THE CULVER CITIZEN. TILLMAN TALKS ON GUSSEDNESS

Invoked by Lawyers to Prevent Reform.

CITES CASE OF BEEF PACKERS

Too Much Concern for Men Behind Corporations and No Attention to Needs of the Citizne of the Land, Claims South Carolina Senator.

Washington dispatch: A few side remarks from Ben Tillman on the "general cussedness of the situation" formed the enlivening feature of the senate Tuesday. The man with the pitchfork found cussedness on every hand-in the insurance disclosures, in the contributions of national banks to ing the legislative, executive and jucampaign committees, in Judge Humphrey's decision in the beef packers' case, in the John R. Walsh bank fallures at Chicago, and in the "infernal solicitude" for the railroads in connection with the legislation congress is trying to enact. The constitution, he opined, is being invoked by too many lawyers to prevent reforms.

There was no particular subject under consideration when the South Carolina senator took the floor, and when Senator Foraker, in the midst of a typical Tillmanesque ramble, rose to a parliamentary inquiry, asking what was before the senate, Senator Tillman exclaimed: "I am!"

"Which is nothing unusual," replied the senator from Ohio.

"Well," said Mr. Tillman, 'of you are going to withhold unanimous consent to let me talk, I'll say what I've got to say the very first time any hill comes up, so you might as well let me dnish now." And they did.

Makes Attack on Banks.

Primarily, Tilman wanted to remind the senate that he has a resolution pending before the elections committee providing for the investigation of campaign contributions by national banks. He read section 5209 of the revised statutes relating to embezzlement and misappropriation of funds by bank officials.

"If it can be shown," he said, "that national banks in 1896, and probably since then, have been guilty of disobeying this section and of contributing the funds of the banks to campaign committees, it seems to me there is a clear case of malfeasance in office, which ought to be investigated and the men guilty of this disobedience of law called to account."

The South Carolinian said he had proof he would present to the senate at the proper time that national banks in one city contributed $17,000 to the republican campaign fund in 1896, and he understood that the national banks of Chicago contributed $70,000. The total of such contributions from all cities that year, he declared, amountd to between $1,000,000 and $1,500,-

Simply as a Reminder.

"It was with a view to calling the senate's attention briefly to these mention the matter in connection with some other things which are transpiring that are of very great general interest and relate particularly to railroad rate regulation, with which the senate is now wrestling.

"For instance, Judge Humphrey the other day rendered a decision in regard to the criminality of officers of those officers have been invited to put an their hats and leave the court soom, and we are told blandly, and I suppose authoritatively, that that probably will be the end of it, although there is some discussion of the propriety and necessity of an appeal to the Supreme court to see whether that court holds the same view."

"How is the United States to appeal a criminal case?" interjected Senator

"That's my trouble," replied Tillman. "I find so much anxiety here to take care of the corporation and so little desire to punish the corporator. Judge Humphrey, one of those immaculate federal judges, has caught that corporation by the nape of the neck, and I am reminded of a cartoon on the unbject in which the corporation, a man of straw, is being hauled off to jall, while the flesh and blood corporation man sits on the fence laughing. I am here in the role of attorney for the goose to ask my friend from Wisconsin (Senator Spooner) or some other lawyer to explain why we are so internally solicitous about taking care of the corporations and only interfering with this man of straw in the legislation we are trying to enact and why we do not pay any attention to the man? We forget men in the effort to redress grievances and wrongs, almost shedding tears in regard to the possible invasion of the rights of this impersonal creation, but we do not seem to take any concern Pekin. A dispatch to the Tokio Hoch about the man of blood.

Effect of Cartoons.

"When I see Judge Humphrey turn loose these people-it may be lawful -but the law ought to be changed. Mr. Jerome also has fallen from grace as a reformer. He and a learned judge have a falling out as to the criminality of campaign contributions from the insurance companies. Here we go! The dear people are told that mounted in the palace precincts. The it is unconstitutional to do any other way than the way we are doing; that reports and Pekin was for a time pan we are trying our level best to help | ic-stricken.

some way or other, but this dear Constitution stands in the way."

Senator Spooner, arising to enlighten on the law of the case, said it was the first time he ever bad known a decision of a court to be impeached on the authority of a cartoon, but Tillman declared cartoons had wrought many wonderful things.

"Why," said Spoener, "only a few days ago I saw a cartoon in which Senator Tillman was lying sprawling behind his desk, kicked there by a

"The last one I saw," said Tillman with a bland smile, "had me on the donkey and the elephant was tied to the donkey's tail."

DISCARDS PRECEDENT.

Recalcitrant Members Force House to Abandon Obsolete Rules.

Washington dispatch: Representative Prince of Illinois Wednesday forced the house to adopt a motion vitiating one of its most cherished rules. For a week Mr. Prince, with the assistance of Representative Chadwick (Dem.) of Georgia, has been teardicial appropriation bill to pieces. It carries allowances to defray the authorized running expenses of the three branches of the government during the next fiscal year, and does not differ materially from previous measures for the same purpose. One of the ancient rules of the house provides that no appropriation bill shall contain an allowance for any expenditure not previously authorized by law. The object of the rule is to prevent legis'ation upon appropriation bills. Notwithstanding, it is the common practice of the committees reporting general supply bills to embody in them appropriations which fall under the ban. Most of the laws regulating salaries of government employes have not been amended since the statutes were revised back in the '70s. The various offices have grown with the country and the increased business, but congress had not gone through the formality of providing by law for this increase. Mr. Prince and Mr. Chadwick, to point out to the country the loose manner in which appropriations are made, commenced raising points of order against each appropriation which was not authorized by law, and the chairman was forced to rule as they desired. The passage of the bill was greatly delayed. Both Mr. Prince and Mr. Chadwick knew that the items against which they made the points of order would be restored when the bill reached the senate, but this had nothing to do with their object lesson. Several whole sections of the bill were thrown out and the committee on appropriations summoned to its aid the committee on rules. This committee reported a motion which made in order the various items on the bill which had been out of order. Under whip and spur of party organization, this motion was adopted by a vote of 169 to 109, all the Democrats voting against it. This greases the way for the passage of the bill as it was reported by the committee.

Storm Over Indian Bill.

Washington dispatch: A storm of protest was aroused in the senate Wednesday when the conference report on the bill regulating the final disposition of the affairs of the five civilized tribes of Indians was taken up. Most of the objections centered facts," continued Senator Tillman, on the conference provision authorizthat I have thought it worth while to ing the Secretary of the Interior to lease the coal lands, which brought Sountors La Follette, Clark (Wyo.) and Tillman to their feet. Mr. La Follotte said there were 437,000 acres of these lands, worth not less than $175,000,000, and ne believed the senate should call a halt on their disposal until it could make inquiry. The leasing would be as unfortunate as certain corporations under which their sale, he sald, and he held that the plan originally submitted by the Secretary of the Interior gave the lessees an undue advantage. Mr. Tillman held that the matter was of great moment, not only to the Indians, but to the millions of people who in the future will occupy that section of the country, and he suggested that the government purchase the lands. He was convinced that the railroads have got control of practically all the leases now in existence. Mr. Clark contended that the conference committee had transcended its authority.

Restores Appropriations.

Washington dispatch: Two rules were introduced in the house Tuesday the adoption of which will restore to the legislative appropriation bill all provisions which have been eliminated on points of order and will make future consideration of the measure free from the interruptions which have been made. This is the result of the campaign of retaliation against the appropriation committee led by Represcntative Prince of Illinois.

Eight Harbors Are to Be Under Joint Control, While Bank Question Is Settled According to Decision of Committee.

Algeciras cablegram: America, through Ambassador White, once more took a hand in the Moroccan conference for the sake of peace Tuesday, and as a direct consequence the congress of nations virtually is at an end. The delegates, including those of France and Germany, are in complete accord. The police and bank questions have been solved. All that remains is formal ratification by the governments involved of Ambassador White's plan, of which there is believed to be no doubt, and the arranging of unimportant details.

Ambassador White and the others of the American delegation were showered with compliments for what is regarded as their sagacious intervention. Austria's police proposal of Monday left the German and French delegates still occupying totally opposed standpoints relative to the police inspection.

Details of American Plan. Mr. White and his colleagues drew up a fresh scheme, laying down the proposition that the inspector shall report simultaneously to both the sultan and the diplomatic corps at Tangier, the latter baving authority to order inquiries into the working of the Franco-Spanish police scheme, thus guaranteeing the carrying out of the decision of the conference and safeguarding foreign interests and commercial transactions. Before presenting this plan to the committee, Mr. White approached the principal delegates, who agreed as to the practicability of the idea, and consented to submit the scheme to their respective governments, whose concurience they consider to be virtually

France gains material advantages in both the police and bank questions. All the eight harbors are to be policed by French and Spanish officers. The decision in the bank question by the committee which considered the problem Monday was that France shall receive three shares instead of five, but retains control of the customs, which Germany had been desirous of wresting from her. Germany, on her side, gave up her claim to a second share,

Time to Settle Up. It is possible the delegates will remain in Algeciras a week more settling up small and necessary details, drawing up the agreement, discussing the repartition of the ports and the partition of the bank interests, and finally drawing up the document which will inform the Sultan what has been done collectively and pressing upon him the findings of the conference.

As a result of the conference the claims of France regarding the police and ber preponderance in the bank have been recognized by the mafority of the powers. But there is not the slightest disposition among the French delegates for any trumpet blowing by the French press.

On the contrary, they much prefer to let the thing stand on its own merits. They have asked the French correspondents to observe modesty of language and avoid hurting German sentiments in every way possible.

Later Ambassador White said: "Everything is satisfactory. Knowing that a solution was necessary to both France and Germany, I brought the adversaries together and compelled them to explain their differences. I rejoice that a representative of the United States was enabled to assist in the attainment of a settlement of the controversy."

St. Louis, Mo., dispatch: Attorney General H. S. Hadley, accompanied by his assistants, Rush C. Lake and Frank Hagerman, counsel for the Waters-Pierce Oil company, arrived Wednesday night from New York and left later for Jefferson City. Attorney General Hadley expressed his pleasure over the results of the New York oil inquiry and said he will rest until April 5, when he will return to St. Louis to resume the oil hearing, when be expects to hear the testimony of H. ## BURNING GAS WELL IS DEFIANT

Sixth Effort to Smother Kansas Fire

Is Unsuccessful. Caney, Kan., dispatch: The burning gas well Wednesday defeated a sixth attempt to smother the flames. Tuesday an eight-inch pipe was lowered into the well and the flame confined to the upper end of the pipe. A bood was placed about the mouth of the well and around the pipe and then an effort was made to close a valve in the top of the pipe. As this valve was closed gas burst through the hood below and soon the well was a mass of flame again. The bood was removed and the well is burning as flercely as ever.

STANDARD OIL PROBE ENDS IN NEW YORK CITY

Case Will Be Presented to Missourl Supreme Court After H. Clay Pierce Is Examined.

New York dispatch: The Standard Off inquiry in the actions begun by Attorney General Hadley to put the trust out of business in Missouri was concluded in this state Tuesday. At the conclusion of the morning session at 67 Wall street Mr. Hadley announced to Commissioner Sanborn, who has been taking testimony here under the order of the supreme court of this state, that he would examine no more witnesses in this city.

Mr. Hadley left for St. Louis, where he will take the testimony of H. Clay Pierce, president of the Waters-Pierce company, and one or two other witnesses. The entire testimony then will be submitted to the supreme court of Missouri and upon it Mr. Hadley expects to get a decision revoking the licenses of the Standard Oil company of Indiana and the Republic Oil company of New York and nullifying the charter of the Waters-Pierce company, which is a Missouri corporation.

These three companies, it seems, although ostensibly independent competing concerns, really were controlled and directed by the Standard oil trust from 26 Broadway. Instead of competing they divided Missouri up into trade territories and the prices at which they sold were fixed by the parent trust in defiance of the antitrust laws of the state.

WOULD JOIN UNITED STATES

Pelee Island People Spring Annexation Question in Canadian House.

Ottawa, Ont., dispatch: The fact that the people living on Pelee Island are clamoring for annexation to the United States was brought out in the house Tuesday when Mr. Clarke of Essex county made a strong plea for an amendment of the coasting laws which will permit United States vessels to call at the island. No Canadian boats touch there now and the people are in a rebellious mood because of the treatment they have been recelving. Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated that the coasting laws could not be changed at this time just when Canada was asking the United States for reciprocity in matters affecting coastwise shipping.

NEWTON'S FIRST LAW REVISED.

Statement Would Have Astonished the Philosopher.

During my course in physics at the Portsmouth high school the class came to the analysis of Newton's laws of motion, so one Monday morning one of the boys did not have any of his physics lessons learned, but he succeeded in answering the question put to him by the physics teacher, and escaped being marked zero.

Collector of Customs Sherman T. Newton of Portsmouth, N. H., conducts a wholesale fish establishment, and for a motto, which is printed on his bill-heads and envelopes, and also upon his fish wagons, uses "Live and let live. Let 'em come." This Monday morning my friend who did not know his physics lesson was called upon to state Newton's first law of motion. He made up his mind very hastily to answer the teacher's question, and, jumping out of his seat, replied: "Why, Newton's first law of motion is 'Live and let live. Let 'em come." The answer caused a good deal of merriment in the class, but did not please the "crabbid" teacher. -Boston Herald.

German Ranks Third.

Altogether German is nowadays spoken by about 75,000,000 people. German thus ranks third in number among the four leading languages of Europe, the first being English, the cond Russian and the fourth French. These figures do not include the Dutch language. For although Dutch, from a linguistic point of view, represents the low German branch of the dialect, it has developed a literary language of its own.

"During the last 2 or 3 years I became subject to what the doctor called 'coffee jags' and felt like I have heard men say they feel who have drank too much rum. It nausented me, and I felt as though there was nothing but coffee flowing through my veins.

"Coffee agreed well enough for a time, but for a number of years I have known that it was doing me great harm, but, like the rum toper, I thought I could not get along without it. It made me nervous, disordered my digestion, destroyed my sleep and brought on frequent and very distressing headaches.

Finally I prepared some myself, at home, following the directions carefully, and found it delicious. I persevered in its use, quitting the old coffee entirely, and feeling better and better each day, till I found at last, to my great joy, that my allments had all disappeared and my longing for coffee had come to an end.

She made no reply, but, as he stole a side glance at her, while she stood watching the greedy flames completing their work, he could see that she was not displeased.

Then they walked on.

Several times he allowed her to precede him, and on these occasions noted with considerable interest her proud carriage, for Mollie held her head like a queen.

"Come," John was saying to himself after the manner of a spoiled bachelor, "perhaps that marriage of convenience may not turn out such a bad thing for me after all. She is handsome, I must confess. I like her spirit, too, though when she says she hates me I remember that a woman often says something of that sort to cover up another feeling of growing interest. Well, since fate chooses to buffet me about after the manner of a football, I must submit to the inevitable. One thing sure-I won't give up my wife tamely, now."

They came in sight of her home. She showed some confusion, perhaps at the prospect of her father's frown, but said nothing. The federals were already in charge, thanks to the shrewd plan which the squire had manipulated-it was their duty to protect a place belonging to the wife of a Union soldier.

These guards consisted of a detachment belonging to John's own thing more than accident in this. The leaving every rough mountain pass him. Fate, assisted of course, by his Not a word was spoken until they own efforts, had made him the custodian of his wife's property. Surely, no Federal officer was ever placed in a position so singular.

The strangest thing of all lay in the fact that his wife openly professed a feeling of keenest hatred for him, as she did toward everything apportaining to the Northern army.

Her heart was thoroughly wrapped up in the Southern cause, and had Mollie been given her own way Lyndhurst would long ere this have been stripped of its beauties, and almost dismantled in order to equip the Confederate soldiers with necessities.

Squire Granger was made of less ardent material and while devoted to the cause, knew enough to think of the future.

Under the protection of these troopers Lyndhurat was safe, for while there must inevitably be a certain amount of looting in spite of the strict orders given, the torch of the plunderer dared not approach a house that was especially gnarded.

The Georgia squire chuckled under cover of his sleeve at the successful outcome of his little plot.

Every time he looked toward Colonel John he frowned, however.

The story of the Federal's identity had been made known to him, since Major Worden and Crockett Ridgeway, after losing their prisoner, had seen fit to visit the squire before taking a hasty departure in order to escape capture by the advancing Fed-

The more he studied John's face the deeper grew the conviction that while his shrewd plan for saving Lyndhurst would probably work to a satisfactory point, he could not shake off the husband with whom he had provided his child, as easily as he had expected.

Leaving orders with a subordinate Colonel John rode into the city.

"Pardon me, I am not without hope," said the Federal colonel gravely, and somehow her cheeks turned scarlet under his well-bred but ardent gaze.

John, knowing he had the best of it, kept his temper well in hand, and managed to explain the matter satisfactorily, saying little of the recent adventure.

The house was on a knoll, and from the veranda a view of at least a portion of Atlanta could be had,

What they saw was a sight to arouse the enthusiasm of one, and appall the other. Federal troops Ridge to the gates of Atlanta. were marching into the Gate City in solid files. Music thrilled the air, the strange harmony of piercing fifes and rolling drums.

It was a sad day for the Confederacy when this gateway of fair Georgia fell into the bands of the victorious boys in blue.

Colonel John did not forget his duties as a soldier. It was a peculiar condition of affairs that confronted gard, and able to secure especial either side, would have to rest and recuperate in the latter city before starting upon the march through Georgia to the sea, a during scheme already far advanced in the mind of Sherman.

The day was well on toward the close when Colonel John rode out in the direction of Lyndhurst again.

When challenged by a guard he gave the countersign and continued on.

The sun was just sinking behind the rugged horizon when our soldier found bimself on the confines of Lyndhurst.

Already the fires of the troopers could be seen among the trees, and a sentry slopped him with the usual demand, though perfectly aware that the advancing rider was his own colonel.

It was customary under the conditions that prevailed here, for the people of the house to offer their hospitality to the officers in command of the detachment sent to guard their property.

The squire, though he hated the Federals with all the fervor of a true Georgian, smothered these feelings, it would seem, and provided a meal, which Colonel John and three of his officers were coldly invited to grace with their presence.

It was with the hope of seeing Mol-He that the colonel accepted the invitation.

Squire Granger Joined them, though with only half concealed displeasure. Perhaps he fancted he should have to hear many rude remarks about the declining star of the Confederacy.

Listening, the squire was actually carried out of his ill-humor. Perhaps the wine mellowed his feerings in some respect, for he had produced some from a secret cellar and treated his guests.

FARM, ORCHARD& GARDEN

FAMILY STRAWBERRY BED.

I set out a small strawberry bed in 1902 which has continually improved both in fruit and plants each succeed ing year under my system of cultivation. I keep the soil well enriched and free from weeds. As soon as I finish picking the fruit I immediately mow the vines closely and rake them, making the whole surface of bed fine and clean. I then mark the bed crosswise of last year's rows, leaving the row strips about eight inches wide. I then thoroughly but carefully hand cultivate between these row strips, so as to injure the roots of the plants in these strips. In a few days the strongest and best plants will be up and running. I leave enough of the strongest plants to run and cover about one-half to two-thirds of the bed. I then carefully hoe out the plants not needed and keep the soil clean and fine about these running plants. When the runners have covered the amount of space wanted, I then cut off all runners as they appear, keeping the open spaces well hoed. If needed I apply a dressing of good, fine manure before mulching bed for winter. I set all perfect flowering kinds. I have had good success with Jessie, Brandywine, Clyde, Gandy and Parker Earle.

During the busy, hard working season which is close at hand, the horse should have the best of care in every way. We know that there will be many horses that will not get it, but will be pushed as hard as the owner can, without taking any thought of them. The horse is not a piece of machinery which will go as long as pushed, as it seems some people think. The horse needs the best of care and should be worked with common sense. If the owner had any common sense the horse will do enough for him.

THE PROLIFIC STRAWBERRY BED.

One of the most severe disappointments a fruit grower can undergo is to have a bed of strawberries as white as snow with promising bloom and an almost barren yield of berries. Such beds in common parlance are said to have "run ont." The real reason is far different. In the first place, strawberry blooms are fertile (or pistilate and barren or staminate). If a bed is planted to all of either kind, it will be barren of fruit. All fertile blooms will not more bear fruit than all barren plants. To be prolific, strawberry beds must be set about seven to one. Some experts say ten to one. This is, every seven or ten plants must be fertile or pistilate. The most successful strawberry culturists keep a small bed set entirely with fertile plants, so that renewals can be made, at the season of resetting plants. These resettings, or renewals are necessary every year from the fact that the barren plants are the hardiest and freest of growth. They make more runners, and will crowd out the fertile plants. Prevention is by cutting off the runners of the aggressive barren plunts

We must not forget that millet is a warm weather plant and if planted too early, is apt to be set back by cold spells or rains for the entire season. If sown at all early, it should not be put in very deep, nor should any seed for that matter, that is put into the ground on the early side. We have planted potatoes so deep and early that they were injured for the entire season by the set-back,

WALK OF DRAFT HORSES.

Heavy draft horses should be educated to a fast walk. It is not so exbausting or so hard on the feet, the first part of the anatomy of a heavy horse to show fast work." A draft horse will perform more work, keep in better condition and last much longer to labor at a walk. A prompt, vigorous walk will soon be acquired and maintained by a heavy horse if he is not urged into a trot on every smooth stretch of road he passes over. A slow walk will soon be acquired by a horse that is urged into a trot at ever level stretch of the road, the amphithearres, and on the day when habit being involuntarily acquired by the animal to recuperate from the exhaustive effort of speed. Prompt, energetic action at the walk by a draft horse will accomplish more work than the combined walk and trot animal, A person can easily prove that it is less fatiguing to walk at a uniform gait for five miles than to run onesome exciting races, both flat and balf of the distance and walk at a new combinations of the old; better slow gait the other half of the journey.

HORSE SENSE.

There is no good reason why mares should not be made to serve the dual "Mr. Spoonall, have I ever given purpose-work on the farm and raise you reason to think I looked upon you colts. Under proper management they should give as good satisfaction "No. Miss Gumwell, you never have In the harness as the horse gives, and -not since you looked me up in Brad- the colts which may be raised nearly every year until the marcs are along In the 'teens represent clear profit, Humility is good when it stimm. In buying horses for farm work buy lates, it is had when it paralyzes the mares-good ones of weight, depth, he had mapped out a line of policy, active powers of a man.-Emerson width and constitution.

CULTIVATING ORCHARDS.

There is no longer any question about the necessity of cultivating an orchard. There is a general belief, however, that it is better when set in some kind of grass, and the less that is disturbed the better it will be for the trees. It is true that grass looks nice in an orchard; much better than weeds, and yet there are orchardists that would prefer a good growth of weeds to a stiff sod in a bearing orchard. Experience everywhere teaches that an orchard will live longer, bear better and will be more prollfic by being well cultivated and enriched. Many of the experiment stations have tried both methods side by side, and they have collected opinions from the best fruit growers in their sections and the verdict in almost every case is that cultivation is necessary for healthy trees and first-class fruit.

Of the principal orchardists of one of the central states, 130 of them out of 272 advocate cultivation until bearing time, and 130 more urge continnous cultivation as long as it is possible to enter between the rows with horse and implement. As is well known, bare soil will soon lose its humus and become infertile, hence it is necessary to meet this in some manner. The orchard should be plowed in the early spring and cultivated during the growing season to keep down the growth of weeds and after that let all grow that will. This can be largely aided if rye is sown in the orchard at the last cultivation, It will cover the ground before winter. In the spring when the rye is about ten inches high it can be plowed under again and cultivation kept up during the summer. Deep cultivation is not essential or advisable, but the cultivation should be frequent. If possible it would be well to go over the orchard with a cultivator after every rain. By cultivation in the proper way and at the right time the soil is kept supplied with a sufficient amount of organic matter, a covering is provided for the ground in winter which catches the snow, and gives a clean appearance during the summer. It is doubtful whether it pays to crop the orchard. It pays in one way to have crops to gather out of the orchard, but fertility is removed that should be retained for the use of the

AGRICULTURAL ODE.

Bryant's poem is as good, as true, as enjoyable as ever,

"The proof throne shall crumble,
 The diadem shall wane.
 The tribes of the earth shall humble
 The pride of those who reign;
 And war shall lay his pomp away.
 The fame that heroes cherish.
 The glory carned in deadly spray
 Shall fade, docay, and perish.
 Honor waits, o'er all the earth.
 Through endless generations,
 The art that calls her harvest forth,
 And feeds th' expectant nations."

SPRAYING FOR GRAPE ROT.

The Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station has made a series of exhaustive experiments with spraying for grape rot, especially with regard to its relation to the public health. In the bulletin just issued full details of the operations are given, with descriptions of the sprayer used, and the composition and amount of the spraying mixture used; also the cost per acre. The commercial outcome of the experiment showed large profits on the grape crop sprayed over the unsprayed portion. Both in quantity of yield and improved quality with consequently better price, was the spraying a success, and the teaching of the experiments was when spray ing operations are thorough its results are very encouraging. Notwithstanding the fact that some varieties of grapes-such as Niagara, Catawbs and sometimes the Concords-are not always so successfully treated as are other sorts. In its bearing upon the public health, these experiments have demonstrated that the public need have no misgivings in their use of sprayed grapes, either for use at dessert or for jelly-making, and in no case have any ill effects been experienced from the use of grapes sprayed with the fungicides used in the exper-

PLANT A NEW ORCHARD.

In most cases, however, the new orchard must take the place of the old methods of planting heading or pruning; a greater use of cover crops to keep the soil in good tilth; more vigilant and intelligent care in cultivation to start the roots rightly; and spraying from first to last to keep out insects and fungi.

Trees fill one with gladness, the orchard gives a charm to are likely to be very small and imthe home and farm and keeps a man there.

SIZE OF FLOCK.

The question of keeping many fowls together is one that has been frequently considered. It has been assumed and believed that chickens did better in small flocks than in large ones. We are very uncertain that this is true, with the one exception of health. Were it not for the contagious diseases we believe that chickens could be made to do well in large flocks. Unfortunately when many hens are together it makes way for the spread of contagious diseases. If one started with clean pens and bred all of their own stock, using incubators, and having their flock so far from neighbors that the disease germs would not cross the intervening pens it might be possible to have immense flocks. The more would this be possible if the fowls had the range of a whole farm, as they would not in that ease be so likely to crowd together and infect one another did a contagious disease appear. But most people that raise chickens are not situated so that they can have these conditions. Small flocks of not more than fifty should be the rule. A hundred may possibly be kept, but it will require great diligence and watchfulness to make that number a success. When a disease breaks out in a flock, the sick fowls should be killed unless it be merely a case of indigestion. Then the other fowls should be taken from the pens and the latter cleaned and purified.

In nearly all cases, if the full number of stock are kept that the pasture can carry during the best part of the growing season, it will be necessary to grow some crop that can be cut off and fed during the hot, dry weather we usually have in August. By having a crop of this kind the stock may readily be kept in a good, thrifty condition, should the pasturage get short.

QUESTIONS ABOUT POP CORN.

How much pop corn ought I plant to the acre? Mention a good kind to plant. Will all pop corn pop the same year it is grown? Ought the soil to be as rich or richer than for field be as or richer than for field corn? Pop corn is one of those special crops grown by small farmers of the East in small patches, generally for home use or for local markets. Like many other special crops the profit depends largely upon the quality of the product the markets and the ability of the grower to produce the greatest amount of salable ears of the desired variety. The most popular variety is White Rice. Any good corn land will grow pop corn provided the season is long enough. Plant in check rows, same distance as other corn; four to five kernels in a hill has given good satisfaction. The larger and the nearer square the area planted, the larger proportion of perfeet ears will be produced, the same will apply to other corn, provided cultivation has been thorough. Pop corn readily mixes with other varieties of field corn; therefore should be planted where the influence of the polien from other varieties of corn cannot be readily transmitted by the winds. Cross-fertilization is often the cause for corn not popping. Ears should be left standing on stalk until thoroughly ripe, and never allowed to sweat in the shock. Much pop corn is rained by harrying the curing, and consequently we find it will not pop, and lay the blame to the seed. Pop corn that is fully matured and allowed to dry on the stalks before being gathered, and then kept in a dry place will pop the year it is grown. As regards the amount of seed would say 21/2 to 31/2 quarts per acre is enough.

The young horses that are to be used in harness for the first time should be handled very gently and loaded very lightly until they become somewhat used to work and the muscles become hurdened so as to be able to withstand the strain of heavy pulling. Many young borses are injured by being crowded into heavy work too suddenly, and not gradually seasoned to heavy usage as they should

TUBEROSES.

I think that one cause of fallure with this plant lies in the fact that it is put into the ground too early in the season. Unlike many other bulbs, the tuberose likes a great deal of warmth, and it should not be put into the ground until warm weather has come to stay. The last of May is not too late. An objection of this late planting lies in the fact that the tuberose is of slow growth, and the flower is apt to develop just in time for it to There are other possibilities than fall a victim to Jack Frost. To avoid all this, it is best to start the bulbs in pots in the house or greenhouse. This can be done in March or April. The tuberose likes a good rich soil, and plenty of moisture is required to secure perfect bloom. The flowers perfect if the soil is not kept quite moist.

A Personal Word.

The Citizen has commended it self to me as a good type of what a weekly newspaper in a small community should be, and Culver, a town where the people are prosperous and peaceable. There are no which disturb the neighborly relations of the inhabitants, and it will be the aim of the Citizen to perpetnate this desirable condition to be non-partisan; there is no room in a small town for an organ of any party. The politics of the new editor are republican and personally he will exercise his political duties and privileges with that party; but the Citizen will not be used to build up his own party nor tear down the party of any other man. The purpose and best endeavors of the paper will be to advance the interests of the community as a whole. It will keep in mind the fact that the development of Culver is to be accomplished by advocating everything which tends to the social, intellectual and moral life of the people. If the Citizen contributes in some degree to this end it will feel that it has found its mission. The business men of the town will materially assist the paper in its work for Culver by recognizing it as a medium through which to reach a large, intelligent and well to do class of people. They have done this in the past and it is taken for granted that they will continue to do so.

Effect of No Saloons.

For the encouragement of those signed the saloon remonstrance with misgivings as to the effect it would have on the busi ness of the town the Citizen gives the statement of an Akron, O., man who was here recently. He is the owner of a saloon building in Akron and derives an income of $50 a month from it. He was speaking, however, of Ashland, O., a place of 7,000 population. He said: "Over a year ago the people voted out the seventeen saloons, but many were fearful that the business of the town would be injured. The facts are that every one of the seventeen buildings is occupied by a prosperous business and four more business houses have been erected. One meat dealer has increased his sales $15,000. A Y. M. C. A. building is to be erected, and the $30,000 for it has been subscribed.'

CLIP YOUR HORSES NOW.

Experts Claim Horses Clipped in Early Spring are Healthier.

Horse owners in the cities are watching the weather now-a-days and wondering how long it will be before they may clip their nags without fear of their catching cold. The clipping of a horse in early spring is now conceded by all the leading veterinarians to be as essential to his well being as shoeing him or giving him a comfortable bed to lie on. A clipped horse dries out rapidly after a hard day's work and will rest comfortably and be refreshed for the next day's work. An unclipped horse is liable to catch the heaves, factions or disagreements here pneumonia and all sorts of colds, etc., because the moisture from perspiration is held by the long hair and chills the body. A man would not expect to enjoy very of affairs. The paper will continue good health if he did hard manual work clothed in heavy underwear, a heavy suit and a fur over coat, and after perspiring freely, as he naturally would, go to sleep without removing them. It is just as ridiculous to expect a horse to be in perfect health if worked under the same conditions. If you would get the best returns from your investment in your horse, treat him right and be sure to clip him in the early spring.

Canada Not Slow.

Uncle Sam is a big fellow. He trades all over the world and rejoices in setting down great columns of figures, showing how wonderfully his trade is expanding. And he takes a patronizing interest in Mexico and Canada and all the rest of the countries on this side of the Atlantic. He likes to see the whole Western hemisphere move forward unfalteringly in the path of progress. E. E. PARKER, But he wants to be in front himself. That is a very justifiable ambition, but Miss Canada can twist some figures into a very fair comparative showing. For instance, her total exports for the year ended June 30 amounted to $37 for every man, woman and child in Canada, while Uncle Sam's per capita was only $18; and her total trade was $81 per capita while Uncle Sam's was only $31. Of course, the five and three-quarter million of our Canadian cousins have a wider field to cover in proportion to population, but the figures indicate something of the competition we may expect when DR. H. A. DEEDS, the British American territory is fifty years older.

An analysis of the figures should certainly cause gratification in the northern provinces, For instance, Canada's total foreign trade, export and import, for the year, aggregated $167,637, 049, almost $44,000,000 more than the previous year. Of this the export of animals and animal products and farm produce was: $114,441,863, compared to $96,313,-897 for the previous year, an increase of $18,127,966. The great forestry industry resulted in the export of $36,386,015 in value, an increase of about 10 per cent, while in manufacturing, Canada, though backward, is beginning to forge ahead, the exports of manufactured articles aggregating $20,-624,965, an increase of $2,161,995.

It was as though the dainty flower had kept something back from summer's passionate woolng, and were now opening her heart in all its purity to her departing lover; it was like a farewell kiss; it was like a sacred memory.

An old man, in whose dark, quiet eye was a shade of kindly melancholy, came slowly up the street, casting a glance from time to time about the old-fashioned houses as though in search of familiar signs. When he reached the crumbling pillar at the end of the old wall be paused and breathed deeply the rare perfume of the fading flower about him, all the while with his staff planted firmly on the flagstone. If the scene awakened pleasant memories, they were not untouched by sadness, for the lines in his face softened, and he sighed deeply. A little girl, scarce taller than his walking stick, and as dainty as the flower itself, was standing by the wall, plucking a withered blossom now and then and tossing it aside, as she listened to the words of her playmate. "But, Maisle," he protested, "you

The little chap's face was of serious mould, with a heavy brown lock of hair hanging over his forehead, and he made a quaint figure in his short jacket and blue trousers reaching just to the tops of his stout buckle-shoes. He said no more, but thrust his bands into his pockets and turned slowly to the house. When he had gone, the girl returned to the wall, singing lightly.

"Maisic," called the old man. She came quickly toward him and gat down on the stone beach by his side, how did you know my name?"

she asked. "Malsie's a pretty name," he said. "My grandma's name was Malsie. How did you know?"

"I heard the boy say it." "The boy's name's Tom-Tom Midgley Manning. What's your time. Then he asked: "Do you know what's the greatest thing in the world, little girl?"

"What Is?"

"Happiness."

"I'm happy," she said.

"But I'm afraid Tom's not-Tom Midgley."

Just then a little figure appeared from behind an old apple tree. It was Tom, and he looked wistfully at the little girl on the stone bench. "Go away, bad boy," she called.

"Why do you send him away?" "O, he won't go," she replied with confidence.

Former Cabinet Member Points Defects From His View of Bill.

LAW IS AGAINST THE MEASURE

Declares That Bill Drawn Upon the Theory That Commission's Orders Would Be Final Would Not Pass Muster in Courts.

Washington dispatch: "It is obvious that a law conferring the tremendous power which it is proposed by all the bills under consideration to confer upon the interstate commerce commission, to substitute one rate or practice for another, must be drawn upon one of two theories: Upon the theory that the order of the commission shall be final and not reviewable by the courts, or upon the theory that it shall be reviewable by the courts. I have no hesitation in saying that a bill drawn upon the theory that the orders of the commission shall be final and unassailable in the courts would be unconstitutional."

This argument by Senator Knox summed up his position toward rallway rate legislation as shown in his speech in the senate Wednesday, during which he made a luminous presentation of the court review side of the controversy. It was the first speech of any pretension which the former attorney general has made since entering the senate, and when he finished he met a cordial reception from those senators holding his view.

Review is Necessary. The fact is, Senator Knox declared, that the friends of the bill as it now stands claim, not that it does not contemplate a review, but that the bill either sufficiently provides for a review. or recognizes a right claimed to exist independently of the bill. On the other hand, while not differing from them in the object sought to be accomplished, he claimed that the bill does not effectively provide for a review, and that it is essential in view of its others provisions that such a right should be distinctly given in the bill.

But for the seriousness of the situation the matter would be most ludicrous, he said. Both sides agreed that the right should exist; one held that it is in the bill, or exists independently; the other that it is not in the bill, but should be, and yet the former, for some mysterious and anaccountable reason which Mr. Knox said he could not understand, objects to an amendment which would place the matter beyond doubt.

The senator declared his bill comfor which congress is seeking a measure yet brought to the attention are much cheaper. of congress. In elaborating on the fifth section of his bill, which provides for a review by the courts of orders of the commission, Mr. Knox said that the omission of such a feature from the house bill constitutes the main difference between the two measures.

Insists on Cash Deposit. Mr. Knox advocated a provision "against the suspension of the commission's orders by interlocutory decrees without requiring a cash deposit or a bond to secure to the parties entitled to repayment the difference between the commission's rate and the railroad rate if the commission's rate were sustained."

Warm praise was bestowed upon the men who prepared the pending bill, but he said he was sincerely convinced that as it now slands, "it utterly fails to accomplish their beneficent purposes, and, indeed, wholly defeats them." He relterated that he regards the bill unconstitutional and gave the following reasons:

1. It does not provide any method for challenging the unlawfulness of the orders of the commission in a direct proceeding against the commisslon.

2. It prohibits parties affected and aggrieved by the commission's orders from defending proceedings to enforce them upon the ground of their unlaw-

3. It so heavily penalizes the disobedience of the commission's orders as to make any attempt to secure a judicial hearing in any form of proceeding impracticable.

Commenting on statements of Representative Hepburn and Senators Dolliver and Clapp that the right of review exists under the pending measure, Mr. Knox said that in several cases the commission is given the right to sue, but in no instance is there specific authority for suit against the commission, and he asked: "How can a commission, administering a law of congress, be sued without the consent of congress?" Pipe Lines Are Included.

Senator Lodge offered an amend ment to the rate bill, making it apply to pipe lines for the transportation of oil. Senator Daniel introduced another amendment, making railroads liable for damages to employes resulting from negligence or mismanagement or insufficient railroad equipment on the part of the rallroad. It provides that contributory negligence on the part of the employe shall not be a bar to the recovery of damages when such negligence is slight compared with that of the employer; that no contract for in surance, relief or indemnity of any kind that may have been entered inibetween employe and employer shall be a bar to an action on the part of the former or his heirs to recover damages for injuries or death.

King Personally Saw that His Toast Was Properly Observed.

A story was told in the San Francisco Argonaut by the late Admiral Murray about the much lamented King Christian of Denmark. A small fleet of American ships visited Copenhagen, and the king invited the principal officers to dinner.

"From my seat at dinner," related Admiral Murray, "I looked out on the pleasant lawn where the band was stationed. After the principal hualness of the dinner was over, at the invitation of King Christlan the glasses were filled, and, all the table being at attention, his majesty gross and, with due formality, proposed The President of the United States."

"Glasses were raised but the king paused, glared over his shoulder, and abruptly left the dining hall. The guests upon invication of an aid, seated themselves, "In a few minutes I saw the bandmaster come burriedly into sight, followed by the king, who kicked him across my field of view.

"Shortly after the king returned to the dining hall, took his place at the head of the table, and, the guests having risen, again proposed "The President of the United States.' As he raised his glass the band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner." With a satisfied smile his majesty emptied bis glass."

FRANCHISES REVERT TO CITY OF PHILADELPHIA

Rights to Construct Roads Are Surrendered by Corporation in Order to Retain Subway Privileges.

Philadelphia, Pa., dispatch: Mayor Weaver Wednesday signed the ordinance granting the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company an extension of three years for the completion of its Market street subway. In consideration for this extension the railway company filed with the secretary of the commonwealth at Harrisburg and with the city solicitor of Philadelphia a full surrender of all other franchises the corporation acquired several years ago with the exception of those for the Broad street subway and for the elevated railroad to the northeastern section of the city. The company also agrees to pay to the city $400,000 to he applied to the cost of removing railroad grade crossings.

In 1901 a number of newly organized street railway companies obtained without the city receiving anything therefore franchises for the building of underground, surface and elevated railways on many streets leading to all parts of the city and suburbs, Two years later these companies were merged with the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company, but work on the proposed lines, with the exception of the Market street subway, was never begun. The time for the completion of the Market street subway was limited to three years, the ordinance of councils providing that if the company falled to complete the work in that time the franchises would be forfell-

The time limit expires June 1 and as the subway is only half finished the railway company asked for an extension of time. The request met with much opposition from many commercial and other organizations and this resulted in the company agreeing to surrender many franchises and to pay a portion of the cost for the removal of grade crossings.

A CURE FOR DEBILITY

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills A Reliable Remedy for the Weak, Alling and Bloodless.

When the body is weak and the blood big it is sometimes difficult to find the muse unless a wasting illness has prereded, or the sufferer happens to be a girl on the verge of w manbood. Obscure influences, something unhealthful in one's surroundings or work, may lend to a slow impoverishment of the blood and an enfeeblement of the whole body. When a serious stage has been reached there seems to be nothing that will account for it.

Mr. C. E. Legg, of Tipton, W. Va., has found a successful method of treating weakness and bloodlessness. He 30 YS :

"I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for weakness caused by a lingering malarial fever that began in the spring of 1896. The worst effects of this were indigestion and a bad state of my blood. I was amende, as the doctors say. People generally would say that I didn't have blood enough, or that I didn't have the right kind of blood; mine was too thin. My kidneys and liver were out of order. I was badly annoyed by sour risings from my stomach. There was a good deal of pain, too, in my back and under my right shoulder blade." "How long did these troubles last?"

"For over two years. For four months of that time I was nuder the care of a physician, but his medicine did me no good. Meanwhile I learned of the cures that had been wrought by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

"You owe your cure to these pills?"
"I certainly do, and I also know that they are helping others to whom I have recommended them. They have real merit and I know of nothing that would take their place.

A photographer came along and said to Mr. Beecher, who was sitting on the piazza: "I understand that your sisters are with you, and I would like to take a family group,"

Mr. Beecher turned to Mrs. Beecher and said: "My dear, get the girls down, as this man wishes to take our pictures."

His wife replied: "I cannot disturb your sisters now, as they are engaged in their morning devotions."

SPLENDID OUTLOOK FOR LUCY.

Lover Had Bright Idea in Seeking Her Hand in Marriage.

When a boy, some sixty years ago, I lived in Windham, Conn. There was a queer character there named Daniel Kingsley, a cooper, renowned for his odd speeches, and the delight of the boys, for he was always ready to go hunting and fishing with them,

When a young man he fell in love with one Lucy Smith, and, as was the custom in those days, he went to ask consent of her father. "Josiah," he said, "I've been thinking I want to get married, and I have come to ask you if I can have Lucy."

The old man said: "Why, Daniel. what do you want of a wife? You can't support yourself."

Kingsley replied: "Well, I can almost, and it's a pity if Lucy can't help a little."

They were finally married and lived together many years, but it was always up-hill work to get a living.

After Daniel's death his wife had a small legacy left her, and some of her neighbors proposed she should get a gravestone for Daniel. She thought a few moments and then said: "I guess when the Lord wants Daniel he can find him without a guide board." -Boston Herald.

Good Work in Beautifying Town.

In 1853 a woman in Stockbridge, Mass., founded the first village improvement society in America. Stockbridge was only a shabby little town then, with a muddy road through it, a cemetery full of weeds, and a bare common, unshaded and trodden. In a single year the place was transformed. Four hundred trees were planted, the road rebuilt, the village made clean and attractive. The history of this place is not unique. Wonders, miracles even, have been wrought in out-of-the-way spots. In one of the most hopeless towns in Georgia, a society was formed which began by planting a double row of trees along its central roadway.

This is now a handsome boulevard. The street is curbed with granite, grass has been made to grow and shrubs have been set out everywhere. Rural parks, churches draped with vines, and house yards vying with one another in beauty all make the place an Eden. With this town as an obtect lesson no one need despair of even the most forlorn little village,-Boston Transcript.

A frank public discussion of the subject is quite agreeable to us and can certainly do no harm; on the contrary when all the facts on both sides of any question are spread before the people they can thereupon decide and act in-

Give the people plain facts and they will take care of themselves.

We demand facts in this coffee discussion and propose to see that the facts are brought clearly before the people.

A number of coffee importers and roasters have joined a movement to boom coffee and stop the use of Postum Food Coffee and in their newspaper statements undertake to deceive by false assertions. Their first is that coffee is not harm-coffee users. Ask your coffee drinking friends if they keep free from any sort of aches and alls. You will be startled at the percentage and will very naturally seek to place the cause of disorder on something aside from coffee, whether food, inherited tendencies or something else.

Go deever in your search for facts. If your friend admits occasional neuralgia, rheumatism, heart weakness, stomach or bowel trouble, kidney complaint, weak eyes or approaching nervous prostration induce him or her to make the experiment of leaving off coffee for 10 days and using Postum Food Coffee, and observe the result. It will startle you and give your friend something to think of. Of course, if properly educated physician, chemist the person is one of the weak ones | and food expert.

> Nature has a way of destroying a part of the people to make room for the stronger. It is the old law of "the survival of the fittest" at work, and the victims are many.

> We repeat the assertion that coffee does harm many people, not all, but an army large enough to appai the investigator and searcher for facts.

> The next prevarication of the coffee importers and roasters is their statement that Postum Food Coffee is made of roasted peas, beans or corn, and mixed with a low grade of coffee and that it contains no nourishment.

Both Postum and Grape-Nuts are absolutely pure and made exactly as stated.

The formula of Postum and the analysis made by one of the foremost chemists of Boston has been printed on every package for many years and is absolutely accurate,

Now as to the food value of Postum. It contains the parts of the wheat berry which carry the elemental salts, such as lime, Iron, potash, sflica, etc., etc., used by the life forces to rebuild the cellular tissue, and this is particularly true of the phosphate of potash, also found in Graps-Nuts, which combines in the human body with albumen and this combination, together with water, rebuilds the worn-out gray matter in the delicate nerve centers all over the body and throughout the brain and solar plexus. Ordinary coffee stimulates in an unnatural way, but with many people it slowly and surely destroys and does not rebuild this gray substance so vitally important to the well being of every human being. These are eternal facts, proven, well authenticated and known to every

Please remember we never say or dinary coffee hurts everyone. Some people use it regularly and seem strong enough to withstand its attacks, but there is misery and discase in store for the man or woman who persists in its use when nature protests, by heart weakness, stomach and bowel troubles, kidney disease, weak eyes or general nervous prostration. The remedy is obvious. The drug caffeine, contained in all ordinary coffee, must be discontinued absolutely or the disease will continue in spite of any medicine and will grow worse,

It is easy to leave off the old-fashioned coffee by adopting Postum Food Coffee, for in it one finds a pleasing bot breakfast or dinner beverage that has the deep seal brown color, changing to a rich golden brown when good cream is added. When boiled long enough (15 minutes) the flavor is not that of rank Rio coffee but very like the milder, smooth and high-grade Java, but entirely lacking the drug effect of ordinary coffee.

Anyone suffering from disorders set up by coffee drinking (and there is an extensive variety) can absolutely depend upon some measure of relief by quitting coffee and using Postum Food

Coffee. If the disease has not become too strongly rooted, one can with good reason expect it to disappear entirely in a reasonable time after the active cause of the trouble is removed and the cellular tissue has time to naturally rebuild with the elements furnished by Postum and good food.

It's only just plain old common

Governor of Natal Overrides Prime Minister, Who Refused to Obey the Edict from London, and Colonists Are Angry.

London cable: The new liberal ministry, out of a clear political sky Thursday evoked a storm which within twenty-four bours has spread to every part of the empire.

Lord Elgin, secretary of state for the colonies, cabled an order to Natal, South Africa, suspending the execuion of twelve pegroes condemned to be hanged for murder committed during the recent outbreaks.

The prime minister of Natal, C. J. Smyth, defied Lord Elgin's orders and refused to postpone the execution. Therenpon the governor, Sir Henry McCallum, by an arbitrary resort to etters patent, postponed the hangings. The Natal cabinet immediately

The action of Lord Elgin in interfering so peremptorily with the home affairs of a colony has raised a storm of protest in conservative papers, at the clubs, and in political circles. It is denounced as a grave blunder and a violation of constitutional usage, which is fraught with the gravest possibilities of disaster.

Colonists Are Indignant. From the principal centers of South Africa come dispatches recording angry indignation, not of Natal alone, but of all the British colonies, the feeling being comparable to that which would prevail among the whites of the southern states if the national government at Washington, going outside of the constitutional rights, should forbid the execution of negro murderers convicted after due trial.

It is admitted on all sides that the imperial authorities have evoked an admittedly grave and delicate crisis, which will require the most careful handling. Dispatches from the South African colonies show that the colonists are boiling with indignation and calling meetings to protest against a procedure which they regard as being calculated to endanger the safety of the whole white popula-

Cause of the Trouble.

The circumstances leading to the trouble are as follows: A party of police were engaged on Feb. 8 in collecting the native poll tax at Byrne, a town in the Richmond district of Natal. They were ambushed by forty natives, and Police Inspector Hunt was murdered. The natives were arrested and court-martialed. Twelve of them were sentenced to be shot by the court, which was composed of militia officers. The prisoners were legally represented. The sentences were confirmed by the governor and council. The opponents of the execucommitted before murlial law had tions comend that the offense was been proclaimed and that the prisoners therefore ought to have been tried by the civil courts.

Leave Note at Neighbor's House, Telling of Plight of Victim, Who Is Found Dead.

Earlville Ill., dispatch: Mrs. Ellen Fuller, an aged woman who lived alone in the outskirts of Earlville, was found dead in her home Tuesday morning. Her body was found tied to the stair banister, where she had been bound and gagged by roobers. The perpetrators of the deed secured about $1,000 which Mrs. Fuller bad in the house. They made their escape, but bloodhounds and a large force of detectives are after them. It is supposed she died from heart failure caused from excitement brought on by the robbers' attack.

The woman's death was revealed by a note written by the robbers and placed in a glass fruit jar on the gate post of Mrs. Fuller's nearest neighbor. The note read:

"Mrs. Fuller is tied and gagged. Untie her."

Summoning the city marshal, neighbors entered the house and found Mrs. Fuller was dead. Her body was lying on a blanket on the landing of the stairs, her head on a pillow, with another blanket for a covering. She evidently had been dragged from the bed in her nightclothes.
