Young Republicans To Sponsor Reception For Philip Willkie

Philip H. Willkie, state representative of Rushville, will be the guest of Marshall County Young Republicans at a reception Monday night, Jan. 30, following his appearance at the Kiwanis Club luncheon that day.

The reception will be held in the Episcopal Parish House beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Bill Laramore, Young Republican county chairman, is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Willkie, son of Wendell Willkie, Republican nominee for president in 1940, has attracted considerable attention following his recent article in Collier's Weekly "We Republicans Can Win It." He also has appeared on "Town Meeting of the Air" and the New York Herald-Tribune Forum.

County Tourney Receipts $3872

The gross receipts from the 1950 Marshall county basketball tourney totaled $3872, an official report issued last week by Floyd M. Annis, secretary-treasurer, discloses.

The 1950 gross receipts were nearly $200 less than the $4029 taken in at the 1949 tourney. The Thursday evening session attracted the largest crowd with 2400 fans attending the three-game session. The semi-finals and finals on Saturday drew 2375 while the first round of games on Wednesday attracted 1391 persons.

The advance sale of tickets accounted for all except 424 du-cats which were sold at the door. Of the gross receipts $638.32 went to the U. S. Treasury for taxes. Expenses totaled $541.99 leaving a net of $2692.27 which has been divided among the nine participating schools.

The report shows that a total of 374 Culver fans purchased tickets in advance for the second session and 451 for the semi-finals and final game. Culver high school's share of the net receipts was $337.40, from which was subtracted expenses.

County schools share as follows:

Argos	$319.49
Bourbon	315.20
Bremen	399.22
Culver	337.40
Lapaz	309.95
Plymouth	520.40
Tippecanoe	232.19
Tyner	249.34
West	251.72

Magazine To Feature Story On Local School Cafeteria

The Culver High School cafeteria will be featured in an article scheduled to run in the February issue of the Indiana Teacher, it was learned this week. The article prepared by Stanley MacDonald will tell of the work of the cafeteria program in the local schools. The Indiana Teacher is a monthly publication which goes to every teacher in the state.

Supervisors of the cafeteria are: Mrs. Roth Cline assisted by Mrs. Wilfred Craft, Mrs. Elza Hawkins, Mrs. Richard Bowles, and Mrs. Harold Sering and a staff of 10-15 high school students.

Indians Defeat Riley for 13th Win of Season

A tall and rangy Riley high school quintet belatedly but nonetheless decisively felt the sting of the scoring power of the Culver Indians here last evening as the local five again came from behind to win a 42-35 victory. Having defeated Bremen 49-40 last Friday, last night's win was the 13th victory in 16 starts counting tourney play. It was also Culver's 10th straight win.

Using a zone defense the giant sized Riley Wildcats deployed the Culver offense and for a while it appeared that the Indians never would find the range. In fact some wag insisted that both baskets had lids on them.

TICKETS AVAILABLE FOR JOHN ADAMS GAME

Floyd M. Annis, principal, announced today that there are 75 reserved seats on sale for the John Adams-Culver High School basketball game scheduled for the John Adams gym on Wednesday evening, February 1st. The tickets are to be sold on the basis of "first come, first serve."

The game was three minutes old before Morris broke the ice with a two-pointer and from then on to the beginning of the fourth quarter it was a nip and tuck affair.

Culver held a 7-4 lead at the close of the first period but Riley momentarily caught fire late in the second stanza to lead 17-16 at halftime.

The confident visitors opened the second half with a rush and were off to a 22-18 lead before the Indians began rolling. Two baskets by Davis tied the score and then Lucas hit to give the Indians a lead. McKee, who has long been overdue, began blasting away and things were brighter. The Culver captain led the scoring with 16 points. The floor play of diminutive Glenn Schrimsher was outstanding.

On Friday evening the County Tourney finals will be re-enacted here on the local floor as the Bourbon Comets attempt to halt Culver's winning ways. The Culver battle cry will undoubtedly be "Stop Stackhouse," since the Bourbon scoring stalwart has averaged nearly twenty-five points per game.

The Mothers' Club of the Union Township Parent Teachers Association is sponsoring a collection of playtime toys and books for grade school children to be used on rainy days and during recess periods. The sponsoring group has indicated that the toys will greatly help instructors in providing suitable playtime activities.

The Mothers' Group has suggested that the following toys would be particularly appropriate: Ring toss, pegs for peg board, old magazines for cut out purposes, modeling clay, rubber horse shoes, spin dial games, animal rummy games, picture puzzles, pollyanna games, parchesi games, checkers, dollhouses and furniture, and dominoes.

Books suitable for lower grades are being sought. Anyone having toys are asked to bring them to Rector's Drug Store during the next two weeks where a box will be provided for their collection.

Final rehearsals for the first annual Lions Club Minstrel Show is the order of the current week as the all-star cast puts on the finishing touches for its three-night presentation on February 3 at the Culver Military Academy and at the Culver Community Building on the evenings of February 8 and 9.

The biggest and the best home talent production of the century is an appropriate billing for the forth coming show if the enthusiasm of the cast and directors can be taken as a criterion. Advance predictions are that it will far outshine last year's "Womanless Wedding," Lions Club home talent production, which was the talk of the town for many weeks.

J. P. Carter, chairman of ticket sales and J. T. Stinchcomb, director of production, declares that everyone should purchase their tickets at once and also make arrangements to reserve their seats on Saturday, February 4, in the State Exchange Bank lobby. Every person should get their tickets and their reserved seats, to insure a good reservation for the hilarious fun-packed show.

Proceeds for the Lions minstrel will be devoted to the Community Betterment Fund, some of which has already been allocated for the purchase of street signs and summer recreational program.

Frank McLane, interlocutor, will handle the side-bursting repartee of the end men and jokesters. The six end men include veterans of Culver home talent productions: Bill Washburn, Harold Robinson, Fred Wallstead, Al Petersohn, Frank Walaitis, and Judd Stinchcomb.

Jim Miracle is in charge of the music. Chorus men include Floyd Annis, A. R. McKesson, Glenn Doll, Bill Allen, Sam Allen, Frank Hayward, Keith Reed, Art Reed, Jim Marshall, Eldon Davis, Jim Piersol, H. V. Davis, Marion Jones, Bill Strow, Lewis Hurt, John Bigley, Ed Stephenson, Ray Ault, Charles Wyland, Ora Reed, Byron Studebaker, Robert Lindvall, Jim Little, Mark Steenbergen, Lloyd Beatty, and Jesse White.

The production is liberally sprinkled with specialty acts including Drummer Boy Morley Skinner; Herbie Keller, singing his own composition, "Maxinkuckee Moon;" Tone Shaw, as the parson; the dancing girls; Harry Smeltzer's 12-piece German Band; and the Sering Family. Also there will be solos by outstanding community singers and a highlight of the minstrel will feature a quartette composed of Ed Stephenson, Bill Strow, Travis Harris, and Jim Miracle.

There will literally be two hours of fun and music from the opening number to the finale.

Others assisting with the production include Fred Adams, publicity; Robert Taylor and J. P. Carter, ticket sales; make-up, Mrs. Betty Wallstead; stage, Jesse Overmyer; usher, H. Strang; properties, Don Milner; accompanist, Mrs. Richard Bowles.

Don't fail to get your tickets reserved for the first annual Lions Club Minstrel Show at the State Exchange Bank, Saturday, February 4.

Austin Says A&P Was Forced to Take Their Case to the Public

Dwight B. Austin, president of the middle-western division of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, in a Chicago address on Monday attacked the government's anti-trust suit against A&P and explained that the tactics of the anti-trust lawyers forced the company to take their case to the public via paid advertising in the newspapers.

Speaking at the annual conference of the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Mr. Austin said, "If everybody believed what the anti-trust lawyers are saying, our supplier wouldn't want to sell to us, our customers wouldn't want to buy from us, our employees wouldn't want to work with us—and we wouldn't blame them."

The company official then explained that "the real reason we are running these ads in 2500 newspapers is because when you get in a fight like this, actually you are being tried in two courts: the court of law and the court of public opinion."

"Eventually, after long and expensive litigation," he said, "you may win free in the court of law, but in the meantime, your reputation is damaged and your business jeopardized in the court of public opinion. We say that we have not only the right, but the responsibility, to defend ourselves through advertising or any other legitimate means in the court of public opinion, just as we propose to defend ourselves in the law courts."

Austin also pictured the anti-trust laws, their enforcement, and the A&P case in particular as something vague, inconsistent and confused. Charging that the anti-trust lawyers are guilty of further confusing things with legal double talk in which normal trade practices and innocent business transactions are distorted to make them sound illegal, Austin went on to tear apart the inconsistencies of the government's complaint. He said:

"They say that A&P is not being attacked because it is big . . . yet the whole purpose of this suit is to break up A&P into small pieces and destroy its size."

"They say they are not opposed to A&P's low prices . . . yet the effect of this suit would be to destroy many of the efficiencies which make these low prices possible."

"They say they are not opposed to the fact that we manufacture many of the foods that we sell . . . and yet they ask the court to order us to get rid of all our manufacturing operations."

"They say that this suit is not 'punitive' . . . actually what could be more punitive than breaking up this company into small pieces and forcing the present owners to sell off the pieces to someone else?"

"They say the whole purpose of this suit is to keep A&P from violating the anti-trust laws . . . actually they are not simply trying to 'enjoin' us from violating the law. They ask the court to put us out of business. "They say this suit will not close a single A&P store. Actually if they win this suit there will be no such thing as an A&P store, as you know it, left," he said. Concluding his attack, Austin said, "They (the anti-trust lawyers) say that this suit will lower food prices instead of raising them, when any high school economic student or any housewife could tell them differently."

Polo Team Wins League Contest

CMA's varsity polo team continued their winning ways last Saturday by defeating the 124th Field Artillery in a Metropolitan Indoor League contest 11-7.

The game, played in the Chicago Avenue Armory, was the cadets' second win in League competition and their ninth of the season. Their only loss has been to the Chicago Black Horse Troop, currently leading the Metropolitan League with three victories. This lone Culver defeat was a pre-league season game.

On March 18 at Culver Night in Chicago the Academy trio will meet this same Chicago Black Horse Troop outfit in a game that may well decide the League championship.

The next game scheduled for Culver is on February 11 against the Chicago "Milkmen". This is also a League encounter.

Cadets Lose to Lake Forest and St. John's

The Academy basketball team lost two close games last week end to Lake Forest, 41-38, and St. Johns, 27-25. These losses broke a five game winning streak of the Oliver-coached squad and also showed where the Academy can expect its keenest competition in the Mid-West Prep tournament.

The usually accurate cadet marksmen were off their game in each tilt, missing 15 out of 21 free throw opportunities in the Lake Forest encounter, and watching a majority of their shots in the St. John's affair just roll off the rim or bounce in and out.

This week end two more conference opponents will appear on the Academy schedule for the first time, Pullman on Friday afternoon and Elgin Saturday evening.

Exams Over Friday: Cadets To Have Fun On Saturday

Although semester examinations began at the Academy today and will continue through Friday, cadets can look forward to a rather pleasant week end release from the academic grind.

Besides two basketball games and the opening of the varsity boxing and swimming schedules, two nearby girls' schools will send visiting delegations of young ladies for the Infantry Ball on Saturday night.

St. Mary's Academy in South Bend will send 26 girls as week-end cadet dates and Indianapolis Laurel School will send 25.

The girls will be housed in the Maxinkuckee Inn and will be the guests of the cadet corps at the various athletic events, the dance, meals in the dining hall, and chapel on Sunday morning.

Obenauf plan to do graduate study in California universities. The grants were authorized by the Alexander Frederick Fleet Fund, established some years ago for members of the academy staff.

Col. and Mrs. Benson and family have tentatively arranged to leave town this week for Los Angeles where Col. Benson will enter U.C.L.A. Col. Obenauf has also indicated he will take refresher courses in a California university.

Col. Benson is counselor of the field artillery unit and an instructor in the science department. Col. Obenauf is coach of the varsity rifle team and a member of the mathematical department staff.

Former County Agent

(Editor's Note: Ex-County Agent Mathews is a nurseryman of some repute and also a wide traveler and reporter. For several weeks now, he has been studying and observing the latest findings of science. He knows what details apply especially to farmers and town folks around here who enjoy having nice yards and gardens.)

Romance Follows Roses

Whether you are a confirmed rose grower, whether you have a big wishbone for growing roses that just won't take "No" for an answer or whether you just stand off and wish, with the ripples of rose lore lapping at your toes, you will hunch up close to hear the latest word in rose growing from the lips of Doctor L. C. Chadwick, who oversees the research in the big rose-test gardens at Ohio State University, as he told it to the Indiana Nurserymen in convention assembled at Purdue recently.

Good Varieties

Doctor Chadwick urged rose lovers to start with a good plant. A variety hardy in this section. Etiole De Holland (red); K. A. Victoria (white); Mrs. P. S. Dupont (yellow) and Briarcliff (pink) were names that tripped off his tongue.

What Is A Patented Rose?

Why Higher?

If you are one of those who has wondered what a patented rose is, read this: New rose varieties are frequently brought about by crossing one well known rose on another. A girl with a very small camel-hair brush deftly lifts the pollen (male part) from one plant and smears it on the stigma (female part) of the flower on another bush. Then she ties a bag over the flower so no other pollen can reach it. In due time, seeds develop, then ripen and are planted. Each such plant is watched and studied and tested, and occasionally an unusual variety comes into being that way.

Some years back, the U. S. Government permitted patenting these new and promising varieties of roses - other plants too, but you don't hear so much of it with the others. In return for all this preliminary work, the person or firm taking out the patent can control the propagation and price of the new rose for 17 years. So, late years we have read much about patented roses; some about other patented plants.

Prominent patented varieties such as Peace, Crimson Glory, Heart's Desire and McGreedy's Sunset are real knockouts, according to Chadwick.

The patented variety will persist or be kicked out, depending upon whether it is better than existing varieties or is about the same. Peace has proven so much better that you can't make any mistake here.

Keep Leaves On The Plant

1. "Better than straw, manure, leaves or anything put on to protect the plant during the winter, is Keep all the leaves on the plant during the summer. Along this same line, he found that any rose bush cut back shorter than 12 inches in the fall was proportionately hurt; it made no difference how short they were cut back in the spring but drastic fall trimming reduced the number of blooms the next season.

2. Rose bushes revel in plenty of plant food, this investigator found. The most and best blooms followed adding 4-12-4 fertilizer five times, 2 to 3 weeks apart during the summer, a half cupful per plant. This was put on the soil and worked into the surface.

3. Rose bushes seem to rejoice in organic matter and for this purpose, Chadwick found nothing produced as many or bigger blooms than peat moss, at the rate of one bushel for each 25 square feet, worked into the surface soil.

4. Of late years, rose growers have found black spot and yellows hard to control and the new fungicide, "Fermate" has gone right down this alley because it controls these two diseases, which if allowed to spread, take all the leaves off the rose bushes in mid-summer and reduce their vigor.

Chadwick turned this problem over to a graduate student who put the rose bushes through the hot dry summer of 1949 which was a real rest with these diseases completely controlled. Bushes were sprayed 24 times and dusted 34 times. The spraying controlled the fungus disease - black spot, yellows and powdery mildew. The dust was a gen'l purpose garden dust containing among other things, 50% sulphur, 12% fermate, 5% rotenone and 2% D.D.T.

His answer to a question: "Whenever you can see dust on the leaves, you are using too much."

Rose Bushes In Sun Do Better

5. This close observer made another point rose growers will want to heed. "Always plant your rose bushes where they will have sunshine in the morning and up 'till noon at least. Plants that stand in shade and damp during the forenoon will surely be hard hit by yellows and black spot."

6. Not a "Must" but a preference: A mulch of ground corn cobs, two and a half to five inches deep was recommended at all times. To promote early bloom, rake these to one side during the early spring to let the soil warm up, then 2 or 3 weeks later, rake these back on to keep the roots cool. Insulating the roots causes the blooms to register more vivid colors.

7. Last but not least, roses require a lot of water, not on the foliage but on the soil. A "soil soaker" is a good thing to save your time if that is a valuable item.

Indiana State Teachers College To Inaugurate Nursing Program

Indiana State Teachers College of Terre Haute and the Union Hospital School of Nursing will co-operate in offering a four-year basic program leading to a bachelor of science degree in nursing from the college and a diploma in nursing from the hospital, according to an announcement by President Ralph N. Tiley of the college, and Leonard B. Marshall, president of Union Hospital.

The announcement came following the approval by both the college and hospital boards. It is another step in the expansion of the various curriculums at Indiana State, and a move by both the Union Hospital and the college to better serve all of the people in this area.

The new program in nursing will be inaugurated with the opening of the fall term in 1950. The students will spend their first year in residence on the Indiana State campus, and all of their instruction will be in regular college classes. During the next three years, students will be in residence at the Union Hospital School of Nursing where all clinical instruction will be given. Basic science and other courses, however, will be taught on the Indiana State campus.

School Board Conducting Survey of Employees

A survey to determine the number of school teachers, food handlers, bus drivers and janitors who have had a physical examination, including a diagnostic chest x-ray in compliance with the teachers examination law is being made by the Division of Tuberculosis Control of the Indiana State Board of Health in co-operation with the State Department of Public Instruction.

"This law provides that every board of education and school trustee shall cause the physical examination to be made within one year from the date the Public Health Code became operative, unless the employee can produce evidence of a satisfactory examination made within the preceding three year period," Dr. Merle Bundy, director of the tuberculosis control division, pointed out. "The code became operative July 1, 1949 so that means the law should be complied with by July 1, 1950.

"For the purpose of simplifying distribution, the survey questionnaire is being forwarded to the county and city school superintendents," Dr. Bundy said.

MULTIFLORA LIVING FENCE RESTORES GAME

One of Indiana's biggest game management problems, that of restoring game from season to season, appears to have been solved or at least well on the way to a solution, through the medium of multiflora rose.

A serious and widespread shortage of good cover has been one of the chief obstacles in increasing farm game. This problem is complex because it applies to large areas the primary use of which is to grow farm crops. Good cover is the only way to insure wildlife the protection it must have. Protection for breeding stock and for the young on, which we depend for good annual game crops. This situation is not a new one. Numerous attempts have been made to correct it but only in recent years has the promising solution offered by the multiflora rose seemed to be the answer.

Multiflora rose is a dense, thorny shrub which makes a fence about seven or eight feet high and from six to eight feet wide depending upon the fertility of the soil. It is practically impenetrable to man or livestock. In summer it is a dense, green-leaved hedge and pleasant to look at. In May and June clusters of small white flowers form adding further attraction to this living fence. When the leaves drop in the fall, masses of small red fruits, or rose hips, add color to the thorny mass of interlaced branches.

BOB KYLE GAMBLES ON GARDEN SEEDS

"June in January" temperatures motivated Bob Kyle, Culver veteran gardener, to search for seeds this morning. At one store they dusted off the packets and Bob purchased beets, carrots, and lettuce. He declares that with a bit of mulch to protect them from freezing he believes they will survive. One thing is sure, he will have established a record for the earliest garden planting here.

MARCH OF DIMES

Dimes and dollars you give now will mean lives saved if another vicious polio epidemic hits Indiana next summer.

Last year was the Hoosier state's worst in history from an infantile paralysis standpoint. The deadly malady claimed 102 lives and more than 1,100 cases were reported.

Now, the Marshall County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is making an appeal for your contributions to replace a treasure impoverished by necessary aid to last year's victims.

Dr. Hardigg Sexton, Union township chairman, has appealed for prompt return of all of the pledge cards sent to township residents. Fill them up with coins and bills, if you can. Send them in today.

SCHOOL PATRONS SOLVE FUEL PROBLEM

Down near Delphi, Indiana, the school patrons of the Rock Creek township school virtually thumbed their nose at John L. Lewis last week when they cut wood to supply their school for the remainder of the year. The township trustee had declared that the schools would be closed because there was no coal. Some 40 men and women proceeded to solve the matter by cutting enough wood to supply the furnace for the rest of the year.

A farmer donated the wood from his farm, power saws, tractors, and trucks went into action and within two days the school basement was filled along with several neat cords stacked in the school yard. According to the Delphi Journal one patron even took time out to compose a poem which went like this:

Since our school is short of fuel	Now since the weather's nice
We'll show J. L. that we're no	And we have no snow fools	We can tell J. L. just where to go.
If our kids are faught	A man like him
To grow up like him	Should be ashamed
Their chances for heat	To think of the father
Will be darned slim.	Who bore his name.

AMERICAN FARM POWER

Physical strength has become less necessary on the farm in the years since World War I, but the farmer of today needs far more mechanical skill than his father did. This is one of the many highlights in the report on Changes in American Farming by Sherman E. Johnson of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who is Assistant Chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. He compares the production records of American farms in the two wars, and says that the amazing increase was built on the developments of the inter-war years. The gains of these years were masked, he says, by the droughts of the early '30's and difficulties in the marketing situation. Of the mechanical factor he remarks:

"The rapid shift from animal power to mechanical power for farm production in the inter-war period constituted one of the most important changes that has ever taken place in American agriculture. It was a cornerstone in the foundation for increased production.

"One result of this change was the transfer of resources from the production of power on the farm to the production of livestock and crops for sale in the market. This transfer released about 55 million acres of cropland for the production of marketable farm products. That, of course, is the most startling effect that mechanization has had on American farms.

"But other effects are also striking. The shift to mechanical power and complementary equipment brings an increased output per worker both by enabling him to do the job faster and by doing a better job of tillage or other operations, and in that way realizing more benefit from other improved practices. The physical burden of farm work is lessened because the drudgery of hand work is eliminated. Fewer workers are needed in farm production."

The concluding sentence of this review of the "revolutionary changes of the last quarter century in American agriculture says: "Better farming should always mean better living."

Obituary

Simon Albert Young, son of Nathan and Rebecca Young, was born in Ohio on July 9, 1866. He passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dessie Plantz south west of Leiters Ford, of a heart attack Thursday evening January 19, 1950 at the age of 83 years, 6 months and 10 days.

Although he had been in failing health for several weeks, his passing was unexpected. When twelve years of age, he moved with his parents to Adams county Indiana, and later the family moved to the Monterey vicinity where he was married to Ida Johnson in April, 1890. They started housekeeping on a farm near Monterey, later moving to a farm in Fulton County. To this union seven children were born, two dying in infancy. His wife also preceded him in death on January 5, 1926.

Forest Survey Begins In Indiana

State Forester, Ralph F. Wilcox announced recently that the U. S. Forest Service had begun an intensive survey of the forest resources of Indiana to determine the forest area in the state and the volume of timber available for the sawmills, veneer plants, stave mills, and other wood-using industries in the state.

UP-to-date information on the forest situation is urgently needed to show the present relationship between timber supply and industrial timber needs and to indicate the forestry measures that must be adopted to insure a continuous supply of raw materials for the state's forest industries.

The Indiana Forest Supply is being made in co-operation with the Indiana Division of Forestry and the Purdue University Department of Forestry. It is part of a nation-wide study of forest resources being made by the U. S. Forest Service in co-operation with local agencies. The work in Indiana is directed by the Central States Forest Experiment Station with headquarters in Columbus, Ohio.

To Study Aerial Photos

The survey will be based on an intensive study of aerial photographs supplemented by ground examination of approximately two thousand selected forest areas. The aerial photographs will be used to locate the forest areas and by stereoscopic examination to classify the forests by size of timber. Sample areas for field examination will be marked on the photos. Foresters will locate these points on the ground and will record the species, size rate of growth, and quality of all trees on a 1/5-acre plot at each point. Studies will also be made to determine the volume of timber cut for lumber, veneer, mine props, fuelwood, and other uses and the loss in timber volume caused by fire, insects, and disease.

The analysis of the data obtained from these examinations will show the volume, condition, and rate of growth of standing timber in the state and the rate at which the forest industries are utilizing the timber. This information will be valuable not only to indicate the forestry measures necessary to increase the volume and quality of timber but also to show the opportunity for expansion or relocation of forest industries.

Approximately one year will be required to complete the field work. Reports covering the findings of the survey will be published as soon as the field data can be compiled. Brief summaries of the statistics on forest area and timber volumes will be released for the major forest areas of Indiana. These will be followed by a detailed report analyzing the forest situation in the state as a whole. The reports, when published, can be obtained from the Indiana Division of Forestry at Indianapolis, the Department of Forestry, Purdue University at Lafayette Experiment Station at Columbus, Ohio.

Survey Shows Decrease In Childhood Diseases

Most childhood diseases reported to the Indiana State Board of Health during 1949 showed a decrease in incidence as compared to the preceding year with the exception of poliomyelitis, German measles, septic sore throat and whooping cough.

The greatest increase in incidence was shown in poliomyelitis and German measles. Seven hundred and eighty-one more cases of poliomyelitis were reported by health officers and 1,009 more cases of German measles. The cases of septic sore throat increased by eighteen and whooping cough by five.

Measles showed the greatest drop with 17,440 cases reported in 1948 and 4,021 in 1949. Diphtheria reported cases decreased by 48; chickenpox by 190; mumps by 2,440 cases; scarlet fever by 27 cases.

Nine cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever were reported during the year, and 25 cases of tularemia which was 20 less than the preceding year. No cases of smallpox were reported last year.

"We are not always able to record every communicable disease that occurs in Indian but we can tell by the cases reported to us by doctors through the health officers of the trend of the disease in this state," Dr. J. W. Jackson, director, Division of Communicable Disease Control, Indiana State Board of Health, said today in announcing these statistics.

The greatest ocean depth, near the island of Mindanao, in the Pacific, is 35,400 feet.
