

PERSONAL POINTERS

Brief Mention of Culverites and Visitors in Town.

PEOPLE WHO COME AND GO

Gathered From Many Sources for Readers of The Citizen.

O. T. Goss was in South Bend on Monday.

Jessie Rogers of Kewanua is here visiting former school friends.

Than Gandy and wife were guests on Sunday of Ralph Bogardus.

Frank Sparks is now working in an automobile house in Indianapolis.

Miss Ada Howard has returned from Chicago where she has spent the past year.

Mrs. S. J. Lenon went to Ft. Wayne last Saturday for a visit of two or three weeks.

Mrs. Dessie Fiddler of North Webster is visiting at the home of Rev. Walmer this week.

Mrs. D. A. Bradley has been quite sick for the past ten days, but is now able to sit up.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bennett of Flora were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Ferrier over Sunday.

Fred Murray is entertaining his sister, Mrs. Joseph Gowens of Bellefontaine, O., and her husband.

Fred Weaver and wife, who have been running the Bradley hotel this season, returned to Chicago Tuesday.

Capt. Lee Hunter, who has been running Capt. Crook's launch all summer, leaves this week for his home in Ora.

J. D. Edwards of Ione, Ore., has returned to Culver after a seven years' absence, and may conclude his stay here.

Mrs. Dell Wills and daughters returned Thursday from a week's visit with her uncle, Sim Johnson, near Butler, and Ralph Decker's near Moore's.

Chloe Houghton, daughter of Thomas Houghton living north of town, left for Terre Haute Monday to take a course in the State Normal school.

Mrs. Eli Spencer went to Indianapolis hospital last Monday for an operation, and word was received Tuesday that it was entirely successful. She expects to be away three weeks.

Jacob Beck, a resident of North Bend township, Starke county, for twenty years, left last Tuesday for Washington state where he has three sons and a daughter, and will make himself a new home there.

Gill Kimmel and family, Alfred Kimmel and wife, Frank Menser and family, Mrs. E. Working and son, David McCreary and Bert Lee visited with David Menser and family Sunday. Peter Doll and family called in the evening.

Clyde and Cecil Zerbe of Argos, Mrs. Ella Black and daughter Verma of Twelve Mile, Misses Julie Cline and Ella Kreigg, Edgar Kline and Clarence Woolley of De-long were Sunday guests of G. L. Wooley and family.

Lucas Burket of Culver, who had been here on a visit to his mother, Mrs. Levi Burket, for a few days, left on Monday for Meyers Falls, Wash., where he will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Val Lillybridge and other relatives. He intends remaining away about two months.—Monterey Sun.

Rev. Mr. Nicely returned from conference on Saturday to preach the funeral sermon of John W. Osborn, but went back to Lebanon in the evening. As Lebanon is in his home county he remained a few days after conference to visit. He was again recalled Wednesday morning to conduct the funeral of Mr. Vogel, an aged resident of Monterey.

THE LAST RITES.

Funeral Services for the Late John W. Osborn of Culver.

A large attendance at the M. E. church on Saturday morning attested the respect of the community for the memory of John W. Osborn, a pioneer resident of this section, and the many offerings of flowers were additional tokens of the affection of relatives and neighbors.

Rev. Mr. Nicely preached a sermon that was comforting to the invalid wife and the children and other family connections. The musical selections were sung by Messrs. C. S. Wiseman and Chester Zechiel and Misses Clara and Sue Shilling, Ethel Smith and Allie Wiseman. Ernest Zechiel accompanied at the organ.

The pallbearers were veterans of the civil war—J. L. Cromley, David Heminger, J. L. Mosher, David Swigart, Martin Heminger and Michael Baker.

The children from abroad who were able to get here were Ephraim G. of Deering, N. Dak.; John E. of Rugby, N. Dak.; and Noel D. of Fort Wayne.

The interment was at North Union cemetery.

Geo. Neapass Jr. of the Shipshewana Sun, was a Culver visitor over Sunday.

OPENING OF SCHOOL.

Attendance Shows a Gratifying Increase Over Last Year.

The attendance is considerably larger this year owing to the consolidation of the Shaw school with the Culver school, and the admission of new pupils from the surrounding country. The enrollment reported Tuesday night was 250 as against 225 last year. Of these, 125 are in the high school. To accommodate this additional number 32 more desks have been placed in three of the departments—15 in the high school, 9 in the first intermediate (Miss Moss' room) and 8 in the primary.

Obituary.
Almiro Dillno, daughter of Stephen and Lavina Dillno, was born in Knox county, Ohio, Oct. 14, 1817, and departed this life Sept. 13, 1906, at the home of Jno. W. Harris, aged 88 years, 11 months and 9 days. Nov. 18, 1835, she was united in marriage to J. W. Harris and to this union was born ten children, five of whom survive her—Alvira J., John W., Richard L. and Alfonso D. In 1850 she became a member of the Old School Baptist church in Miami county, Ind., and in 1858 moved her membership to Galion, Ohio where she remained a member of the Baptist church until death. She leaves to mourn their five children and thirty-five grandchildren.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. F. Rogers Saturday at 2 p. m., in the East Washington church. Interment in Washington cemetery.

Sale of Business Lot.

The corner lot on Main street owned by J. H. Koontz has been bought by Frank Easterday for $700. The purchase does not include Dr. Wiseman's office building. Mr. Easterday says he has no definite plan regarding the improvement of the lot. He secured it as an investment, believing that the price was low and that the property would inevitably advance in value as it is central and has an east front.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Thomas and children, and Misses Couch, Miller and Thomas, of South Bend, and Mr. W. M. Nichols, of Plymouth were Sunday visitors at the home of O. A. Gandy.

Kimonos, long and short from 50c to $1.85 each, at Porter & Co.'s.

THE LAKE COTTAGES

Summer Homes About Maxinkuckee Increase in Number and Value Each Year.

Year by year the summer cottages at the lake grow in numbers, and in the same ratio of increase is noted an improvement in the character of the buildings. Years ago, before people were financially able, or possessed of the disposition to spend a portion of the year away from their city homes, and before the fame of Maxinkuckee had dawned upon the world, a bungalow of humble design and limited conveniences answered the purpose of a summer camp; but with the growth of the lake's midyear population, and the wider attention which the lake received from families of means came the desire for dwellings less primitive and in which a goodly portion of the luxuries of the city home would not be sacrificed.

Thus the number of cottages multiplied until now there are approximately 110 around the lake. Some of these are substantial homes, good enough for the city street, with commodious apartments, handsomely finished interiors, and provided with modern plumbing.

In the enumeration of the most expensive cottages there are about a dozen which those familiar with the situation call readily to mind. These are the Shirk, Vajen, Brownell, Glosbrunner, Edwards, Bates, Ketcham, Coffin, Griffiths and

Hord homes. They are rated as being worth about as follows:

Mrs. M. Shirk of Peru, $5,000 to $6,000.

R. E. Edwards of Indianapolis, $5,000 to $6,000.

C. H. Brownell of Peru, $4,000 to $5,000.

A. M. Glosbrunner of Indianapolis, $4,500.

Mrs. and Miss Ketcham of Indianapolis, $3,000.

C. E. Coffin of Indianapolis, $3,000, besides 15 acres of land.

Hervey Bates of Indianapolis, $2,500, besides 10 acres of land.

Mrs. Griffiths of Indianapolis, two cottages, $2,500 each.

Mrs. Frances Hord of Terre Haute, $2,500.

Some of our readers may know of other cottages which might be properly included in the above class, but the Citizen has not been told of them. If Uncle Daniel McDonald were within reach he would be appealed to as being the best posted man in the country on Lake Maxinkuckee matters, and we shall depend upon him to supplement or amend this article if it is incomplete or inaccurate.

The pioneer building is said to be the present McQuatt, cottage which in former days was known as the Plymouth club house.

The new cottages of 1906 are those of Scott Foss, J. H. Vajen and Mr. Tope.

LAKERS LEAVING.

Summer Visitors Now Bidding Farewell to Lake Life.

Mrs. Joseph Strong is spending the week at Terre Haute.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Brownell have closed their cottage for two weeks.

George Knight of Croydon, England, is visiting his niece, Mrs. C. W. Traut.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Potts will close their cottage and return to Indianapolis.

Mrs. Maud Eddy has closed the Bay View today and returned to Indianapolis.

Mrs. George Anderson, who has been a guest of Mrs. C. W. Trout, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Duenweg have closed their cottage and returned to Terre Haute.

Mrs. S. P. Sherrin has closed Beach Lawn for the summer and returned to Indianapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Curtis have closed Grand View and returned to Carthage, Ohio.

Mrs. W. Parsons, after spending a few days at Terre Haute, returned to the lake Monday.

For sale at a bargain if taken at once—a sail boat. Enquire of W. H. Henderson, Edwards landing.

The Misses Robinson, who have been spending the summer traveling abroad will return to the lake Friday or Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, who have been visiting their cousin, Mrs. C. E. Halbrunner, have returned home to David, Neb.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Murphy of New Castle have been spending the week with Mrs. Murphy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Harwood at the Haws.

Lost—A black leather cigar case, monogram S. A. J. Finder please leave at this office or H. C. Adams' cottage and receive reward. S. A. Johnston.

Frank Vajen, who has been rousting at the lake this summer, will "outen the fire" and whistle to the dogs and pull his freight for Indianapolis Saturday.

A splendid line of ladies' handbags and Peter Pan purses at Porter & Co.'s.

CHURCH NOTES.

Items of News Pertaining to the Local Christian Bodies.

The Reformed congregation will hold their services in the M. E. church until their new house of worship is finished.

John V. Potts, of Bucyrus, O., is here visiting the Reformed church with a view to accepting the pastorate of same.—Plymouth Independent.

The ladies of the Christian church will hold a sale this (Thursday) afternoon at the home of Dr. Parker, the proceeds to apply on the church debt.

Rev. F. B. Walmer will preach at Rutland next Saturday evening, Sunday morning at South Germany, and at Culver on Sunday evening. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend these services.

Rev. N. H. Sheppard announced on Sunday that it was within the probabilities that the Christian denomination would so build up its organization in Maxinkuckee that within the next year a resident pastor who would serve in both Culver and Maxinkuckee might be obtained.

Convention and Dedication.

The Christian church people of Marshall county will have a county meeting and first anniversary of the dedication of their cement stone church at Plymouth, Sunday, Sept. 23, morning, afternoon and evening. State Evangelist T. J. Legg of Indianapolis and president H. B. Brown of the Valparaiso university will speak at each service and in the afternoon the different ministers of this city will take part. Special instrumental and vocal music will be given and a large attendance from Marshall and other counties will be expected.—Plymouth Independent.

Enlarged Quarters.

Mrs. Bowers will put up an addition, 12x14, on the rear of Foss' shop to be used by him as a work room. The other two rooms will then be thrown into one and used as a store for the display of harness goods.

—It is getting extremely dry and a soaking rain is badly needed.

CHILDREN RIDE.

Inauguration of the New Plan of Conveying School Children.

The new plan of transporting children to school as the result of the consolidation of several country schools in this vicinity was inaugurated on Monday—the Shaw school (district 4) pupils being brought to Culver, and the Hillsdale scholars (district 12) being taken to the Sickman school (district 2).

Ira Mattix has the contract for conveying the Shaw school children for $1.70 per day, the township furnishing the wagon. His route is 3½ miles long, and he has a load of 25 children.

David Menser has the contract for the Hillsdale school. He gets $2 per day, and has 9 children. It was the intention to consolidate the Hillside and Sickman schools with Burr Oak and convey the children to the latter place, but the plan was reconsidered.

The new wagons are quite handsome affairs with doors at front and back and side curtains so that the children will be fully protected against storm and cold. The little folks are delighted with the arrangement, and the morning and evening rides will no doubt add considerable interest to their school life.

PASTORS LOCATED.

Conference Appointments in the M. E. and U. B. Churches.

Rev. W. M. Nicely has been returned to the Culver M. E. church. Other appointments of interest to the people in this section are as follows: Argos, D. A. Rogers; Hamlet, supplied by J. E. Watson; Kewanua, F. G. Howard; Knox, E. W. Strecker; Leiter's Ford, supplied by T. Martin; Lucerne, C. E. Beebe; Plymouth, J. S. Crowder; Center, J. K. Wyant; Richland, W. F. Switzer; Rochester, J. O. Johnson.

The appointments of U. B. pastors are as follows: Plymouth, O. L. Landis in place of I. S. Cleaver who goes to Elkhart to engage in evangelistic work; Tyner, J. Q. Cline; Bourbon, G. E. Luke, D. B. Kissinger going to Decatur; Bremen, J. W. Lake.

The New Church.

The fine proportions of the Reformed church stand out in pleasing lines now that the outside work is practically finished. The bricklayers finished their labors a few days ago, leaving true, smooth, evenly pointed walls as a testimonial of their skill. The white stone trimmings have been liberally and tastefully used by the architect and add greatly to the finish of the structure. The interior is ready for the plasterers. These workmen are hard to get just now, and the delay will postpone the dedication which it was expected would take place about the 1st of October.

Matrimonial.

Frank L. Brooke was married on Friday in Plymouth to Miss Chlo Clemens of Hibbard. The ceremony was performed by Mayor Harley Logan who is a relative of Mr. Brooke. The young couple expect to begin housekeeping in Culver. The groom is secretary to Major Gignilliat of the academy, and the bride is an attractive young lady well-known in Culver. The Citizen extends congratulations.

$3,000 worth of new goods just in to select from at Porter & Co.'s.

RETTINGER MURDER TRIAL

A Sensational and Widely-Known Case Now in Court.

OTHER LEGAL INVESTIGATION

A List of All the Criminal Cases on Circuit Court Docket.

The September term of the Marshall circuit court opened Monday afternoon. It will be one of the most important sessions ever held in the county. The number of criminal cases is the largest the docket ever had. There are 1:3 cases. Of these 42 are criminal and 91 are civil. The criminal cases are classified as follows: Grand larceny, 2; larceny, 1; petit larceny, 4; bigamy, 1; confirmed truant, 1; burglary, 1; selling liquor on Sunday, 3; keeping gambling house, 1; change of venue, 1; assault and battery, 5; provoke, 1; murder, 2; assault and battery with intent to commit murder, 2; selling liquor without license, Frank Bauer, 5; obstructing view to saloon, 4; keeping room for gambling, 1; permitting gambling in room, 1; forgery, Schuyler Whiteman, 5; having fish spear in possession, 1.

Of the civil cases 2 are paternity, 23 are for divorce, but several of the latter have been settled out of court.

The most important case is that of Frederick Rettinger, charged with the murder of William Bates of Bourbon three months ago. The case comes first and a special venire of 60 jurors was drawn. From this list the twelve jurors will be selected.

Court convened in Plymouth this morning and tomorrow the Rettinger murder case will be taken up. It is thought that two or three days will be required to get three days will be required to get a jury. The defense will be conducted by Parker and Stevens and W. B. Hess will look after the interests of the state. The defense plea will doubtless be insanity. The case is attracting general interest throughout this and neighboring counties—Monday's Plymouth Independent.

Woman Slain in Her Home. Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—Left alone with her infant child in the house in which she occupied rooms, Mrs. Morris K. Lewis, an attractive woman 26 years of age, the wife of a traveling salesman, has been brutally murdered. Her body, with a bullet wound in the throat, was found in a hall closet. The body bore evidence of a struggle. There is no clew to the murderer.

Why shouldn't city managers be good enough for country people? Some reader may be inclined to ask. That is not an easy question to answer in a way that would be conclusive to all, remarks the Boston Globe. But why press it? Why insist on taking city manners with us where they are not wanted when we go off to enjoy ourselves? Why encumber ourselves with city things, city fashions in clothes as well as in manners, city conventions and snobbery, city wealth and ostentation, city luxuries and dissipations? If God made the country and man made the town it follows that to take the town to the country must be a profanation. He who seeks in his vacation the relaxation and the natural joys of the simple life will find every one and everything in hearty accord with his spirit, and he will have the least trouble and the most fun wherever he may go.

London people learned with horror that Mrs. Longworth had worn one dress twice during the same week. It is unfortunately true that people will gauge a woman's importance by the size and condition of her wardrobe, and Mrs. Longworth is not the only woman who has been a victim of this sort of nonsense.

M'KINLEY UNVEILING MARRED BY CROWD

WOMEN FAINT IN CRUSH OF MOB ANXIOUS TO GAZE ON MRS. LONGWORTH.

Panic is Averted by Coolness of President's Daughter, Who Pulls Ribbons and Allows the Drape to Drop from Statue.

Columbus, O., Sept. 15.—With a panic threatening in a crowd estimated at 50,000 people, surging about the stand erected in the capitol grounds, frantic to secure a glimpse of Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, the president's daughter, the exercises arranged for the dedication of the McKinley monument were suddenly terminated Friday afternoon after the statue of the martyred president had been hurriedly unveiled by Mrs. Longworth.

The prompt action of the committee on arrangements was regarded as most fortunate, for the crowd was beyond control and the shrieking of women and children who were caught in the crush was rapidly working the crowd into a frenzy.

Many women fainted and were carried out of the crowd by the police. Two were so badly hurt that they had to be removed in an ambulance. Mrs. Eliza Louisa Muhn, of 130 South Sixth street, who was trampled, and a colored woman. Both will recover.

Mrs. Longworth Cool. Throughout the exciting scenes Mrs. Longworth remained cool and self-possessed, but afterward she said: "It was the worst crush I ever witnessed. I have seen nothing like it in my trip around the world."

The McKinley monument stands at the west entrance to the grounds, facing the street, and the crowd was packed into this space between the speakers' stand and the monument. The exercises were set for 2:30, and began promptly.

Tries to Stop Crush. The governor's voice could not be heard 20 feet away, however, on account of the din. The commotion then became so alarming that those on the stand asked Mrs. Longworth to come forward in the hope that a glimpse of her might satisfy the crowd. She came to the front of the stand and it was seen at once that something must be done and it was decided to unveil the statue at once.

Mrs. Longworth then pulled the ribbon attached to wires which drew aside the flags covering the statue. A man hoisted on another's shoulder grasped the ribbons and the wire and they were quickly torn into fragments by relic seekers.

ATTEMPT TO HOLD UP TRAIN

CONDUCTOR FOILS MASKED MEN NEAR PEORIA.

Quartette of Bandits Meet with Such Sturdy Resistance They Become Alarmed and Depart.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 15.—Four masked men attempted to hold up passenger train No. 311 on the Rock Island road one and one-half miles north of Peoria, Friday night at ten o'clock, and but for the presence of mind of Conductor Robert Murray, who disarmed one of the men after being struck on the head, the passengers would have been robbed.

There were about 100 people on the train, which left Chicago at six o'clock.

Sheriff Potter and a force of deputies and Peoria policemen are searching the woods near the scene of the attempted hold-up.

The would-be robbers placed an obstruction of railroad ties on the track, which brought the train to a standstill. They then, at the point of revolvers, commanded the engineer and fireman to remain on the engine. Running back to the front end of the smoker they mounted the platform with drawn revolvers.

Conductor Robert Murray met them at the door. One of the bandits pushed a gun into his face. He struck the weapon up and knocked it from the man's hand. He was struck over one wrist and over the head with a club, but the robbers became alarmed at his unexpected resistance and fled.

The men are described as being about 25 or 30 years of age, all of slight build. All wore masks, but evidently were amateurs at the business.

A posse of deputy sheriffs and officers left the city in automobiles to search the vicinity of the attempted hold-up, but reported no captures.

One traveling man, representing a Peoria brewer, had on his person $3,500, the result of a day's collections, and sat near the front end of the smoker.

German Yachtsmen Praised by Roosevelt for Being Sportsmen.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 15.—President Roosevelt placed himself on record Friday as an enthusiastic supporter of amateur sports. He also took occasion to weld a new link of friendship between the United States and Germany.

He did this by making the official presentation of the Roosevelt cup to the American Yacht club, the trophy which was won by the yacht Vim, of that club, during the recent international races off Marblehead, Mass., in which several German boats competed unsuccessfully.

The president commended the sportsmanship of the Germans. They had, he said, demonstrated that they could withstand the supreme test of sportsmen—they could lose gracefully. While the president congratulated the winning club most heartily, he said there was a note of regret in his indorsement because the Germans had lost. However, he felt great satisfaction that the yachts which had come across the ocean for the race had been "in the winnings" (referring to the one race won by a German yacht).

MISS ROOSEVELT IN ACCIDENT President's Daughter, Thrown from Her Buggy, Escapes Injury.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 15.—While driving from Sagamore Hill to Oyster Bay Friday, Miss Ethel Roosevelt, daughter of the president, was thrown out of her buggy, her horse becoming frightened at an automobile.

The accident occurred near the residence of P. L. Fearn, where Miss Ethel stopped for a few moments to regain her composure.

She was not hurt and insisted on having her horse harnessed to another buggy and on driving back to Sagamore Hill.

Commander Elected. Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—Col. W. H. Knauss, of Columbus, O., was elected commander-in-chief of the National Union Veterans' Legion Thursday.

TAFT AND BACON EN ROUTE TO CUBA

PRESIDENT SENDS EMISSARIES TO ASCERTAIN CONDITION OF ISLAND AFFAIRS.

In Letter to Minister Quesada He Makes It Plain That United States Will Not Shirk Any Necessary Duty Imposed Upon It.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Secretary of War Taft and Acting Secretary of State Bacon will proceed at once to Cuba, acting under orders from President Roosevelt. Their mission is to attempt to restore peace, and to decide whether the United States shall intervene.

Mr. Taft and Mr. Bacon received their instructions after a conference at Sagamore Hill between the president, Mr. Taft, Mr. Bacon, Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte, and Senator Beveridge.

President Roosevelt Friday night addressed an important communication to Cuba.

It is addressed to the Cuban minister to the United States, Senor Quesada. It is an impassioned plea to Cuba to realize her responsibility as a self-governing republic and to restore people in the island.

President's Meaning is Plain. Her attention is called in no uncertain language to the responsibility which the United States bears to the island and the certainty that such responsibility will necessarily be exercised should peace not be preserved.

The president says he has certain information that the peace of the island is now menaced and that American property has been destroyed.

Taft Hurries to Washington. The conference which resulted in the Cuban decision began at Sagamore Hill shortly after three o'clock Friday afternoon and continued until ten o'clock at night. At its conclusion Secretaries Taft, Bonaparte and Bacon left for New York and Washington.

The conference which resulted in the Cuban decision began at Sagamore Hill shortly after three o'clock Friday afternoon and continued until ten o'clock at night. At its conclusion Secretaries Taft, Bonaparte and Bacon left for New York and Washington.

Secretary Taft said as he left Oyster Bay that he had no idea as to the length of his visit to Cuba. He indicated that there would be no haste in the investigation, which would be made there.

Aside from this information no discussion will be divulged by those attending the conference, the statement being made that the letter of the president was intended to cover the whole Cuban situation so far as it was desirable to do so in the public print.

Cuban Congress Upholds the President. Havana, Sept. 15.—The extra session of congress called by President Palma completed at one sitting Friday afternoon the business for which it was summoned, namely, the granting to President Palma of the fullest powers not already constitutionally possessed by the executive for carrying on the war, including the right to appropriate any public funds for war purposes; revoking appropriations voted at the preceding session of congress in order to permit the diversion of the moneys involved to prosecution of the war, and authorizing increases of the rural guards to 10,000 men and the artillery to 2,000 men.

This triples the former force of rural guards and doubles the artillery. These measures, which were combined in one blanket bill, were passed by party votes, the liberals and independents refraining from voting and the liberal nationalists voting with the moderates.

ANTI-JEWISH OUTBREAK LIKELY Massacre Looked for in Warsaw on Hebrew New Year.

London, Sept. 15.—In a dispatch from Vienna to the Daily Chronicle it is stated that an anti-Jewish outbreak is likely to occur at Warsaw in the next few days. Fugitives, the dispatch says, have called on Herr Daszynski, a member of the Austrian reichsrath, requesting him to inform the European press that a massacre of Jews is preparing for the Jewish New Year, September 20.

Telegraphing to the Tribune from Cracow, under date of September 14, Herr Daszynski, who is the leader of the Polish socialists in the Austrian reichsrath, says: "I am informed from a trustworthy source in Warsaw that the Russian government is organizing for to-morrow, or one of the following days, a massacre in the Jewish and working class quarters in Warsaw. Battalions of the most brutal soldiers have been drafted into the city from distant provinces, and the city has been planned into sections under military commands, to the total exclusion of all civil authority. The population is in a state of terrible panic."

Victim of Gasoline. Owasso, Mich., Sept. 15.—Mrs. J. M. Ford, of Corunna, sister of United States District Attorney F. H. Watson, died from the effects of terrible burns received when by mistake she used gasoline to start a fire in the kitchen stove.

Killed by Explosion. Mount Sterling, Ky., Sept. 15.—The boiler at the Riley-Waters mill at Mariba, Menifee county, exploded Friday, killing instantly John Hale and Ross Byrd. Three others were burned so they will die. The mill was blown to pieces.

William J. Bryan has accepted an invitation to speak in Memphis the morning of September 25.

Eruptions Appeared on Chest, and Face and Neck Were All Broken Out—Cured by Cuticura.

"I had an eruption appear on my chest and body and extend upwards and downwards, so that my neck and face were all broken out; also my arms and the lower limbs as far as the knees. I at first thought it was prickly heat. But soon scales or crusts formed where the breaking out was. Instead of going to a physician I purchased a complete treatment of the Cuticura Remedies, in which I had great faith, and all was satisfactory. A year or two later the eruption appeared again, only a little lower; but before it had time to spread I procured another supply of the Cuticura Remedies, and continued their use until the cure was complete. It is now five years since the last attack, and have not seen any signs of a return. I have more faith in Cuticura Remedies for skin diseases than anything I know of. Emma E. Wilson, Liscomb, Iowa, Oct. 1, 1905."

THE CORNISH TIN DEPOSITS.

Great English Industry Still Capable of Big Production.

Though the Cornish tin deposits have been worked from the dawn of history, experts hold that vast quantities are still to be found in this metalliferous soil. In the past twenty years Cornwall has been badly hit by the development of tin mining in the Straits Settlement. The fall in the price of the metal caused the closing of many of the Cornish mines, and incidentally led to the migration of "Cousin Jacky," as the Cornish miner is known, to every quarter of the globe. It seemed indeed as if mining in the duchy had received a blow from which it could by no possibility recover. A few mines managed to survive, notably Dolcoath, which earned a modest profit even in the lean years when tin varied between £60 and £70 per ton. With the metal nearly treble that price, it is not surprising that speculators and prospectors are turning avid eyes to this westernmost county.

The enhanced price of tin is likely to be permanent, for it is due to natural, not artificial, causes. Tin is the rarest of all the metals, and the world's consumption has now outgrown the supply. The world's production has averaged, in recent years, 75,000 tons, of which more than one-half has come from the Straits Settlements. About 15,000 tons per annum come from the Dutch East Indies; 5,000 tons from Cornwall; 5,000 tons from Australasia, and a similar quantity from Bolivia. Tin is scarcely found at all in Europe or in the United States.

Many a man who asserts that he is not a hypocrite is so disagreeable that his acquaintances may wish he was.

Hasty Nervous Chewing of Food the Cause of Dyspepsia

If your teeth are fit, chew, chew, until the food is liquid and insists on being swallowed.

If teeth are faulty, soften Grape-Nuts with hot milk or cream, or allow to stand a minute soaking in cold cream.

"There's a reason," as follows: Grape-Nuts food is in the form of hard and brittle granules, intended to be ground up by the teeth; that work not only preserves the teeth but brings down the saliva from the gums so necessary in the primary work of digestion.

Many people say (and it is true) that when they eat Grape-Nuts they seem able to digest not only that food but other kinds which formerly made trouble when eaten without Grape-Nuts.

In the huge chimney, under the crane-hung kettle, flickered a small fire. Shadows danced on floor and walls—on the white draped bed in the corner—on the snowy cloth spread over the table, a rude slab on oaken posts.

Guns hung on the buck horns above the door; an old print of the Madonna, and a few family portraits in dull frames, decked duller wall. The coloring was somber, but the firelight glowed, and the sparkle of silver on the table, brightened the interior. Everywhere was a nameless charm, foreign to the wildwood. Perhaps it was in the white curtains—in the basket of gay worsted, in the wild flowers blooming on mantelpiece and table.

When the meal was finished, Lavender filled her father's pipe. "Do you know, dad, that you are giving yourself altogether too many fancy airs? There is such a painful contrast between your buckskin coat and this gold tobacco box. And as for mother—that knot of real lace is poking fun at the linsay gown it adorns."

"But not at the face above it, child," and Mr. Creighton looked fondly at his wife. "As for you, saucy mixx," he added, "these dainty hands and feet are quite out of place here. As long as you wear high-heeled slippers and an amber bracelet, don't laugh at your poor father's luxury."

"But the shoes—my dear Virginia shoes—are wearing out. What shall I do then, Dad?"

"Do as did the men at Valley Forge, dear; bind them up with rags."

Just then there was a shuffling step outside, and the rattle of pails. Lavender flew to the door to admit America, who, as she entered, grumbled to herself: "Reckon y'all 'tink I'm slower 'n lasses in winter, but dat ole mooly cow is de mos' ornarlins' critter ober I seed. She was in de gully crosst de creek, an' I callin' 'Suke' all time gittin' her—cracked. Den it tuk my 'troat mos' to git my strippins, me a' pow'ful time."

While she was talking America was emptying the warm milk into broad pans, and Lavender carried them into the small lean to that served as kitchen, and which the old negress calls the "quarters," in memory of days on Biennersasset Island—days which she would never allow to be better, but to which, in many little ways, she paid unconscious tribute.

Suddenly, in the midst of pouring the milk, she stopped with hands on her hips, exclaiming: "Fo' Gawd, I done forgot to tell y'al dat somebody's comin' up de ribber. Hit must be Mars. Gerald, but dat ole skift ain't white. Dar was only one man in it, and peered like he was pullin' for dis yer sho'."

Unconsciously, Mr. Creighton's eyes sought his gun, and his hand moved to the hunting-knife in the silver scabbard at his belt.

Lavender went to the window—a loop-hole heavily barred. Twilight was almost over, and the zone of giant pines that bound the clearing loomed into the fast blackening zenith.

"Somebody is crossing the stile," she said. "Ah, it is Senor Gonzaga."

Opening the door, she met him with frank cordiality, and he bowed impressively over her hand.

They were all surprised, but delighted, and Mrs. Creighton asked: "You are living near us, senor?"

"Not permanently, madam, it is my purpose to travel through the new territory, and I only stopped for a short stay in St. Charles. Friends are rare in this country, and one likes to remain near them as long as possible."

He glanced at Lavender, but she was busy with the snood that bound her hair, and took no notice of his words or look.

To the exiled family, the presence of a visitor was a treat, and they were all brighter for this breath of the outer world. Besides, this man was educated, had traveled much, and there was food for conversation outside their present narrow scope in his wide knowledge of men and things.

Gonzaga noticed that Mrs. Creighton was paler, thinner, with deeper lines about the mouth, and at the corners of her shadowed eyes.

To Mr. Creighton he gave attention as a new factor in his plans. But he mentally decided that he need take him slightly into consideration. The elder Creighton was a quiet man—not selfishly absorbed, but with a mind which, being long focussed upon practical daily troubles, was narrowed to the contemplation of those things which were his own and his family's immediate concern. Reserved, not talkative or fond of entertaining, his well-bred courtesy was, nevertheless, unflinching; his habit of mind intelligent, sober.

Gonzaga read this all clearly, and decided that upon the mother must be depend for influence with Lavender. Of this he took careful note, saying to himself with an amused smile: "To the father, a sweetheart more or less will not matter; he will concern himself little with me."

The evening was nearly over, and still the visitor had addressed no word in private with Lavender. For this, the maid was thankful; hers was a keenness of intuition, fostered by the varied experiences of the last few months; by the new and strange mode of life. The shrinking bashfulness—the guileless ignorance, which the fashion of the day demanded in maids, were lacking in her, and circumstances had served to cultivate neither. So she did not fail to note and read aright, the visitor's covert glances and smiles of admiration.

Once she went to the kitchen for some cider, America greeted her with the remark: "Dat yaller man been cast'n sheep's eyes at yo' all ehenin'. I bonn' be gwine ax yo' to marry him."

"How can you say that, America? He pays all his attention to mother."

"Satin' de cow, to ketch de calf," the old servant said, sagely.

Lavender laughed a rippling accompaniment to the cider gurgling from the jug. "I'm afraid the Spanish cavalier is not in your good books," she said.

"I ain't sayin' nothin' agin 'im; he might be all right, and, then again, he mightn't."

And Lavender, who could extract nothing more to the point, returned to the company.

When the cider was poured, Mrs. Creighton said: "Let us drink to the kind friend who sent us this."

The Spaniard paused in the act of raising his glass, a curve of interrogation in his handsome brows.

Lavender's cheek glowed with an added color, not altogether a reflection of the firelight.

Her mother continued: "It was brought the other day by Mr. Winslow's trusty Indian guide. You remember Owatoga, perhaps? He who was with us on the boat? It seems that he prefers to remain with Mr. Winslow—ever at his beck and call."

Gonzaga merely touched his lips to the glass, then asked, coolly: "Winslow? Ah, yes; where is the gentleman? He seems to have disappeared."

To the slighting tone, Mrs. Creighton replied, warmly:

"I am sorry to say it is long since we saw him, but we had a message from him saying he is detained a prisoner at St. Louis, on parole. Information, through whom he does not know, was given the authorities of his connection with the Burr expedition. It seems that affair is, for some reason I cannot understand, regarded by the government in the light of a conspiracy. Trouble is brewing for the leaders, and until that is settled, our friend is held in St. Louis."

Here Gonzaga inquired: "You say he has written—when, may I ask?"

"Owatoga delivered the note on his first trip."

The Spaniard paused with the cup at his lips: "The Indian? He was the bearer of a note, did you say?"

"Yes, a few lines written on the day of Mr. Winslow's arrest."

Lavender, put in with a little temper: "It is a disgrace to our country that honest men can't go forth to find a home without interference—without insult."

But the Spaniard hardly heeded; he was thinking of what they had just told him—that the note had been given—that he had been outwitted. Holding the cup of cider untasted, he reiterated: "And you say that the Indian delivered the note on the first visit?"

As Lavender nodded assent, a gleam of baffled anger lit the dusky eyes. Only for a moment; lifting the cup, he slowly drained it, then said, with an indolent smile: "On behalf of my own country, I am quite interested in Col. Burr's project. There seems a promised advantage to Spain in the affair, but I can readily see how the gentlemen in office at Washington might object."

Lavender flushed at this, and went abruptly into the kitchen, leaving the elders to champion a cause in which she would not trust herself to speak.

A few moments later she returned, and to make amends for her rudeness, said: "America is not sure that she closed the door of the shed. If Senor Gonzaga will allow us, we will go that far with him. Perhaps we will meet Gerald, too; he ought to be coming home now."

The Spaniard was delighted at the prospect, and said so, adding an effusive good-night, and begging that he might come again.

Outside in the moonlight the forest lay half asleep. Grasses waved lazily, the frogs kept up their drowsy monotone, and birds twittered in the branches. At the water's edge, where the boat rocked with the lulling waves, they paused and gazed down the river. There was no sign of life on its broad bosom; in the air was a scent of shells and water grasses; the sky was clear and starry.

"Let us row down and meet your brother," suggested the visitor, and Lavender, waving a mischievous farewell to America, jumped into the skiff.

"We won't row far," she called back. "Wait for us."

"In a panic, the old negress rushed to the water's edge. "Whar yo two gwine dis time o' night?"

Seeing her distress, Lavender repented. "Let us go back," she commanded. But he had Lavender alone, with the fast growing path of water between them and interruption, and Gonzaga was the last man to forego this first opportunity.

"Why do you not want to go with me, Miss Creighton?" he demanded, with unenvied abruptness.

Lavender ignored any deep meaning in the words, and there was no embarrassment, only wide-eyed surprise in her reply: "I don't mind, I assure you, but it is late, and mother will be uneasy. America, too, see, she is ridgely as a hen whose fledglings have taken to the pond." She laughed, and, banging one arm over the boat's edge, let the water trickle through the pink dam of her fingers.

"You don't mind being with me! High praise, indeed!" and Gonzaga shrugged his shoulders, and raised his brows sarcastically. Then, dropping the oars, and bending toward her: "Now, listen to me," he said, "I, on the other hand, declare that it is my sole delight to be with you. It has been since first sight of you was a balm to my tired eyes."

His voice, soft in time with the melody of waves against the idle oar—his face with its southern beauty, lent dignity to the words which, from a less romantic cavalier, Lavender would have scorned as mere flattery.

But there was magic in the time and place, witchery in the hour which subdued the girl's levity, and awakened a dormant sentiment. But this sentiment was not for the man beside her. With every beat of her quickened pulse, her thoughts were borne farther from him. Her eyes had a soft charm, her voice a tender cadence, but the softness, the tenderness which his words had awakened, were for another.

"You speak prettily, senor," she said, dreamily, and the unconscious coquetry led him on.

"Do you believe in love at first sight?" was his next question.

Lavender laughed unasily—for now his tone and manner roused her—brought her back to him. "No," she declared, "I am not sure that I believe in love at all."

Ignoring her speech, he went on: "There is a southern flower that, in a night, throws all its great heart bare. So my love for you had its being."

"And so in a night it will die," Lavender tried to speak lightly, but she could not meet his ardent gaze. Instead, her own followed with dismay the starry track ever widening between her and the shore.

"It will never die, cara mia, it will live always, and from its roots shall spring another—your love for me. Is it not so?" he leaned toward her; his senses swimming in a passion for this girl in whose fair face was reflected all the crystal of moonlit wave and sky. For the first time in this man's career, something he ardently desired seemed out of reach. Gold he had won and lost as easily—land and fame had cheaply bartered for a song—a smile. But this maid, half child half woman, with at once the purity of moonbeams and a rare, earthly witchery about her, had suddenly become for him the one thing worth striving for.

"From my love shall spring another—yours for me. Is it not so?"

"I do not think so, senor. I am too modest to believe in the strength of your feeling for me. It will die before mine can have birth. No, no," she commanded, as he was about to speak, "I cannot listen; I—I am not ready now. I thank you for your love, if it be love—I do not know," she ended dreamily.

Then, ignoring his ardent interruption: "I am not ready to hear of love—I do not want it."

Her earnest, yet matter-of-fact tone maddened him, and he blurted out: "You do not want it? But there is another love that you do want—the love of a spy, a traitor!"

She met his blazing eyes with a look of cold disdain. "You talk in riddles, senor."

"A riddle you can easily read, lady, but if you prefer, I shall construe it. You deny me, only to give your love to that other, the champion of a bold enterprise which counts for its success upon the dismemberment of a great republic. This conspirator against the flag for which the blood spilled is scarcely dried—this brave knight-errant of the gaming table—this—"

"No more, sir! Did you, then, bring me out to listen to insult of my friends? For that you traduce Mr. Winslow, I can no longer doubt. I fear, Senor Gonzaga, that the flower which was to bear the fruit of love requited, will but nourish the parasite of hate."

Calming himself quickly. "Forgive me," he pleaded, "but as all is fair in love and war, so jealousy of a rival is not a crime. That he is a successful rival makes it all the harder."

"You presume much, senor. Mr. Winslow is no man's rival where I am concerned—he does not wish to be. But that he is a true gentleman, and an honest man, I am as sure as that this water runs."

There was a pause, while he took up the oars. "Shall I row back to shore?" he asked, humbly.

"If you please; we have been drifting away."

"And drifting apart, lady?"

She was silent.

"You are cruel—you will forgive me? Much should be forgiven a love like mine."

His voice was a yearning whisper, and he bent low to reach her ear.

She smiled faintly: "I am only too ready to forgive—we shall be friends again—on one condition."

"Name it," he demanded.

Her manner had resumed some of its archness, her voice its gaiety, as she said: "Never speak again of that flower—let it die."

"It will never die," he declared, buskily. "Its perfume shall abide with you—its fragrance enwrap you like a garment. But I shall not speak of it again; not until you are quite ready to listen."

CHAPTER XLII.

Against the current Gonzaga rowed, with many a backward glance. Into the stars loomed cypress and willow, bordering as with a badge of mourning the land on either side.

Soon the lights of the settlement straggled into view, and, brighter than the others, long hospitable rays shot from the tavern close to the water's side. Here the Spaniard moored his boat and stepped ashore. But he was in the mood neither for drink nor cards, still less for song and laughter. Since the tavern laggard could not be stranger to these, he would not go there to-night.

His thoughts were with the maiden he had left behind in the forest; with her whose conquest was not to be easy. Passion and threatened pride consumed him; the laughter within the tavern jarred. He was passing the door, when it was suddenly burst open from within. At the threshold stood Gerald Creighton, his handsome face deformed with anger and ablaze with wine. With collar torn, and coat awry, as if in a struggle, he stood half defiant, half afraid. For back near the plastered wall, where sputtering candles flecked the gloom, stood the small, crooked figure of a man brandishing a knife. His eyes gleamed through red lids, his voice was raucous with rage. "You want my gal, do ye? Well, gt her, you might—fer women are all d-d fools—but she ain't the say-so. I'm a father as knows my business, and I'll see ye wallow in the blackest pit afore she's yours! Ye want to marry her? No, ye don't, and ef ye did—" he broke off with a rasping chuckle, and made another dash for Gerald, but was prevented again. This time the Spaniard, watching from the willow cove, saw a woman slip quietly to the door, and close it, leaving herself and Gerald outside.

The noise from within was fainter now, and for a moment the two stood silent in the shadowy night—alone, save for the watchful presence of Gonzaga, himself unseen in the background.

Then the octoroon spoke, low, with the sibilant softness of the south: "Please hurry home now, Mr. Gerald, or there will be more trouble."

[To Be Continued.]

HE HAD THE LAST LAUGH

Hero of a Hundred Breakdowns Beat Out the Man With Good Clothes.

As the two rivals faced each other, while waiting for the beautiful girl who was to choose between them, the one in the grey morning suit laughed a short, sharp laugh.

"It would have been better for you," he observed, "if, at such an important interview, you had at least made yourself presentable. Your hands are those of a mechanic, your clothes are covered with oil spots, your face is grimy, your—"

At this instant the girl burst into the room and threw herself into the arms of the man in the greasy overalls.

"Darling," she murmured, "I have just heard that you fixed father's crank-shaft and brought him home in time for dinner, while this man here passed by without even blowing his horn."

It was then the turn of the hero of a hundred breakdowns to laugh at the man who was too well dressed.

"My dear boy," he observed, "clothes don't make the man. Next time learn how to repair a motor."

MUTUAL COMPLIMENTS.

Cavalryman and Infantryman Ridicule Each Other's Rank in Service.

The jealousy which nearly always exists between different arms of the military service is illustrated by the dialogues which sometimes take place between cavalrymen and infantrymen.

It was a favorite and brutal joke on the part of the cavalrymen, who affected to despise the foot soldiers, to shout to some soldiers as the cavalry were passing the infantry on the march:

"Are you tired of walking?"

Whereupon, if the infantryman, supposing that he was going to get a life, responded "Yes!" the cavalryman would say, "Well, try running a while!"

The infantrymen, for their part, ridiculed the cavalrymen unmercifully when they were in camp, where the cavalrymen were compelled to spend much of their time in acting as body-servants to their horses.

A cavalryman was one day engaged in laboriously "cleaning down" his rather raw-boned steed. An infantryman sauntered up and, with his hands behind his back, leisurely inspected the operation.

"Halloo, John!" said the cavalryman. "Think you'd like to be in the cavalry?"

"Oh, yes," said the infantryman; but only as a horse!"

Next!

Catherine Beraim was a charming Welshwoman of long ago. She had so many husbands and so numerous were her progeny that, says the Rev. S. Baring-Gould in his recent book about her country, she is known to genealogists as the "Mother of Wales."

Catherine never went begging. She married early the first time, and often—and at rather startling intervals—afterward. Her first husband, by whom she had a son, was John Saulbury of Llewenni. At his funeral Sir Richard Clough gave her his arm. Outside the churchyard stood Maurice Wynn of Gwydir, awaiting a decent opportunity of proposing to her. As she issued from the gate he did this.

"Very sorry," said the widow, with some regret, "but I have just accepted Sir Richard Clough. Should I survive him I will marry you."

She was as good as her word, when the opportunity came. Local history has it that she married yet a fourth husband—Youth's Companion.

It's a safe bet that if Lieut. Peary finds the north pole he will find it in a state of insurrection against the czar.

NEWS FROM INDIANA

EVENTS OF GREATEST INTEREST THROUGHOUT THE STATE

TWO MODEL PRISONERS.

Former Banker McCoy and Sherrick Make No Trouble for Keepers—Women Resent Minister's Slight.

Lafayette.—A recent visitor to the state prison at Michigan City found Tom McCoy, the Rensselaer banker, working in the binder twine department, engaged in tying sacks. Afterward he was permitted to meet McCoy in the reception room, and during a limited conversation, notable for the stoical manner of the erstwhile banker, McCoy said that he had been making the best of it and that he had not lost an hour's sleep since he had been in prison. The warden spoke of him as a model prisoner, who had never asked a favor of any kind. He also met "Dave" Sherrick, who is employed on the convict farm, who said that when he was first received in prison the food did not agree with him and the surroundings were galling, but he had made up his mind to accept what came and make the most of it. Sherrick expressed great hope of a reversal of his case in the supreme court.

Resent Minister's Slight.

Alexandria.—The Northern Indiana Holiness association, which has just expended $50,000 on new camp grounds, including an auditorium to seat 4,000 dormitory, dining hall, etc., at the edge of this city, has closed the first ten days' camp meeting with an attendance of 10,000 people. When Rev. Dr. C. W. Ruth, of Indianapolis, asked the men present for a collection to help pay the expenses of the meeting, the 1,500 women in the congregation spoke plainly their disapproval of being left out in the matter of collections. "I don't want to ask you ladies for cash," said Rev. Mr. Ruth. "For it will come out of your husbands' pockets and will not be a donation from you." Then a compromise was agreed to by which each woman will donate two feather pillows to the dormitory to be erected next year.

Indiana Methodists Meet.

Lafayette.—The fifty-fifth annual session of the northwest Indiana Methodist Episcopal conference has convened here, and will continue over until Monday morning. Two hundred and fifty ecclesiastical representatives of the conference are in attendance. Bishop J. W. Hamilton, of San Francisco, is presiding. The northwest conference comprises 40,532 church members and 37,234 Sunday school scholars. Its church property is valued at $1,844,685.

French Lick Cases Delayed.

Orleans.—The trial of the gamblers arrested in the French Lick and West Baden casinos in July did not take place as expected. It is claimed that Taggart is playing for time, and that the cases may not get to trial till after the election. A postponement of ten days was secured on a showing that Thomas J. Derry, who was operating the casino, is sick in Chicago and unable to appear.

Laporte Takes Up Football.

Laporte.—The Laporte football team has been organized for the season of 1906, with Frank Bohland as manager. The team will be coached by Prof. J. W. McLennan of Chicago, formerly of Dartmouth college, and a schedule will be arranged which will include Hammond, Michigan City, South Bend, Goshen, Elkhart and other northern Indiana cities.

Notre Dame Opens for New Session.

Notre Dame.—Notre Dame university has opened its sixty-third scholastic year. Eight hundred students are expected to be enrolled within a few days. The university buildings and equipment have been improved and the faculty strengthened by the addition of several doctors of philosophy from the Catholic University of America.

Race War in Indiana School.

Rooneville.—Claude Smith, a negro boy of 15, entered the high school for white children here something before unknown, and the parents of other children threaten to withdraw their pupils. The boys threaten to haze the negro and feeling is very high. The school board is being censured for permitting the boy to enter the school.

New Park at Centerville.

Centerville.—The people of this place and vicinity attended en masse the dedication of the new park, recently presented to the town by Rev. Calvin Wood. There was music by the Centerville band, with refreshments and addresses by Milford Jessup, John L. Rupe and Judge Fox, who are among the early settlers.

Attempt to Break Jail Foiled.

Jeffersonville.—The most serious attempt ever made by prisoners at the Indiana reformatory to escape was frustrated early Monday by Joseph Edgely, a trusty who discovered three prisoners in the act of releasing others from their cells and single-headed fought them until the alarm was raised. He received a broken arm and other serious injuries but will recover. It is known that five prisoners were implicated in the attempt to escape. They were confined in the hospital cells.

TO DECIDE TOP COAL QUESTION

Indiana Miners Seek to Have Convention Settle Dispute.

Terre Haute, Ind.—The top coal question in this district took a new turn Wednesday when a call was issued for a mass meeting of miners at Seeleyville Monday.

The purpose stated in the call is to bring about a special convention in order to refer the question to the entire district.

Members of the locals back of the movement say that if they do not get justice in the convention an effort will be made to oust the officers.

It also was stated that many of the miners are dissatisfied with the present organization and are preparing to withdraw from the United Mine Workers of America and join the Industrial Workers of the World.

The top coal dispute resulted from the decision of the companies to leave up a certain portion of the coal to make the roof safe. The miners contend that this is not necessary, and that it reduces their earning capacity.

Refuses to Pay Fine.

Greenfield.—Robert Bovil, of this city, was fined ten dollars and costs, a total of $32, by the mayor for cruelty to animals, and, although abundantly able to pay the fine, he went to jail through choice for 32 days. While he was playing croquet a dog wandered on his lawn and began playing with a child. Bovil ordered the dog away, which it failed to obey, and he then struck the animal with his mallet, breaking its jawbone, and knocking out an eye. The animal's howls attracted a crowd of men and women, among whom was Prosecuting Attorney Charles Thadall, who shot the dog and prosecuted Bovil.

Money for Quake Victims.

Lafayette.—The Northwestern Indiana conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, Bishop John Hamilton, of San Francisco, presiding, Wednesday responded to the appeal for the restoration of Methodist churches destroyed by the earthquake and fire on the Pacific coast, giving more than $3,000. This is the first pledge of the eastern conferences toward the $250,000 asked for by the Church Extension society.

Guns to Boom at Michigan City.

Michigan City.—Maj. Charles Gould Trent, of the artillery corps stationed at Fort Sheridan, was here making arrangements for a week's camp here of the Tenth battalion of field artillery of Fort Sheridan, now at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis. During the stay here target practice costing $12,000 will be held.

Dress Soiled; Sues Railroad.

Fort Wayne.—Miss Julia Wahmeyer, arrayed in white broadcloth to go on an excursion, was crossing the railroad track when a locomotive suddenly discharged steam and soot so rapidly that before she could escape her dress was ruined. The young woman says the dress was worth $75. She engaged lawyers to sue the road for that amount.

Two Boys Caught by a Cave-In.

Shelbyville.—Ray Sexton, 17 years old, and Thomas Nugin, 18 while hauling gravel from a pit near the Barnes school house, were caught by a cave-in of the bank, which buried both boys. Sexton was injured about the lower limbs, but he managed to extricate himself and then he dug out his companion. Young Nugin is in an alarming condition.

Heirs to an English Estate.

Richmond.—Richard Freeman and daughter, Mrs. Joseph Works, of this city, have been notified that they are among the heirs to the English estate of one Robert Holmes Freeman. Elmer E. Trimble, of Indianapolis, and Alfred Jenkins, of Lawrence, are also said to be heirs. The estate, of course, is said to be of fabulous value.

Hog Cholera in Northern Indiana.

Goshen.—Hog cholera is creating havoc with the stock of the farmers in Elkhart county and vicinity. Guy Reed lost 25 hogs, C. O. Hubbard lost 14, John Keely, Frank Kline, Levi Grady and many others have suffered heavy losses. The disease is similar to the old-fashioned hog cholera, but does not kill in as short a time.

Claim Against a Church.

Vincennes.—Gordon E. Varney, contractor, who completed the First Christian church building after the contract had been abandoned by William C. Lebo, has filed suit against the trustees for $15,000. He alleges that Lebo's figures were faulty and that the church people agreed to make good the deficiency, which the trustees have failed to do.

Student's Skull Crushed.

Fort Wayne.—Arthur Kuehnert, a Wisconsin student at Concordia college, had his skull crushed accidentally while playing ball on the campus. He received a blow with a bat. His condition is critical.

Lightning Claims Victims.

Noblesville.—During a severe storm which swept over this county, hail the size of quail's eggs fell in several localities, and much corn was damaged. Ora Beard, 14 years old, while playing in the yard at the home of his brother, where he was visiting, was struck by lightning and

ALCOHOL ON THE FARM

Investigations now being carried on by the agricultural department at Hoopston, Ill., have brought to light another important commercial factor in the form of a waste product which can be successfully manufactured at a small cost into a staple commodity. The experiments have proved beyond doubt that the large quantities of corn-cobs which are hauled from farm lands each season by canning factories can be converted into alcohol in sufficient quantities to justify the erection of a distilling plant in connection with the cannery.

The agricultural department at Washington recently sent to Hoopston two chemists, who have been making chemical deductions. Simple methods of fermentation have been employed. The yield in alcohol shows full eleven gallons to the ton of green cobs. The same method employed in handling the cobs applied to the green stalks produce six gallons to a ton.

Experiments during the last twenty-five years along the same line, but with common field corn-stalks, show that there are 240 pounds of fermentable substance in a ton of green field corn-stalks. A ton of stalks will produce 100 pounds of alcohol or 200 pounds of proof spirits. As a gallon of alcohol weighs nearly seven pounds there should be fifteen gallons of alcohol to a ton of stalks. It is a generally accepted theory that sweet cornstalks contain a larger percentage of alcohol than the common field corn, though the experiments at the cannery did not prove this to be the case.

Still there are other features in connection with the canning business which make possible the quantity anticipated by the department. Not only are cobs a waste product, but the irregular and spoiled ears as well. As hand labor is employed in husking all ears are put in, for the wage is based on a measure full. As the ears are emptied upon the conveyors those unfit for use are culled, consequently the addition of the corn on the cob adds further to the possibilities of alcohol obtainable from a ton of cobs and will have its influence in bringing the quantity to a greater figure.

Statistics show that the average pack of corn in the United States for the last ten years has been 6,094,426 cases. In each case there are twenty-four pounds of actual sweet corn. It is estimated that there are 650 pounds of corn in a ton as it is hauled in from the field with the husks on. The remainder is waste. Of this waste 600 pounds are husks. The remaining 50 pounds represent the cobs. The pack of 1905 was the largest in the history of the business. It amounted to 13,418,665 cases. With these figures it is not difficult to determine the enormous waste that the packer must suffer. Figuring eleven gallons of alcohol to a ton of cobs gives a practical idea of the quantity of alcohol which can be extracted from this waste and converted into a marketable article at small expense.

The corn packing capacity of the United States is 15,000,000 cases a year. By converting all of the cobs into alcohol in all probability there would be better corn packed, a higher standard, fewer chemicals used, and a flavor more akin to green corn than at present. More corn and less "chicken feed" should be the result.

What the cost of attaching a distilling plant to the packing plant would be has not been determined. The actual expense of distilling the cobs should not be greater than 3 cents a gallon. The cost of establishing a molasses distillery with a daily capacity of 10,000 gallons is estimated at $40,000, but a plant of less capacity in most cases would prove better for the canner.

The treasury department has delivered recently several decisions of interest in this connection. An extract from one of these reads:

A distillery at which tomato parings, pea hulls, banana hulls, sugar corn cobs, etc., are used in the manufacture of distilled spirits must be constructed and operated under the general law which applies to grain or molasses. It is not impossible to remodel a brandy distillery with certain additions made in the nature of cistern room, warehouse, etc. If this can be done there would be no objection to its being used as a fruit brandy distillery during the fruit season, and as a distillery for the manufacture of alcohol for denaturized purposes, during the remainder of the year.

There has been no change in the law relating to the manner in which alcohol may be manufactured. The distillery must be constructed in the manner now prescribed by the law and the regulations. The denatured alcohol law simply provides that alcohol manufactured in the usual manner at registered distilleries may be withdrawn from bond free of tax for denaturing purposes, and may be put on the market after it has been so denatured that it can not be used as a beverage or in the manufacture of liquid medical preparations.

The problem how to preserve the alcohol in the stalks until such time as they can be handled without interfering with the rush incident to the packing season probably could be accomplished by the construction of silos or some other method of drying.—Indianapolis Star.

The department of agriculture is seeking a plan by which the farmer may cheaply make his own denatured alcohol for light and fuel. Dr. Galway, chief of the bureau of plant industry, has sent agents to Europe to study the big potato that is grown in many sections of the continent and will arrange to introduce it here.

This potato has small value for edible purposes, but is several times as large as our common potato. An acre of ground, it is said, will grow enough to make 600 gallons of alcohol, which means light, heat and power for a farm household for a year.

After the alcohol is extracted, the residue is still useful for feeding to live stock. Secretary Wilson and Dr. Galway anticipate that in a few years it will constitute one of the most useful crops.

TAX TIME COMING.

October will be a busy month for the County Treasurer.

The month of October will be a busy one at the county treasurer's office. November 5 is the time limit for paying fall taxes and the bulk of these taxes are paid during October. People have already begun to make payments on the second installment and from now on the rush will be on in earnest. Many tax-payers paid up their taxes for the year in full last May, so it is expected that the amount of fall taxes will fall short of the amount collected in April. The delinquent list this fall is expected to be much smaller than in the spring, as taxpayers are beginning to have a wholesome dread of paying the extra 10 per cent on their taxes for delinquency.

A BAD SIDEWALK.

Lots of Expensive Trouble Growing Out of Defective Walk.

The city of Michigan City has filed a suit in the Marshall county circuit court against Leonora and Rudolph Klopfer for $13,500.

The filing of this is the sequel to a case that was originally brought in the Laporte circuit court many years ago. One day Miss Agnes Phillips of Michigan City fell on a defective sidewalk in front of the Klopfer building in Michigan City and suffered permanent injuries. She brought suit against the city for $20,000. The case was taken to St. Joseph county on a change of venue and a judgment for $10,000 obtained. An appeal to the supreme court followed. In the higher court the judgment of the lower court was affirmed and later the city of Michigan City was forced to pay the judgment with interest, the whole sum being nearly $12,000. Altogether the case, in costs, attorneys' fees, etc., has run up to over $15,000. The city is now endeavoring to secure judgment against the owners of the building for what the accident cost them and interest thereon. The defendants are residents of Plymouth, which accounts for the filing of the suit in Marshall county.—Laporte Herald.

A VALUABLE CROP.

Ginseng Yields Big Profit, But Takes Time and Patience.

In a column article, the Bourbon News-Mirror shows the great profits of the ginseng crops grown by C. M. Parks of Bourbon. The concluding paragraph says:

Some further idea of the stupendous work Mr. Parks has done and the value of his crop can be gathered from the following: He will plant 80,000 seed this fall that he raised on his plants, has 40,000 one-year old plants growing, 33,000 two-year old ones, 18,300 three-year old, 2,500 five-year old and 2,500 plants that are 8 to 20 years old. The plant is a slow grower. At the present time the seed is worth $30 per pound and the dried root $6.25 to $6.50 per pound. The full acre of ground is not in plants only 11-20 of it, but it is sufficient to show Mr. Parks that he will be rewarded handsomely for his long hard work and patience. At the most liberal calculation in two years he will have an income off the patch of $2,000 yearly, but where one succeeds, hundreds fail.

He gathered 33 pounds of seed last Tuesday—this year's yield.

[J. H. Koontz is, we understand, the only grower of ginseng in Culver. His oldest plants have attained the age of four years. While they seed every year it is at the age of seven years that they come to the climax of their yield, and Mr. Koontz has replanted the seed gathered each year. This year he will have about a quart, and will by sowing the seed and thinning out the growing plants enlarge his old bed to twice its present size.]

The Straw Hat.

We are given to understand from reading the newspapers published in cities like Chicago, Logansport, Rochester and Churubusco that the straw hat is on the blink after Sept. 1. With the fading of August and the departure of the summer resor-ter, up-to-date society insists that it is no longer en vogue for the male worm-of-the-dust to be seen wearing his straw lid. The Citizen desires to be up with the times and to keep inside the flag on the question of style, but it raises its operatic voice in protest against discarding an old and comfortable friend that has given faithful service for many warm and weary months. We suspect that the traffickers in "cadies" are responsible for pushing out the impression that a man is a rube if he persists in keeping his block cool after the month of September has taken the rostrum. Of course, when the Culver man goes to Indianapolis or Kankakee or Kalamazoo it is well enough to put on his gladdest attire, including a new fall hat; but if he's going to stay at home, or even go to Plymouth, we allow that it's all right for him to sport that straw hat and be happy as long as the weather is warm.

Interurban Prospects.

Captain Frank Swigart, representing the Indiana, Logansport & South Bend Traction company which for a long time has proposed to build from Logansport to South Bend, announced last night that his company would be able to report definite new steps toward the beginning of work on the South Bend line within ten days. "As for now, there is absolutely nothing to say," he said.—Rochester Republican.

COLE'S ORIGINAL HOT BLAST STOVE

Cuts the Fuel Bill in Half For Soft Coal, Lignite or Hard Coal

As you know fully one-half the carbon available for heat in soft coal is gas, the entire gas supply used for fuel and illumination in many cities and towns being made from common soft coal. The ordinary stove in burning soft coal allows this gas half of the fuel to pass up the chimney unburned, thus wasting it as a heat producer.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Stove, by means of the patented Hot Blast draft and other patented features, distills this gas from the upper surface of the coal, utilizing it as a heat producer along with the fixed carbon or coke in the coal, thus burning all the coal. This is why

Cole's Original Hot Blast

Saves the Dollars and makes a ton of common $3.00 soft coal or lignite do the work of $9.00 worth of hard coal.

Your old stove and imitation Hot Blast are not air tight, do not save the escaping gases and do not give you a warm house at night. You cannot afford to say to yourself "My old stove will have to do this winter." The old stove is eating up the price of a new stove every year. Not only that, but on top of the cost is the unsatisfactory result it gives. It is always out the coldest morning.

Even Heat Day and Night—Fire Never Out

Cole's Hot Blast is so perfect in construction that fire keeps all night, and when the draft is opened in the morning will burn two or three hours with the fuel put in the night before. No other stove does this. Fire, therefore, never goes out, and the rooms are kept at an even temperature all the time.

OUR GUARANTEE

- 1—We guarantee a saving of one-third in fuel over any lower draft stove of the same size, with soft coal or lignite.
- 2—We guarantee Cole's Hot Blast to use less hard coal for heating a given space than any base burner made with same heating surface.
- 3—We guarantee that the rooms can be heated from one to two hours each morning, with the soft coal or hard coal put in the stove the evening before.
- 4—We guarantee that the stove will hold fire with soft coal 36 hours without attention.
- 5—We guarantee a uniform heat day and night, with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.
- 6—We guarantee every stove to remain absolutely air tight as long as used.
- 7—We guarantee the feed door to be smoke and dust proof.

For Hard Coal—Saves Half

The perfect control over the drafts, the slow economical combustion and the large positive radiating surface make Cole's Original Hot Blast the most economical and the best Hard Coal stove made.

Cole's Hot Blast is the modern heater and will save its cost in fuel every winter. Buy one for your home now.

Would You Lose $50.00 in Fuel to Save $1.00 on the Cost of Your Stove?

That is what you do when you buy a cheaply constructed, putty jointed, showy made imitation stove. Like all successful inventions, Cole's Original Hot Blast has many inferior imitations, avoid them. They all lack the patented features and careful construction, which make the Original Hot Blast a great success. They do not stay tight and soon open seams and cracks which render them worthless as fire keepers. See the name "Cole's Hot Blast from Chicago" on the feed door. None genuine without it.

Saves All Wasted With Other Stoves For Hard Coal, Soft Coal or Lignite

The waste of gas in burning hard coal is shown by opening the magazine cover of an ordinary base burner, when the oxygen supplied fills the entire stove with flaming gas. Cole's Hot Blast stove burns this gas in hard coal which, in ordinary stoves, escapes, on account of their leaky construction, causing great waste and endangering health and life when it escapes into the rooms.

In the ordinary magazine hard coal stove, three-fourths of the coal is partially consumed in the magazine, where it gives off no heat, as it is not in contact with the radiating surface. The one-fourth of the coal in the fire pot must be kept at a white heat combustion to throw the heat into the rooms, thus causing great waste.

Cole's Original Hot Blast

The combustion chamber and the magazine are combined in this stove and the Combustion is Perfect. The stove is filled to the top of the inside cast iron lining. This large body of hard coal is burned under perfect control by means of the absolutely air-tight construction of the stove giving perfect control over the drafts. The coal is kept at a slow, economical cherry red combustion and as the heat is in direct contact with every square inch of the sensitive steel radiating surface, all the heat is radiated into the room where it is wanted and not blanketed in and sent up the chimney. Hard coal at Cherry Red Combustion burns 48 hours, while at white heat it is consumed in from 2 to 5 hours.

Sold Under a Positive Guarantee

We Guarantee Cole's Original Hot Blast to use less hard coal for heating a given space than any base burner with the same heating surface. Requires attention only morning and night with hard coal. Warm rooms day and night. No escaping gases to endanger life. The heat wasted up the chimney with other stoves is saved.

Burns Any Fuel—Saves Half

Cole's Hot Blast is not only a perfect hard coal stove, but is generally recognized as the most economical and cleanest soft coal stove made. Soft coal is half gas and a $3.00 ton of soft coal or a $2.00 ton of slack is made to do the work of $9.00 worth of hard coal, as the gas half is utilized as a heat producer. It burns soft coal, hard coal or wood without any change of fixtures.

Scientific Construction

Cole's Original Hot Blast has an absolutely air-tight and gas tight construction throughout, by reason of its numerous patented improvements. The patented Hot Blast draft saves the gas. A patented steel collar connects the elbow draft to the stove body and cannot be made to leak air by action of the fiercest heat. The patented compound hinge on the ash door cannot warp and the door closes air-tight by its own weight. The heavy fire box protects the joints, where other stoves burn out first. The guaranteed smoke-proof feed door prevents smoke, soot or dust from escaping into the room when fuel is put into the stove. Perfect cleanliness, therefore, from soft coal.

CAUTION. Like all original improvements, Cole's Original Hot Blast has many imitations: They are failures, because they do not have the above patented features. The words "Cole's Hot Blast from Chicago" will be found on the feed door of every Cole's Hot Blast. None genuine without it.

HAY FEVER

"Having used Peruna for catarrh and hay fever, I can recommend it to all who are suffering with the above diseases. I am happy to be able to say it has helped me wonderfully."
—Mayne E. Smith.

MISS MAYNE SMITH.
444 E. Mount Street, Columbus, Ohio.

HAY FEVER is endemic catarrh. It is caused by some irritating substance in the atmosphere during the late summer months. It is generally thought that the pollen of certain weeds and flowers is the cause of it. Change of locality seems to be the only rational cure. The use of Peruna, however, stimulates the nervous system to resist the effect of the poisonous emanations and sometimes carries the victim through the hay fever season without an attack of the disease. A large number of people rely upon Peruna for this purpose. Those who do not find it convenient to change their location to avoid Hay Fever, would do well to give Peruna a trial. It has proven of priceless value to many people.

When Woman Isn't Young.

The report is that a local religious institution which is for "young women" has drawn the deadline of age at 35. Every woman over that age will be marked 23 and requested to skidoo. This is painful. It is unkind. What is worse, it is impracticable. We are glad the task is to be performed by women. No man nor set of men would ever have dared tackle such a problem—not they. This is simply another example of woman's inhumanity to woman.

We have been told for many ages that a woman is as old as she looks and a man is as old as he feels. Just now, we say it with regret, most women look like 60 and most men feel like Methuselah. But the general rule seems a good one. It is a plain, unpalatable fact that women will deceive as to their age as long as possible and then openly lie about it. There are many women who were born during the ravages of the civil war who still claim sweetly to be in the thirties.

Differences.

SICK FOR TEN YEARS.

Constant Backache, Dropsy and Severe Bladder Trouble.

Fred W. Harris, of Chestnut St., Jefferson, Ohio, says: "For over ten years I suffered from kidney disease. The third year my feet and hands would swell and remain puffed up for days at a time. I seemed to have a constant backache. Finally I got so bad that I was laid up in bed with several doctors in attendance. I thought surely I would die. I changed medicine and began using Doan's Kidney Pills when I was still in bed. The relief I found was so great that I kept on until I had taken about ten boxes. The kidney secretions became natural and after years of misery I was cured. I have increased in weight, and show no symptoms of my former trouble."

PICK HEARST FOR GOVERNOR

NEW YORK INDEPENDENTS SELECT EDITOR FOR CHIEF.

Democratic Offer of Fusion Is Spurned by Delegates, Who Name a Straight Ticket.

New York, Sept. 13.—In a harmonious and enthusiastic final session in Carnegie hall Wednesday night the state convention of the Independence League put into the field a straight ticket of state officers to be voted for at the coming election. The delegates cheered for 33 minutes when Mr. Hearst appeared on the platform to make a brief speech of acceptance. His address aroused much enthusiasm.

The convention drafted a reply to William J. Connors and other Democrats who had written suggesting possible fusion with the Democrats and suggesting that no nominations be made by the independents at this time.

The reply expressed thanks for the interest of the Democrats and sympathy for the rank and "file in their honest endeavor to wrest the Buffalo convention from the control of the bosses," but said the Independence League could not postpone the business it had been assembled to carry out.

The straight ticket was named without equivocation. The committee on resolutions had been entrusted with the task of hearing the claims of various candidates and naming a tentative ticket. Its report was unanimous and so was the approval of the delegation.

The session was called to order at nine o'clock. Mr. Hearst appeared on the stage at ten o'clock and was cheered for more than half an hour. He spoke for ten minutes and the convention adjourned sine die at 10:43.

A tragic incident of the hour before the convention met, known, however, to but few of the delegates, was the sudden death of Col. Theodore Mills, formerly of Texas, a delegate from the Fourteenth assembly district of New York, who escorted his daughter to her seat in the gallery and died of heart disease upon his return to the floor of the convention.

BODY OF MILLIONAIRE FOUND.

Missing Philadelphia Manufacturer Probably Committed Suicide.

Philadelphia, Sept. 15.—The body of Henry K. Wampole, the wealthy Philadelphia manufacturer of chemicals who had been missing for several days, was found in the East river, at New York. He had undoubtedly committed suicide.

Mr. Wampole's mind became unbalanced through worry over business entanglements. A trusted employee of the firm of Wampole & Co., in Canada, was short a large sum of money, and Mr. Wampole brooded over the matter until he became insane. While in New York last week in a hotel he eluded the vigilance of the trained nurse who was caring for him and drowned himself, the body not being found until Thursday night. Meanwhile the police were scouring the country for traces of him. Mr. Wampole was 57 years old.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP BEATEN

Proposition to Build Street Railway Defeated at Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 13.—Municipal ownership of street railways as represented in a proposal to bond the city of Seattle in the sum of $4,272,000, of which $1,172,000 was to be charged against the general fund of the city and the balance to be an indebtedness against 20 per cent. of the gross receipts of the system when in operation, was defeated at a special election held Wednesday.

Out of a total of approximately 13,000 votes cast, municipal ownership lacked 935 of a majority.

It was proposed to build a great municipal street railway system that would parallel and extend beyond the lines of the Seattle Electric Railway company, owned by Boston capitalists.

CONVICTS, THREE OF LAND FRAUD

Oregon Jury Returns Verdict Against Three Prominent Men.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 14.—State Senator Franklin Pierce Mays, ex-Representative Willard L. Jones and George Sorenson stand convicted in the Blue mountain land fraud case.

The sealed verdict returned by the jury at 1:45 o'clock Tuesday morning was read in the federal court when it opened, finding all three defendants guilty of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the creation of the Blue mountain forest reserve.

Revolutionist Deported.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 15.—The Nogales Times says that Abram Jose Salcido, president of the Douglas Junta of Mexican revolutionists, has been turned over by United States Immigration Inspector George Webb, at that place, to the Mexican authorities and taken to Hermosillo, capital of Sonora. He was deported, it is said, on the order of the secretary of commerce and labor on the grounds of being an undesirable foreigner.

Fatal Auto Accident.

New York, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Michael Kane and Mrs. James Quinn, crossing a street in Far Rockaway, were struck by an automobile. Mrs. Quinn died soon after being taken to a hospital. Her companion escaped with slight bruises.

SUGGESTIONS THAT MAY PROVE A PRESENT HELP.

Some Pretty Ways for Entertaining the Fortunate Modern Bride—The "Book Shower" One of Them—Game for Children.

The bride of to-day is a very lucky individual, for, besides her wedding presents, she has all sorts of delightful affairs given by her intimate friends. There are "stocking," "handkerchief," "plate and cup and saucer," "linen," "book," "flower," "kitchen" and "novelty" showers. Some or all of these functions are likely to fall to the lot of a girl who announces her engagement, and who gives her friends this opportunity to show their good will. Great care should be taken that only one's nearest and dearest friends are asked to parties of this kind; strangers or mere calling acquaintances should not be asked to contribute, for it would be embarrassing both to the giver and the recipient; this is one of the instances where a hostess must be sure of who the bride-elect would like to be present. Remember that the "gift without the giver is bare."

One of the very latest fads is a "turnover collar shower." Each guest is asked to bring material for a turnover and her thimble, and at the conclusion of an afternoon the fair (we take it for granted that adjective applies, as it seems to be the prerogative of a bride to be termed thusly) bride-to-be will have a number of these useful accessories to her trousseau.

The "book shower" must be arranged by a person who can find out what volumes the recipient does not possess, so there will not be duplicates. The name of the donor with an inscription will greatly enhance the value of the gift, and it is safe to say that this collection will be more than prized when placed upon the book shelves of the new home. The handkerchief and linen showers are both pretty. Each article can be thrown at the bride until she is fairly buried under the white offering.

The "china" shower is always a favorite, and a unique way was devised for the stocking shower by having a large "shoe" candy box in the center of the luncheon table with a ribbon going to each place; when the ribbons were pulled all drew out favors except the honored guest, who drew out a number of white packages, all rolled tight in white tissue paper—a pair of silk hose from each guest present.

A flower shower is the very prettiest of all, and should be given the day before the wedding. Each guest brings a bunch of flowers, and the bride is literally showered with blossoms from a huge floral ball suspended in a doorway. Have a large ball made of wire, cover with moss, and fill closely with flowers; carnations make a perfect sphere. The ball is made in halves and filled with rose petals. When farewells are being said the hostess pulls a ribbon which separates the two halves, releasing the petals, which fall upon the young woman who is about to leave the realm of single blessedness for the new and unknown way. This scattering rose leaves on the pathway of a bride is a very old custom.

A Game for Children.

Form a circle and cast lots or take a vote as to who shall be the "hunter-man." When chosen, the hunter proceeds to give a name to each person—one becomes his coat, another his hat, gun, belt, shoe, etc. The hunter then walks around on the outside of the circle, and calls for each article in turn. As they are called each person arises and takes hold of the person in front of him, the first person having attached himself to the hunter's coat tails. When all are going at a rather rapid pace, the hunter suddenly calls "bang!" then all, including the hunter, rush for a seat, and the one left must become the hunter.

NEED OF SLEEP VARIES.

Much Depends on Temperament and Whether Mental or Physical Fatigue.

How long a woman should sleep each night depends upon the kind of work she does and upon temperament. If she is nervous more rest and sleep are required than for one of a phlegmatic nature, according to a physician who has specialized along these lines.

"The number of hours of sleep a woman or man gets is usually a habit governed by their mode of living," she says, "and for this reason one can easily regulate the time to have sufficient rest."

"The accepted time for sleep is eight hours, and for the average individual this is enough, but if less is needed then the extra time can be spent in some profitable way, while if nine or ten hours are required they should be taken, even if the recreation period has to be cut short. For a woman who does not get enough sleep is not only never a success in business, but is irritable in her home and undoubtedly is encouraging mental breakdown and nervous prostration, either of which is bound to follow in time.

The amount of sleep needed depends largely upon the work done during the day. If it is mental more rest should be taken, for with physical labor the body may be more wearied, but it recuperates much more quickly than the brain. A woman who is nervous needs from two to three hours more each night than one who is not, especially if her business keeps her working at high tension, yet few extractable persons ever get enough sleep, for it seems almost impossible for them to stay quiet a sufficient length of time to be properly rested."

BOTH PRETTY AND EFFECTIVE.

Description of Costume Worn at French Bathing Resort.

Yesterday afternoon, on the planches, I saw a most effective white frock, accompanied by a big Tuscan hat and a very long veil of dark emerald-green gauze, writes a correspondent from Trouville, France. The whole turn-out was chic as possible and entirely uncommon; the woman who wore this pretty costume was very dark, with a complexion of ivory and with vivid red lips. The bright green veil suited her to a charm. In Paris it certainly would have looked bizarre, but near the sea it was quite suitable. Pale blue veils are generally becoming, but pure white is best of all; it is always flattering to the skin and with burnt straw or Tuscan it is adorable.

"Nap" Promotes Beauty.

Some people have the gift of sleep and others haven't. The secret of more than one notable instance of beautiful mothers and grandmothers is acknowledged to be due directly to the power of sleep, to take a quiet little nap at any time of the day, when a busy afternoon or long evening is before them. It really seems, then, one of the cleverest attainments open to the eternal feminine, this capacity of capturing 40 winks whenever she pleases.

SECOND HAND MAIL BOXES.

Why a Little Village May Have Big Numbers in Its Post Office.

The man who was spending his summer vacation in the country was looking quizzically at the mail boxes in the rural post office.

"I did not know this was such a large place," he said. "I thought it had a population of only about 4,000, but the mail box numbers run much higher than that, and I don't suppose every one in town rents a box either."

"The postmaster peered out of his little barred window.

"I can explain that," he said. "You see the country post offices never get new boxes, but we have those left over when the city establishments make over their offices and get new boxes. So you see lots of country places are bound to have high number boxes.

"Although our numbers run over 4,000, you won't find any less than 1,000, some other country post office drew the lower ones. I myself would rather get the big numbers, for it makes us seem like a bustling little city."

Nothing Succeeds Like "EGG-O-SEE."

The man who preaches the best sermon; the man who tells the best stories; the man who keeps the best store, or the man who makes the best goods, soon finds that people come to him. Merit is the best advertisement in the world. People speak well of things they know are good. They pass the good word along.

The best breakfast food is "EGG-O-SEE, for it contains all the life-giving properties of nature's best food, which is Wheat.

EGG-O-SEE is deeply in debt to the thousands of wives and mothers who use it in their homes, for these good women tell their neighbors about this great food.

Children and aged persons alike are friends of EGG-O-SEE. Merit and common sense are things that advertise EGG-O-SEE most. EGG-O-SEE is cheap. A 10-cent package contains ten liberal breakfasts. EGG-O-SEE is sold everywhere. Grocers must keep it if they want to keep their good customers, for good customers insist on buying EGG-O-SEE.

The fact that no preparation, no cooking, is required, makes EGG-O-SEE very popular. Open the package; put in as much as you like in a dish; pour on milk or cream and eat. It is delicious. It is wholesome. It makes you strong.

A lot of interesting facts about EGG-O-SEE have been published in book form entitled, "—back to nature." This book also has a course of physical culture—fully illustrated. Anyone wishing this book will receive it free by addressing EGG-O-SEE Company, 10 First St., Quincy, Ill.

Twelve Good Rules.

Speaking of rules: Do you remember or can you recollect the "Twelve Good Rules" of King Charles I? They are worth pasting in your hat for daily perusal. In case you do not care to memorize them:

1. Urge no heathens.
2. Profane no divine ordinance.
3. Touch no state matters.
4. Reveal no secrets.
5. Pick no quarrels.
6. Make no comparisons.
7. Maintain no ill opinions.
8. Keep no bad company.
9. Encourage no vice.
10. Make no long meals.
11. Repeat no grievances.
12. Lay no wagers.—New York Press.

"Cut out hot cream of tartar biscuits" used to be a common, every-day remark among physicians when discussing items of diet for their patients. But alum baking powder biscuits are never mentioned in this respect. Why? Because it's the cream of tartar that is objectionable and injurious, and yet there are some people who to-day continue to use the old cream of tartar baking powder, and wonder why they are always ailing.

No Fear.

"Bridget," said Mrs. Hiram Offer, sternly, "on my way home just now I saw that policeman who was in the kitchen with you so long last evening, and I took occasion to speak to him—"

"Oh! shure, that's all right, ma'am," interrupted Bridget, "O'm not jealous. O! boy him cinched."

Arrangements were made to take a sunlight photograph at the bottom of the shaft of a mine 2,000 feet deep at Sombroere, in Mexico, on June 21, the only day in the year when the sun shines there. Even then its rays touch the bottom of the mine for only three minutes.

STOMACH PAINS

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Brought Relief, and Cure for Spitting Headaches as Well.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a remedy which has been before the American people for a generation, is still accomplishing wonderful results as is evidenced by the following interview with Mrs. Rachael Gardner, of Wilsey, Kans.

"It was very strange," she says, "I never could tell what caused it and neither could anybody else. For a long time I had bad spells with my stomach. The pain would commence about my heart and was so deadly agonizing that I would have to scream aloud. Sometimes it would last several hours and I would have to take laudanum to stop it. Besides this I had a headache almost constantly, day and night, that nearly crazed me, so you see I suffered a great deal. And when I think of the agony I endured it still makes me shudder.

"Doctors," did you say? Their medicine made me sicker. I couldn't take it and I kept growing worse until a friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I did. I began to feel better and was soon wholly converted to this wonderful medicine. It did me more good than I had ever hoped for. I kept on with the pills and now I recommend them to all who suffer."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured severe cases of indigestion, bloodlessness, influenza, headaches, backaches, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, nervousness and spinal weakness. The genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drugs and cannot injure the most delicate system. At all druggists, or from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.

FIGHT ON SULLIVAN NOT PERSONAL ONE

MR. BRYAN REITERATES OPPOSITION TO REPRESENTATIVES OF CORPORATIONS.

Declares Party Cannot Successfully Fight Trusts While Their Agents Hold High Places in the Democratic Councils.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14.—The reply of William J. Bryan to the statement of Roger Sullivan, of Chicago, was given out Thursday night. Mr. Bryan had said that he would not lower the discussion with Mr. Sullivan to one of personal controversy. The text of his reply follows:

"In his speech before the Jefferson club in Chicago on the evening of September 4, Mr. Bryan referred to the case of Mr. Roger Sullivan, Democratic national committeeman from Illinois. Mr. Sullivan has replied in a statement quite characteristic of the man and his methods, but he will not be permitted to lower this discussion to the level of a personal controversy. The public is not interested in Mr. Sullivan's views of Mr. Bryan any more than it would be interested in Mr. Bryan's views concerning Mr. Sullivan, were Mr. Bryan to deal with Mr. Sullivan's personality. Mr. Sullivan is the Democratic national committeeman from Illinois, holding his office by virtue of unfair methods. This matter was presented to the St. Louis convention and the evidence would have convinced the convention had not the delegates feared the effect of an adverse decision upon the presidential candidate whom they were pledged to support. If Mr. Sullivan disputes the assertion that a considerable majority of the delegates to the Springfield convention were opposed to him he can fight out the question with the Majority league of Illinois, which will doubtless accommodate him.

Question of Candidacy.

"As Mr. Bryan has not asked for a nomination and has not announced that he will be a candidate, he will not submit the question whether he should be a candidate to Mr. Sullivan or to any body of persons less numerous than the members of the Democratic party of the United States. Neither can the question as to whether Mr. Sullivan should be reelected to the national committee be submitted to the members of a convention already adjourned. Such a decision would have no binding force. The question must be submitted to the Democrats of Illinois when they meet to select delegates to the next national convention, and Mr. Sullivan will not be permitted to dodge the issue that is raised against him. He is officially connected with a favor-seeking, franchise-holding corporation, and the question is whether the Democratic organization should be paralyzed by the influence of men whose private interest make it impossible for them to be guardians of the public.

Must Bar Corporation Men.

"In speaking of the Sullivan case at Chicago, Mr. Bryan said: 'I hold that no man who is officially connected with a corporation that is seeking privileges ought to act as a member of a political organization, because he cannot represent his corporation and the people at the same time. He cannot serve the public while he is seeking to promote the financial interests of the corporation with which he is connected.'

"This is the issue. Before the trust question became the dominate one it was not so important what a man's corporate connections were, but when this question is the supreme question of the hour the party organization must be above suspicion, and the Democrats of Illinois and all other states are invited to inspect the connections of those who aspire to the position of party managers. The people cannot be fooled and the party that attempts to fool them is sure to learn of its mistake when the votes are counted. "Mr. Bryan will urge the Democratic party to put itself in a position where it can fight boldly and persistently for the regulation of such corporations as are not monopolistic and for the prevention of any private monopoly whatever. To this end, the organization must be composed of men who are free to act for the public and not tied by personal interests to corporations which are seeking favor at the public's expense."

HELD FOR ALLEGED LAND FRAUD

Man Arrested in Kansas City on Indictment Returned in New Mexico.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 15.—Carl C. Young, traveling auditor of the Panhandle & Peoria Valley Land company, with offices in Kansas City, Roswell, N. M., Chicago and other cities, was arrested here Friday by a deputy United States marshal on an indictment returned in New Mexico in April last, charging him and others with being implicated in alleged government land frauds in that territory. Mr. Young was given a hearing before United States Commissioner J. H. Nuckolls and released on bond for appearance before the federal court at Albuquerque at the fall term.

The Age of Lead.

We are wont to speak of this era as the "age of iron," and there is no gainsaying that, industrially speaking, iron is a "precious metal."

Nevertheless, few people realize how useful, if not absolutely necessary, to modern civilization, is that other metal, lead. Soft, yielding, pliable, it is not much like its sister metal, but those distinguishing qualities are what give it such a prominent place in the arts and industries.

Modern plumbing, requiring many turnings and twistings, with tight joints, would be almost impossible without lead pipe. The greatest civilizing agent in the world—the printing art—is absolutely dependent on lead. Hand-set type, linotype "slugs," monotype type—all are made of compositions of which lead is the chief component—to say nothing of the bearings in the presses as well as all other kinds of machinery in which "babbitt" metal is used.

Solder is another lead product—what a field of usefulness that one form opens up.

Then there is the most important use of all to which lead is put—paint, that necessary material which keeps our houses looking pretty—inside and out—and preserves them from decay.

How many of us thank metallic lead for the comforts of paint? Yet the best house paint is nothing but metallic lead corroded by acid to a white powder known as "white lead." Of course, there are many imitations of "white lead," some of which are sold as white lead and some which are offered by the name of ready-prepared paint under the familiar pretense that they are "just as good" as white lead. But all good paint is made of the metal, lead, corroded and ground to a fine white powder and mixed with linseed oil.

White lead is also used in the coating of fine oil cloths and for many purposes besides paint.

"Red lead" is another product of metallic lead and is what is known as an oxide of lead, being produced by burning the metal. Red lead is the best paint known to preserve iron, steel or tin, and is used largely in painting metal structures, such as skyscraper skeletons, mills and bridges.

There are many other products of the metal lead, such as litharge, orange mineral, etc., which are essential to many of the arts in which we never imagine that lead would be of the least use.

Verily, we live in an age of lead as well as of iron.

HOW MANY OF US?

Fail to Select Food Nature Demands to Ward Off Ailments.

A Ky. lady, speaking about food, says: "I was accustomed to eating all kinds of ordinary food until, for some reason, indigestion and nervous prostration set in."

"After I had run down seriously my attention was called to the necessity of some change in my diet, and I discontinued my ordinary breakfast and began using Grape-Nuts with a good quantity of rich cream."

"In a few days my condition changed in a remarkable way, and I began to have a strength that I had never been possessed of before, a vigor of body and a peace of mind that amazed me. It was entirely new in my experience."

"My former attacks of indigestion had been accompanied by heat flashes, and many times my condition was distressing, with blind spells of dizziness, rush of blood to the head and neuralgic pains in the chest."

"Since using Grape-Nuts alone for breakfast I have been free from these troubles, except at times when I have indulged in rich, greasy foods in quantity, then I would be warned by a pain under the left shoulder blade, and unless I heeded the warning the old trouble would come back, but when I finally got to know where these troubles originated I returned to my Grape-Nuts and cream and the pain and disturbance left very quickly."

"I am now in prime health as a result of my use of Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

New York, Aug. 30.—The preliminary statement of the Erie Railroad for the fiscal year ended June 30th, 1906, made public to-day, shows gross earnings of over $50,000,000, an increase over the previous year of $4,277,000, and an increase in net of $1,547,000.

Of the increase in working expenses, $2,730,000, an expenditure of more than one-million dollars was in maintenance of the roadway, which was given an unusually liberal allowance of new steel rail and ties. Operating expenses during the same period had an additional charge of $1,000,000, in rehabilitating the equipment, the result being that the power has been placed in an excellent condition for increased business. The additional expenditures in the improvement of the roadway and equipment are manifestly in the right direction and are a direct addition to the assets of the Company.

Not the least interesting showing is that the Company incurred an additional expense of only $100,000, in conducting the transportation of over $4,000,000, additional gross earnings. This is a further indication that the improvements which have been completed are producing the desired results in lessening the cost of transportation. About $2,000,000 of the Company's income was used for further improvements of the property during the year, an increase of $566,000 over the previous year.

The Company is now better prepared to handle a largely increased business than ever before in its history.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers twenty-five years.

The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, her advice has been freely given to sick women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is every foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Following we publish two letters from a woman who accepted this invitation. Note the result:

First letter.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham— "For eight years I have suffered something terrible every month. The pains are excruciating and I can hardly stand them. My doctor says I have a severe female trouble, and I must go through an operation if I want to get well. I do not want to submit to it if I can possibly help it. Please tell me what to do. I hope you can relieve me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmock, 50th and E. Capitol Streets, Washington, D. C.

Second letter.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham— "After following carefully your advice, and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am very anxious to send you my testimonial, that others may know their value and what you have done for me."

"George, you big goose, I told you never to call on me unless you had been shaved."

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J. McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

LOCAL ITEMS

Lovely Day for Visitors.
Sunday was as fine a summer day as we have had this season, and several hundred people were brought in by the railroad to take advantage of the lake's attraction. A special brought in two carloads from the Effner division, and the regular 11:28 had four extra coaches from Terre Haute and points intervening. The day was warm for rowing but the smoothness of the water made it safe for the women and children to go out, and the bathing house was patronized by a considerable number to whom the fascination of a cool plunge was irresistible. While the excursion season proper is almost closed, continued warm weather will probably induce the railroad to offer the special Sunday rates for several weeks. October may be counted on to make these weekly outings attractive, and even into November there will doubtless be a large number who will spend their Sundays at Culver. With the turning of the foliage to autumn's glow the lake will be more beautiful than ever.

Saine's Shoes Stolen.
About three weeks ago Saine & Son lost 11 1/2 pairs of men's $2 shoes from a shipment which came over the Nickel Plate to Hibbard. The boxes in one of the cases had been emptied and the boxes replaced in the case. In one of the boxes one shoe had been left. The matter was reported at once and the detective force of the Nickel Plate was put to work with the result that inside of two weeks two men were arrested at Knox and a portion of the plunder was recovered. Whether the thieves are residents of Knox the Saines have not learned, but as the men and property were found at that place so long after the robbery it is probable that Knox was their home.

A Farm Fire.
John Murray, living at the south end of the lake, lost a small building by fire at 9 o'clock Monday night. The building stood between the house and barn with but little space intervening, but notwithstanding the family had retired they were able to save the larger structures. The shed was used as a coal house and contained four or five tons. The property was insured in the Home Mutual company of Marshall county. Mr. Murray is unable to state how the fire originated.

New Farm Cottage.
M. R. Cline has the contract for erecting a seven-room cottage for Ed South on the latter's farm in Green township.

Notice to Tax Payers.
Treasurer's Office, Marshall county, Plymouth, Ind., Sept. 17, 1906.
The tax receipts are written for the fall installment of 1905, which will become delinquent the first Monday in November, after which the law compels a penalty of 10 percent to be added. Ditch tax becomes delinquent on the same date as current taxes. If you have reason to believe you have ditch tax, call the treasurer's attention to it. Persons owing delinquent taxes should pay them at once as the present law is of such a character that there is no option left to the treasurer. I wish to save the taxpayers all the expense I can. Please take notice and govern yourselves accordingly.
JONES GRANT,
Treas. Marshall Co.

A Permanent Jeweler.
Having been requested by many to make this my permanent location, I have decided to do so. I will be located at the Culver Department store, doing general repair work in jewelry, watches and clocks, and optical work. If you are in need of anything in the jewelry or silverware line, call and get my prices. I can save you money. D. E. OVERMAN,
Jeweler and Optician.
Public Sale, Friday, Sept. 28, 5 1/2 miles southwest of Plymouth, 1/2 mile south of Trinity church, and 3/4 mile west of Twin Lakes station, two mares, hogs, and farming implements. Property of James R. Doty.
Your choice of any torchon lace we have at 5c per yard. Porter & Co.'s.
