Cadet Athletes Win Six Contests In Five Sports

Cadet athletes at the Academy last week end repeated their performance of a week ago as they scored a clean sweep of six events in five different sports.

The basketball team again downed Elgin Academy and Pullman Tech in games away from home, 58-33 and 63-35, respectively.

Jock Sutherland's boxing team continued the Culver supremacy in the ring by defeating Grant Community Center 9-2, and the swimming team out swam the Indianapolis Y. M. C. A. 45-30.

In their opening meet of the season the cadet wrestlers showed that they too were a winter team to be contended with as they defeated Oak Park 14-9, and the polo team won their eleventh game in 12 starts over St. Louis, 18-5.

These victories gave the cadets 11 victories in six sports on successive week ends for the best winter record any Academy teams have experienced in many years.

This coming week end four maroon and white teams will again be in competition as the cagers meet Glenwood in Chicago on Friday and the North Shore School here on Saturday; the polo team plays the "Milkmen" in the Chicago Avenue Armory in a league encounter; the swimmers travel to Fenwick High School also in Chicago; and the wrestlers meet Mt. Carmel here.

RUSSIAN BALLERINA BORN TO DANCE

A star in silver slippers is Svetlana, at the pinnacle which some strive a lifetime to reach. The 16-year-old ballerina and Frank Schaufuss perform "Lac des Cygnes" with other members of the Metropolitan Ballet.

A FAMOUS PRIMA BALLERINA was once asked how long it takes to become a silver-slippered star. She replied "a little longer than a lifetime." Svetlana Berisova, apparently never heard the quotation, or if she did, she was undismayed. For Svetlana is a prima ballerina of London Metropolitan Ballet—at 16.

The talented dancer, born of Russian parents, was brought to the United States soon after her birth, where her family became naturalized American citizens. Svetlana was born into the ballet. Her mother and father both belonged to the profession. Before the youngster was firmly entrenched on two chubby feet, she began the rudiments of dancing. When she was old enough, Svetlana was sent to a professional children's school on Broadway, where she studied the ballet.

The ballerina's first American appearance was with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. Two years ago she went to Europe with the Nouveau ballet and shortly afterwards joined the Metropolitan Ballet to become their prima ballerina.

Nicholas and Liline Berisova, mother and father of the young star, play the leading roles in her training. Her father personally supervises Svetlana in the rigorous routine that is part of the price of stardom. Berisova is both tutor and dancing director for his daughter; her mother makes Svetlana's costumes.

The Metropolitan Ballet, in which the 16-year-old is the central figure, is a comparatively young company. It has received high praise in London ballet circles.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gunts of Evansville spent the week end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Doxzen, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gunts spent Saturday evening visiting Mrs. Gunts' brother, Carroll Doxzen Jr., of South Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Snyder Jr., left this morning for New Orleans to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pedersen.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Banks entertained at a birthday dinner on Sunday honoring two of Mrs.

Banks' sisters. Those attending were Mrs. Pearl Gerard and Mr. and Mrs. Ike Sousley of Plymouth. Mr. and Mrs. John Greenlee and daughter, Donna of near Argos, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Banks and children of Kirklint and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bahr.

Col. and Mrs. J. T. Stinchcomb Mr. and Mrs. John P. Lindley, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Lindley attended the commencement exercises Sunday at Purdue University where Bill received a degree in Physical Education.

Farm management specialists at the University of Illinois estimate that it takes from 68 to 80 per cent more cash now to operate a farm in Illinois than it did 20 years ago.

The Third Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Were Wrong!

Is it a crime to give people more good food for their money?

For 90 years A&P has devoted all its energies to this end.

For many months now the anti-trust lawyers from Washington have been giving stories to the newspapers, making speeches and talking over the radio about this company.

They have been making serious and damaging allegations about the methods that enable A&P to give its customers better food values.

We have already told you about other times the anti-trust lawyers made charges against us that were proved utterly false in court.

Now we are going to tell you about the third time a federal judge decided against the anti-trust lawyers.

The Dallas Anti-Trust Suit

In 1942 the anti-trust lawyers went out to Dallas, Texas, 1,400 miles from the homes of most of the defendants, and instigated criminal charges against A&P.

About this case one thing was sure.

Their previous experience did not deter the anti-trust lawyers from making more inflammatory and damaging allegations, just as they had done before.

They made practically the same allegations they are making today.

Federal Judge W. H. Atwell ruled that the case should not even be tried.

He said that the indictment contained inflammatory statements that he would not permit to be presented to a jury.

Judge Atwell said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If I thought I was presiding over a court and that I might have to sentence some person because he was a great big fellow, or because he was a Lilliputian, I would feel like resigning. God knows we don't want it ever to occur in America that the size is going to determine whether a man is guilty or innocent."

Judge Atwell also said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If the indictment is not good then it is better to find out before an expensive trial than it is after an expensive trial. I do not think it is good, and thinking that, it is my duty to sustain the demurrers and motion to quash."

In short, Federal Judge Atwell threw the anti-trust lawyers and their case right out of his court.

So that makes three times that the anti-trust lawyers made damaging allegations against A&P. In two of these cases federal judges said they were all wrong. In the third case a federal judge said the indictment was inflammatory and he would not even permit the case to be tried.

The anti-trust lawyers were not satisfied with the Dallas decision.

Neither were they satisfied with the two other decisions in which federal courts administered stinging rebukes to them.

They were still determined to destroy A&P.

In our next ad we will tell you how they continued their campaign in this case in the Circuit Court of Appeals and subsequent proceedings.

We will show you how, once again, they disagreed with the courts.

Federal subsidies to local schools as proposed by legislation in Congress were described last week by the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce as a step toward "centralized thought control of the youth of the nation."

With the subsidy legislation again an active issue in the national Congress, the Indiana Chamber had prepared and was distributing to study and discussion groups a pamphlet analyzing the pending legislation in detail and summarizing reasons why it should be defeated.

A Federal school subsidy bill (Senate Bill 246,) with an initial annual appropriation of $300,000,000, was adopted by the U. S. Senate last year but was halted in the House committee on education and labor when argument arose as to whether federal "aid" should be given to local church-supported and private schools as well as public school.

The Chamber expressed fear that "too many people" would get the impression that if the religious issue could be compromised at this session of Congress, Federal education subsidies would be good for the country.

"Federal school subsidies are simply basically bad," the Chamber contended. "The religious issue over which Congress now is fighting is merely a first example of the fact that local school problems are better off in the hands of local people who know the needs of their own communities. Up to now these home town folk have succeeded in giving American children - not a perfect school system - but the best and freest in the world."

Describing as futile "the hope of many well-meaning people that huge amounts of Federal funds could be handed out to local schools without Federal control over the schools of the states even in the Senate-approved bill which by its own terms denies intention to control."

To substantiate this charge, the Chamber cited a provision in the Senate-approved bill prohibiting any state receiving Federal grants from ever spending any less money on schools than it did in 1949 - regardless of whether the 1949 expenditures may have been unduly high because of inflation, a heavy building program or possible extravagances.

"If Federal control of education on a nationwide basis is not an objective of original instigators of Federal school aid, then why is it not proposed that Federal funds for school purposes be extended only to those states that can show a need for it - rather than to all 48 states?" the Chamber continued.

"It accomplishes nothing for taxpayers of Indiana to pay in $7,980,000 in order to receive back from Washington $3,825,000 Federal aid. Certainly Indiana and most other states, and their communities, are far better able to finance and manage their schools than an already debt-ridden Federal bureaucracy."

ARAB REFUGEE TEACHERS GET U. S. HELP

Four hundred volunteer teachers who are now serving in UNESCO-sponsored schools for Arab refugee children in the Middle East have received $4,000 from the National Education Association of the United States.

"The amount of money seems very small when divided among the teachers who must share it," says William Carr, Associate Secretary of the N. E. A. "but we are told that an appropriation of

Report Shows Further Strides in Public Health

Further strides in public health in Indiana are revealed by the 1949 provisional death statistics released this week showing for the first time in history that Indiana had no deaths from scarlet fever. Smallpox also made a record in 1949 with no cases occurring in the state.

Of the 38,416 persons who died in Indiana in 1949, heart diseases, which took the lives of 11,573 persons, was the greatest killer, according to Verne G. Robinson, director, Division of Public Health Statistics, Indiana State Board of Health.

Tumors and other cancers of lymphatic and blood-forming tissues was the second greatest killer with 5,367 deaths attributed to this cause; vascular lesions affecting the central nervous system, with 4,644 deaths, was third; hypertensive diseases, with 3,087 deaths, fourth; and accidents, which claimed 2,451 lives, fifth. The accidental deaths include all deaths by violence except suicide which took 512 lives and homicides with 116 deaths.

Typhoid fever claimed only one life; measles killed nine; diphtheria, 20; whooping cough, 25; and meningococcal infections, 29. Tuberculosis deaths dropped to 754, and pneumonia and influenza claimed 1,026 lives.

Poliomyelitis caused the death of 110 persons; diabetes mellitus killed 596; nephritis and nephrosis, 678; diseases of arteries, 1,298, and streptococcal sore throat, 24.

I. U. SCIENTISTS IN SEARCH FOR NEW COAL SUPPLIES

A new Indiana State Conservation department coal laboratory on the Indiana University campus in Bloomington is searching out a new supply of coal for the state by use of a powerful microscope.

By examining coal samples taken from the Hoosier mine fields the scientists are able to tell which fields are linked together by connecting veins of coal not yet tapped. The scientists at I. U. also hope to find out in other research activity the chemical changes worked by nature through the centuries to turn decaying plant masses into fuel.

Wildlife Are Good Paying Tenants

Attractive homes can entice and hold more than one type of good tenants on the farm. The farmer's small neighbors — his wildlife-friends — will move in and go to work without labor charges, once they find conditions are ideal and that natural food is provided in abundance.

Put on the welcome mat in the form of good farming practices and a protected woods, J. L. Van Camp, extension forester urges. A tract of timber which is fenced, has a thick growth of shrubs or tree growing down to the ground level provides ideal protection for the soil and for wildlife which uses farm woods cover.

About this time of year, a walk along sheltered borders of farm woods will probably show that not only are there rabbits, grey squirrels, beaver and possum, in the woods, but also coveys of quail are possibly nesting there. Quail are quite likely to move in if corn fields or other grain fields are close by.

Birds such as hawks and owls can be expected to inhabit woods and are particularly partial to pine plantations. The Purdue forester said that he recently observed that long-eared owls were increasing in a local Christmas tree plantation. He said that the explanation was that the mice were on the increase in a nearby orchard and that the owls increased in the nearby planation. These owls will help take care of this injurious rodent which does considerable damage to the tree roots in apple orchards.

The right kind of protection will attract beneficial birds such as hawks and owls which keep down mouse and rat population. In addition to the larger birds, many song birds do an important job keeping down the insect population.

Weed Control Weapons Now Number Three

Help has come at last to those who have been plagued with Bermuda grass, quack grass or Johnson grass. The most recent of the organic chemical weed killers, TCA, has hope for these weary individuals.

Prof. Oliver C. Lee, weed control specialist at Purdue University, points out that it is not a selective, which kills only one type of plants, so cannot be used to kill weeds growing in crops. The rate necessary to destroy these persistent grasses will kill all vegetables for a period of several weeks. When used for field operations the recommended amount is 80 to 120 pounds per acre.

The new material TCA will be one of three weed killers available to farmers, home owners and those charged with maintenance of roadsides, railroad and utility line right-of-ways. The other two chemicals are 2, 4-D and the newer weed killer 2, 4, 5-T.

Many of the woody plants that are not killed with 2, 4-D will be eliminated with the new chemical. It will kill or age orange, blackberry and raspberry briars and several of the hardwood species. When spraying areas infested with mixed species, preparations containing both 2, 4-D and 2, 4, 5-T are recommended by the Purdue man.

The well-known 2, 4-D is still recommended for the eradication of broad leaf weeds. It is a selective herbicide and can be used to destroy weeds in growing crops, particularly corn, small grains and grass areas. It is the answer to cleaning fields of bindweed, morning glory and Canada thistle. Woody plants which are partially killed with 2, 4-D are poison ivy and willows.

INDIAN RURAL DEVELOPMENT SCHEME SUCCESS

For the last eighteen months the Indian Government has been engaged in an experimental demonstration scheme for the improvement of economic life. The Government selected 14,000 acres of land on which there were ten villages, and began a program of rotating crops, improving the fertilizers, promoting the use of improved seeds and better animal husbandry.

One dramatic example of rehabilitation is to be seen at Badli, formerly the Delhi municipal dump. This is now a large vegetable garden and orchard in which cultivators have received 5,000 additional fruit plants this year.

A COMMUNITY DILEMMA

A drainage and sewage disposal problem which faces this community presents a very real dilemma; on the one hand there is the necessity for correcting pollution of the Lake and providing adequate drainage, and on the other hand the suggested estimates for carrying out such a project appear to be beyond the financial scope of the community.

It is not a new problem; on the contrary it is one that dates back to the early days of the area. As a problem it is one of vital concern not only to the families who reside in approximately 500 homes within the town limits, but also to all lake property holders and particularly to those who use the lake. Ever since the early 1930's town officials have made repeated attempts to find a satisfactory solution to the vexing situation.

The Lake Maxinkuckee Association, the Culver-Union Township Planning Council, and other civic groups are keenly interested in all steps which will correct and prevent further pollution. While the hopeful cooperation of groups in recognizing the problem is most helpful, the fact remains that the financial hurdle is a formidable obstacle.

The town board's action in authorizing a further check for possible savings in construction costs should provide the best possible answer as to whether it is reasonable to hope for a sewage system or whether it will have to be tabled again.

SCOUTS OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

The Boy Scouts of America is observing its 40th Anniversary this week. Although it began with a small membership in 1910 it caught on rapidly. By 1916 Boy Scouts had rolled up so creditable record of service to their communities that the Congress of the United States granted the Boy Scouts of America a Federal Charter.

General L. R. Gignilliat, formerly superintendent of the Culver Military Academy, played an outstanding role in the development of the Boy Scout movement and through his efforts and keen interest international leaders were attracted to Lake Maxinkuckee.

Sir Baden-Powell, Ernest Seton Thompson, Dan Beard, and other leaders in boys' work came to Culver in the fore part of the present century and some of them had an active part in the early development of the widely recognized Woodcraft program at the Culver Military Academy. In fact, the development of the Woodcraft Camp paralleled the Boy Scout movement.

The record shows that the current active membership in the Boy Scouts of America is two and a half million boys and leaders. During the organization's forty years, more than sixteen million have been influenced by the Scout Oath and Law. As a matter of fact, nearly twenty per cent of the male population of America today has been identified with the Boy Scouts of America.

The purpose of Scouting, reads the Federal Charter, "shall be to promote, through organization and cooperation with other agencies, the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance, and kindred virtues."

Today, the Boy Scouts, virtually a cross-section of American life, are at the mid-point of a two-year Crusade to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" by bringing a better Scouting program to more boys under better trained leaders.

Locally the Boy Scout movement has had its ups and downs during the past 40 years, but through the years there has been a keen and sustaining interest on the part of many adults and boys in the development of their program. Currently there seems to be an excellent opportunity to further this interest.

To the Boy Scouts of America on their fortieth anniversary, we say: "Happy Birthday!"

Garden time will soon be here. Consult your seed catalogues or other literature for what is new in varieties for the 1950 plantings. A

Crab Apples And Lilacs

By Irvin J. Mathews

Flowering crab apples and French hybrid lilacs interest every home owner whether he has a town lot or a farm yard. The beauty of the blooms brightens the spring days and the gay fruits gild weeks and months in the fall. Those that have red leaves lend gaiety to every day of the growing season.

Donald Wyman of Arnold Arboretum has had a chance to study these for the last forty years and his observations are the basis for this discussion.

He puts Bechtel's Crab, the best known one, away down on the list because it is so hard to keep the leaves free from disease during the summer. He described the ideal flowering crab apple as one "That has really double flowers, at least 2 inches in diameter, and with small yellow fruits."

If your fancy runs to a dwarf tree that has blushing buds opening into attractive red flowers, placed on low slung, horizontal branches, select the Carmine Crab.

Among the white flowering varieties, with small fruits and good autumn color, it's Arnold's Crab. Another good white flowering sort is the Manchurian Crab apple—Bob White. Dolgo is another variety that has showy flowers and attractive fruits of such size that you have a lot of timber for spicy jelly.

Small Yellow Fruits Most Prized

If you want beauty and artistic touch, choose for fruits that are yellow and small. Apple worms can't even get started in the small fruits and the yellow looks good, even after a frost. If you insist on scarlet fruits, Ely's Crab will brighten the yard in the fall. For that perfect double bloom, select Dorothea. Hopa not only has bright flowers but red leaves and fruits that put on a show in October.

Other top-flight varieties are Red Flesh, Red Silver, Scheidecker, Seybold and Flame.

Lilacs Delight Eyes and Nose

Perhaps you've never seen it but the lilac variety Saugeana is a very profuse bloomer, flowers are almost yellow, a rich lemon cream color. Then if you want one that has intriguing cut-leaves, pick Syringa lacinata. Another bush that isn't so much of a lilac when in bloom in the spring but what a sight in the fall—Oblata.

In general the lilac deal is two weeks of exquisite blooms and rapturous fragrance, followed by some weeks of very thrifty foliage, if the soil is fertile and there isn't too much shade. When it comes to lasting down through the years, no plant beats the lilac in this area. Around old homesteads where all other shrubs have lost out, the lilacs are still alive.

In case you've forgotten, all lilacs thrive on an alkaline soil and two or three shovelfuls of ground limestone spread on the ground around each bush will induce a lot of added bloom.

Wyman simmers the desirable French hybrid lilacs down to these: Of the white doubles, he recommends Edith Cavell and for violet, he puts Mareschal Lannes, Cavour and President Lincoln at the top.

For flowers of pink, select Le-Moine, Luch Baltet, Macrostasia and Catherine Havemyer.

Asked for his choices with magenta bloom, he mentioned Captain Vulta, Mareschal Foch. Among the purples, prefer Ludwig Spaeth, Monge and Congo. The darkest and purplest of all lilacs are Mrs. W. E. Marshall and Rhem Von Horstenstein.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

January 27, 1950

Dear Friends:

It is a long time ago when I left Culver. I had a good trip home. From Culver we went to Buffalo where we saw the falls then on to Washington.

We had a good time in New York where we stayed in a large hotel with the name of McAlpin. We went up to the top of the highest building in the world. The subways were also a lot of fun.

When coming in the harbor of Rotterdam all of our parents were waiting on us there. In the evening we met with officials of the ECA, government officials and members of the Department of Agriculture. It was 10:30 before we were finished.

A lot of things changed during the time I was in America. There is more food with no rationing excepting coffee which must be obtained with coupons. All prices are going up.

Sincerely

Hilbrand Van Der Veen

Trade with Citizen advertisers.

THE CULVER CITIZEN

Every Wednesday hundreds of folks in Culver look forward to receiving The Citizen. They get their copy at the Post Office or the news stand. On Thursday those on city and rural routes anxiously await their copy. In California, in New York, and other far away places, former residents and friends receive their copy on Friday.

No matter what the day of the week, readers of The Citizen look forward to each issue. An estimated readership of 4200 people scan an average of 1280 column inches of material of the home town news.

HERE THEY FIND items of general interest — births, deaths, accidents, community improvements, unusual happenings, reports of neighborhood correspondents, and the doings of hundreds of persons, telling of the events of local hometown life.

NEWS OF THE COMMUNITY—What fraternal, civic, and social groups are doing. Activities of the township schools, the Academy, and rural organizations.

COMMERCIAL NEWS — The display and classified ads in which merchants and business services are explained in detail. In both the classified and display advertising they find commercial news and vital information which means a real advantage in fulfilling their day-to-day needs.

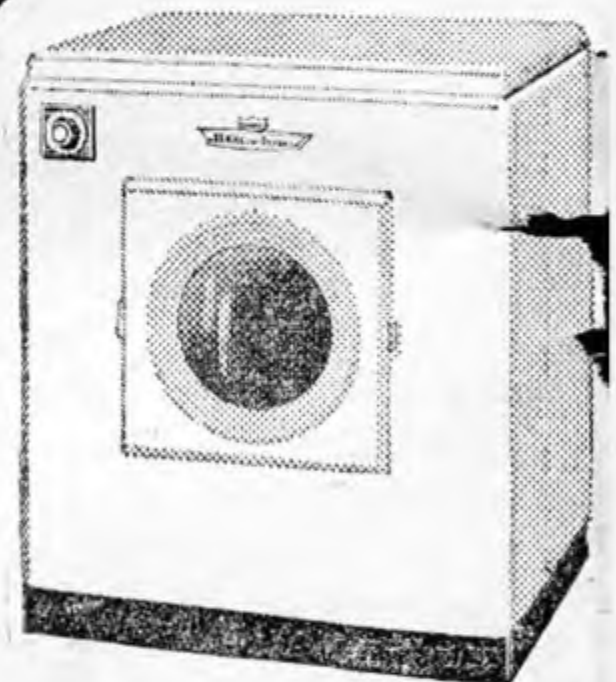

ALL OF THIS, and more too, in each week's issue of The Citizen. Unlike a daily paper, it is saved throughout the week for ready reference.

In the famous national election of 1860, Marshall County gave Abraham Lincoln a majority of 153 votes. The presidential vote shows that Lincoln received 1426 votes, Douglas 1,273; Breckenridge 24 and Bell 1.

Union Township was organized on May 1, 1840. The petitioners requested it be called "Union." The name probably selected to perpetuate the name of "Union" county in Southern Indiana, from which some of the residents came.

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE...

Here is a story about one of the most brilliant men our country has ever known.

He was Governor of Virginia, George Washington's Secretary of State, the chief author of the Declaration of Independence, and third President of the United States. He was Thomas Jefferson.

At age 30 he owned 5,000 acres of cleared land. He handled his own money and made his own investments.

When he died his valuable library, his silver, his home, and even his furniture were sold at forced sale to pay his debts.

... Today men buy life insurance to keep such tragedies from happening to them.

Otto Stahl Closes 40 Years of Service At Univ. of Mich.

Otto J. Stahl, veteran member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, and a native of Culver, will begin his retirement furlough on February 11 at the close of the first semester. Professor Stahl has been a member of the staff of the University of Michigan for 40 years.

A news article in the Ann Arbor News tells of Professor Stahl and six of his associates, who reaching the retirement age of 70 either late this year or early in 1951, will retire at the close of the semester. The seven members of the staff are closing a total of 300 years of university service.

Professor Stahl, secretary of the School of Music and professor of the Theory of Music, began teaching at the university in 1900. His preparation for a career in music education included study both in the United States and abroad. He was a member of the first graduating class at Culver High school and received his diploma here in 1899. He received his A. B. degree from the University of Michigan in 1929 and his M. A. degree in 1931.

Previously he had studied in Valparaiso and Bourbon (Indiana) colleges; Fountainebleau near Paris, France; Vienna, and the Stuttgart Conservatory in Germany. He also studied in Philadelphia and New York. Previously, he taught in Greensboro, N. C. before he began his work at the University of Michigan in 1911.

His first teaching assignment in the University of Michigan was as an instructor in piano and music theory. During the summer sessions he taught at New York University and the University of Southern California.

Since 1939 Prof. Stahl has held a three-fold assignment of being professor of the theory of music, secretary of the School of Music, and secretary of the school's executive committee. He also has been advisor to foreign music students and admissions officer for advanced students.

Prof. Stahl is a member of Phi Mu Alpha, Pi Kappa Lambda, the Music Teachers National Association, the Michigan Music Teachers Association and other organizations. He was born December 20, 1880 in Culver, Ind.

A trip to Florida is the first major step in Prof. Stahl's retirement plans. Later, he will visit the University of Southern California where he once taught.

Last week Prof. Stahl was honored by his colleagues who presented him with a wrist watch.

Horace Heidt Show Scheduled At Laporte

Horace Heidt will bring his all new musical "Stars on Parade" and his Youth Opportunity Show to Laporte, Indiana on February 27 under the sponsorship of Lions, Kiwanis, Rotary and Optimist Clubs for the benefit of the Youth Agencies.

One of Mr. Heidt's advancements will be in the city on February 10 and 11 to conduct the auditions for the local talent to be selected to appear with the show when it plays here, and possibly to win a place on the Coast to Coast CBS broadcast of the show.

The variety review "Stars on Parade" will feature sixty stars, young people from all over the United States that Heidt has discovered on tour, including many that have been heard on his weekly radio program.

The show unfolds into a three hour variety concert and from reports gathered from other cities saluted by the show Laporte is in for three great hours of entertainment.

Audition will be held at the Y. M. C. A. on February 10 and 11 at 7:00 p. m. and is open to all talented young people over fourteen years of age either professional or amateur. Group acts are limited to four people and all those auditioning must bring their own music and accompanist. No formal applications are needed, so just be there with your music, your instrument (if any) and your accompanist.

Local Polio Drive Expected To Gross $1,327

The March of Dimes campaign for funds in this community has reached a total of $827.42 according to Dr. Hardigg Sexton, Union township chairman. Added to this amount will be the donation from the Union township community chest fund. It was expected that the organized charity groups would extend a grant of $500 to the 1950 fund. Dr. Sexton has pointed out that half of the money collected by the local chapter remains with the county chapter for their use as community polio needs arise.

No definite quota was assigned to Union township but on the basis of past performance the chairman indicated that the Culver community ought to raise between $1100 and $1200, and with the personal contributions plus the expected donation from the organized charity fund, that prediction has been most satisfactorily exceeded.

For the first time in the history of the Marshall county chapter, all contributions have this year been sent direct to the local township chairman. Last year Union township reported total receipts of $879.98, but this amount did not include any mail contributions which went to the county headquarters at Plymouth.

One of the highlights of the campaign here was the putting together of a "polio pudding" at the Culver Cafe which produced a total of $37.06 for the 1950 fund. Set up by Leo Butler, proprietor, the "pudding" was fashioned from the melting wax of numerous candles in which were imbedded several hundred coins, ranging in size from pennies to half dollars.

A partial breakdown of contributions reveals the following sources of gifts: Individual donors $242.59, Culver Public School $115.30, Culver Military Academy Campus Chest (cadets and faculty) $186.90, Culver High School Basketball game $51.41, El Rancho Theatre $62.77, Iron Lung Coin Collectors $71.39, Organization gifts $60.00, Culver Cafe "Polio Pudding" $37.06, and Union Township Organized Charities $500. Total $1,427.42.

Dr. Sexton expressed deep gratification for the hearty and generous response on the part of all those who had a share in making this another success for Union township.
