets Federal Contract.

Elkhart, Ind., dispatch: Postmaster Anderson has been notified that W. J. McAlpine of Dixon, Ill., had been awarded the contract for the new federal building here. His bid was $53,400. The work must be completed by Sept. 1, 1905.

Women Pensioners.

The largest pensions in the United States are drawn by women, twenty-four of whom receive in the aggregate more than is paid to 550 veterans of the $6 a month class. Mrs. Garfield and Mrs. McKinley receive $5,000 a year each. Mrs. Philip H. Sheridan receives $2,500, while the pensions of Mrs. Logan, Mrs. McClellan and Mrs. Frank Blair are each $2,000. Eighteen widows of generals and admirals receive $1,200 a year, six $900 and 200 have pensions of $600 each. The total received by 230 widows amounts to $165,000, equal to the amount received by 2,298 veterans at 20 cents a day.

Londoners and Shakespeare.

London has never had a memorial to Shakespeare. Recently a resident of that city offered to donate $12,500 toward the purpose, provided the county council would accept a financial responsibility in the undertaking and secure other contributions. This the council declines to do, and, as much as it appreciates the fitness of thus honoring the greatest of English poets, some one else must guarantee the full funds before it will entertain the provision of a site. Meantime the city which Shakespeare so highly honored will ignore the wishes and generosity of those who would respect his memory, and confine its one public testimonial to the poet to the little bust in Westminster abbey.

BUNCH TOGETHER

Coffee Has a Curious Way of Finally Attacking Some Organ.

Alls that come from coffee are cumulative, that is, unless the coffee is taken away new troubles are continually appearing and the old ones get worse.

"To begin with," says a Kansan, "I was a slave to coffee just as thousands of others to-day; thought I could not live without drinking strong coffee every morning for breakfast and I had sick headaches that kept me in bed several days every month. Could hardly keep my food on my stomach but would vomit as long as I could throw anything up and when I could get hot coffee to stay on my stomach I thought I was better."

"Well, two years ago this spring I was that sick with rheumatism I could not use my right arm to do anything, had heart trouble, was nervous. My nerves were all unstrung and my finger nails and tips were blue as if I had a chill all the time and my face and hands yellow as a pumpkin. My doctor said it was heart disease and rheumatism and my neighbors said I had Bright's disease and was going to die."

"Well, I did not know what on earth was the matter and every morning would drag myself out of bed and go to breakfast, not to eat anything, but to force down some more coffee. Then in a little while I would be so nervous, my heart would beat like everything."

"Finally one morning I told my husband I believed coffee was the cause of this trouble and that I thought I would try Postum which I had seen advertised. He said 'All right' so we got Postum and although I did not like it at first I got right down to business and made it according to directions, then it was fine and the whole family got to using it and I tell you it has worked wonders for me. Thanks to Postum in place of the poison, coffee, I now enjoy good health, have not been in bed with sick headache for two years although I had it for 30 years before I began Postum and my nerves are now strong and I have no trouble from my heart or from the rheumatism."

"I consider Postum a necessary article of food on my table. My friends who come here and taste my Postum say it is delicious." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Inch by inch she crawled steadily toward the flickering light.

back since his father's death! Only take to-day—"

"Soft, my lord. Yonder comes Witel making strange signs to you." All heads but Randalin's turned in the direction he was looking. She was still too lethargic for curiosity; and she found a kind of dreamy content in lying with her eyes upon the Etheling's handsome face.

Presently, however, between her and the comely apparition there interposed the brawny figure of a yeoman-soldier.

He said breathlessly, "Chief—before you go to the King—be it known to you that those horse-feet you heard—belong to the mounts of Edric of Mercia and his men—and he is with King Edmund now!"

The three stolid old warriors got to their feet with curses. The Etheling bent forward to gaze incredulously into the man's face.

"Edric of Mercia? With the King? Why do you think so?"

"I was a little way beyond the King's fire, watching a fellow who was showing how he could jump over the flames, when I saw the Gainer ride past; and I followed him, as near as the guards would permit—near enough to see that the King received him—let him settle it with Saint Cuthbert!"

There was a pause of utter stupefaction; then, from all within hearing, a clamorous outburst: "Ay, there it is!—Ethelred's blood!"—"It is no more to be counted on than is water—" "What could have moved him to it?"

It appeared that the Etheling had recovered from his surprise, for now he said steadily, "I will not believe it. Until their oaths have been spoken and their hands have clasped and my own eyes have witnessed it, I will not believe it of him."

Motioning them from his path, he was starting forward a second time, when the old knight laid a hand lightly upon his shoulder.

"Hore me, Lord Sebert! If then,—to weigh all perils like a soldier,—if then, you do witness it with your own eyes?"

The blue gave out a flash of smitten steel.

Morcard answered as to words: "You will be one against many, lord."

"You cannot mean that the Witan will comply with him!" the Etheling cried.

"How is it possible that they should do otherwise? The odal-born men

FORMER TREASURER SUED.

Sterling R. Holt and Bonbsmen are Asked for $90,000.

Romus Stuart, in behalf of the taxpayers of Marion county, has brought suit in the superior court against Sterling R. Holt, former county treasurer of Marion county and his bondsmen, and demands judgement to the amount of $90,000.

The complaint filed at noon Friday at Indianapolis contains many allegations of gross neglect of duty on the part of Mr. Holt while serving as treasurer.

It is alleged by Stuart that Holt made a practice of collecting delinquent taxes and appropriating the money thus collected, not making the necessary entries in his books to show the money had been paid. It is also alleged that other duties of his office were wilfully neglected and that he, in few instances, met the demands of the oath of his office. The suit will be one of the largest ones for the recovery of money instituted in the Marion county courts for some time.

Serious Conditions at Lapaz.

Word comes from Lapaz that Preston W. Green, the town marshal, was stoned last week while carrying the U. S. mail to the railway station. On the same night, the marshal's horse and buggy were stolen. The buggy was taken outside the corporation and burned. It is said that state officials at Indianapolis have been notified of the serious condition of affairs. The trouble is due to the recent incorporation of the town, a certain rowdy element endeavoring to defeat the plans of the majority of the citizens.

To Ditch Kankakee River.

The Ward of King Canute

A Romance of the Danish Conquest.

"Keep in mind, lord, that it is no more than a week that you have been at his heels," he said.

"Likewise bear in mind whose son he is," the man with the drinking-horn added grimly.

Flushing, the young noble ceased examining his sword-edge to meet the eyes bent upon him.

"I hope you do not think I stand in need of a rebuke for lukewarmness, Morcard," he said gravely. "I have no more forgot that King Edmund's father gave the order for my father's murder than I have forgot that Edric was the tool who did the deed. But what sense to continue at that after Ethelred was dead, and the valor of his son was to that degree exalted as if he had sprung from Alfred? Yourself counselled me to join him at Gillingham, and take the post under his banner that my fathers have always held beside his fathers."

Two of the three warriors made no other answer than to gurgling their drink noisily in their throats; but the one whom he had called Morcard answered dryly, "It is not against testing the new king that we would advise you, Lord Sebert; it is against trusting him." He lifted his hand suddenly to his ear. "Horses' feet!" And stopping by the King's fire—

What else he said, Randalin did not hear. Her wits had crawled heavily after the sound of the hoofs. Now the beat changed to a clamping and clamping among dry leaves not many rods to her right. She wondered differently if there was any likelihood of their running over her; then forgot the query before she had answered it. The Etheling was speaking again, with all the earnestness of hero-worship.

"—the battles he has fought, the abundance of warriors he has gathered together, the land he has won

could not prevent it when Ethelred took Alfric back. And to-night, few but thanes have resorted thither—men whom the Redeless took from ploughing his fields to gild with nobility. Is it likely that they will oppose the hand that can strip off their gilding?"

It appeared that the young man could find no answer to that, for he made none.

"At least once, my lord, Ethelred's wilfulness has shown in his son, when he set aside the King's command to take possession of Sigefrith's widow and her estates. And I think it was Ethelred's temper that moved him to spend an energy, much better directed against the Pagans, in laying waste two of his own shires. Remember what happened when your father raised himself against Ethelred."

Restive under the restraining hand, the young noble faced him desperately. "Morcard, in God's name, what would you have me do? I will not bend to it, nor would you wish me to. Or sooner or later—"

"Let it be later, lord. After you have had time to marshal your men at your back."

After a while, the Etheling yielded and turned aside. "Let it be as you have said—though I cannot believe yet that it will happen." Coming back where a fallen tree made a mossy seat, he dropped down upon it and sat staring at the ground in frowning abstraction.

The motion dropped him out of the range of Randalin's vision, and her eyes wandered away discontentedly. It there was nothing more to look at, she might as well go to sleep. She was just losing consciousness when the figure of a second yeoman-soldier moved across her vision, looming black against the firelight. His whisper came sharply to her ears.

"It is done, chief. May they have tried to be brave, but I am really a woman; it is not possible for me to have a man's heart."

The grinning shadows mouthed at her. "You have not dared to be a woman," they mocked. "You have not dared to be a woman, so you must dare to be a man."

A night wind shuddered through the trees, and the hovering shades seemed to hiss in her ear.

"Coward! Traitor! Nothing! Do you not get afraid that you will experience the wrath of the dead? Listen! Is that the wind rustling the leaves? Or is it—"

A gasp burst from the white lips, and the die was cast. While the cold drops started on her pain-racked body, she dragged herself to her knees and fumbled with trembling hands about her belt. For an instant, something like a moonbeam glimmered amid the shadow; then her lips closed convulsively upon the steel. Tipping forward upon her hands, she tested cautiously the strength of her wounded leg, smothering groans of pain that seemed to tear her throat in the swallowing. Inch by inch, she crawled steadily toward the flickering light.

CHAPTER VII.

As the Norms Decree.

It was a long way to the King's fire, but at last it lay before her; before and below her, for it had been built in a depression of the little open. The last charred log had fallen apart, spreading a swarm of golden glow-worms over the black earth, but there was still enough light to reveal a ring of muffled forms sprawling around the sloping sides of the hollow, with their feet toward the fire and their heads lost in darkness. Pausing in the tree-shadow, the girl thrilled with sudden hope. Since their faces were all hidden, how was she to distinguish her victim?

At that moment, the warrior directly in front of her stirred in his sleep and flung a jeweled hand over his face. Those broad gold rings with the green stones that sparkled like serpents' eyes as they caught the light! They were fixed indolently in her memory, for she had seen them on the rapacious hand that had seized upon her while it was still red with her father's blood. Suddenly, in the rage that rose in her at the recollection, she found determination for the deed.

There was no time to lose, she told herself feverishly, and moved forward with snake-like stillness. Between the sheltering arm and the neck of the steel shirt there was a space of naked throat. Settling her teeth, she raised her knife and struck down at it with a strong hand.

The point never reached its mark. For an instant she could not tell what had happened. Fingers closed like iron bands around her wrist, pulling her backwards so that the pain of her twisted wound wrung a cry from her lips. They were not Norman's fingers, yet he also was stirring; while darting flashes from the dusk about them told that the other sleepers were drawing their weapons. Then some one threw a branchful of dead leaves upon the fire.

The flame that flared up showed her arm to be in the grasp of the Lord of Ivarsdale.

"You mad young one!" he gasped, as he wrenched the blade from her hold.

LOCUST PLAGUE IN EGYPT.

The Invasion of Insects Is a Very Serious One.

There is every probability of the plague of locusts which has now descended on Egypt proving a very serious one. Great anxiety is felt for the young cotton and other crops.

The locusts first arrive in comparatively small numbers, but they multiply very rapidly as soon as they reach the edge of cultivation. Within ten days the young insects, though still wingless, advance in a solid phalanx sometimes two or three feet deep and several miles in length.

It is essential that at this stage they should be destroyed, as it would be impossible to check the ravages of flying locusts.

The method adopted during the last visitation, that of 1890, was to dig deep trenches, sometimes miles in length, between which and the advancing swarm huge heaps of straw were laid and fired. Any locusts which succeeded in escaping the flames and smoke fell into the trenches, where they were destroyed by natives under the supervision of English instructors.

It is a providential habit of young locusts never to turn back or aside when once started, no matter what obstacles are put in their way.—Cairo Correspondent London Daily Mail.

Diet of the Crocodile.

Of a crocodile, which measured seventeen feet in length and which a noted hunter shot, he writes: "On cutting him open he was found to contain the remains of an Mplia ram (with horns intact), which he had probably caught while it was drinking. On one occasion I cut up a crocodile which contained no less than forty-nine bangles of ivory and copper, showing that he had swallowed one or more natives, so I always get the boys to cut up any we shoot. They are loathsome reptiles, and I never consider a shot at them wasted. Many a native while drawing water after dark is caught by the arm and dragged into the river. A fine old hunting dog which had served me for two years was caught by a crocodile right under my nose one day in a small stream, where he had gone to drink after running down a wounded puku."

"Odin sends you revenge!"—"It is the will of Odin that has drawn you together!"—"Would you become like the girl with the necklace?"—"Are you a coward, that you do not prefer to die in good repute rather than live in the shame of neglecting your duty?"

She flung up her haggard face in appeal. "No, no, I am not a coward," her spirit cried within her. "I was brave in the battle. It is not death I fear; but I cannot kill! Odin, have mercy on me! I cannot kill. I have

CURE FOR VARICOSE VEINS.

French Physician Finds That Walking Is Helpful in Most Cases.

Dr. Marchais of the Paris hospitals has just submitted to the French Academy of Medicine, a somewhat novel treatment for the cure of varicose veins in the legs.

He had observed that among rural postmen, obliged to go long distances on foot, there were few men who suffer from varicose veins and those who had varicose veins quickly recovered from them. Now, as a rule, patients with varicose veins are advised to walk as little as possible, but Dr. Marchais has changed all this and as the result of experiments he has successfully carried out on twenty-one patients he asserts that the most effective cure for varicose veins in the legs consists of walking.

He shows that, in order to obtain lasting results, it is necessary to go back to the cause of the affliction, which is the hypertension of the blood in the veins. It is, he says, possible even for those badly afflicted to cure themselves by rational daily walking exercises, preceded by massage of the legs.

Arriving at a Verdict.

Kushequa, Pa., Aug. 1.—(Special)—In this section of Pennsylvania there is a growing belief that for such Kidney Diseases as Rheumatism and Lame Back there is only one sure cure and that is Dodd's Kidney Pills. This belief grows from such cases as that of Mrs. M. L. Davison of this place. She tells the story herself as follows:

"I have suffered from Rheumatism for thirty years and find that Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken. I was also bothered with Lame Back and I can only say that my back hasn't bothered me since I took Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Considering that Mrs. Davison only took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the result would be considered wonderful if it were not that others are reporting similar results daily. Kushequa is fast arriving at a verdict that "Dodd's Kidney Pills are the one sure cure for Rheumatism."

Civil War Correspondents.

The roll call for the American newspaper correspondents of the civil war is growing shorter each year. They may be counted off on one's fingers—that is, those who represented great papers. One of the survivors, calling them over, finds only these: Whitelaw Reid, Edmund C. Stedman, George Alfred Townsend, Joseph Howard, Jr., George W. Smalley, Henry Watterson, George Cadwallader and W. F. G. Shanks. All these journalists, with the exception of Townsend, are in active service. He reformed late in life and took to farming on the Maryland "eastern shore."

"In the Bishop's Carriage," by Miriam Michelson, published by Bobbs, Merrill & Co., Indianapolis, is a book that will be remembered when many another of to-day has been forgotten. Sometimes criticised from the standpoint of ethics, the criticism reacts upon the critics, for there is nothing in the book that is not strong, true and helpful. It merely tells in language that never revolts from the struggle of a soul upwards from the unfortunate environments in which it finds itself placed, and it does it with such force and clearness that the number of its readers should constantly increase.

Strengthen the German Navy.

During the year 1903 the German navy was augmented by the construction of ten warships, representing an aggregate displacement of 53,477 tons. This is an increase in the tonnage over the previous year of 29,082 tons. Of this total launched there were three armorclads aggregating 39,600 tons, one armored cruiser of 9,500 tons, three small cruisers of 9,000 tons and a gunboat of 977 tons.

Improves Pay Service.

In order to avoid the delay and general disturbance which always occur on "pay day," shopmen of the Illinois Central at Waterloo, Iowa, received pay envelopes at their benches recently. If the experiment proves successful, the plan will be placed in general use over the system.

President Accepts Nomination at Hands of the Republican Party.

Finance, Revision of Tariff Schedules, Protection, Organization of Capital and Labor, Reciprocity and Foreign Relations Are Touched Upon.

Oyster Bay, L. I., special: President Roosevelt Wednesday was notified of his nomination by the Republican party for the presidency.

In his speech the president starts in a normal way by extolling the record of his party.

Regarding financial legislation and the management of the finances, the president claims there is ample circulation and every dollar is worth a dollar in gold. The interest bearing debt has been decreased and the war taxes repealed.

President Roosevelt says he is for the revision of tariff schedules whenever the need arises, but he contends that that revision can be made with safety only by those who believe in the principle of protection and who will always keep duties high enough to cover the difference between labor cost here and abroad.

"We believe in reciprocity with foreign nations," said the president, "on the terms laid down in President McKinley's last speech."

Of labor and capital he said that the organization of each is recognized as a natural outcome of our industrial system. "Each kind of organization is to be favored as long as it acts in a spirit of justice and of regard for the rights of others. Each is to be granted the full protection of the law, and each in turn is to be held to a strict obedience to the law."

The foreign policy of the government, he says, has been so conducted that there is not a cloud on the horizon. The Alaskan question has been settled. In Venezuela and Panama it has been shown that the Monroe doctrine is a living reality, "designed for the hurt of no nation, but for the protection of civilization on the Western continent and for the peace of the world."

The only reference to the "open door" is the remark that "we have proved in effective fashion that we wish the Chinese empire well and desire its integrity and independence."

Of the Filipinos the president says it would have been disastrous to give them self-government more rapidly than has been done. He argues that to give the islands political independence now would result in the immediate loss of civil rights, personal liberty and public order as regards the mass of the Filipinos.

In conclusion he says: "We face the future with our past and our present as guarantors of our promises, and we are content to stand or to fall by the record which we have made and are making."

BOY KILLS HIS FANCIED RIVAL

Plunges Knife Into Married Man Who Danced With Sweetheart.

Greensburg, Pa., dispatch: Crazed by jealousy at the sight of sweetheart dancing with Mike Madock, a married man, Steve Popovich, a boy of 17, is alleged to have murdered the latter at a wedding celebration in the Hungarian quarter. Popovich was arrested and placed in jail here. A marriage was performed in the afternoon and in the evening a big party gathered to celebrate the nuptials. Several barrels of beer were provided. While the dancers were whirling about the crowded room Popovich was jolted by Madock. Quick as a flash he withdrew his arm from his partner's waist, whipped out a knife and plunged it into Madock's neck, severing both of the main arteries.

Women Pensioners.

The largest pensions in the United States are drawn by women, twenty-four of whom receive in the aggregate more than is paid to 550 veterans of the $6 a month class. Mrs. Garfield and Mrs. McKinley receive $5,000 a year each. Mrs. Philip H. Sheridan receives $2,500, while the pensions of Mrs. Logan, Mrs. McClellan and Mrs. Frank Blair are each $2,000. Eighteen widows of generals and admirals receive $1,200 a year, six $900 and 200 have pensions of $600 each. The total received by 230 widows amounts to $165,000, equal to the amount received by 2,298 veterans at 20 cents a day.

Londoners and Shakespeare.

London has never had a memorial to Shakespeare. Recently a resident of that city offered to donate $12,500 toward the purpose, provided the county council would accept a financial responsibility in the undertaking and secure other contributions. This the council declines to do, and, as much as it appreciates the fitness of thus honoring the greatest of English poets, some one else must guarantee the full funds before it will entertain the provision of a site. Meantime the city which Shakespeare so highly honored will ignore the wishes and generosity of those who would respect his memory, and confine its one public testimonial to the poet to the little bust in Westminster abbey.

BUNCH TOGETHER

Coffee Has a Curious Way of Finally Attacking Some Organ.

Ails that come from coffee are cumulative, that is, unless the coffee is taken away new troubles are continually appearing and the old ones get worse.

"To begin with," says a Kansan, "I was a slave to coffee just as thousands of others to-day; thought I could not live without drinking strong coffee every morning for breakfast and I had sick headaches that kept me in bed several days every month. Could hardly keep my food on my stomach but would vomit as long as I could throw anything up and when I could get hot coffee to stay on my stomach I thought I was better."

"Well, two years ago this spring I was that sick with rheumatism I could not use my right arm to do anything, had heart trouble, was nervous. My nerves were all unstrung and my finger nails and tips were blue as if I had a chill all the time and my face and hands yellow as a pumpkin. My doctor said it was heart disease and rheumatism and my neighbors said I had Bright's disease and was going to die."

"Well, I did not know what on earth was the matter and every morning would drag myself out of bed and go to breakfast, not to eat anything, but to force down some more coffee. Then in a little while I would be so nervous, my heart would beat like everything."

"Finally one morning I told my husband I believed coffee was the cause of this trouble and that I thought I would try Postum which I had seen advertised. He said 'All right' so we got Postum and although I did not like it at first I got right down to business and made it according to directions, then it was fine and the whole family got to using it and I tell you it has worked wonders for me. Thanks to Postum in place of the poison, coffee, I now enjoy good health, have not been in bed with sick headache for two years although I had it for 30 years before I began Postum and my nerves are now strong and I have no trouble from my heart or from the rheumatism."

"I consider Postum a necessary article of food on my table. My friends who come here and taste my Postum say it is delicious." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Inch by inch she crawled steadily toward the flickering light.

back since his father's death! Only take to-day—"

"Soft, my lord, yonder comes Wikel making strange signs to you."

All heads but Randalin's turned in the direction he was looking. She was still too lethargic for curiosity; and she found a kind of dreamy content in lying with her eyes upon the Etheling's handsome face.

Presently, however, between her and the comely apparition there intervened the brawny figure of a yeoman-soldier.

He said breathlessly, "Chief—before you go to the King—be it known to you that those horse-foes you heard—belong to the mounts of Edric of Mercia and his men—and he is with King Edmund now!"

The three stolid old warriors got to their feet with curses. The Etheling bent forward to gaze incredulously into the man's face.

"Edric of Mercia? With the King? Why do you think so?"

"I was a little way beyond the King's fire, watching a fellow who was showing how he could jump over the flames, when I saw the Gainer ride past; and I followed him, as near as the guards would permit—near enough to see that the King received him—let him settle it with Saint Guthbert!"

There was a pause of utter stupefaction; then, from all within hearing, a clamorous outburst: "Ay, there it is!"—"Ethelred's blood!"—"It is no more to be counted on than is water—" "What could have moved him to it?"

It appeared that the Etheling had recovered from his surprise, for now he said steadily, "I will not believe it. Until their oaths have been spoken and their hands have clasped and my own eyes have witnessed it, I will not believe it of him."

Motioning them from his path, he was starting forward a second time, when the old clerk laid a hand lightly upon his shoulder.

"Here md, Lord Sebert! If then,—to help all perils like a soldier,—if then, you do witness it with your own eyes?"

The blue gave out a flash of smitten steel.

Morcard answered as to words: "You will be one against many, lord." "You cannot mean that the Witan will comply with him!" the Etheling cried.

"How is it possible that they should do otherwise? The odal-born men

FORMER TREASURER SUED.

Sterling R. Holt and Bondsmen are Asked for $90,000.

Romus Stuart, in behalf of the taxpayers of Marion county, has brought suit in the superior court against Sterling R. Holt, former county treasurer of Marion county and his bondsmen, and demands judgement to the amount of $90,000.

The complaint filed at noon Friday at Indianapolis contains many allegations of gross neglect of duty on the part of Mr. Holt while serving as treasurer.

It is alleged by Stuart that Holt made a practice of collecting delinquent taxes and appropriating the money thus collected, not making the necessary entries in his books to show the money had been paid. It is also alleged that other duties of his office were wilfully neglected and that he, in few instances, met the demands of the oath of his office. The suit will be one of the largest ones for the recovery of money instituted in the Marion county courts for some time.

Serious Conditions at Lapaz.

Word comes from Lapaz that Preston W. Green, the town marshal, was stoned last week while carrying the U. S. mail to the railway station. On the same night, the marshal's horse and buggy were stolen. The buggy was taken outside the corporation and burned. It is said that state officials at Indianapolis have been notified of the serious condition of affairs. The trouble is due to the recent incorporation of the town, a certain rowdy element endeavoring to defeat the plans of the majority of the citizens.

The Ward of King Canute

A Romance of the Danish Conquest.

By OTTILIE A. LILJENCRANTZ, author of The Thrall of Lief the Lucky.
Copyright, 1903, by A. C. MCCLURG & CO.

"Keep in mind, lord, that it is no more than a week that you have been at his heels," he said.

"Likewise bear in mind whose son he is," the man with the drinking-horn added grimly.

Flushing, the young noble ceased examining his sword-edge to meet the eyes bent upon him.

"I hope you do not think I stand in need of a rebuke for lukewarmness, Morcard," he said gravely. "I have no more forgot that King Edmund's father gave the order for my father's murder than I have forgot that Edric was the tool who did the deed. But what sense to continue at that after Ethelred was dead, and the valor of his son was to that degree exalted as if he had sprung from Alfred? Yourself counseled me to join him at Gillingham, and take the post under his banner that my fathers have always held beside his fathers."

Two of the three warriors made no other answer than to gurgling their drink noisily in their throats; but the one whom he had called Morcard answered dryly, "It is not against testing the new king that we would advise you, Lord Sebert; it is against trusting him." He lifted his hand suddenly to his ear. "Horses' feet! And stopping by the King's fire—"

What else he said, Randalin did not hear. Her wits had crawled heavily after the sound of the hoofs. Now the best changed to a champing and stamping among dry leaves not many rods to her right. She wondered indifferently if there was any likelihood of their running over her; then forgot the query before she had answered it.

The Etheling was speaking again, with all the earnestness of hero-worship.

"—the battles he has fought, the abundance of warriors he has gathered together, the land he has won could not prevent it when Ethelred took Alfric back. And tonight, few but thanes have resorted thither—men whom the Redeless took from ploughing his fields to gild with nobility. Is it likely that they will oppose the hand that can strip off their gilding?"

It appeared that the young man could find no answer to that, for he made none.

"At least once, my lord, Ethelred's willfulness has shown in his son, when he set aside the King's command to take possession of Sigefrith's widow and her estates. And I think it was Ethelred's temper that moved him to spend an energy, much better directed against the Pagans, in laying waste two of his own shires. Remember what happened when your father raised himself against Ethelred."

Restive under the restraining hand, the young noble faced him desperately. "Morcard, in God's name, what would you have me do? I will not bend to it, nor would you wish me to. Or sooner or later—"

"Let it be later, lord. After you have had time to marshal your men at your back."

After a while, the Etheling yielded and turned aside. "Let it be as you have said—though I cannot believe yet that it will happen." Coming back where a fallen tree made a mossy seat, he dropped down upon it and sat staring at the ground in frowning abstraction.

The motion dropped him out of the range of Randalin's vision, and her eyes wandered away discontentedly. If there was nothing more to look at, she might as well go to sleep. She was just losing consciousness when the figure of a second yeoman-soldier moved across her vision, looming black against the fireglow. His whisper came sharply to her ears.

"It is done, chief. May they have tried to be brave, but I am really a woman; it is not possible for me to have a man's heart."

The grinning shadows mouthed at her. "You have not dared to be a woman," they mocked. "You have not dared to be a woman, so you must dare to be a man."

A night wind shuddered through the trees, and the hovering shades seemed to hiss in his ear.

"Coward! Traitor! Nothing! Do you not get afraid that you will experience the wrath of the dead? Listen! Is that the wind rustling the leaves? Or is it—"

A gasp burst from the white lips, and the die was cast. While the cold drops started on her pain-racked body, she dragged herself to her knees and fumbled with trembling hands about her belt. For an instant, something like a moonbeam glimmered amid the shadow; then her lips closed convulsively upon the steel. Tipping forward upon her hands, she tested cautiously the strength of her wounded leg, smothering groans of pain that seemed to tear her throat in the swallowing. Inch by inch, she crawled steadily toward the flickering light.

CHAPTER VII.

It was a long way to the King's fire, but at last it lay before her; before and below her, for it had been built in a depression of the little open. The last charred log had fallen apart, spreading a swarm of golden glow-worms over the black earth, but there was still enough light to reveal a ring of muffled forms sprawling around the sloping sides of the hollow, with their feet toward the fire and their heads lost in darkness. Pausing in the tree-shadow, the girl thrilled with sudden hope. Since their faces were all hidden, how was she to distinguish her victim?

At that moment, the warrior directly in front of her stirred in his sleep and flung a jeweled hand over his face. Those broad gold rings with the green stones that sparkled like serpents' eyes as they caught the light! They were fixed indelibly in her memory, for she had seen them on the rapacious hand that had seized upon her while it was still red with her father's blood. Suddenly, in the rage that rose in her at the recollection, she found determination for the deed.

There was no time to lose, she told herself feverishly, and moved forward with snake-like stillness. Between the sheltering arm and the neck of the steel shirt there was a space of naked throat. Setting her teeth, she raised her knife and struck down at it with a strong hand.

The point never reached its mark. For an instant she could not tell what had happened. Fingers closed like iron bands around her wrist, pulling her backwards so that the pain of her twisted wound wrung a cry from her lips. They were not Norman's fingers, yet he also was stirring; while darting flashes from the dusk about them told that the other sleepers were drawing their weapons. Then some one threw a branchful of dead leaves upon the fire.

The flame that flared up showed her arm to be in the grasp of the Lord of Ivarsdale.

"You mad young one!" he gasped, as he wrenched the blade from her hold.

LOCUST PLAGUE IN EGYPT.

The Invasion of Insects Is a Very Serious One.

There is every probability of the plague of locusts which has now descended on Egypt proving a very serious one. Great anxiety is felt for the young cotton and other crops.

The locusts first arrive in comparatively small numbers, but they multiply very rapidly as soon as they reach the edge of cultivation. Within ten days the young insects, though still wingless, advance in a solid phalanx sometimes two or three feet deep and several miles in length.

It is essential that at this stage they should be destroyed, as it would be impossible to check the ravages of flying locusts.

The method adopted during the last visitation, that of 1890, was to dig deep trenches, sometimes miles in length, between which and the advancing swarm huge heaps of straw were laid and fired. Any locusts which succeeded in escaping the flames and smoke fell into the trenches, where they were destroyed by natives under the supervision of English instructors.

It is a providential habit of young locusts never to turn back or aside when once started, no matter what obstacles are put in their way.—Calro Correspondent London Daily Mail.

Diet of the Crocodile.

Of a crocodile, which measured seventeen feet in length and which a noted hunter shot, he writes: "On cutting him open he was found to contain the remains of an Mpala ram (with horns intact), which he had probably caught while it was drinking. On one occasion I cut up a crocodile which contained no less than forty-nine bangles of ivory and copper, showing that he had swallowed one or more natives, so I always get the boys to cut up any we shoot. They are loathsome reptiles, and I never consider a shot at them wasted. Many a native while drawing water after dark is caught by the arm and dragged into the river. A fine old hunting dog which had served me for two years was caught by a crocodile right under my nose one day in a small stream, where he had gone to drink after running down a wounded puku."

CURE FOR VARICOSE VEINS.

French Physician Finds That Walking Is Helpful in Most Cases.

Dr. Marchais of the Paris hospitals has just submitted to the French Academy of Medicine, a somewhat novel treatment for the cure of varicose veins in the legs.

He had observed that among rural postmen, obliged to go long distances on foot, there were few men who suffer from varicose veins and those who had varicose veins quickly recovered from them. Now, as a rule, patients with varicose veins are advised to walk as little as possible, but Dr. Marchais has changed all this and as the result of experiments he has successfully carried out on twenty-one patients he asserts that the most effective cure for varicose veins in the legs consists of walking.

He shows that, in order to obtain lasting results, it is necessary to go back to the cause of the affliction, which is the hypertension of the blood in the veins. It is, he says, possible even for those badly afflicted to cure themselves by rational daily walking exercises, preceded by massage of the legs.

Arriving at a Verdict.

Kushequa, Pa., Aug. 1.—(Special)—In this section of Pennsylvania there is a growing belief that for such kidney diseases as Rheumatism and Lame Back there is only one sure cure and that is Dodd's Kidney Pills. This belief grows from such cases as that of Mrs. M. J. Davison of this place. She tells the story herself as follows:

"I have suffered from Rheumatism for thirty years and find that Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken. I was also bothered with Lame Back and I can only say that my back hasn't bothered me since I took Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Considering that Mrs. Davison only took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the result would be considered wonderful if it were not that others are reporting similar results daily. Kushequa is fast arriving at a verdict that "Dodd's Kidney Pills are the one sure cure for Rheumatism."

Civil War Correspondents.

The roll call for the American newspaper correspondents of the civil war is growing shorter each year. They may be counted off on one's fingers—that is, those who represented great papers. One of the survivors, calling them over, finds only these: Whitelaw Reid, Edmund C. Stedman, George Alfred Townsend, Joseph Howard, Jr., George W. Smalley, Henry Watterson, George Cadwallader and W. F. G. Shanks. All these journalists, with the exception of Townsend, are in active service. He reformed late in life and took to farming on the Maryland "eastern shore."

"In the Bishop's Carriage," by Miriam Michelson, published by Bobbs, Merrill & Co., Indianapolis, is a book that will be remembered when many another of today has been forgotten. Sometimes criticised from the standpoint of ethics, the criticism reacts upon the critics, for there is nothing in the book that is not strong, true and helpful. It merely tells in language that never revolts from the struggle of a soul upwards from the unfortunate environments in which it finds itself placed, and it does it with such force and clearness that the number of its readers should constantly increase.

Strengthen the German Navy.

During the year 1903 the German navy was augmented by the construction of ten warships, representing an aggregate displacement of 59,477 tons. This is an increase in the tonnage over the previous year of 29,082 tons. Of this total launched there were three armorclads aggregating 39,600 tons, one armored cruiser of 9,500 tons, three small cruisers of 9,000 tons and a gunboat of 977 tons.

Improves Pay Service.

In order to avoid the delay and general disturbance which always occur on "pay day," shoppens of the Illinois Central at Waterloo, Iowa, received pay envelopes at their benches recently. If the experiment proves successful, the plan will be placed in general use over the system.

Insist on Getting It.

Some grocers say they don't keep Defiance Starch because they have a stock in hand of 13 oz. brands, which they know cannot be sold to a customer who has once used the 16 oz. pkg. Defiance Starch for same money.

Archdeacon of Virginia.

The Rev. W. D. Smith, rector of St. George's parish of Fredericksburg, has been elected archdeacon of the Episcopal diocese of Virginia.

In the time of sorrow one cannot make a critical examination of any article, but if you ask your Undertaker to show you the goods made by the National Casket Co., you will get the best in the World.

German Soldier Dies at 101.

Becht, the oldest former member of the German army, died recently at Delkenheim on the Rhine, age 101 years.

More Flexible and Lasting, won't shake out or blow out, by using Defiance Starch you obtain better results than possible with any other brand and one-third more for same money.

Reduce Postal Rates.

The postage on letters between Mexico and Canada is to be reduced at once from five to two cents.

President Accepts Nomination at Hands of the Republican Party.

Finance, Revision of Tariff Schedules, Protection, Organization of Capital and Labor, Reciprocity and Foreign Relations Are Touched Upon.

Oyster Bay, L. I., special: President Roosevelt Wednesday was notified of his nomination by the Republican party for the presidency.

In his speech the president starts in a normal way by extolling the record of his party.

Regarding financial legislation and the management of the finances, the president claims there is ample circulation and every dollar is worth a dollar in gold. The interest bearing debt has been decreased and the war taxes repealed.

President Roosevelt says he is for the revision of tariff schedules whenever the need arises, but he contends that that revision can be made with safety only by those who believe in the principle of protection and who will always keep duties high enough to cover the difference between labor cost here and abroad.

"We believe in reciprocity with foreign nations," said the president, "on the terms laid down in President McKinley's last speech."

Of labor and capital he said that the organization of each is recognized as a natural outcome of our industrial system. "Each kind of organization is to be favored as long as it acts in a spirit of justice and of regard for the rights of others. Each is to be granted the full protection of the law, and each in turn is to be held to a strict obedience to the law."

The foreign policy of the government, he says, has been so conducted that there is not a cloud on the horizon. The Alaskan question has been settled. In Venezuela and Panama it has been shown that the Monroe doctrine is a living reality, "designed for the hurt of no nation, but for the protection of civilization on the Western continent and for the peace of the world."

The only reference to the "open door" is the remark that "we have proved in effective fashion that we wish the Chinese empire well and desire its integrity and independence."

Of the Filipinos the president says it would have been disastrous to give them self-government more rapidly than has been done. He argues that to give the islands political independence now would result in the immediate loss of civil rights, personal liberty and public order as regards the mass of the Filipinos.

In conclusion he says: "We face the future with our past and our present as guarantors of our promises, and we are content to stand or to fall by the record which we have made and are making."

BOY KILLS HIS FANCIED RIVAL

Plunges Knife Into Married Man Who Danced With Sweetheart.

Greensburg, Pa., dispatch: Crazy by jealousy at the sight of sweetheart dancing with Mike Madock, a married man, Steve Popovich, a boy of 17, is alleged to have murdered the latter at a wedding celebration in the Hungarian quarter. Popovich was arrested and placed in jail here. A marriage was performed in the afternoon and in the evening a big party gathered to celebrate the nuptials. Several barrels of beer were provided. While the dancers were whirling about the crowded room Popovich was jolted by Madock. Quick as a flash he withdrew his arm from his partner's waist, whipped out a knife and plunged it into Madock's neck, severing both of the main arteries.

How Self-Confessed Murderer Got His Weapon Puzzles Police.

Sibley, Iowa, dispatch: Fred F. Hout, the self-confessed slayer of Peter Johnson, who shot himself in jail here Friday, died Monday of his wounds. It remains a mystery how he obtained possession of the weapon, the dying man refusing to the last to give the name of the person who aided him. He said he had the revolver in his possession ever since his incarceration, but this is not believed by the authorities.

Elkhart, Ind., dispatch: Postmaster Anderson has been notified that W. J. McAlpine of Dixon, Ill., had been awarded the contract for the new federal building here. His bid was $58,400. The work must be completed by Sept. 1, 1905.

Women Pensioners.

The largest pensions in the United States are drawn by women, twenty-four of whom receive in the aggregate more than is paid to 550 veterans of the $6 a month class. Mrs. Garfield and Mrs. McKinley receive $5,000 a year each. Mrs. Philip H. Sheridan receives $2,500, while the pensions of Mrs. Logan, Mrs. McClellan and Mrs. Frank Blair are each $2,000. Eighteen widows of generals and admirals receive $1,200 a year, six $900 and 200 have pensions of $600 each. The total received by 230 widows amounts to $165,000, equal to the amount received by 2,298 veterans at 20 cents a day.

Londoners and Shakespeare.

London has never had a memorial to Shakespeare. Recently a resident of that city offered to donate $12,500 toward the purpose, provided the county council would accept a financial responsibility in the undertaking and secure other contributions. This the council declines to do, and, as much as it appreciates the fitness of thus honoring the greatest of English poets, some one else must guarantee the full funds before it will entertain the provision of a site. Meantime the city which Shakespeare so highly honored will ignore the wishes and generosity of those who would respect his memory, and confine its one public testimonial to the poet to the little bust in Westminster abbey.

BUNCH TOGETHER

Coffee Has a Curious Way of Finally Attacking Some Organ.

Alls that come from coffee are cumulative, that is, unless the coffee is taken away new troubles are continually appearing and the old ones get worse.

"To begin with," says a Kansan, "I was a slave to coffee just as thousands of others to-day; thought I could not live without drinking strong coffee every morning for breakfast and I had sick headaches that kept me in bed several days every month. Could hardly keep my food on my stomach but would vomit as long as I could throw anything up and when I could get hot coffee to stay on my stomach I thought I was better."

"Well, two years ago this spring I was that sick with rheumatism I could not use my right arm to do anything, had heart trouble, was nervous. My nerves were all unstrung and my finger nails and tips were blue as if I had a chill all the time and my face and hands yellow as a pumpkin. My doctor said it was heart disease and rheumatism and my neighbors said I had Bright's disease and was going to die."

"Well, I did not know what on earth was the matter and every morning would drag myself out of bed and go to breakfast, not to eat anything, but to force down some more coffee. Then in a little while I would be so nervous, my heart would beat like everything."

"Finally one morning I told my husband I believed coffee was the cause of this trouble and that I thought I would try Postum which I had seen advertised. He said 'All right' so we got Postum and although I did not like it at first I got right down to business and made it according to directions, then it was fine and the whole family got to using it and I tell you it has worked wonders for me. Thanks to Postum in place of the poison, coffee, I now enjoy good health, have not been in bed with sick headache for two years although I had it for 30 years before I began Postum and my nerves are now strong and I have no trouble from my heart or from the rheumatism."

"I consider Postum a necessary article of food on my table. My friends who come here and taste my Postum say it is delicious." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

back since his father's death! Only take to-day—"

"Soft, my lord. Yonder comes Wikel making strange signs to you."

All heads but Randalin's turned in the direction he was looking. She was still too lethargic for curiosity; and she found a kind of dreamy content in lying with her eyes upon the Etheling's handsome face.

Presently, however, between her and the comely apparition there intervened the brawny figure of a yeoman-soldier.

He said breathlessly, "Chief—before you go to the King—be it known to you that those horse-foes you heard—belong to the mounts of Edric of Mercia and his men—and he is with King Edmund now!"

The three stolid old warriors got to their feet with curses. The Etheling bent forward to gaze incredulously into the man's face.

"Edric of Mercia? With the King? Why do you think so?"

"I was a little way beyond the King's fire, watching a fellow who was showing how he could jump over the flames, when I saw the Gainer ride past; and I followed him, as near as the guards would permit—near enough, to see that the King received him—let him settle it with Saint Cuthbert!"

There was a pause of utter stupefaction; then, from all within hearing, a clamorous outburst: "Ay, there it is!—Ethelred's blood!" "It is no more to be counted on than is water—" "What could have moved him to it?"

It appeared that the Etheling had recovered from his surprise, for now he said steadily, "I will not believe it. Until their oaths have been spoken and their hands have clasped and my own eyes have witnessed it, I will not believe it of him."

Motioning them from his path, he was starting forward a second time, when the old knight laid a hand lightly upon his shoulder.

"Here me, Lord Sebert! If then,—to weigh all perils like a soldier,—if then, you do witness it with your own eyes!"

The blue gave out a flash of smitten steel.

Morcard answered as to words: "You will be one against many, lord."

"You cannot mean that the Witan will comply with him!" the Etheling cried.

"How is it possible that they should do otherwise? The old-born men

CHIEF OF POLICE SAVED.

Newberry, S. C.—W. H. Harris, Chief of Police, of Newberry, says: "I suffered for a number of years with kidney complaint. There was a dull aching across the small of my back that was worse at night and made me feel miserable all the time. The kidney secretions were dark and full of sediment, and lack of control compelled me to rise a number of times during the night. Between this annoyance and the backache it was impossible for me to get much sleep and my health was being undermined. I tried a number of remedies, but nothing helped me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills. The use of this remedy according to directions promptly brought about a change for the better. After using two boxes the backache all left me, the kidney secretions cleared up and the action of the kidneys became normal."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Chief Harris will be mailed to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all druggists; price fifty cents per box.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. It cures Catarrh of the bladder, prostate and urethra, and is sold by all druggists. Address: H. J. CHASE & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists, 75c.

Brief Biography of Gates.

John W. Gates made his first money by husking corn. At the end of two or three seasons he had saved enough to buy one-third interest in a threshing machine outfit, from which he saved $50 a year for three years. He invested this in timber, from which he made $1,000 and with which he opened a hardware store.

INTERIOR STOCKS SHOW REDUCTION

Country Retailers Are Ordering Full Lines of General Merchandise.

GRAIN SHIPMENTS ARE LARGER

Foreign Buying Is Narrow, the Increase Being Due to Growing Domestic Requirements—Stocks of Flour Are Low—Failures for Week.

Chicago dispatch: R. G. Run & Co.'s weekly review of Chicago trade says:

"The week closes a month usually one of the duller in business circles, and few important branches have shown activity exceeding or equal to that of a year ago. Stocks of general merchandise throughout the interior experienced a satisfactory reduction and this encouraged improved orders in the selection of full lines by country retailers. Local conditions, however, were not conducive to better than a normal consumption in necessities, due mainly to the accumulation of labor troubles, curtailed production and consequent diminished purchasing power of many wage-earners in voluntary idleness."

Farmers Doing Well.

"The situation may be slow in righting itself, yet indications are not lacking which present the outlook in a brighter aspect. Agricultural reports reflect successful harvesting thus far and the growing crops plentiful and rapidly maturing."

"Iron and steel interests exhibit further activity, with prices firm and demand extending in both finished and furnace product. There is also heavier movement of commodities both by rail and lake and the market for breadstuffs discloses renewed strength, while shipments reached the largest aggregate this year."

Condition of Manufacture.

"Aside from the interruption due to strikes the manufacturing industries show no special change, except some effort to respond promptly to new demands involving increased output. This applies mostly in the manufacture of farm machinery, electric appliances, furniture and mill work. New building plans are more numerous than those a year ago and require considerable quantities of material, thus providing much work for producers. Lumber supplies have been in request for local and country use and there is revived buying of hard woods for factory consumption. Leather working departments exhibit a return to wider activity, with the demand showing best in boots and shoes and saddlery. Tanners are affected by dear hides and the leather market has held firm as to values."

Grain Shipments.

"Grain shipments, 3,143,335 bushels, are 10.7 per cent over those a year ago. Foreign buying remained narrow and the increased shipments are due to growing domestic requirements, stocks of flour being regarded in low condition. Compared with last week's closing prices advanced in wheat 3 1/2 cents a bushel, in oats 2 1/2 cents, and in corn 1/4 cent. Dealings in provisions were restricted and on the smaller supply values gained in pork 3 1/2 cents a barrel in ribs 2 1/2 cents and in lard 16 cents. Receipts of hides, 2,743,561 pounds, compared with 2,717,512 pounds a year ago. Receipts of live stock, 135,279 head, are barely one-half the total of same week last year. Sheep values weakened 50 cents, but choice hives held steady and heavy hogs advanced 25 cents a hundredweight."

"Failures reported in Chicago district number thirty-two, against twenty-eight last week and twenty-four a year ago."

San Francisco Restaurant Patrons Victims of Celestial Bandits.

San Francisco, Cal., dispatch: The most remarkable robbery in the history of this city took place when two Chinese with regulation masks and armed with big revolvers, held up the restaurant of Wong Soon Guey. The place was filled with patrons, including many whites. The celestial bandits covered the late eaters with revolvers. Then one of them sprang to the till and pocketed the contents, $95. Keeping their revolvers leveled on the crowd, the pair backed out of the place and escaped.

Willie Was Sympathetic.

The new clergyman was invited to dine with the family the other Sunday, and 8-year-old Willie, of course, made himself conspicuous during his stay. He seemed to be deeply impressed with the minister, and never let his eyes stray from him. He manifested as much interest as his elders in what was said, but regarded the minister with a somewhat sorrowful expression, which was altogether unbecoming, as he was of a jovial disposition and greatly amused his hearers. As the minister was about to leave, Willie meekly approached him and sadly asked:

"Why—why—how does it feel to be poor?"

"What do you mean, Willie?" laughingly asked the minister, turning to the parents with an amused smile.

"Why, I heard papa say to mamma that you was a mighty poor preacher," was Willie's startling declaration.

Larger Sleeping Car Berths.

One of the few railroad companies that owns and operates the sleeping cars in service on its lines, is the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul.

The sleeping cars on that line were formerly Pullman cars, operated by the Pullman Company, but for a dozen years past the railway company has owned and operated the sleeping car equipment. In building its sleeping cars, a departure from the old standard pattern of cars has been made to the extent of adding about six inches to the width and height of the sleepers. This permits of wider and higher berths. Length has also been added to berths, so that comfort is found in them which is lacking in ordinary sleeping cars.

These large cars are in service on practically all of the lines of the St. Paul Road, and are very popular with the traveling public.

End of Famous New York Hotel.

The Morton house, in New York, which a quarter of a century ago was one of the noted hostilities of that city, has closed its doors for good, to give way to a large business structure on its site, at Broadway and Fourteenth street. In its prime this hotel was patronized by many men of note, Chester A. Arthur was often there. The late James G. Blaine could be found there, too, when in town. Lester Wallace was then in the height of his glory and Shed Shook and A. M. Palmer were enjoying theirs at the Union Square. Everybody of any consequence went to the Morton house. Politicians, professional men and actors rubbed elbows at the bar.

Platt and Depew.

There has been some wonderment as to the cable message that Senator Thomas C. Platt received from Senator Chauncey M. Depew on the occasion of the former's celebrating his 71st birthday, recently. ELECT TAGGART CAMPAIGN CHIEF Indiana Man Is Chosen to Head Democratic National Committee.

WALSH LOSES SECRETARYSHIP

Iowa Man Seeks to Retain the Place, but Is Defeated by Mr. Woodson—Executive and Finance Committees to Be Named Later.

New York dispatch With every state and territory represented, the Democratic national committee Tuesday afternoon unanimously selected Thomas Taggart of Indiana as national chairman to succeed former Senator Jones of Arkansas.

The selection of a treasurer was left to the executive committee, and William F. Sheehan suggested that the national chairman be authorized to name two vice-chairmen. Mr. Sheehan further suggested that the chair be authorized to name an executive committee of not less than five nor more than seven members, and a finance committee of not less than three nor more than five. Should the chair deem it wise to amalgamate these two committees, Mr. Sheehan suggested that the number of members be limited to seven.

Confer With Parker.

Senator Jones called the meeting to order. M. K. Tarpey of California was elected temporary chairman, and Henry Lehman of Louisiana temporary secretary. Norman E. Mack of New York suggested that the entire committee go to Esopus and pay their respects to Judge Parker. When he asked how many could make the trip, every member stood up.

While the committee is at Esopus with Judge Parker the question of the appointment of an executive committee will be discussed, and this committee announced later. The executive committee may be members of the national committee or others, in the discretion of the chairman.

Taggart Returns Thanks.

Getting down to business, John W. Kern of Indiana, who was a proxy, placed the name of Mr. Taggart before the committee. The suggestion was received with applause, and Mr. Taggart was unanimously elected. Mr. Taggart, who had been absent up to this point, went up stairs to thank the committee. In thanking the committee and accepting the office Mr. Taggart said that the ticket and platform deserved success.

There was a contest over the appointment of a secretary, but it was quickly settled. Charles A. Walsh of Iowa, the former secretary, was defeated by Mr. Woodson.

The liabilities of the bank are $137,901, of which amount $79,704 is due depositors. No application will be made for a receiver until a movement to interest new capital is made. The making of too many large loans to single institutions is said to be the cause of the bank's embarrassment. J. T. Heath is the principal stockholder.

Statesboro Ga., special: Henry R. Hodges, his wife and three children, living about six miles from Statesboro, have been killed and their home burned. Canadian Homestead Entries.

Thirty-one thousand three hundred and eighty-three homestead entries were made in the northwest provinces of Canada in 1903; 64,000 homestead entries have been received in the northwest in the last three years, equal to 10,000,000 acres. The entries for 1903 were double the number for 1902 and as many as for three years previous. These entries mean an addition of $9,907 to the population.

To the large class of readers now interested in the study of psychic and occult literature, especially along the lines of Mental Therapeutics, Hypnotism, etc., "The Law of Psychic Phenomena," by the late Dr. Thomson J. Hudson, will be found to contain much valuable information and many helpful suggestions to the systematic study of psychic development. While strictly scientific, it is with an intensely practical work. (A. C. McClurg & Co.).

The manufacturing task of printing and binding the forthcoming exposition number of the World's Work has proved to be so much greater than the publishers expected that it has been found necessary to postpone publication to Friday, Aug. 5, by which time it is expected that all the orders will be completed and the supply exhausted. This number contains considerably over 200 pictures and between 350 and 400 pages.

German Colony in Palestine.

A German colony that settled on the heights of Haifa, Palestine, thirty-four years ago, has prospered. Not one of its ninety families is poor. All are fairly well to do. Miss Nellie Holmes, treasurer of the Young Woman's Temperance Association of Buffalo, N.Y., strongly advises all suffering women to rely, as she did, upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Your medicine is indeed an ideal woman's medicine, and by far the best I know to restore lost health and strength. I suffered misery for several years, being troubled with menorrhagia. My back ached, I had bearing-down pains and frequent headaches. I would often wake from restless sleep, and in such pain that I suffered for hours before I could go to sleep again. I dreaded the long nights as much as the weary days. I consulted two different physicians, hoping to get relief, but finding that their medicine did not seem to cure me, I tried your Vegetable Compound on the recommendation of a friend from the East who was visiting me."

"I am glad that I followed her advice, for every ache and pain is gone, and not only this, but my general health is much improved. I have a fine appetite and have gained in flesh. My earnest advice to suffering women is to put aside all other medicines and to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Miss NELLIE HOLMES, 540 No. Division St., Buffalo, N. Y.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Something Wonderful for the Citizens of Culver

Isn't this a wonder? Did any of Culver's citizens hear of a suit being made for yourself to fit, and guaranteed for goods and workmanship? And so long as you wear your suit the front of the coat is guaranteed not to break, the seams will not come loose in a week's wear, and the buttons will stay with it; and good linings in every suit. A suit of that kind will cost you only $13.50. Don't forget that it is J. Phillips, the Academy tailor, that is making the clothes for you. Don't think I am making big money on that. It is only a matter of picking up business. Anyone you ask about it will tell you that I don't make money on that at all. It is one price for everybody. Don't say that it is impossible for me to do that, but come and inspect my goods, and see whether I tell the truth or not. I want to prove to the citizens of Culver that it isn't worth while wearing a ready made suit when you can get a suit for $13.40 made to fit you right, and everything guaranteed. Trousers to order for $3.50. Located at the Academy and above the Surprise.

J. PHILLIPS, Academy Tailor.
