FATAL STORM AT BASS LAKE

Two Men Killed and Several Injured by Lightning.

A terrible electrical storm passed over Bass Lake and vicinity last Thursday, in which two men were killed and several others injured.

Some farmers were threshing north of Braybrook's hotel at the lake when the storm came up. The harvest hands ran into a corn crib adjoining the barn. There were seven men in the crib at the time, and the electrical display in the heavens was sharp and fierce. A bolt of lightning shot out from the lowering black clouds, striking the crib that sheltered the men. The fluid tore a hole through the roof, striking Homer Poor, single and twenty-three years of age, on the top of the head. Passing through his body, it tore the soles from his shoes. It is said that every bone in his body was broken. Orrin Emigh, one of his companions, was instantly killed. Those who were injured are John Shultz, Martin Connor, Arthur Connor, Albert Marks and Albert White. Some idea of the force of the shock can be gotten when it is said that chickens, which were roosting in a shed sixty feet away, were killed by the shock.

QUEEN ESTHER.

This beautiful and wonderful oratorio, unequalled and never to be surpassed musical production will be given in Culver, Sept. 15th, in the Assembly Auditorium under the direction of Prof. Miller, of South Bend, assisted by sixty or more of the best musicians of the town and country. The entire east of the oratorio will be without reduction. The entire company will be in costume finely and beautifully representing the magnificent court of King Ahasuerus of the Medo-Persian empire. The admission fee will be fifteen and twenty-five cents. Reserved seats thirty-five cents.

OBITUARY.

Orrin Emigh was born Dec. 17, 1877, died August 25, 1904, aged 26 years, 8 months and 8 days. He united with the Wesleyan Methodist church while but a youth was one of the exemplary young men of the community in which he lived, always industrious and dutiful. In this particular case we can truly say was taken from earth by the hand of God administered by an electric shock and borne to his last resting place by six victims of the same electric storm.

LICHTENBERGER REUNION.

The 4th annual reunion of the Lichtenberger family was held at Vandalia Park last Saturday. 177 were present at the meeting. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Daniel Snyder, president; Adam Lichtenberger, vice president; John Lichtenberger, secretary and treasurer. The next meeting will be held at Springbrook Park, South Bend.

DAVIS REUNION.

The 2nd annual Davis-Curtis-Johnson family reunion was held here last Sunday. About 92 members were present, 56 from Howard county and the rest from Marshall county. They were accompanied by the Davis Orchestra, of Argos, an unusually fine musical organization. The next reunion will be held at Kokomo.

CASTLEMAN REUNION.

Sixty members of the Castleman family, principally from Starke and Marshall counties, held their annual reunion at Vandalia Park, last Sunday. The next meeting will be held at the same place on the last Sunday in August, 1905.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Will Hayes and wife arrived here Tuesday for a weeks visit.

Frank Ulery, of Mishawaka, visited relatives here this week.

M. C. Brown, of Tiosa, was calling on old friends in Culver this week.

Melvin Groves, of South Bend, was in Culver several days this week.

The Culver public schools and Union township schools will begin Sept. 19th.

Summer Wiseman spent several days of last week at the Newtown Colt Show.

Miss Tina Hill, of Sheridan, Wy., is visiting her uncles, Dr. and L. C. Wiseman and families.

Ezra Hawkins, John Dipert, Daniel Easterday and Geo. Groves are putting in cement walks.

Misses Elsie Moore, of Kewanna, and Fay Hulse, of Rochester, are guests of Miss Esta Cromley.

Will Osborn was at St. Joe, Mich., Monday and Tuesday buying peaches, grapes and plums.

Wall Basewell, wife and son Jesse, of Terre Haute were visiting relatives in Culver over Sunday.

Senator J. W. Parks, of Plymouth was calling on friends and acquaintances in Culver Tuesday.

Miss Barbara Snyder, of South Bend, spent Sunday with Miss Genevieve South at the Lake Side.

Sale bills printed on short notice at the CITIZEN office. We use water proof manilla paper, the best made.

Urias Menser and family left for the St. Louis Exposition last Thursday. They will stay several weeks.

Mrs. E. J. Todd and Miss Lilian Nowels, left Monday for their home at Flora, after several weeks at the lake.

Montan Foss left for North Dakota last Saturday. He will make an extended trip along the Pacific coast states.

Dan and John Wolf caught 15 bass and three goggle-eyes one day last week. Bass are just beginning to bite good.

Mrs. John Little and daughter Mattie returned to Flora Friday, after a week's outing at the Greenwood cottage.

Samuel Medbourn is having the lumber hauled for his new residence. The foundation wall is nearly completed.

The Lake View Hotel will close next Monday, after a very successful season, under the efficient management of R. W. McCoy.

It is quite likely that Captain Morris will have a new bath house several times as large as the present building, next season.

Misses Himes, Etta Himes, of Chicago, Grace and Wilma Rhine-smith, of Bement, Ill., are visiting A. Hayes and family this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Elza Cromley left for their home in Indiana Harbor last Saturday after several weeks visit with relatives in Plymouth and Culver.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ambos and little daughter Geraldine, and Miss Anna Busart of South Bend, spent Sunday at the lake with relatives and friends.

Dr. Griswold and family of Peru, Mrs. Reed and grand daughter, of Newcastle, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mitchell over Sunday.

Ed Hand will conduct a party to the St. Louis Exposition in September. It would be well for people who wish to see the fair at a reasonable cost to see him. "Oh!" exclaimed the fair summer boarder as a couple of calves scampered across the meadow, "What pretty little cowlets." "Yew air mistaken, ma'am," said the old farmer, "Them's bullets.

Evangelical church services Sunday, Sept. 4th. Sunday School 10 a. m., preaching 7:30 p. m. All are cordially invited to attend these services.

Chas. McConnehey pastor.

Captain Morris has just contracted to build four, three hundred dollar cat boats. The building of these, with the regular painting, repair, row boat building and storage work, will likely keep the Captain and his force from getting lonesome this winter.

It is said, on good authority, that the Lake View property will be considerably improved for the coming season. The Hotel will be moved west on the higher bluff and enlarged to three times its present capacity. Five new cottages will be built where the Hotel now stands.

Last Sunday brought in one of the largest crowds of the season. There were four excursions in from Richmond, Peru, Terre Haute and South Bend. The Peru Citizens Band and the Sulphur Springs Band were here. These two bands and the Davis Orchestra, of Argos, furnished more music than we have had on any one day this season.

There will be a lecture on Queen Esther and King Ahasuerus at the Methodist church next Sunday evening. On this occasion Prof. Eli Miller, who is now preparing the oratorio of Queen Esther for a public hearing Sept. 15th, with a large portion of the company of singers, will render a number of selections from the oratorio. In the mean time it will be well for every one to read the book of Esther.

Old Settlers at Lapaz.

The old settlers of Marshall and St. Joseph counties held their annual reunion at Lapaz last week. Hon. Daniel McDonald delivered the welcome address. The speakers of the day were Charles Kellison, of Plymouth, and Prof. Stuart MacKibbin, of South Bend. The business men of Plymouth attended, their delegation being headed by the Plymouth Band.

Republicans Name Joseph Hays.

Samuel J. Hayes, of Bremen, was nominated last week by the republicans in convention at Rochester, for prosecuting attorney. There being no other candidates, his nomination was made unanimous.

DOMESTIC GIVES LIFE TO SAVE HER MISTRESS

Her Own Clothes Catch Fire From Those of Her Employer and Heroine Dies in Hospital.

Chicago dispatch: While bravely attempting to extinguish the flames enveloping the clothing of her employer, Mrs. C. McMonagle, Lillie Morgan was so severely burned that she died at the Englewood Union hospital.

The fire in Mrs. McMonagle's home was started by the accidental dropping of a match upon some bed clothing. Miss Morgan and Mrs. McMonagle were using a mixture containing gasoline to clean the wood work of the bedrooms when the accident occurred. Miss Morgan dropped the match, lighting the bedding, and, becoming frightened, let the can of liquid fall to the floor.

There was an explosion and a burst of flames about Mrs. McMonagle. Miss Morgan threw her arms around the woman, extinguishing the flames, but her clothing caught fire.

She ran through the hall to the back porch, where she fainted. Con Feely, owner of a saloon, saw the girl in her flaming garments fall upon the porch and hurried to her rescue.

Seizing a blanket he threw it about the girl and extinguished the fire. By this time James Barrett, employed by Feely, and Policeman Connors of the stock yards station reached the porch and assisted the injured girl.

Her clothing was burned almost off her body.

MALIGNANT CANCER CURE IS DISCOVERED

Electrodes of Zinc Coated With Quicksilver Are Dissolved in Tumor by Means of Electricity.

Philadelphia, Pa., dispatch: What appears to be a remarkable cure for malignant cancer has been brought about by Dr. Howard R. Swayne and Dr. G. Bolton Massey, two of the most prominent cancer specialists in this city. The patient, Mrs. Mary C. Downing, was laid upon a cot especially prepared as an electric conductor, with clay surfaces next to the skin of the back.

Several six-inch electrodes of zinc, heavily coated with quicksilver, were thrust into the growth near its edges and a gentle current turned on. The current was gradually increased until 1,400 milliamperes was attained without shock. As soon as a moderate current was attained the zinc and mercury electrodes began to dissolve, and the chemicals formed by the union of these metals with the oxygen and chlorine of the growth, were radiated throughout the tumor, killing the infected cells, softening the cancer and turning it a lead color to its outermost apparent limits.

NATIVES FIGHT SEAL HUNTERS

Tribesmen of Copper Island Seriously Wound One of a Boat's Crew.

Seattle, Wash., dispatch: Walter York, a boat puller connected with the sealer Carmencilla, Capt. McLain, was shot and dangerously wounded by natives of Copper Island, off the Siberian shore of Bering sea, Aug. 2. He and two other men were in an open boat seal hunting. They were within 200 yards of the island when the natives opened fire. Nearly 200 shots were discharged at this and other boats belonging to the Carmencilla. One ball penetrated York's face, shattering six teeth of the lower jaw.

CALLS WIFE TO SEE SUICIDE

Iowa Man Takes His Own Life Because of Domestic Troubles.

Eldora, Iowa, dispatch: Calling his wife into the back yard and bidding her witness his act, M. S. Boody, a prominent speculator and stockman, placed a pistol to his head and in the presence of the half-fainting woman shot a bullet into his brain. He died almost instantly. Domestic trouble, coupled with unfortunate speculations, are thought the motives. Boody left a note to his mother in which he said his troubles were too great to hear.

SAYS HUSBAND KILLED CHILD

Wife Declares He Used Saw to Murder Little One.

Norfolk, Neb., dispatch: Alfred Boister, colored, aged 72, is in jail at Niobrara charged with murdering his child with a saw last month. His wife alleges he killed the child and buried it and says she has been afraid to reveal the facts because he had threatened to murder her if she did. Boister and his wife have lived in a tepee near Niobrara on the Santee reservation.

Death of a Millionaire.

Philadelphia, Pa., special: William Weightman, a member of the firm of Powers & Weightman, manufacturing chemists, died at his home in this city, aged 91 years. Mr. Weightman was the wealthiest man in Philadelphia and one of the largest individual owners of real estate in the United States.

End 75-Cent Strike.

Hartford, Conn., dispatch: Masons and carpenters who struck against several contractors that undertook to support Charles B. Andrus, a master mason, who had a disagreement over 75 cents claimed as wages by the union's walking delegate, George W. Butler, have returned to work.

THREE JAP ARMIES MASSED

Kuroki, with Nodzu and Oku, Has Attacked Gen. Kourapatkin's Strong Position Near Liaoyang—Russians are Confident

Three Japanese armies, 240,000 strong, are engaging Gen. Kourapatkin in battle. For three days the conflict waged by two Japanese armies has been severe to the east and south of Liaoyang, with the tide favoring first one side and then the other. Another Japanese army is moving up the Li-anhe river, and when it arrives Gen. Kourapatkin will be forced to withstand attacks from three sides. He is confident of being able to defy the combined forces of Gens. Kuroki, Nodzu and Oku.

During the four weeks of rains and almost total cessation of operations Gen. Kourapatkin received reinforcements estimated at 30,000 men. He was expecting to assume the offensive against the Japanese, but this expectation was not realized. No sooner had the roads begun to dry Aug. 24 than Gen. Kuroki's troops began simultaneous attacks both east and south sions of about 30,000 men moving up on the right bank of the Liao River.

POSITION OF ARMIES NEAR LIAOYANG.

Gen. Kuroki, by his continued withdrawal toward the north, has, according to reliable advices from the seat of war, been able to avoid thus far a decisive engagement with the Japanese forces enveloping his army. He has, however, retreated about as far as possible, and there is no doubt in the minds of those most closely in touch with the situation that the fight must soon occur.

It is possible that Kuroki's plan is to get as near Mukden as possible before engaging the enemy.

The forces of the mikado, under Gens. Oku and Nodzu, also continue their advance, and the encircling mesh is being daily drawn closer and closer.

Peaceful developments of a day were the closing, temporarily at least, of the Shanghai incident, and an agreement between Great Britain and Russia to put an end to the searching of neutral ships on the seas, orders calling off the Russian volunteer cruisers being sent out through British war ships.

With the enemy attacking on three sides and the Russian troops driven in from Anshashan, Anping and Tsegow, the outer defenses to the south and east, the Liaoyang garrison is believed to be near an engagement in full force.

Reports are current in Tokio that Gen. Kuroki has seized and cut the railroad south of Mukden, thus depriving Kourapatkin of his only avenue of direct retreat, but this cannot be confirmed officially. Indeed, it should be taken with a great deal of reserve, for dispatches from Liaoyang have come through, and if the Japanese had cut the railroad it is more than probable that they would have severed the telegraph line at the same time, to render Kourapatkin's isolation complete.

The evacuation of Anshashan is described as being due to the perilous position of the eastern defenders, the abandonment of Anping threatening the retreat of the southern force. Four hundred Russians fell in the fighting around Anshashan, and Gen. Sakharoff estimates the total casualties at 1,500, although from the fierce character of the fighting they may have been much greater.

Late reports state that an artillery battle was in progress around Liaoyang Aug. 28, and the combined attack of the three Japanese armies is being pushed with greater vigor and persistence.

Wants Physical Census.

Sir W. Church urges the British government to take a physical census of the people in order to determine the mooted question of the degeneration of the population.

BANK COMMISSIONER HITS TRUST CONCERNS

Official Claims That They Are Doing Regular Banking Business in Violation of the Law.

Pittsburg, Pa., dispatch.—The trust companies of Pennsylvania were thrown into the air by a circular issued by Robert McAfee, commissioner of banking, calling attention to the fact that they were one and all violating the state laws and that unless this was stopped their charters would be taken away.

Commissioner McAfee says the trust companies of the state have no right under the law to carry on a regular banking business or to discount paper. This is being done to a great extent all over the state. In fact, the trust companies of the state have been doing most of the banking lately, and this is to cut off the business.

The stockholders of the big trust companies are dumfounded. The cutting off of the big banking business will be keenly felt and not a few of the smaller concerns of the state, who have counted on their banking business, will be forced to the wall. Many Pittsburg trust bankers claim that it is but a scheme to force them into becoming state or national banks.

REMARRIES HIS WIFE AFTER SCORE OF YEARS

Husband Finds Spouse Working for a Living in Madison and Takes Her to His Western Ranch.

Madison, Wis., dispatch.—Divorced twenty years ago, Mrs. Josie H. Robinson has resigned her position as a telegraph operator, remarried her former husband, who has become wealthy, and the two are now on their second honeymoon. The husband, A. D. Robinson, is a wealthy ranch owner residing at Aberdeen, S. D.

The couple became estranged a score of years ago at Iron Mountain, Mich., and drifted apart, Mrs. Robinson securing a decree of divorce. They did not know of each other's whereabouts for years until recently, when the husband, having prospered in South Dakota, sought for his son, now a young man, and found him in the University of Wisconsin, while the mother was earning a living for herself and her boy at the telegraph key in a large Madison manufacturing establishment. A reconciliation and a return of the old love resulted.

GAINS ON CROP NEWS.

Business Is Improved, but Industrial Disturbances Are Feared.

New York, special.—R. G. Dunn & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

"Trade has improved somewhat, chiefly because of better crop prospects and the fact that last week's variations in prices of steel products failed to demoralize that industry. The industrial atmosphere is still disturbed by labor controversies, however, and it will be impossible to fully restore national prosperity until the proportion of voluntarily unemployed wage earners is greatly reduced. Dispatches from leading cities indicate irregular conditions, but there is increasing confidence in the future.

"Failures this week numbered 205 in the United States, against 176 last year, and in Canada thirty, compared with thirty-three a year ago."

BANKERS LOSE BY A SWINDLE

Knox County Institutions Cause Chicago Man's Arrest.

Galesburg, Ill., special.—A. S. Whitman of 856 Albany avenue, Chicago, claiming to be a member of a Chicago loan company, has been lodged in jail here on the charge of fleeing banks at Altoona and Knoxville out of sums of money aggregating nearly $1,000. Whitman was captured at Hastings, Neb., where he attempted to work a similar game, using the name of Morton, and claiming to represent a big Chicago company. Whitman's plan in this county was to pose as a loan agent, and after negotiating with a prospective customer, is identified at banks and when the money is secured suddenly leaves. Whitman has relatives in this county, who were drawn into the scheme unknowingly by endorsing his checks.

AUSTRIANS IN A FATAL FIGHT

One Is Killed and Four Are Held for His Death.

Morris, Ill., dispatch.—Five woodchoppers who are at work on the Landycho farm in Nettle Creek township got into a fight among themselves and one man used a club on Frank Starnish, an Austrian. Nothing was known of the affair until word was sent to Dr. Ferguson. The man died soon after the doctor arrived. The coroner placed the four remaining men under arrest and telephoned for the sheriff. The men were placed in jail to await further action.

MESSAGE LEADS TO CAPTURE

Telephone Call Causes Arrest of Man Accused of Murder.

St. Louis, Mo., dispatch.—A telephone message to a saloon in the neighborhood where he had been staying for a week caused the arrest of Frank Lee on a charge of having killed Charles Fischer Aug. 12, 1901. Lee returned to St. Louis Saturday. He telephoned to the saloon to learn if it was safe for him to return to the house where he had been living, as it had been under police surveillance for a day and a night.

GIRL HEROINE SAVES LIVES

Compels Young Woman and Children to Lie in Bottom of Rowboat

STEERS CRAFT IN HEAVY SEA

For Nearly Ten Hours She Guides the Frail Boat Through Turbulent Waters Until She Is Able to Run It Aground.

Marinette, Wis., dispatch: After compelling her companions, a young woman and three children, to lie down in the bottom of their rowboat, in which they were drifting across Green bay, Gertrude Sawyer, 19 years old, of Menominee, Mich., steered the helpless craft with an oar for nearly ten hours until she beached it on the opposite shore, thirty miles away from the place where the party embarked.

The feat was accomplished in one of the heaviest seas ever witnessed on Green bay, and while sailing and steam craft were searching for the party, whose failure to return to their point of embarkation caused a general belief in this city and Menominee that they had perished.

Caught in Heavy Seas.

Miss Sawyer is the daughter of R. J. Sawyer, a Menominee druggist, and a graduate of the Menominee high school. With her in the boat were Inez Woessner, aged 17, daughter of J. C. Woessner, and two young sons and a daughter of Frederick Baker, a prominent insurance man.

Thursday morning they left Baker's summer home at Fernwood, about five miles from here. They rowed out until they got into the heavy sea, when they were unable to return. They were soon lost sight of from the Marinette shore, and three tugs and many sailboats were sent out to search for them. They could not be found, and it was feared that all had been lost.

Miss Sawyer beached the boat at Gracewood, near Sturgeon bay. There the party was found by a farmer and taken to the port, whence news of their safe arrival was sent here.

Scuffle in Boat.

Clinton, Iowa, dispatch: Peter Holing, 23 years old and John Otto 35 years old, while scuffling in a boat, upset it, and both drowned. Two other men in the boat were rescued by boys in a skiff.

Four Children Are Drowned.

Cleburne, Tex., special: Four children were drowned this evening by the capsizing of a boat in the Brazos river near Acton, Hood county. There were six boys and girls all told in the boat at the time of the disaster. Two of the boys swam ashore.

JEFFRIES IS STILL CHAMPION

Referee Graney Stops Fight in Second Round to Save Munroe's Life.

San Francisco dispatch: At Mechanics' pavilion Friday night Jack Munroe, the Butte miner, went down and out in the first half of the second round of his fight with Champion James J. Jeffries.

Munroe performed like a tyro and his showing was a great disappointment to the crowd, which vented its displeasure over the farcical affair by loudly hissing Munroe when he protested against the decision which had been given against him.

The two giants had not been in the ring two minutes when it was seen that the aspirations of Munroe would be quickly disposed of. The miner was scared and awkward, and Jeffries in the first round had him twice on the canvas taking the count.

Referee Graney said after the fight: "I stopped the fight because Munroe would have been killed if allowed to get up. I motioned to McCoy to throw up the sponge, but Munroe was knocked down before the Kid had time to act, and I did the only thing possible under the circumstances."

YACHT IS RUN DOWN IN LAKE

Occupants of Pleasure Craft Thought Lost Near Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., dispatch: The captain of the steamer Oglesby hailed the captain of the barge Marcia in the Detroit river shortly before midnight and reported that the Oglesby had run down a sail yacht containing four or five people, off the head of Belle Isle. The vicinity has been carefully searched by launch parties and no trace of the craft can be found.

BANKERS SEEK BETTER LAWS

Amendments Are Required for the Safety of Depositors.

Put-in-Bay, O., dispatch: The two days' meeting of the Ohio Bankers' association has ended. C. A. Hirsch of Cincinnati was elected president. A resolution was adopted to the effect that the best interests of the banking institutions of Ohio and the safety of depositors required amendment and amplification of the state banking laws. A banquet was held.

Board of Arbitration.

Springfield, Ill., dispatch: B. F. Shapleigh of Galesburg, Ill., has been appointed by Gov. Yates a member of the state board of arbitration, vice Walter A. Mathis of Clinton, who resigned, giving as his reason that his duties as railroad engineer prevented him from giving the office the time that was necessary.

The Ward of King Canute

A Romance of the Danish Conquest.

CHAPTER X.

When Might Made Right.

What difference that, somewhere beyond the hills, men were fighting and castles were burning? At Ivarsdale, in the shelter and cheer of the lord's great hall, the feast of the barley beer was at its height.

Where the glow lay rosiest, the young lord sat in the great raised chair, jesting with his Danish page who knelt on the step at his side. Now the boy's answering provoked him to laughter, and he put out a hand and tousled the thick curls in his favorite caress.

Like a quieting hand, the first of the mellow chords from the harp fell upon the noise of the revel. The servants bearing away the dishes began to tread the rushes on tiptoe, and a dozen frowns rebuked any clatter. Through the hush, the gleeman began to sing the "Romance of King Offa," the king who married a wood nymph for dear love's sake. Lord and page, man and maid and serf, strained eye and ear toward the harper's tattered figure. What matter that outside an autumn wind was howling through the forest and stripping the leaves through the vines? Within sound of the mellow harp music it was balmiest springtime, as the castlefolk followed the gleeman over the hills and dales of a flowering dream-world.

For a space after he had finished, the silence remained unbroken, then gave way only to an outburst of applause.

Above the confusion rose the voice of the brawniest of the henchmen, passing his judgment on the ballad. "Now that is my own desire of songs," he declared. "That was worth possessing—the love of that lass. Drink to the wood maiden, comrades, bare feet and wild ways and all!" Swing-

His words were cut short by a horn-blast from the darkness, loud and clear above the whistling wind. Jest and laughter died on the lips that bore them, and with one accord the men turned in their seats to watch their master.

His face had sobered as he listened; before the first echo had died away he had spoken swiftly to the fellow at his side. "Celric, get you down to the guard at the gate and inquire into the meaning of that."

When the henchman had left, he began a sharp questioning of the sentinel, and the noise did not begin again. In the quiet, the tap of the man's feet upon the steps was audible long before he reached the waiting roomful. Every eye fastened itself upon the curtained doorway.

Swinging back, the arras disclosed a face full of amazement. "Lord," the man said, "it is Danes! None know how many or how they came there. And their chief has sent you a messenger."

"Danes!" For the first time in the history of Ivarsdale, the word was spoken with an accent of relief.

The page turned from the fire with a cry of bitter rejoicing. "If it is Canute, I will go to him!"

In the revulsion of his feelings, the Etheling laughed outright. "Since it is not Edmund, I care not if it be the Evil One himself; and it cannot be he, for Canute is in Mercia." Beckoning to Morcard, he began to consult him concerning the most effective arrangement of the sentinels; and there was a muffled clatter of weapons as men went to and fro with hasty steps.

When all was ready the messenger was brought in between guards. Wrapped in dirty sheepskins, he swaggered to the center of the room. Pitching his cloak higher on his shoulders, he fastened his eyes on a hole in the tapestry behind the Ethel-

ing. "By Peter, he is right! I do not need even that long," he cried. "Since the Wide-Fathomer began the game, the Tower has been the prize of the strongest. For his answer, he reminded of his own Danish saying, that 'It is a strong bird that can take what an eagle has in its claws,' and let him get what comfort he can from that."

After his ringing tones, the unmoved voice of the messenger fell flat on the ear. "It has happened as we supposed, that you would answer unfavorably," he said as he turned. "It was seen in battle that you are a brave man. Otherwise the chief would not have thought it necessary to hew a path through the forest in order to take you by surprise." Saluting with some appearance of respect, he joined his conductors at the door and passed out of sight down the stair.

Like smoke in the wake of a fire-brand, confusion rose behind him; a din of exclamations loosed on the air and the clangor of weapons caught down from the wall. Through it, the Etheling's voice sounded strongly.

"To the palace, all of you! They may not wait till morning. To the forest side; and keep them from it as you would keep off death!" He bent and shook the crouching page. "My armor, boy! How! Would you have me read treason in your sluggishness? My armor!"

The page started up, but it was only to stare past him and fling out his hand toward a window, where a bright light had suddenly shot athwart the darkness. "Lord, they have set fire to something!"

The voice of old Morcard rose shrill. "To the storehouses! Save the grain!"

There was a wild rush for the door; but on the threshold they were met by shouts of watchmen hurrying from the parapets.

"Lord, the court is swarming with them!" "They have cut through the palace on the forest side!" "They had brush laid ready!" "Waited only for him!" "Holy saints, what is the meaning of that?" "Something else has taken!"

In their midst the young lord stood in helpless fury; and the hand he had grasped around his sword-hilt gripped it so hard that blood started under each nail. But his page bent and kissed the clenched fist with a cry of fierce exulting.

"You will never get out to find your lily-fair lady. You will never have a lady wife, lord! We shall die together."

Will Carleton's Own Story.

Will Carleton, the poet and lecturer, was lecturing in a Western city several years ago, when, on leaving the platform he was accosted by a pleasant, shabby looking old woman. "Mr. Carleton," she said, "I want to ask you a great favor. Will you give me the handkerchief you carried while you lectured this evening?"

"Why, what on earth do you want that for?"

"I am very poor, Mr. Carleton," she said, "and if you give me that handkerchief I think I can live on it a year."

Mr. Carleton stared. "A year! You shall certainly have it," and the old woman retired with the handkerchief, profusely thanking him. Later Mr. Carleton learned that she had embroidered his name on it and "trafficked" it so extensively that she did make several hundred dollars, enough to keep her for a year.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Honors Were Even.

Maxfield Parrish, the illustrator, has a picturesque house in Vermont, and from this pleasant home he often makes excursions into the wildest and most isolated parts of the State.

During a recent visit to New York Mr. Parrish said:

"I stopped overnight at a lonely Vermont farm last month. The house commanded a barren and desolate landscape. It was anything but gay.

"I remember the brief conversation I had with the farmer as he showed me to my bed.

"A very quiet place," I said.

"It is," said he.

"Does a newspaper ever find its way here?"

"Seldom."

"Then," I said, "you don't hear much of what is going on in New York, eh?"

"No," said the farmer, grimly, "but then, you see, they don't hear much in New York of what is going on here, either."

Took the Warning.

"Charles," said a sharp-voiced woman to her husband in a railway carriage, "do you know that you and I once had a romance in a railway carriage?"

"Never heard of it," replied Charles in a subdued tone.

"I thought you hadn't; but don't you remember it was that pair of slippers I presented to you the Christmas before we were married that led to our union? You remember how nicely they fitted, don't you? Well, Charles, one day when we were going to a picnic, you had your feet up on a seat, and when you weren't looking I took your measure. But for that pair of slippers I don't believe we'd ever been married."

A young unmarried man, sitting by, immediately took down his feet from a seat.—London Tit-Bits.

The last of the whip that Hank Monk, the famous stage driver of the early days of California and Nevada, used on the drive in which he took Horace Greeley over the Sierras "on time," is exhibited in the Nevada building at the world's fair.

BANDIT SLAYS AN INFORMER

Member of Black Hand Gang Murders Young Italian at New York

TELLS POLICE OF CRIME PLANS

Son of Restaurant Keeper Had Notified the Detectives of Proposed Plot to Rob His Countrymen of Their Earnings in the Mines.

New York dispatch: Salvatore Bossoto, 18 years old, was a victim of the vengeance of the "Black Hand" Wednesday, and his murderer, Carlo Rossati, narrowly escaped lynching by a mob of a thousand frenzied Italians, who injured three of the policemen guarding the avenger. The crowd would have torn the prisoner limb from limb if police reserves had not arrived just in time. According to the police, it was because the boy had revealed to them a plot by Italian bandits to rob several Italian miners from Pennsylvania, who had saved their money and were on their way back home, that Bossoto was murdered.

The last crime of the "Black Hand" until Wednesday was the kidnaping of Antonio Mannino, a boy, who was held for $50,000 ransom, but released a few days ago.

Death Sign Is Posted.

The killing, according to the police, was a murder deliberately planned and executed. To carry out their plans the "Black Hand" sent all the way to Toronto for one of their number, Rossati, who was assigned to the work. Last Monday when the elder Bossoto opened his restaurant for the morning's business he found the fatal sign tacked on the door. It was the "bridge of death."

Young Bossoto was the son of Frank Bossoto, proprietor of a restaurant at 107 Park street. For six months the son, a gifted musician, had been cultivating his voice with the expectation of going into Italian opera. He spent much of his time in the restaurant. Rossati and three other Italians went to the cafe at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. They took a table near the door and ordered food. They picked a quarrel with the proprietor.

Kills Son and Chokes Sire.

Young Bossoto was in the kitchen and entered the dining room when he heard his father order the four men out. Three of the men went, Rossati waiting until last. At the entrance he turned and pointed a revolver at the elder Bossoto, but before pulling the trigger turned it quickly toward the boy and the bullet struck Salvatore between the eyes, killing him instantly. Then the murderer seized the father by the throat, and after choking him almost into insensibility, ran. The chase by the crowd, which collected with almost incredible rapidity, followed, and the police had to use their clubs freely to save the prisoner, who was caught soon by detectives.

Foe to Bloody Gang.

Young Bossoto's knowledge of the various Italian secret societies had been of great value to the police several times and the boy was a fast friend of all the detectives whose work took them into the Italian colony. Several weeks ago when word came to him that the murderous gang which infests Mulberry Bend had planned a big robbery of miners who had engaged rooms in a lodging house above the Bossoto restaurant, young Bossoto told the police of the Elizabeth street station. Detective Petrosini caused twelve of the bandits to be arrested.

Once out of jail, the murderous gang began to plan revenge.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS IN FAVOR

Kansas Cities Begin Movement to Divide Whites and Negroes.

Topeka, Kan., dispatch: The Kansas association of cities of the first and second class has adopted a resolution in favor of maintaining separate schools for negro and white pupils. The resolution stated that the race question had grown so serious in Kansas as to make some action necessary. Steps were taken to bring the matter before the next legislature. A committee was appointed to draft a law to be submitted to the legislature and money was raised to maintain a strong lobby to work for the bill. A vigorous campaign in favor of the law will be waged in all portions of the state. It will become an issue in the next election, as all candidates for the legislature will be asked to pledge themselves.

TRUST OFFICIAL IS SET FREE

Government Fails to Make Case of Conspiracy Against Boston Man.

Boston, Mass., special: Francis C. Webster, treasurer of the North American Trust of this city, was discharged by United States Commissioner Fiske on a charge of conspiracy in violating the postal laws in a scheme to defraud the public. The trust handled real estate and the government alleged that it used fraudulent methods in dealing with customers by mail. Charles A. Record, who was also arrested, was discharged after a hearing a few days ago. Defendant Barry, the third man arrested, waived examination and was held in $2,000 for the grand jury on a charge of violating the postal laws. The charge of conspiracy was dropped.

DECREASE IN PENSION ROLLS FOR FIRST TIME

Commissioner Ware's Report Shows a Net Shrinkage in Number of Veterans on the List Last Year.

Washington dispatch: The annual report of the pension commissioner for the year ended June 30, 1904, shows that 47,374 persons were added to the rolls and 49,157 dropped, a net decrease for the first time in the history of the department.

The appropriation for the year was $146,419,296 and the expenditures only $144,712,787, leaving a balance of $1,706,508.

Of the 47,374 persons added to the pension rolls 326 were by special act of congress, and of the 49,157 pensioners who were dropped death claimed 43,820, of whom 31,728 were soldiers, 30,071 being volunteers of the civil war.

The total number of pensioners on the rolls as covered by the report is 720,315 soldiers, 273,841 widows and dependents, and 606 army nurses.

The report refers to the order issued by the commissioner March 15 last in which age is made an evidence of disability, and says that in three and a half months of its operation only 8 per cent, or 28,806 out of 375,000 pensioners, have asked for increase under its terms. The report says the order introduces no new principle, and "is in the direct line of economy, as it certainly is in the line of precedent."

Less than 6 per cent of the appropriation of $1,500,000 was used to pay claimants under the order, the balance being turned back into the treasury.

CARRY AWAY IRON SAFE TO SECURE PLUNDER

Chicago Burglars Wind Up Expedition by Removing Strongbox to Prairie and Shattering It.

Chicago dispatch: Three burglars early in the morning entered the home of Frank M. Hoffman and after ransacking the house and taking what they could find of value carried a small iron safe to a prairie, where they blew it open with nitroglycerin.

The police of the Warren avenue station, where the robbery was reported, do not know what was taken or what the safe contained, as the Hoffmans are at their summer home in the east. The battered safe was discovered by two boys.

The burglars entered the house by forcing a window in the rear. They pulled out all the drawers and ransacked the whole house.

After picking up what silverware they could discover they went upstairs to Mr. Hoffman's room. There they discovered a safe in which Mr. Hoffman kept his valuables. They pulled it out into the hall, let it slide down the stairs to the first floor and carried it away. They left the front door open. A large French mirror, which stood at the foot of the steps, was broken when the burglars slid the safe down.

EMBRACE RATHBONE SISTERS

Knights of Pythias Decide to Affiliate With Women's Order.

Louisville, Ky., dispatch: The supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias, which has been in session since the closing of the biennial convocation here last week, has decided to recognize the Rathbone Sisters, a woman's auxiliary organization. Among other matters of importance acted on by the supreme lodge were a constitutional amendment which leaves to the several lodges the power of suspension for non-payment of dues by its members and the reduction of the per capita tax of the grand lodge to 5 cents.

John H. Alexander of Leesburg, Va., and Tully Scott of Cripple Creek, Colo., were reappointed for a term of six years on the supreme tribunal, the appellate body of the order.

LIVE FOR HOUR ON OCEAN'S BED

Naval Officers Raise Submarine Warship Sunk in 100 Feet of Water.

Newport, R. I., special: While the submarine torpedo-boat Shark was being prepared for a submerged run near Brenton's reef lightship Monday afternoon she sank to the bottom in 100 feet of water and remained almost an hour before the crew could move her. The cause of the sinking is not known. Lieutenant Nelson was in charge of the boat, with Lieutenant Shipley and a crew of eight men aboard. The men displayed no excitement over the situation, but tried a number of experiments before the boat could be raised. Finally, after forty minutes, they succeeded by the use of the hand pumps in bringing her to the surface. The boat apparently was not damaged.

TAKE $5,000 FROM PAYMASTER

One American and Three Italians Get Away With Bag of Money.

Paterson, N. J., dispatch: Four masked men held up Paymaster White of the O'Rourke Construction company on the Ridge road, near here, and robbed him of $5,000. The paymaster, accompanied by two other men, was on his way to the office of the company, driving in a buggy, when four men, one an American, masked completely, and three Italians, wearing blue goggles, came out of the woods. The American shot the horse. The robbers covered the three occupants of the buggy with guns and got away with the bag of money.

SENT SAMPLES OF WARES.

By Phonograph and Photograph Manager Judged of Actor.

"This is a marvelous age we live in," said a theatrical manager, "and its marvelousness was brought home to me forcibly last week.

"I had written to a French tenor and asked him what he would take to come over here and sing next season. His reply consisted of a letter and two cylinders.

"I will come for $500 a week," the letter said, "and I forward in another package samples of my voice and of my acting."

The large cylinder was a phonographic record of one of the man's solos. The smaller one was a moving picture of him singing the solo.

"I took the two cylinders to a dealer, and one we put in a phonograph, the other in a moving picture machine, and then started the machine and the phonograph simultaneously. There he was on the screen, walking up and down the stage and gesticulating, and there was his voice issuing in sonorous notes from the big phonograph horn. I got from it as satisfactory an idea of the man's talent as I could have gotten if he had visited me."

Japanese Flatiron.

The flatiron used by the old-fashioned Japanese is a curious little tool, which they thrust into the charcoal in the hibachi, or firebox, to heat, somewhat as we use the modern curling tongs. The greater portion of ordinary Japanese wearing apparel is not subjected to the smoothing process. Cotton garments are for the most part ripped and washed in long breadths that are dried on boards; those that are not ripped are dried on a sort of frame, from which they hang smooth. For corners or gathers this little pointed iron is used.

Tramp Had Long "Snap."

An action brought by the Bohemian town of Deutsch-Landsberg against the Bohemian provincial authorities revealed the astonishing fact that a tramp named Waselowsky had been kept in the local prison for three years while inquiries as to his identity were being made.

In this country the parish authorities of the place where a man is born are responsible for the cost of parochial relief or imprisonment anywhere else.

Waselowsky presumably found the prison at Deutsch-Landsberg to his taste, refused all information as to his origin, and was detained by the parochial authorities for inquiries three whole years without any result.

They now claimed, but unsuccessfully, the cost of his keep from the provincial authorities.—London Mail.

All Chinese Are Detectives.

The detective force in China is a secret body second to none in the world in point of organization. From one end of the Celestial land to the other a very wide-open eye is kept upon every man, woman and child, whether foreign or native, and, for that matter, the detectives watch one another most vigilantly.

"Within Sound of the Mellow Harp-Music It Was Balmiest Springtime."

ing up his horn, he drained off the toast at a draught. "Give us a mistress like that, my lord," he cried merrily, "and we will hold Ivarsdale for her though all of Edmund's men batter at the doors."

The Lord of Ivarsdale shook his head indolently against the cushion. "No wood lass for me, friend Celric," he said. "The lady of my love shall be a high-born maid who knows no more of the world's roughness than I of woman's ways. Deliver me from your sun-browned, boy-bred wenches!"

The henchman would not be downed; again his voice rose above the others. "In soft days, my lord, in soft days, it might easily be so. But bear in mind such times as these, when grief happens to a man oftener than joy. Methinks your lily-fair lady would swoon at the sight of your blood; and tears would be the best answer you would get, should you seek to draw comfort out of her."

White as a star at dawn, the page's face was raised while his wide eyes hung on his master's.

The young noble laughed with gay scorn. "Tears would be in all respects a better answer than I should deserve. I'd whisper faint-hearted words into a maiden's ear. What folly-fit do you speak in, fellow? What? Do you think I would wed another comrade like yourself, or a playfellow like this youngster?" Ever so gently his foot touched the boyish form on the step.

Disputing and agreeing, the clamor rose anew, and the Etheling turned to his favorite with a jest. But the page was no longer in his place. He had risen to his feet and was standing with his head flung back like one in pain, both hands up tearing the tunic away from his throat. Seibert bent toward him with a question on his lips.

He forgot the query before he could speak it, however, for at that moment there was a sound of hurried steps on the stone stairs, and one of the armed watchmen from the top of the Tower burst into the room.

"Lord," he gasped, "some one is upon us! We thought first it was naught but the noise of the wind—then Elward saw a light. We swear they came not over the bridge, yet—"

ing's chair and began monotonously to recite his lesson: "Rothgar, the son of Lodbrok, sends you greeting, Seibert Oswaldsson; and it is his will that you surrender to him the odal and Tower of Ivarsdale; as is right, because the odal was created and the Tower built by Ivar Vidfadmi, who was the first son of Lodbrok and the father's father's father of my chief—"

In spite of himself, he was obliged to stop to take in breath.

In the pause, the page bent toward his master, his face alight with a sudden fierce triumph. "Lord," he whispered, "you can never get out! You are caught as though they had you in a trap!"

Astounded, Seibert drew back to stare at him. "Fridgolf! It is not possible that you are unfaithful to me!"

The boy's only answer was to drop down upon the step and bury his face in his hands. And now the messenger had recovered his wind and his place.

"Since the time of Alfred," he went on, "my chief and his kin have been kept out of the property by your stock and you; yet because he does not wish to look mean, he offers you to go out in safety with all of your household, both men and women, and as much property as you can walk under—if you go quietly and in peace."

The Etheling's voice was very deep and quiet. "If we go in peace," he repeated slowly. "And if we do not?"

The Dane shrugged his brawny shoulders. "There are no terms for that. You will find it necessary to take what comes."

Again there was silence.

Seibert put his last question: "How long does the son of Lodbrok give me to consider how I am to order things?"

The man shattered the silence with his boisterous laughter. "My chief gives you no time at all. So long a time, he has studied out, will it take me to come in to you; so much longer to do my errand; and so much longer to get back. At the end of that time he will blow his horn, and if your gates do not fly open in abedience, he will take that for your answer."

The Lord of Ivarsdale rose with sparks flashing from the steel of his

Saturday Night on the Pike.

Many people have gone to St. Louis to see the Fair, and have spent most of their time and all of their cash within sound of the liquid, alluring tones of the greatest "barkers" on earth, and few of these have come away without a feeling of sadness and some small glimmer of wisdom; the sadness from a realization that so many eloquent voices could tell such thorough going lies, and the wisdom from a firm determination to be seen no more in those parts.

But here, as often elsewhere, experience counts for nothing, and the very next day, after hours of instruction and tiresome wanderings about the great buildings, the feet automatically take the turn to the Pike, and again the dimes and quarters vanish as their owner strays about, consoling himself for their disappearance with the well worn comforting saying, "Oh well, it is only once in a lifetime."

The time to see and enjoy the Pike is on a Saturday night. Then the barkers bay and yelp and howl, then the scenic railway goes with a greater rush, Mysterious Asia whirls and throbs with greater seductiveness, Santiago thrills and astounds with louder battle roar, the Educated Horse surpasses him self in clever tricks, Creation gleams and glitters with promises of mysteries unveiled, and the spirits of the departed beckon with weird charms to the halls of Hereafter. But the greatest show is in none of these places; it is on the Pike itself, swarming with people, jammed with people, echoing with squealings, reeking with odors from China, India, Constantinople, and a perfect Babel with the sound of strange languages and queer tongues. The feather duster tickles your neck, you jump from an unexpected "blow out" and land in the lap of some rickshaw passenger; an infernal machine brays in your ear and you shy straight into the arms of some damsel who lets out a screech that makes you think she is frightened until you get a cuff on the ear that sends you spinning into the megaphone of some barker who yells "Get off the earth! Descend into Hades! Go to hell—and see what is prepared for you in the Great Hereafter."

If, however, you want the best fun, buy a blow-out, a squedunk, a feather duster, a pop gun, a cow bell, and anything else that will make a noise or cause other people to jump. Then get busy: city and country, old and young, pretty and ugly, male and female—they are all your game. There are all kinds; some will jump straight up in the air and yell and paw, some will turn around angrily and go into a roar when they catch sight of your weapons and your grin, and others will be as unmoved as if they were in the habit of being jested with in such style every morning before breakfast. Get in a rickshaw and start up the street, in a moment you are surrounded by a mob. They pinch you and tickle your neck and let off howly things in your ears until you throw up your hands and dash for liberty.

A crowd of girls and men were going along doing stunts of this kind. One of the leaders was a tall, handsome girl who seemed in an almost riotous carnival humor. In the midst of her hilarity a big fellow stopped in front of her and pointing right at her yelled, "Wow! I've found it! Here it is in its native state! See the beads on its neck! It has almost human intelligence! Step up, good people! The Show is free! free!! free!!!" By this time the girl was so backed that she could not speak, but bent her head and dashed away through the crowd that had collected. Farther on a little girl ran up behind a stout, good natured looking man and poked into his ear a blow-out that emitted a most absurd screech. The man turned and said with a reproachful air, "Now, I never would have called you that."

When you go on the Pike you want to see some shows just to find out how prone mankind is to deceive, and how they love to be taken in, but the best show is the crowd and its humors and ready wit.

Lay in a supply of good nature and a couple of congenial friends, and you will not regret of a couple of hours spent in strolling up and down the Pike on a Saturday night. The Log.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Aids Nature.

Medicines that aids nature are always the most effectual. Chamberlain's cough Remedy acts on this plan. It allays the cough, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by T. E. Slattery.

Fearful Odds Against Him.

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such, in brief, was the condition of an old soldier by the name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, Ohio. For years he was troubled with kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicines gave him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters. It put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies: "I'm on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for liver and kidney troubles and all forms of stomach and bowel complaints. Only 50 cents. Guaranteed by T. E. Slattery.

MRS. CECILIA STOWE,
Orator, Entre Nous Club.

176 Warren Avenue,
CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 22, 1902.
For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get well. I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disheartened as well as I, for home with a sick woman is a disconsolate place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui for me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

Mrs. Stowe's letter shows every woman how a home is saddened by female weakness and how completely Wine of Cardui cures that sickness and brings health and happiness again. Do not go on suffering. Go to your druggist today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui.

Concerning the character of our presidents, the New York World says: "The American people have elected men of action like Washington, Jackson, William Henry Harrison, Taylor and Grant to the presidency. They have elected men of letters like Jefferson and Madison. They have elected orators like John Quincy Adams and Lincoln. They have elected reformers like Cleveland, managing politicians like Monroe, VanBuren and Pierce, colorless candidates like Buchanan and Hayes—all sorts and conditions of men, in fact, but never one of blemished reputation or of doubtful personal honesty."

WHERE THEIR MONEY GOES.

Farmers Spending it for Machinery and Rubber-tired Buggies.

Reports to the State Board of Agriculture from over Indiana show that in recent years the most generous spenders of money have been the farmers, and this class has been investing its money in machinery with which to not only reduce the farm labor, but to increase the output of the farms. The farmers have been going in for some of the luxuries of life, too, particularly in the way of rubber-tired buggies and carriages. Thousands of these vehicles have been sold in this State in the last three or four years, and the prices have come down to a point where it is common for farmers and their sons to buy a new buggy, with bright wheels and rubber tires, each spring. The buggy and machinery investments have led the manufacturers to not only strive for new ideas which will interest the farmer, but they want to get hold of the farmer himself and show him what they are doing along these lines each year. For this reason there has been a clamor for exhibition space on the State Fair grounds at Indianapolis the week September 12. Everything which has wheels attached to it and which is of use to the farmer will be on exhibition. The space will all be allotted to the manufacturers long before the Fair opens. On August 1 space had been allotted to twenty-two buggy makers along one drive of the fair grounds, while others will pitch their tents as near "buggy row" as General Manager Charles Downing can get them.

HOOSIER HOSPITALITY.

Making a Great Reputation at St. Louis.

An article on the World's fair sent out from St. Louis says: "Indiana has made a great reputation here for hospitality. At no other place on the grounds are callers more appreciated than at the Indiana building. And the doors are closed to none. The Hoosier, of course, is a preferred visitor, but the Buckeye, the Sucker, the Hawkeye and the Badger are also welcome. It is encouraging to know that there is no illiteracy in Indiana. The proof of this lies in the fact that every Hoosier that has thus far visited the fair has signed his name on the register at the Indiana building. On Wednesday of last week more than 800 people from the state took their pen in hand and left their letters in Secretary Alexander's register.

MARVIN KUHN TO BE FREE.

New Trial May Be Given the Notorious Horse Thief.

Marvin Kuhns, the notorious horse thief and outlaw, may be released from the Ohio prison at Columbus. Efforts to obtain a new trial for him were begun Monday a Tiffin, Ohio, with the filing of a petition in error in the circuit court.

Marvin Kuhns was convicted in 1890, on circumstantial evidence, of murdering William Campean, and was given a life sentence in the Ohio penitentiary. He escaped in 1902 and for two months terrorized all Northern Indiana. He came back to his old home in Noble county. He was located there and pursued by officers. He stole a team from Wm. Pomeroy, living three miles east of Plymouth, and got in close quarters of Logansport, where he shot a policeman in getting away. He, during the period of liberty, struck terror to the hearts of hundreds of citizens with whom he came in contact. He was finally run down and captured and returned by Plymouth officials to the Ohio prison, in which institution he came near killing a guard since his re-incarceration. It is claimed that evidence of clearing him of the Campean murder has been found, and should a new trial be granted him, it is said he could unquestionably prove his innocence of that crime.

G. A. R. PICNIC.

At the G. A. R. social and picnic in George People's grove near Maxinkuckee Lake on August 29th the members and friends were called to order by Comrade Samuel Osborn, Commander of the Henry Speyer Post and the social object of the meeting stated.

Comrade James L. Mosher was elected chairman and Comrade J. A. Lowery, secretary. Motion was then carried that a permanent organization to be known as the Maxinkuckee G. A. R. Association, be formed to include all the veterans who desire. And that this Association with the Womans Relief Corps and every one interested in such cause should meet annually on the last Saturday in August for the purpose of a sociable picnic. Comrades James Mosher, John Peoples, J. A. Lowery and George Peoples were elected respectively president, vice president, secretary and treasurer for the ensuing year.

A collection of $3.35 was then made up, of which $1.25 was ordered paid for present expenses, leaving a balance of $2.10 in the treasurer's hands subject to future orders of the Association. A vote of thanks was then given the musicians for their services and an invitation given them to meet with us on future occasions.

Rev. Brooks, Comrades Grant, of Bourbon, Kelley, of Ober, Carson, of Muncie, and a large number of others made the day pass all too swiftly with stories, laughable, pathetic and instructive of marches, battles, prison pens and anecdotes of experiences in war and peace. Miss Ethel Bartlett, after an effective declamation of "Barbara Frietchie" was elected Daughter of the Association. After singing "The Gentle Long-eared Mule" and "Marching Through Georgia" the Association adjourned to the next annual meeting.

A Unique Publication.

The Yellow Jacket is the name of a unique monthly published by R. Don Laws at Moravian Falls, N. C., which is described as merely "a wide place in the road" having about 100 inhabitants, more or less—perhaps less. The paper has a bona fide circulation of 80,000 copies, according to a Charlotte (N. C.) correspondent of the Atlanta Journal. The subscription price is 25 cents a year, and the paper carries no advertisements whatever. It takes just two tons of paper to print one issue for the Yellow Jacket, and the press work is done on three power presses.

The circulation is scattered all over the United States. An observing exchange thinks that when the Yellow Jacket, a free lance with little but opinions, published in a country village, can work up a circulation of 80,000 it would appear there is a market for editorial opinions after all.

Indiana is Second.

According to the St. Louis World's Fair attendance statistics, Indiana has sent more people to the exposition than any other state except Missouri, where the Fair is located. It was so in Chicago eleven years ago. Aside from Illinois the state that furnished the most people who attended the big Columbian exposition was Indiana. The Hoosier state is leading the American union procession in many ways.

Not Fatal.

No Matter What Doctors Say—We Know That Heart Trouble in Many Cases Can Be Cured.

There are seven main features of heart disease, viz: (1) Weakness or Debility; (2) Rheumatism or Neuralgia; (3) Valvular Disorder; (4) Dilation; (5) Enlargement; (6) Fatty Degeneration; (7) Dropsy.

Documentary evidence will prove thousands of so-called "incurables" have been absolutely cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Patients often have no idea their disease is heart trouble, but ascribe it to Indigestion, Liver Complaint, etc.

Here are some of the symptoms: Shortness of breath after exercise. Smothering Spells. Pain in Chest, left Shoulder and arm. Discomfort in Lying on one side. Fainting Spells. Nervous Cough. Swelling of Feet and Ankles. Paleness of Face and Lips. Palpitation. Nightmare. Irregular Pulse.

"I have great faith in Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and speak of its merits whenever opportunity presents. I can now go up and down stairs with ease, where three weeks ago I could hardly walk one block. One year later, 'I am still in good health; the Heart Cure did so much for me, that I find it a far greater medicine than you claimed it to be.'—S. D. YOUNG, D. WATCH GHOULS ROBBING GRAVE

Young Men Make Damaging Affidavit in Arkansas Insurance Case.

SEE BODY PLACED IN A BUGGY

Aver That Dr. Lightie and His Companions Disinterred the Corpse of Ed Pitts, Taking It From Cemetery
on Seat of Vehicle.

Little Rock, Ark., dispatch: Kay Deever and Dondridge McRae of Searcy, the two young men who made affidavits that they witnessed the robbery of Ed Pitts' grave at Searcy, returned Wednesday from St. Louis.
McRae is a grandson to the late Gen.
Dondridge McRae, for many years one of the most prominent citizens of Arkansas. Both are about 25 years of age.

It is alleged in the affidavit that Dr.
Lightie, Walter Gregory and possibly others, after the plans had been carefully laid and concocted, drove to the cemetery at dawn and proceeded to the grave of Ed Pitts. The two boys had seen them going toward the cemetery and, suspecting something,
the affidavit says, shadowed them.
Upon the solution of the dark mystery attached to their actions.

Doctor Threatens Death.
Arriving at the grave, Dr. Lightie and his companions are said to have begun digging, when Gregory was heard to ask what they would do if they were to be seen.

Dr. Lightie is said to have replied that they would keep a close watch,
and if they should be discovered they would kill the persons who saw them and put the bodies in the coffin from which they were to remove that of Ed Pitts. This frightened the boys from their vigil and they fled in the darkness.

Impelled by an insatiable curiosity,
however, they returned soon after and saw Dr. Lightie and Gregory remove the body from the coffin and place it in Dr. Lightie's buggy, seating it upright in the seat beside him, and placing Dr. Lightie's vest on the corse.

In this way the body of Pitts was driven to the residence of Dr. Lightie, where it was buried near the barn.
It remained buried twenty-four days
and was then placed in the barn,
which was destroyed by fire.

Corse is Mutilated.
It is said that the arms and legs
of the corse were cut off with an ax
that the body might be more readily handled.

Deever and McRae also declare in their affidavit that they were offered $500 each not to tell of the affair.
They are the principal witnesses
against Lightie, Roberts and Gregory.

The trial of the three men on the charge of grave robbery was reset for Sept. 1. They waived examination on the conspiracy and four other felony charges, and are held on $2,500
bonds to appear before the grand jury.
The body of Pitts was removed from the Lightie lot and placed in its original grave. This is the fourth time the remains have been buried.

A telegram received here says Gregory is about to make a confession. He is the son of a well-known Methodist minister of Searcy. He and Roberts are out on bail, but Lightie has been unable to find a bondsman.

LUXURY WILL BE SACRIFICED

Formidability Will Be Feature of New Armored Cruisers.

Washington dispatch: Luxury will be sacrificed for formidability in the new armored cruisers authorized by the last congress and the plans now
in preparation in the bureau of construction and repair show important changes in the interior arrangements of these vessels. The water-tight subdivision will be made complete and there will be no piercing of bulkheads by ventilating pipes or other openings. This change is in the effort further to protect the vessels from the damaging effects of torpedo attack.

ALEX JESTER IS STILL ALIVE

"Supple and Spry at 86," but Cannot Attend the Fair.

Wellsville, Mo., dispatch: A letter from Alex Jester written to his attorney, P. H. Cullen, in regard to the report that he had died and confessed
on his deathbed that he killed Gilbert W. Gates, says: "I am happy to inform you that the report is false. I am well and hearty—in better health than I have been for many years. I am now in my 86th year and am very supple and spry. I won't have the means to go to the St. Louis fair."

FORGED PAPERS AMONG ASSETS

Shareholders of Failed Iowa Bank
Must Pay Full Liability.

Washington dispatch: The first report of the receiver of the First National bank of Grinnell, Iowa, was filed with the comptroller of the currency Thursday. The comptroller authorizes the statement that, owing to the large amount of forged paper
among the assets, an assessment
against the shareholders for their full 100 per cent liability is necessary and has been levied.

BANKERS DECIDE NOT TO HIRE WOMEN CLERKS

Wisconsin Financiers Agree That
There Is No Room in Banks for Members of the Fair Sex.

La Crosse, Wis., special: The Wisconsin State Bankers' convention closed Wednesday night with a banquet. During the afternoon session resolutions were adopted tending to protect the bankers of the state from burglary and forgeries and more strict legislation is to be urged.

One of the interesting features of the convention was a discussion of the question of whether women should be employed in banks. It was the consensus of opinion that they should not be.

Congressman John J. Esch delivered an address at the morning session on
"Our Financial Policy in the Pacific."
The following officers were elected:
President—George N. Pratt, Racine.
Vice-president—F. J. Carr, Hudson.
Secretary—John Campbell, Milwaukee.

Treasurer—G. E. McDill, Stevens Point.

PREDICTS LABOR WARS OF GREAT PROPORTIONS

St. Louis Minister Believes Next Ten Years Will See Country Rent
by Industrial Conflict.

Winona Lake, Ind., dispatch: Marion Lawrence of Toledo made the opening address at the bible conference Wednesday. Other speakers were
Rev. Howard Johnston of New York,
Rev. Joseph Odell of London, England; President Patton of Princeton university and Rev. Charles Steisle.

The evening was devoted to the best means of reclaiming outcasts.
Among the speakers were Rev. S. H.
Hadley of New York, Harry Monroe
of Chicago, Melvin E. Trotter, John Callahan and W. M. Bruce, who told the conference their life stories.

Rev. Charles Steisle of St. Louis called the attention of the conference to the growth of socialistic ideas
among workmen, thousands of whom, he said, look on socialism as a substitute for the church. He predicted the next ten years would see greater labor wars than this country has ever seen, the conflicting armies being union labor on one side and the employers' associations on the other.
He declared the average city missions
a failure as a means of reaching the workingman.

CATCH CONSTABLES IN AMBUSH

Philippine Bandits Succeed in Killing Captain Barrett During the Fight.

Manila cable: A detail of native constabulary has been ambushed on the island of Leyte by a superior force of bandits. Capt. H. Barrett of the constabulary was killed in the fighting.

Trouble has arisen in the province of Misamis, island of Mindanao, where bandits have looted several towns.
The native authorities were defied
and Pablo Mercado and his family were kidnapped. Mercado was accused of being too friendly with the Ameri-

three of them being burned alive. Col.

CANADA TIGHTENS ITS TARIFF

Decides to Discontinue the Drawback Practice in Customs.

Ottawa, Ont., dispatch: The Canadian government has decided to discontinue the drawback of customs duty on any material used and wrought into or attached to any article manufactured in Canada and exported therefrom if such article enjoys a bounty. This will apply to pig iron brought in to be manufactured
into steel billets, as there is a bounty on the latter. The government has also adopted a regulation enabling articles of Canadian manufacture brought into Canada to be repaired and afterward re-exported to come in duty free. Hitherto such articles have paid duty when coming back for repair.

FEUDIST DIES WITH BOOTS ON

Slayer of Many Men Is Himself Slain
by His Enemies.

Owingsville, Ky., dispatch: Levi Woolbridge, a noted feudist, while riding along the road in a loney part of Wayne county mountains, was shot through the head and instantly killed by assassins concealed in the underbrush. Alfred Brummett and son Marshall, Vergal and Marshall Hall, and Alvin Dean have been arrested, charged with the murder. Woolbridge had been connected with mountain feud trouble a long time. His assassins are members of an opposing faction. Woolbridge had killed several men.

FAST TIME BY BEES.

Travel Far for Honey and Make Speedy Tracks Back.

There is a bee ranch with more than a million bees in the heart of one of the densest residence districts of San Francisco. It is owned by Philip Prior, principal of a public school, and is in the little back yard of his home.
For ten years he has kept his bees
there, has harvested about a third of a ton of honey each season and has been at no expense for food for his interesting and industrious pets.

Although it is a distance of two and one-half miles from the Prior bee ranch to Golden Gate park, the prior bees make the trip there, collect loads of honey and get back to the hive in two minutes, making a bullet-like flight at the surprising rate of 150 miles an hour.

Mr. Prior has demonstrated this by having an observer watching certain bee-favored places in the park and exactly timing the arrival there of bees he purposely sprinkled with flour as they issued from the hive. He has also kept time on the absence of the whitened bees.

Kentucky Man's Duty.

Jamboree, Ky., August 29 (Special).
—After suffering for years with pain in the back Mr. J. M. Coleman, a well known citizen of this place, has found a complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. Knowing how general this disease is all over the country, Mr. Coleman feels it is his duty to make his experience public for the benefit of other sufferers.

"I want to recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to everybody who has pain in the back," Mr. Coleman says. "I suffered for years with my back. I used Dodd's Kidney Pills and I have not felt a pain since. My little girl too complained of her back and she used about half a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and she is sound and well."
Backache is Kidney Ache. Dodd's
Kidney Pills are a sure cure for all Kidney Aches, including Rheumatism.

Manchurian Rainy Season.

The St. James Gazette says: "The rainy season in southern Manchuria is not so bad as it has been represented to be. Residents of long experience state that while there are days in which heavy falls of rain take place,
there are not many consecutive days
in which torrential rains are experienced. When a really heavy downpour of rain of some hours' duration occurs it is almost invariably followed by three or four weeks of splendid dry, bracing weather. There is no finer summer climate in the world than that of southern Manchuria. The temperature in the shade is seldom above 88 degrees."

Enforce Sixteen Hour Day.

Texas railway employees' organizations have combined to enforce the "sixteen hour" law enacted by the last legislature. Suits for penalties aggregating many thousands of dollars are to be filed in the name of the state against the railroads. The law forbids the working of trainmen more than sixteen consecutive hours and provides eight hours' rest out of every twenty-four. Penalties ranging from $100 to $1,000 are provided.

UP ON FOREIGN RELATIONS.

Congressman Hitt Said to Be Best Informed Man in Country.

Congressman Robert R. Hitt of Mount Morris, Illinois, is believed to be the best informed man in the country regarding the government's foreign relations. Secretaries Hay and Adee may know more about diplomacic niceties, but Robert Hitt had a long career in the foreign service of this nation, is a linguist and the best read man in congress. His home on K street, Washington, is a wonder shop of rare books and manuscripts. Not an incident has occurred in the history of the United States that he cannot clarify by producing original information concerning it. He began his career as a reporter in Chicago and distinguished himself by taking in stenography the debates between Douglas and Lincoln. When Lincoln was elected he was sent abroad as a secretary of legation.

Miss Duci Von Kuranda, the noted
Austro-Hungarian beauty, whose love-ready is famed all over Europe, being especially popular among American naval officers who have called at Adriatic ports. Her father is confidential adviser to Emperor Francis Joseph, consul general for Serbia, and director general of a large steamship company.

The young woman is said to have a wonderful contralto voice, and has often sung in charitable entertainments. She is also famous for her gowns, which are always the marvel
of the season. Miss Von Kuranda

Favors Women Letter Carriers.

Women letter carriers are deemed almost a necessity by Postmaster John McKay of Des Moines, Iowa, who has made a recommendation to the department at Washington favoring the removal of the ban that now limits the civil service examination for letter carriers to males. "When you send a woman on an errand," he says, "she will return in half the time that a man will. She does not stop to loiter.
We find them equal and even superior to men in the money order, stamp and other divisions and I favor giving them a trial in the delivery section."

appointed at the age of 13 by Andrew Jackson. He had entire charge of all government in the civil war, and in twelve hours was promoted by Stanton from plain Mr. Haupt to Brigadier General Haupt, beating all records.

He has thirty-five grandchildren and were not included in this category.

BISMARCK AND THE KAISER.

Story Has It That Last Words Exchanged Were in English.

T. P. O'Connor's London weekly, M.
A. P., learns "from an old diplomat"
that the last words of the last interview between the German emperor and the late Prince Bismarck were spoken in English. When the rupture between the two appeared to be final
the iron chancellor went to the palace to resign his seals of office. The supreme moment arrived and the chancellor thought that by tact and consummate diplomacy he might even yet succeed in bending "that young man"
—as he afterward bitterly called him
—to his iron will. The sovereign and his minister had, of course, conversed in German. But when all was over Bismarck said in a changed voice—and in English: "Then I am in your way, sir?" And the German emperor answered in one word: "Yes."

RECALLS ASTOR PLACE RIOTS.

First Battle in Which Gen. Daniel E.
Sickles Was Engaged.

One of the most interesting figures
in New York is that of Gen. Daniel E.
Sickles, the venerable one-legged hero
of Gettysburg and Chancellorsville.
He cannot be persuaded to talk about the civil war, but occasionally will tell about his first battle, which was the Astor place riots in 1849. He was a young buck in those days and he had apartments close to the scene of the trouble, which was occasioned by the rivalry between the English tragedian, Macready, and the American, Edwin Forrest. Sickles likes to talk about the theater and he is occasionally seen around at first nights. He remembers Patti when she was 14 years old, and he heard Jenny Lind
when Barnum managed her concert tour in this country fifty-four years ago.

Will Visit Son's Grave.

Lord and Lady Roberts are to go to south Africa this fall, one of the primary objects of their journey being to visit the grave of their only son, who was killed in Natal during the Boer war and buried on the battlefield. His death was due to an act of bravery, such as led many English officers to death, and, perhaps, gain
the Victoria cross, which has cost the lives of so many British officers. Lieut.
Roberts fell while trying to save some guns which Buller had lost in one of his many defeats. The young man never knew that he had won the most coveted English honor, but Queen Victoria gave the simple little cross to his mother with her own hands.

LIFE SAVED BY HORSE.

Drunken Sleeper Escapes Death Because Animal's Color Was Light.

A drunken smelterman, who refused to give his name, was saved from a horrible death merely by the fact that he was driving a light colored horse.

As the street car that left Black Eagle park at 9:41 a. m. on Eighth avenue was going at a speed of about ten miles an hour the motorman suddenly saw a gray horse standing on the track, and at once reversed his car and applied the brakes. When the car was stopped a drunken man
was found lying across both rails,
where he had fallen from the wagon
to which the gray horse was attached.

The front wheels of the car had stopped less than two feet from the prostrate man, and if the horse had been of a dark color his drunken owner would undoubtedly have been ground to pieces. The drunken sleeper was easily aroused and, refusing to give his name, he clambered into his wagon and drove off to the smelter where he said he was employed.—

MORGAN READY TO FIGHT.

Financier Not Afraid of Having His
"Block Knocked Off."

Here is one told on J. P. Morgan, at Highland Falls, where he has his country seat, and where in his early married life he boarded at the purely plebeian rate of $5 per week, say the village chroniclers. Mrs. Morgan has some very handsome flower beds skirting the driveway, and drivers are very specially ordered to keep in the middle of the roadway so that the flowers may not be injured.

Recently the banker, out driving,
was confronted by an expressman coming in. Now, Mr. Morgan is noted in that part of the country for refusing to turn out for any vehicle. The expressman knew this, and he also knew Mrs. Morgan's ideas about driving on her flower beds. This conversation occurred:

"Say, Mr. Morgan, you turn out here. I ain't got no room to pass here!"

Mr. Morgan went right along.
"See here, Morgan, if you don't turn out I'll go over there and knock your block off!"

Mr. Morgan smiled and replied:
"You just come over and try it. I don't think you can, Jerry"—calling the drayman by name, as they knew each other well.

LEARNING THINGS

We Are All in the Apprentice Class.

When a simple change of diet brings back health and happiness the story is briefly told. A lady of Springfield, Ill., says: "After being afflicted for years with nervousness
and heart trouble, I received a shock four years ago that left me in such a condition that my life was despaired of. I could get no relief from doctors nor from the numberless heart and nerve medicines I tried because I didn't know that the coffee was daily
putting me back more than the Drs.
could put me ahead."
"Finally at the request of a friend I left off coffee and began the use of Postum and against my convictions I gradually improved in health until for the past 6 or 8 months I have been entirely free from nervousness and those terrible sinking, weakening spells of heart trouble."

"My troubles all came from the use of coffee which I had drunk from childhood and yet they disappeared
when I quit coffee and took up the use of Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Many people marvel at the effects of leaving off coffee and drinking Postum but there is nothing marvelous about it—only common sense.

Coffee is a destroyer—Postum is a rebuilder. That's the reason.

Investigates Underground Streams.
Elwood Mead, one of the government irrigation experts, is at present at Colorado Springs, Colo., investigating the subterranean streams which are known to exist north and east of the city.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Thompson, of Lillydale, N.Y., Grand Worthy Wise Templar, and Member of W.C.T.U., tells how she recovered by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am one of the many of your grateful friends who have been cured through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and who can to-day thank you for the fine health I enjoy. When I was thirty-five years old, I suffered severe backache and frequent bearing-down pains; in fact, I had womb trouble. I was very anxious to get well, and reading of the cures your Compound had made, I decided to try it. I took only six bottles, but it built me up and cured me entirely of my troubles. "My family and relatives were naturally as gratified as I was. My niece had heart trouble and nervous prostration, and was considered incurable. She took your Vegetable Compound and it cured her in a short time, and she became well and strong, and her home to her great joy and her husband's delight was blessed with a baby. I know of a number of others who have been cured of different kinds of female trouble, and am satisfied that your Compound is the best medicine for sick women."—MRS. ELIZABETH H. THOMPSON, Box 105, Lillydale, N.Y. $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

HORTICULTURE

The Flat-Headed Borer.
The destructive tree borer so well known to horticulturists as the flat-headed apple tree borer and to entomologists as Chrysobothris femorata is found in all parts of the country and annually destroys vast numbers of trees. It attacks apple, pear, quince, plum, peach, cherry, ash, elm, maple, box-elder, sycamore and willow trees. The injury is done by the flat-headed borer during its grub or larval stage. The adult insect is a beetle about half an inch long, flattish-oblong in form, shiny greenish-black above and copper colored below. The female deposits her eggs in the crevices of the bark of the trunk and main branches, usually on the south or southwest side, where the effects of the sun upon the tree is greatest. In our locality the most of the eggs are probably laid during April and May. Although eggs are sometimes deposited by this insect upon healthy,

Fig. 2.—Chrysobothris femorata: a, larva; b, beetle; c, head of male; d, pupa—twice natural size (original).

well-established trees, it evidently prefers to select sickly or newly transplanted ones, especially those whose bark has been injured by exposure to the sun. The eggs hatch within a few days after being deposited. The young larva soon eats through the bark and proceeds to bore at some depth beneath the surface, leaving behind it a flattened channel. Sometimes a single borer will girdle a tree and cause its death. The larva reaches its full growth by the end of the summer, being then a pale-yellowish grub about half an inch long, with a broad, flat head. During the winter it remains quiescent. The next spring it bores out nearly through the bark, then moves back a little and undergoes its change into the adult beetle form. The transformation being completed in about three weeks. The beetle then cuts an opening through the bark and escapes to continue the work of destruction begun by its ancestors. During the warm part of the day it may be seen flying about in the hot sunlight.

There are three ways of combating the borer: (1) by destroying the grubs while they are at work in the tree; (2) by the application of some substance that will prevent the eggs being deposited or will destroy the eggs and newly hatched larvae; and (3) by wrapping the trees with something that will prevent the females gaining access to the bark. But, by the best methods known, borers are difficult insects to combat. The larvae make their way into the wood so soon after the eggs are deposited and keep so completely out of sight as they work, that they may do much injury before their presence is suspected, and are difficult to kill when detected. It is a case where an ounce of prevention is most decidedly more effective and more economical than a pound of cure.—Arizona Station.

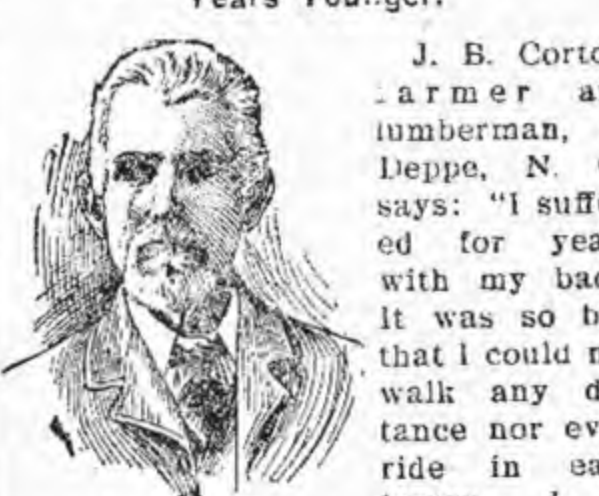

Is Seedless Fruit Fertilized?

For some time there has been a belief that seedless fruit is developed without fertilization by the pollen. There have been experiments carried on to determine this and it was thought that the experiments were reliable. Without doubt the men that did the work believed that the fruit was unfertilized and were entirely sincere in their expressions in that regard. In South Australia, however, some very elaborate investigations have been put on foot to discover if the Zante currant, the well-known seedless currant, was produced without the intervention of fertilizing processes. In a word it is decided by the experimenters there that the currant, though apparently seedless, is the product of fertilizing processes. At first experiments were made to produce seedless currants by removing the pollen a few days before it was ready to be precipitated into the ovules. This work the experimenters did with the greatest of care, but in the end pronounced it impossible to do the work so carefully that a few grains of pollen would not get into the ovules of the fruit. The investigation showed further that the ovules of these seedless currants are really fertilized and increase in size for about ten days, after which they abort. This prevents the seed from developing, but the growth is started by the fertilization in the beginning. This is probably the case with all of our seedless fruit. The growth is started by the fertilization in the ordinary way, and then the seed formation is stopped and this gives more power to the development of the pulp of the fruit. This is as yet a dark subject.

The progressive dairyman is careful in the feeding of his cows. He knows that the ration to be an economical one must contain both carbohydrates and proteins, and that an overbalance of one will waste it in the work of digestion.

Doan's Kidney Pills Brought Strength and Health to the Sufferer, Making Him Feel Twenty-Five Years Younger.

J. B. Corton, farmer and lumberman, of Deppe, N. C., says: "I suffered for years with my back. It was so bad that I could not walk any distance nor even ride in easy buggy. I do not believe I could have raised ten pounds of weight from the ground, the pain was so severe. This was my condition when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They quickly relieved me and now I am never troubled as I was. My back is strong and I can walk or ride a long distance and feel just as strong as I did twenty-five years ago. I think so much of Doan's Kidney Pills that I have given a supply of the remedy to some of my neighbors and they have also found good results. If you can sift anything from this rambling note that will be of any service to you, or to any one suffering from kidney trouble, you are at liberty to do so."

Indian Stomp Dances.

To the white citizen who has been for years familiar with the ancient and meaningless dances of the Indians on Oklahoma reservations and in the domain of the Five Tribes the announcement that these festivals have become camp meetings in some sections will be at once pleasing and surprising.

The missionary has been working, and the seeds sown are beginning to show results. The stomp dance of one section of Creeks is this year a camp meeting. The songs from the hymnal are taking the place of weird chants. The activity of the mourners' bench is affording physical exercise in the place of the monotonous walk-around of the old days.—Kansas City Journal.

Every housekeeper should know that if they will buy Defiance Cold Water Starch for laundry use they will save not only time, because it never sticks to the iron, but because each package contains 16 oz.—one full pound—while all other Cold Water Starches are put up in 3 1/2-pound packages, and the price is the same, 10 cents. Then again because Defiance Starch is free from all injurious chemicals. If your grocer tries to sell you a 12-oz. package it is because he has a stock on hand which he wishes to dispose of before he puts in Defiance. He knows that Defiance Starch has printed on every package in large letters and figures "16 ozs." Demand Defiance and save much time and money and the annoyance of the iron sticking. Defiance never sticks.

Students of Advanced Age.

Rev. Edward Robie of Greenland, N. H., a student at the Harvard theological summer school, is 83 years of age and doubtless is the oldest student at any educational institution in the world; and he is not the only pupil of advanced years at the school named. Nearly all of the forty-seven who are attending the present session are not only mature in years, but men who are active pastors in churches. It is said that ten denominations are represented in the school, and the student body includes forty-seven ministers, one lawyer, one teacher and one Japanese student. This is Mr. Robie's third session at the Harvard school in five years.

Insist on Getting It.

Some grocers say they don't keep Defiance Starch. This is because they have a stock on hand of other brands containing only 12 oz. in a package, which they won't be able to sell first, because Defiance contains 16 oz. for the same money. Do you want 16 oz. instead of 12 oz. for same money? Then buy Defiance Starch. Requires no cooking.

Forgetting the Salt.

It is a very easy matter to forget to salt the cows, as every person that has had the care of dairy cows knows. Many a farmer realizes the need of the animals for salt and intends to give them salt at regular intervals. Frequently he does not awake to the fact that the cows are not getting enough salt till he notices a flat fresh taste in the milk, and he at once connects this with the absence of salt. This flatness is supposed to be the only detriment to the non-salting of the cows. But tests made at different times show that the volume of the milk is decreased by this withholding of the mineral that every animal craves. At the Mississippi Experiment station the experiment was tried of keeping cows without salt for a number of weeks. Three cows were deprived of salt for four weeks. The first two weeks the milk was not weighed, as it was likely that the cows would not at first notice the loss of the salt by decreasing their milk. During the two last weeks of the period, however, the milk was weighed and was found to be 454 pounds for the period. The salt was given to them again and the milk weighed for the ensuing two weeks, when it was found to amount to 564 pounds. This was a gain of 110 pounds of milk due to the salting. Doubtless the best way to give the salt is to place large lumps of rock salt where the animals can lick them at leisure. There will then be no danger of the animals eating too much at any one time or of poultry getting at it and eating enough to kill them. The love of all animals for salt is shown by the habit they have of frequenting places where salt is to be found. In the early history of the country, when hunting was a business as much as any other, the hunters used to lie in wait in the places where salt streams flowed from the mountains and left crystal deposits on the rocks, for the hunters knew that such places were frequented by animals from far and near for the purpose of licking the salty rocks. The processes of digestion require salts to assist them. They can be carried on without salt, but always at a disadvantage.

Tricks in Selling Creamers.

Agents of creamers of various kinds make a good living by going through the country and selling the creamers at high prices. Now some of the creamers are probably all right as far as they go, but most of them are not worth the high prices that are paid for them. The agents also go as far as possible in building up a case for the things they are selling. Reports from Canada say that three agents of these creamers have been arrested and sentenced to jail terms on account of having made fraudulent statements in the sale of the creamers. The statements were, of course, made to insure sales. The farmers in witnessing at the trial testified that the agents declared that the creamers would keep anything cool without the use of ice. Butter would be hard even in the hottest day of summer. The creamers were said to be packed with asbestos, which the agents represented as perfectly impervious to heat. The agents also declared that commission men would pay a higher price for butter from such creamers than that made in the ordinary way. The farmers had signed what they supposed to be trial orders, but which later turned out to be negotiable notes. The cost of each of these wonderful creamers was in excess of $50. Isn't it a little remarkable that some farmers are so suspicious of each other that they will not meet each other in any form of co-operation and yet will place such confidence in smooth-tongued strangers that they will pay out their money on almost any kind of representation?

Butter Production This Year.

Butter production this season is running along about the same as last year, certainly not ahead. The West is making a little more butter, due to the good conditions of the pastures, but the Eastern states are making a little less. The surplus in the West does not more than offset the deficiency in the East. As butter moves readily from one great center to another there is no reason why prices this year should drop below those of last year. The conditions during the present month will tell greatly on the production of butter. If the month remains normal as to rainfall the production will be as great as last year. Up to the present time the season has been a normal one. In some parts of Illinois and Wisconsin it has been several degrees cooler than ordinarily, and this has been in favor of the increased production of milk and consequently of butter. Prices show a tendency to be steady, and are now likely to remain so, gradually rising during the next six weeks.

Experiments at the Wisconsin station showed that constantly changing milkers increased very slightly the amount of milk yielded, but that the difference was not great enough to become an object worth attention.

Pasteurization of skimmilk has greatly increased during recent years, as this results in keeping the milk sweet for a longer period than it would otherwise.

To Kill Dandelion
The dandelion pest is troubling people greatly, and no amount of digging them up by the roots seems to do any good. Here is a simple and effective way to get rid of them as promulgated by the Campaign Gazette: Fill a machine can with gasoline and squirt a few drops on the plant from which the flower-stalk projects and the yellow peril, is done for. The root readily absorb the fluid which in a couple of days completely rots. If carefully applied there is no danger of killing the grass as the spreading leaves of the dandelion form a protection to the grass and the dandelion roots are very porous. A few drops will kill the plant, while the same quantity would not penetrate the less porous grass root, through the top may wither, but if carefully applied there is no danger of even that.

THREE BIG DAYS,
Politics To Open Up At The Fulton County Fair.
The Fulton County Fair of the present year promises to be the most largely attended in the history of the Society. There is to be the largest exhibit of farm products, machinery, curious and strange articles, and sights never before witnessed at a county fair. Beside the live stock and other farm products the exhibit of the Mastodon skeleton will add a big attraction. Secretary Dillon has contracted special events for the speed ring and there will be a string of track horses in attendance.
Thursday, Sept. 8th, Hon. J. L. Griffith, of Indianapolis, will open the campaign for the Republicans. He will speak on the fair ground at 1:00 o'clock, prompt, and will finish in ample time for the afternoon races. Mr. Griffith is one of the prominent orators on the Republican stump this year and will discuss the issues from his point of view in a courteous and convincing manner.
Friday, Sept. 9th, Hon. John W. Kern, Democratic candidate for Governor, will open the campaign for the Democrats of Fulton county, from the same platform, beginning promptly at 1:00 o'clock, also concluding in season for the afternoon races. Mr. Kern is a speaker of more than average ability and will attract a large attendance to hear his presentation of the issues of the campaign.
These speeches will be in addition to the regular program which will be second to no other county fair in Northern Indiana. There will two good bands in attendance each day and there will be plenty to keep all interested throughout the time they are on the grounds. You can ride on the merry-go-round or see the glass blowers and spend a day of recreation and pleasure with your relatives and friends from distant points of the county. You are invited to bring your family and see the fair in all its magnificence.
There will be reduced rates on all railroads entering Rochester.

THREE JURORS CURED
Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.
Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, the county seat of Clebourne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some souse meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in all my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us." For sale by T. E. Slattery.
What Is Life?
In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law, even slightly, pain results.
