Remind Taxpayers Of Deadline for Final Payments

Thousands of farmers, businessmen, and other taxpayers of the Indiana district were reminded this week by Ralph W. Cripe, collector of Internal Revenue, that January 15 is the deadline for making final payments on or amending 1949 Declarations of Estimated Tax.

Under the law, the due date will be January 15, but since that date falls on Sunday this year, payments, declarations, and final returns made on Monday, January 16, will be treated as timely received.

In case of farmers, Collector Cripe explained, a new law permits them to dispense with filing or making payment on a Declaration of Estimated Tax if they file and pay in full their final returns for 1949 not later than January 31. If a farmer does not expect to file his return by that time, he must file and make payment on a Declaration by January 16 and then can take until March 15 to file his final return.

Business and professional people, investors, and other subject to filing Declarations, amended Declarations, or making payments on January 15, may also substitute their final returns but must do so by January 15.

Generally speaking, wage earners are not involved in the January 15 filing date because, under the pay-as-you-go system, their taxes are substantially paid in advance by the withholding of income tax from their wages.

In order to provide a pay-as-you-go method for other taxpayers, the law requires a Declaration of Estimated Tax from any person who in a year expects to have more than $100 of income outside of wages from which tax is withheld, and gross income of $500 or more, or any person whose expected wages (even though subject to withholding) exceed $1,500 plus $500 for each exemption to which he is entitled (for instance, $6,200 for a man entitled to exemptions for himself, his wife, and one dependent).

Except for farmers, these declarations are due by March 15 of the same year in which the income is expected. Thus, most 1949 Declarations were due on March 15, 1949, and quarterly payments have been made on them since. The last of these quarterly payments is due by January 15.

Bank's Financial Statement Shows Healthy Growth

A remarkable growth in the volume of business is shown in the year end combined statement of The State Exchange Bank of Culver and Argos and the Farmers State Bank of Laporte. The detailed and official report is carried elsewhere in today's Citizen.

The combined statement of both banks which are under the same management shows a healthy growth and a substantial increase in the volume of business notwithstanding the fact that many banks have seen their deposits shrink within the past year.

"Naturally we are proud of the fine growth of our institution as reflected in the current report on the condition of our bank," W. O. Osborn said yesterday.

Mr. Osborn paid high tribute to the personnel of the bank, pointing out that "every member of our organization appreciates opportunities of extending service to our customers and all realize that the biggest thing we have to sell is 'service'."

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE

He was kind to his wife, but cruel to his widow. That is what they said about him. While he was still living, he gave his wife all the comforts of a good home. He didn't think about the future. When he was gone, the income he earned for his family stopped. He had failed to buy life insurance.

That sort of thing happens every day. Do you want it to happen to your widow? Do you want people to say about you: "He was kind to his wife, but cruel to his widow." Of course not.

What Can The People Believe?

When the anti-trust lawyers in Washington filed their suit to put the A&P out of business, they immediately handed out for all the newspapers of the United States a story giving in detail their "allegations" against this company.

When we published advertisements giving our side of the case, they protested, even though they had made, and have continued to make, in newspapers, in speeches and over the radio these charges that would seriously damage our business, if they were believed by the public.

Every week millions of American housewives patronize A&P stores. Many of them would not want to deal with the kind of people that the anti-trust lawyers represent us to be.

We think we have a right to protect this 90-year old business which has made it possible for millions of American families to get more and better food for their money, which is providing high-wage employment for 110,000 Americans and which is helping millions of farmers to improve the methods of distributing their produce.

No answer by us would be necessary if the anti-trust lawyers were always right.

But they, like all other human beings, can be wrong.

In this case we know they are wrong.

They have been wrong before.

In case after case they made charges against A&P which were proved in court to be utterly without foundation.

We will prove that statement right up to the hilt.

The anti-trust lawyers tell the public that they won a previous anti-trust suit against us at Danville, Illinois. They did.

What they do not tell you is that they brought case after case against the A&P in federal courts all over the United States. Before they won this case they suffered three defeats.

The anti-trust lawyers have told everybody about the time that the courts said they were right. We think you are entitled to know about the three times the courts said they were wrong.

Now we are going to tell you about the first one. In future advertisements we will tell you about all of them.

The Washington Bread Case

In April, 1941, the anti-trust lawyers brought a criminal suit in Washington, D. C.

They charged that the A&P, two grocery chain competitors, two labor unions and other good American citizens had conspired to fix the price of bread.

Can anyone imagine any charge calculated to be more damaging to a retail grocery business? They asked millions of people to believe that we were the kind of grocers who would take bread out of the mouths of poor people and make it harder for a wife and mother to feed her family.

These charges were false.

In that case it developed that the A&P and the two competitors who were charged with conspiring with us to maintain high bread prices actually sold bread cheaper than most of the other stores in Washington.

The anti-trust lawyers presented and argued their case. When they were through, Federal District Judge Allen T. Goldsborough ruled that A&P and the other defendants did not even have to put in a defense. He ordered the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

Judge Goldsborough said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all.

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

So here was a case in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against the A&P, in support of which, in the words of the court, they did not have "any evidence at all."

This was not the only time the anti-trust lawyers made charges against the A&P which the courts said were not true. In future ads we are going to tell you about these other suits. We are not going to duck, either. We are going to tell you about the criminal suit that the anti-trust lawyers won at Danville, Illinois.

The anti-trust lawyers say that they are not attacking "bigness" or efficiency. They have to say that because the courts have decided that "bigness" and efficiency and selling at low prices is not a crime.

But the fact is crystal clear that they only brought their bread suit against the big companies and against companies that sold good bread at the lowest prices; just as in this current suit they are attacking a big company that sells good food cheap.

We are going to show the American people that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency and against real competition.

The real question involved in this suit is whether businessmen are going to be encouraged to do a better and more efficient job; or whether we are going to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on anybody who gets big by giving the people more for their money.

No one can make us believe that it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.

JAPAN IS BECOMING HEALTHIER

Widespread health measures introduced into Japan since the end of World War II have resulted in a marked upturn for the nation's health, a survey recently made by occupation authorities has disclosed.

Smallpox, as a result of a nation-wide vaccination campaign, now is reported under control, as compared to 1946 when 18,000 cases were reported. The use of DDT has greatly reduced the incidence of typhus and tuberculosis deaths have fallen off by one-third in the last three years.

The overall result of the establishment of health and welfare centers can be seen in Japan's present death rate, the lowest in its modern history.

Revenue stamps were required in the U. S. in 1862 to help defray the emergency costs of the Civil War.

Fish heads and spoiled fish are used by canneries to make fertilizer and are important by-product of the industry.

Line 9. Subtract line 8 from line 7 and enter difference here.
Line 10. Enter here the $1,000 ($3,000 for retail merchants) exemption allowed every taxpayer. If earnings are taxable for less than one year, an exemption of $83.33 ($250 for retail merchants) for each taxable month of earnings should be entered, one half month or over is regarded as a full month. The exemptions can not be combined. The $3,000 exemption can be taken only in Column 1.
Line 11. Subtract your exemption shown in line 10 from taxable gross income shown in line 9 and enter the difference here.
Line 12. Multiply your gross income tax rate (1 per cent, 1/2 per cent, or 1/4 per cent, according to your tax bracket) as indicated at the top of the column in which all of your entries appear, times the total shown in Line 11; then carry this total to column 4.
Lines 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17. These lines are to be filled in only by those taxpayers having a tax liability in excess of $10 per quarter who should have, for the first three quarters of the year, filed a quarterly return in addition to the present annual filing. No fourth quarter return is necessary because the Annual return covers and includes this period. Enter in lines 13 through 15 total remittances for each quarter; in line 16 show the total of all quarterly remittance of Gross Income Tax only and in line 17 subtract line 16 from line 12 thus showing the balance of Gross Income Tax due on the year's income.

The Bonus Tax
If you have completed filling out Schedule "A" in accordance with the preceding outline, all computations of your Gross Income Tax are completed. The next step to complete your filing is to make the computations of your tax liability in Schedule "B" for the new World War II Bonus Tax which is in addition to the Gross Income Tax but applies only to gross income received on and after July 1, 1949. If you received more than $500 taxable gross income during the last half of 1949 and your entire taxable gross income (Line 11 of Schedule A) for the year exceeded $1,000 you are also subject to the Bonus Tax and must fill in Schedule "B" accordingly.

Citizen

Everyone receiving over $1,000 ($3,000 for retail merchants) in total earnings in or from the State of Indiana during 1949, must file a copy of the new 1949 Gross Income Tax and World War II Bonus Tax form with accompanying tax remittance before midnight, January 31, or be subject to penalty and interest for delinquent filing.

Illustrated here is the top half of this new form, including Schedule "A" in which all computations of your Gross Income Tax should appear. Notice that Schedule "B" for computation of the new Bonus Tax has been torn from the illustration and will be explained later.

First check the heading of your pre-addressed form and make sure your name, address and Social Security Number are correctly entered. If you did not receive this form by mail, get one from your nearest auto license branch or write direct to the Indiana Department of State Revenue, 141 S. Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

After the heading of your form, is properly filled in, you are ready to begin computing your tax. The first consideration is to determine your tax rate:

NOTE—Your gross income tax rate can be determined by classifying yourself in one of these four categories.

I. If you are an employee (salaries, wages, commissions, fees or other personal service income) your Gross Income Tax rate is 1 per cent. And all computations of your tax under Schedule "A" are recorded in Column 2 in the center of the illustration.

II. If you are a retail merchant—gross receipts from selling goods at retail are taxable at a rate of 1 1/2 of 1 per cent. And all computations are made in Column 1 of Schedule "A." Note: Corporations and Partnerships must file on special forms. See Article 3 for further details.

III. If you are a jobber or wholesaler—your gross receipts are taxable at a rate of 1/4 of 1 per cent. Column 3 should be used for computations of this tax.

IV. Businesses not classified in II or III—are taxable on their gross receipts at a rate of 1 per cent. And computations of tax should be made in Column 2 of Schedule "A." If you are in doubt as to your tax rate see Official Form 5 furnished by the Department.

Referring now to Schedule "A," illustrated, the following is a step-by-step explanation of each of the 17 numbered lines on the left-hand side of the illustration which must be carefully read and an entry made in either Columns 1, 2 or 3 according to your tax rate as just explained.

Each Line of Schedule "A" Explained

Line 1. This, of course, should be filled in only by retail merchants, and should include all gross receipts from sales of merchandise (not fixtures) to consumers during the calendar year 1949. Place total gross receipts in Column 1. Your Gross Income Tax rate is 1 1/2 of 1 per cent.

Line 2. All gross receipts from selling at wholesale (sales to resellers) during 1949 should be entered in Column 3 taxable at 1/4 of 1 per cent. Gross receipts from businesses other than retailing or wholesaling, should be entered in Column 2, taxable at 1 per cent.

Line 3. Every taxpayer receiving earnings as an employee during 1949 must enter total gross earnings on this line in Column 2, taxable at 1 per cent.

Line 4. Report here gross receipts of cash, notes, etc. from sale of property, real or personal, tangible or intangible, or sale of capital assets and investments and receipts from maturity of intangibles. No deduction is allowed for cost of property sold or any other expense whatsoever. Enter total in Column 2 and explain each item in Schedule 1 on the reverse side of your form.

Line 5. Total returns from any of these items are taxable at 1 per cent and should be entered in Column 2, and listed in Schedule 1 on the reverse side of your form, whether received in cash or credited to your account: Interest-Dividends-Royalties-Rents or Receipts From Investments.

Line 6. If you received earnings during 1949 from sources other than those enumerated in lines 1 through 5, enter total in Column 2, and explain the sources of earnings in detail in Schedule 1 on reverse side of your form.

Line 7. You should now have entered in the six preceding items all gross income received during 1949 and totals of all gross income received should be entered here. If entries are made in more than one column carry totals directly down each column, add totals and enter grand total in Column 4.

Line 8. Schedule 2 on the reverse side of your Official Form explains allowable deductions from your gross receipts. If you are entitled to deductions, enter total here. (See article 3 for a detailed discussion of allowable

Scientific Devices to Feature
"House of Magic" Show Here Jan. 16

Robert E. Humphreys of General Electric's "House of Magic" demonstrating that no wires are necessary to make these fluorescent lamps glow fully. Invisible radio waves do the job.

"Seeing" around corners or through a brick wall might seem impossible at first thought, but it's an easy matter for the "micro-wave unit," one of the many scientific devices to be demonstrated at the General Electric "House of Magic" show at the Culver Community Building on Monday evening, January 16.

Employing principles of both radar and the electric eye, the "micro-wave unit" sees by means of high-frequency radio waves which are beamed at it by a mixing-bowl-shaped antenna on the transmitter.

Pulsating about two and one-half billion times a second, the transmitter sends out microwaves about five inches in length which can be reflected from dark or rough surfaces, passed through a brick wall, or directed in a circuitous path with the aid of a metal pipe.

waves are received by a similar type antenna and for demonstration purposes can be made to perform a number of tasks. When the microwaves are detected by the receiving unit it can, like the photoelectric eye, be made to operate a relay which in turn activates a bell, lights a lamp, or operates other devices.

In addition to being capable of performing such tasks as counting, diverting, opening, closing, discarding, signaling, limiting, and protecting, microwave transmission has been applied to television relay broadcasting. For several years, General Electric television station WRGB, Schenectady, employed a micro-wave relay system to bring television programs from New York City.

The educational show is being sponsored here by the Culver Lions Club. There will be no admission charge and the entire public is urged to see "The House of Magic."

A BACKWARD GLIMPSE

Although the year is already four days old, today's Citizen marks the first in the series of 52 issues for 1950 in which it will be our privilege to continue to record week by week the news and activities of this area.

It is interesting to note that today's issue also marks the first of the second half of the twentieth century. As the days speed on, it might be worth while to take a look backward to note the happenings, the events, and evidences of progress of the past year and also to check on the progress of the community for the past 50 years.

In last week's issue of the Citizen and continued in the current issue is a review of the news highlights of the community for 1949. In preparing this material, it is apparent that many things have happened in Culver in vicinity during 1949. In fact, so much happened that it becomes doubtful if there ever was a year when there was more activity in the community.

Statistically there is little to show that the community grew in population or for that matter, lost. There were 73 births reported through the past year and 111 deaths. The record shows that the temperature varied from zero in February to the nineties in July.

Leaving the statistical evidences, we find that was a year of both promise and some fulfillment in the field of civic enterprises, education, business, religious, and social activity. The high school band achieved new laurels in the regional and state competition during the early spring months. The Lions Club, the Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Culver City Club, the Home Economics Club, and other groups reached new program heights. Township officials initiated preliminary work for the forthcoming grade school building.

A Culver resident, Deane E. Walker, was elevated to the highest educational position in the State of Indiana. The Culver Military Academy saw the completion of and impressively marked the opening of several new buildings. In agriculture several local farmers added impressive laurels to their several achievements.

The year saw the formation of the Lake Association and the local Planning Council and both organizations initiated programs of civic betterment. Preliminary work towards improving sewage disposal took place.

Yes, it was a busy year and if the past serves as a criterion for the future, then, the immediate future holds forth much for the community.

Obituary
BYRDIE CATHERINE HAWK
Byrdie Catherine Hawk, daughter of Jacob and Edith Dawson Snyder, was born in Allen County, near Fort Wayne, Indiana, on March 13, 1873. She departed this life Sunday evening, January 1, 1950, at her home in Culver, after an illness of nearly three years. Her age was 76 years, 9 months and 18 days.
When a child she came to this community with her parents and has resided here since. On May 24, 1894, she was united in marriage to John A. Hawk, who survives her.
Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Callie Culter, Culver; Mrs. Ruth Campbell, Logansport; and Mrs. Mary Landis, Culver; and one son, Robert, of Goshen; one sister, Mrs. Delia Neidinger, Plymouth; four grandchildren, Mrs. Virginia Baker and Shirley Ann Ellam of Culver and Robert and Charles Campbell of Logansport; two great-grandchildren and other relatives and friends.
Mrs. Hawk attended the Grace Evangelical and Reformed church and was a member of the Pythian Sisters and Rebekah lodges. She was a devoted wife and mother, a good neighbor and always could find time to visit the sick and help neighbors in time of trouble.

SAVING EYESIGHT
OPTHALMOLOGY, that branch of medicine dealing with the eye, is keeping pace with medical progress. Man's precious eyesight is being preserved more and more by improved methods.
Trachoma was an incurable disease 15 short years ago. Due to the sulfonamides, it is rarely seen today. The aged patient with cataract 10 years ago was doomed to a prolonged waiting period of poor vision before he could expect surgical relief. Cataract patients now are operated as soon as vision falls below the patient's requirements for carrying on his duties.
Two decades ago parents of a child with crossed eyes generally were told to wait to see if the child's eyes would straighten by themselves. Today, treatment is started as early as two years, and often crossed eyes can be corrected without surgery. When surgery is called for, it should be done before school age to prevent damage to the personality of a child who differs so from his companions.
A few years ago conditions in which the retina or lining of the eye was torn loose were considered hopeless, while now more than half of these cases derive good results from surgery.
As medical science is making it possible for man to live longer, the science of ophthalmology helps to make him see better longer.

OLDSMOBILE INTRODUCES NEW 1950 MODELS

Making a bold and brilliant bid for another record-breaking year of sales, Oldsmobile Division of General Motors Corporation today introduces its new 1950 line of Sixes and Eights at dealer showrooms throughout America. In the completely new "Futuramic Fleet for '50" are nineteen models in three new series—the 6-cylinder "76" series and the new lower-priced 8-cylinder "88" and "98" series entirely new in style and features.

Highlights of the presentation are increased selectivity of advance design body types and colors, and the provision for standard transmission cars at lower prices in all three series to supplement the optional Hydra-Matic Drive models.

Chief new items of the 1950 premier center around a new low price for Series "88" models, a completely restyled Series "98;" the introduction of Oldsmobile's New Whirlaway Hydra-Matic Drive; the offering of Holiday Coupe steel top convertibles in three distinct price ranges; the continued use of the sensational new high-compression "Rocket" Engine with no fundamental changes, but with some minor refinements promoting additional economy; and the widening of the market by making Oldsmobile's famous automatic transmission optional equipment at extra

Several Counties To Have Smaller Property Taxes

Residents of 44 Indiana counties will pay less property taxes in 1950 than they did in 1949. This announcement, made last week by Harry Miesse, chairman, of the board of directors of the Indiana Taxpayers Association, shows that although the total property tax bill will be higher in 1950, there is a definite downward trend. In 1948 the property tax levies were higher in every one of the state's 92 counties. Three counties made reductions in 1949 and now nearly half of them have to economize.

The original budgets of city, county, town, township and school officials sought a levy of $214,352, 632 in property taxes payable in 1950. The local review boards and the county boards of tax adjustment pruned $9,603,794 from these requests, leaving $204,748,838 to be paid. Subsequently the State Tax Board lopped off $4,289,208 more, making an aggregate reduction in levies of $13,893,002. Based on the 1940 census, this is a per capita saving of nearly $4.

Marshall and Pulaski counties are among the 44 counties who show a reduction. The estimated taxes levied for 1950 in Marshall county is $1,451,337 as compared to $1,491,007 in 1949. The decrease in taxes is $39,670. In Pulaski county the 1950 levy of $590,837 represents a decrease over 1949 of $35,672.

Fulton and Starke counties show a slight increase with the estimated taxes for 1950 in Fulton county being $836,560 representing an increase of $8,667. The estimate for Starke county is $642,542 representing an increase of $35,006.

The rate for Union Township was pared from $3.49 to $3.32 for a saving of .17 cents and the rate for the town of Culver was scaled down from $4.24 to $4.08 for a saving of 16 cents.

Indiana Ninth In Big Ten Hunting States

Indiana ranks ninth among the Big Ten listed by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior, in the sale of fishing and hunting license for the year 1949.

Indiana's license sales numbered 408,051 of which 1,414 were of the non-resident type.

In this state fees paid by sportsmen amounted to $631,872 of which $35,574 went for Federal Duck Stamps.

A report by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service points out that the sale of migratory bird hunting stamps, known to all as "duck stamps," broke all records in 1948-1949 when 2,127,598 of these stamps, the last of $1 issue, were bought.

During the 1948-1949 season, according to Albert M. Day, director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, hunters paid $34,966,687 for an all time record total of 12,758,698 licenses. Compared with the preceding year license sales increased from 1,366,888 from the previous total of 11,391,810 while fees skyrocketed $5,152,360 over the previous high record of $29,814,327.

The line-up in which Indiana placed ninth was as follows: Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Minnesota, California, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Washington.

URGES FARMERS TO LOOK

The beginning of a new year is a good time for the individual farmer to take inventory of his farm tenure status to discover if his present method can be improved or should be replaced by another one.

Prof. O. G. Lloyd, Purdue University farm economist, points out that the incentive principle provides the most development for the individual and secures within the labor force the most co-operation of the farm. This usually results in good relations between father and son or non-relative in working or rental arrangements.

Working agreements, livestock share contracts and farm leases play an important role in guiding all farm employers, their labor force, tenants, and landlords to make the most efficient use of labor, land and working capital. Prof. Lloyd explains. Eight forms of farm tenure agreements, contracts and leases are available from Purdue.

URGES FARMERS TO LOOK AT TENURE STATUS NOW

In working out farm tenure plans, it should be remembered that the variations; both physical and mental, of the individual during his productive years demands increasing responsibility, he adds. The differences among individuals of the same age in their ability and desire to accept responsibility also needs recognition if each is to serve his best.

BRUIN TURNS THE TABLES . . . Wearing a hunting cap, Mr. Bruin jauntily drives into Buffalo, N.Y., with a fine specimen of homo sapiens roped to the hood of his car after a successful hunting trip. It was a gag, of course, but it might have been this way. For Harry Szarowski, a Buffalo television repair man who shot the bear, reports that the 300-pound bruin played possum after the first shot, and he might have bagged the hunter had the latter been less cautious.

The Purdue economist emphasizes that there are many ways of climbing the agricultural ladder, but the important principle is the stability of human nature. Most persons and peoples are so much the same that human relations en masse are largely predictable. However, it is impossible to foretell what any individual will do in every case. For this reason, farm tenure arrangements are a personal matter in each instance and the type of agreement used must be adapted to the individuals concerned.

LETTERS FORD PARISH SPONSOR SPECIAL SERVICE

The churches of the Leiters Ford Methodist Parish, Leiters Ford, Monterey, and DeLong, are sponsoring a special feature in their church activity next Monday evening, January 9 at 7:30 p. m. at Leiters Ford. At this time, Rev. C. Raymond Earle, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church in Lafayette, and one of the Methodist ministers just returned from a 6 weeks tour of Germany, will speak and give pictures taken as he studied the situation of need, giving particular attention to the work of the German Methodist Church.

Rev. Earle traveled extensively in southern Germany and in Berlin. He spoke to 35 congregations and held numerous conferences with church leaders and people. He went primarily to study the needs of the churches and church related institutions, coming back to us with a report of how we may render further help.

This is an opportunity for the people of our locality which will be very informative and inspirational. It will be of special interest to Methodist People who are now giving to missions in a special Advance for Christ and His Church. The service, will, however be open to the public and every one is invited to attend.
