Thieves broke into the Culver Sports Centre on Lake Shore Drive sometime late Saturday night stealing two .22 caliber revolvers and approximately 450 rounds of ammunition.

Authorities believe the burglary was committed by outside persons. An axe is believed to have been used to break a small pane of glass in the front door. Strangely, the robbers never bothered any other items of merchandise and some fifteen dollars in change in an open cash drawer was not touched.

Tourney Opens Today; Culver Meets Winner of Argos-Plymouth Tilt

Centennial Auditorium at Plymouth will be jammed to the rafters this afternoon and evening, tomorrow and Saturday, with screaming fans from fourteen Marshall and Starke county communities, each of whom will be backing their respective high school team to the hilt, in the annual sectional basketball tourney.

Although the Plymouth scene will be duplicated in 766 other Hoosier communities, there are many local fans who believe the evenly matched teams in the local fray should produce the most hotly contested sectional in the state.

Tickets have all been taken and judging from the interest, the Butler fieldhouse might not have been too large to take care of the crowd. Culver drew the favored bye in the second round and will in all probability face Plymouth at 7:00 p. m. tomorrow evening. The county seat team will be out to avenge an earlier loss to the local Indians.

Coach Sering indicated this morning that both Davis and McKee had fully recovered from leg injuries and that the team was in tip-top shape.

Culver, sporting a 17-4 season's record, will be out after their tenth sectional title in 19 years. Coach Red Sering, who began his basketball coaching here in the fall of 1945, will be aiming for his fourth sectional title in five years.

The opening round today finds Bourbon pitted against Lapaz in what should be a close fought contest. Another hard-to-pick-the-winner-battle, follows with Knox meeting Bremen. North Judson, the defending champion, meets Tippecanoe tomorrow afternoon.

Sectional winners since 1931:
31—Culver 27, Akron 21.
32—Plymouth 45, Culver 25.
33—S. B. Riley 34, Plymouth 32.

Purdue Exhibits To Feature "Dairy Day" Show

The water well and pump house should be at least 50 feet from any source of possible contamination, Purdue University rural health specialists will point out in their exhibit at the annual Marshall County "Dairy Day" to be held Thursday, March 2nd, in the Centennial Auditorium, Plymouth.

According to County Agent R. C. Harvey, the exhibit of "A Safe Water System" will be one of eight educational displays included in the Purdue Dairy Caravan when it arrives for its annual visit. Other exhibits will include "Magic in Milk," urging use of milk in diet; "Farm Safety," "Brucellosis," "Artificial Breeding," "Quality Milk," "Milking Parlors," and "Pasture Improvement."

The water system display will feature a model of a man cranking an old-fashioned cistern or chain pump, and the centerpiece will depict a decrepit farm scene with an unsanitary water system. Another part of the exhibit will show location of the water supply to prevent contamination with farmstead buildings plotted in a 50-foot circle around the pump.

Construction details of a pump-house that meets grade A milk requirements will be illustrated on one panel of the display. Use of a four-inch insulation on the walls, a vapor seal, and a 100-watt light bulb for cold weather heating will be shown in a cross-sectional view.

The local "Dairy Day" program will be held from 10:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. The morning program will be devoted to the examination of the educational exhibits and to personal talks with the specialists accompanying the exhibit. The Purdue specialists will appear on the afternoon program to discuss the various phases of dairy production and its related subjects. At noon free coffee, doughnuts, and ice cream will be furnished by the dairy industry.

The Dairy Caravan is being made possible through the cooperation of Purdue University, the County Dairy Extension Committee, the Dairy Industry, and the County Extension Office.

The porcupine is equipped, even before birth, with quills half an inch long.

LEGION NOTES

On the recent ballot sent out by Post 103, the final line should read, "If you have not paid your dues for 1950, enclose a check in the self-addressed, stamped envelope." The W. A. Fleet Post is forward looking, but will wait until later to collect dues for 1951. This error escaped the eagle eyes of John Croy and A. R. McKesson, as well as those veteran proof readers Kemp Moore and John Edgell.

The W. A. Fleet Post joins the community in its appreciation of the individuals named below and the others who have participated in the funerals of service men killed in action and deceased veterans in Union Township.

The following have been particularly faithful in their service; color guards and color bearers: Walter Patterson, Leland Ross, George Hardin, Virgil Hardin, Benny Murphy, Richard Baker, Vernon Snyder and Rudy Wakefield; firing squad—Thomas McKinley, John H. Croy, John Dalton, James Heffernan, Joe Morrison and J. P. Carter; bugler—Sam I. Schrimsher. Joe Morrison is the Commander of the Finney-Shilling Post No. 6919 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and John H. Croy is Commander of the W. A. Fleet Post 103 of the American Legion.

"THAT KID BUCK"

A 35-Minute Sound Motion Picture, Will be Shown at

SALEM CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN on Friday Evening, March 3rd

At 8:00 P. M.

Produced this past summer in and near Muskegon, Michigan, the picture written and production directed by Ken Anderson, outstanding christian writer, gives the story of a juvenile delinquent rehabilitated through the influence of a religious camp. Youth Haven, near Muskegon, specializes in helping underprivileged children, and boys from the courts, and the major portion of the film was shot during the camp's annual "Mid-western Training School for Boys."

Buck, the protagonist, comes into his third scrape with the law. Due for a major juvenile sentence, he is surprised to learn that the owner of the hardware store wants to pay his expenses to Youth Haven. Reluctantly, Buck accepts the offer.

From here on, the film moves into a plot involving Jerry Van Cleve, son of the hardware dealer, and the young outlaw. The climax is reached when Buck, soundly convinced of the error of his ways, finds the gospel of Christ a new lease on life.

Muskegon law enforcement officials appear in the film, together with the Youth Haven Camp personalities.

Dave Saulnier, field representative of Youth Haven, son of the well known Rev. Saulnier of the Pacific Garden Mission of Chicago, Ill., will personally bring the film to Salem, one mile north of Burr Oak then three miles west to the County Line Road.

The Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Killed Their Own Case!

For ten years the anti-trust lawyers have been attacking the business methods that make it possible to give the public the best quality food at the lowest prices.

In our last ad we told you how Federal Judge W. H. Atwell, at Dallas, threw the anti-trust lawyers and all their inflammatory charges against A&P right out of his court. But the anti-trust lawyers were not satisfied with decisions against them by three federal judges.

They still wanted to destroy A&P.

They Appealed to New Orleans

So they appealed Judge Atwell's decision to the three-judge Circuit Court at New Orleans.

One of the three, Judge Curtis L. Waller, agreed with Judge Atwell that the case should be dismissed.

The other two members of the Circuit Court, Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson Jr. and Judge Allen Cox, although saying the case should be tried, agreed that the indictment was vague and contained many allegations which were inflammatory.

They decided that Judge Atwell at Dallas should protect A&P from these inflammatory allegations and could order the anti-trust lawyers to supply the defendants with a bill of particulars.

So the case was back in Dallas again.

Judge Atwell, carrying out the decision of the Circuit Court, struck out the inflammatory matter.

He said that without this inflammatory and prejudicial matter the Grand Jury might never have returned the indictment.

Judge Atwell said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"There are many statements in the indictment which are not at all in violation, and are highly prejudicial and inflammatory."

The anti-trust lawyers objected. They advanced an amazing argument. They said that the removal of their inflammatory allegations (which all four judges had agreed did not belong in the indictment) destroyed their case.

Judge Atwell instructed the anti-trust lawyers to furnish the court with a bill of particulars. In short, he wanted specific charges instead of vague generalities. He set the deadline for furnishing this material at January 15th, 1944.

When the anti-trust lawyers twice asked for more time, pleading sickness among their staff, Judge Atwell extended the time to February 25th because he believed that they were honestly trying, in good faith, to prepare the material he had requested.

Actually, it developed, they were using the time to get ready to drop the case in Dallas and start it in another court.

They Quit in Dallas

On February 26th, while the judge was still waiting for his answer and without any previous notice to him, the anti-trust lawyers gave a story to the newspapers in Washington, announcing that they were dropping the case in Dallas.

They said that it was their intention "to file a substantially similar suit in an appropriate jurisdiction at an early date."

The "early date" turned out to be the same day.

As soon as one anti-trust lawyer killed the case in Dallas, another anti-trust lawyer filed a new case in Danville, Illinois. This new case made most of the same allegations that had been made and dropped in Dallas; and that are being made against us today.

So now, to the anti-trust lawyers, all four judges who had ruled on the Dallas case were wrong.

Despite defeats in three federal courts in widely separated parts of the country, they continued their campaign to destroy A&P.

When Judge Atwell heard of their action he ordered the anti-trust lawyers to prepare an order for his signature dismissing the Dallas case.

In signing this order he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"This nolle prosequi does not have the sanction or approval of this court. That is not necessary nor that the government ask for the court's approval."

"It is, however, a matter that may be presented to the other court and may be of interest to the people at large."

So after their efforts to destroy A&P had failed in Washington, D. C., Wilson, North Carolina, and Dallas, Texas, the anti-trust lawyers moved on to Danville, Ill.

They were still determined to destroy this company which had brought more and better food at lower cost to millions of American families.

WYH THEY CALLED HIM "HAPPY"—Throughout his life General of the Air Force Henry H. Arnold radiated gladness and good humor. From the earliest days of aviation and through two World Wars he was hailed by soldiers of all ranks as "Hap Arnold," and delighted to refer to the time when the U. S. Air Force consisted of two other flyers and himself. He was the idol of children through his writings for young aviators. In the picture he is greeted by boy and girl aviation enthusiasts upon his arrival from overseas in 1945.

Born in Gladwyn, Pennsylvania, June 25, 1886, he was graduated from West Point in 1907 and was assigned as a second lieutenant of infantry. In 1911 he was detailed to the Signal Corps and at Dayton received instruction in pilot biplane. From that time his advancement to the highest rank was synonymous with the development of American military aviation. He died at his home in California, January 15 and was laid to rest beside the graves of thousands of his comrades in Arlington National Cemetery January 19.

CASES OF PULMONARY T. B. SHOWS DECREASE

A total of 2,245 new cases of pulmonary tuberculosis, and 178 cases of other forms of the disease, was reported during 1949 to the Indiana State Board of Health, according to provisional figures made public by the division of Tuberculosis Control.

The number of reported cases of pulmonary tuberculosis showed a decrease as compared to the 2,256 cases reported in 1948 and the 2,508 cases in 1947. However, the number of other forms of the disease reported increased fifteen as compared to the 1948 reported cases and was 38 cases higher than the 1947 incidence.

Provisional figures for deaths caused by tuberculosis reveal 781 deaths in Indiana during the 12 month period. This is a decrease from the preceding year when 899 citizens died, and from the 1947 figure when 1,076 persons died of the disease.

WASHINGTON STILL LIVES

It was 218 years ago today that George Washington was born in the Old Dominion—Virginia, a commonwealth community which perhaps produced the greatest group of giants ever found in one place at one time. They were generals, orators, statesmen, jurists, prophets, patriots!

In ancient and medieval times, stars and comets were said to foretell the birth of kings, but apparently there was no sign in the sky which foretold the birth of Washington, who was destined to contribute heavily in shaping the course of human history, more so than many kings.

There was nothing regal about his place of birth. It was a rude dwelling of four rooms, clustered about a central fireplace and with sleeping quarters in the attic. But the environment was perfect. The Creator could not have fashioned a better cradle for a mighty actor in the drama of mankind. It was wild, rugged and sublime; there were great forests, great rivers, great distances, great solitudes. Into this majestic mold the character of the "Father of Our Country" was poured.

Biographical studies disclose that his early development was identified with a rugged outdoor life; that he moved to Mount Vernon when only three years old; of his father's death at the age of 11; of the soldier's influence lent by his half-brother Lawrence Washington; the influence of Lord Halifax; of his becoming master of the Mount Vernon plantation at the age of 20; and his first service as a soldier in the French and Indian war where he rose to high command when his superior, General Braddock, was killed in battle.

As a farm manager, history relates that Washington was tops. Undoubtedly he was influenced by the well known oration of Patrick Henry. When asked to take command of the American forces he did not hesitate and the story of his subsequent military leadership, soon became legend. As the first President of the newly formed nation he established the precedents which have served down through the years as the guide to many of our nation's policies.

Following his retirement from public service, the tall six-foot three-inch leader spent happy days at Mount Vernon where he was host to leaders from throughout the world. When news of his death reached Europe, England lowered flags of the fleet to half-mast, the French draped their flags in black, and Napoleon said: "Washington will be remembered by a grateful people when I shall be lost in the vortex of revolution!"

Gone is the dauntless soldier, the far-seeing sage, peerless patriot, "Father of Independence," yet the symbolism of his leadership still emerges from the hillside tomb to direct mankind to liberty. For many decades his unseen hand has been a guide, pushing tyrants from their thrones. The roar of revolution has been his applause, and the thunder of the Gettysburg's, San Juan Hill, Argonne, Guadalcanal, and the Normandy Beaches are but the echo of his philosophy. His spirit will always walk the ramparts of this republic.

The Purdue University Agricultural Extension Division says that the use of commercial fertilizer by Indiana farmers has more than doubled in the last ten years.

What the world needs is a new kind of money that would be easier to save than to spend.

Obituary

Harman Rank, age 90 years, son of August George and Christina Rank, was born October 25, 1859 in North Bend Township, Starke County, Indiana. He was united in marriage to Alma Chapman on November 11, 1883, who preceded him in death on March 23, 1943. To this union, twelve children were born. One daughter, Mary, preceded him in death.

He is survived by seven daughters and four sons, John of Dowagiac, Mich., Charles of Cassopolis, Mich., Ray of Chicago, Chester of Hibbard, Mrs. Dora Kammerer, Williamsport, Pa., Mrs. Bessie Barber, Gobles, Mich., Mrs. Blanche Wagner, Leiters Ford, Mrs. Flossie Morrie, Chicago, Mrs. Cleo Lucas, Kingsford Heights, Mrs. Nellie Van Cleave, Greencastle and Mrs. Ruth Hopple, Culver; twenty-nine grandchildren; forty great grandchildren; and two great-great grandchildren.

Mr. Rank spent most of his life in Starke and Marshall counties. However, he has traveled in most of the 48 states. He departed this life on February 12th, 1950 in the Putnam Hospital in Greencastle, after everything possible had been done for him. He had spent the past several months in the home with his daughter, Nellie and her husband in Greencastle, where he had made a number of friends. Both Mr. Rank and his wife became members of the Methodist church of Hamlet, Indiana in their early life.

INDIANA'S UNEMPLOYMENT FUND SUFFICIENT TO MEET NEEDS

Indiana's unemployment fund, with a current balance of $185 million, is solvent and the Indiana Employment Security Division will not require help from Congress to meet jobless insurance payments, Everett L. Gardner, division director, has reported.

"Indiana will not need any part of the $875 million. Robert C. Goodwin has asked Congress to turn over to states needing help to meet their unemployment payments. Right now our current balance is sufficient to pay maximum benefits simultaneously to more than half of all Indiana workers eligible for unemployment compensation," he explained.

He added that there was no indication that Indiana's fund would be put to such test. Currently, the Indiana Employment Security Division is handling about 48,000 unemployment compensation claims a week. "Many of the people now drawing benefits were laid off by industries indirectly affected by but not involved in current labor disputes," he said. "Our fund is not lowered by payments to workers directly involved in labor disputes since the Indiana law does not permit jobless insurance payments in such cases. However, many Hoosiers are eligible for payments because they are out of work involuntarily because of secondary effects of the strikes."

SIGNIFICANCE OF DATE OF ASH WEDNESDAY

Today marks the fifth time in 150 years that Ash Wednesday has fallen on February 22nd, records reveal. It will also be the last time that the traditional beginning falls on February 22 for at least the next fifty years. Since 1801 Ash Wednesday has fallen on February 22 in 1871, 1882, 1928, and 1939.

Ash Wednesday comes forty days previous to Easter Sunday, not counting Sundays. Lent originally was a period of but 40 hours. Later it comprised 30 days of fasting. Pope Gregory added Ash Wednesday to the fast, together with the remainder of that week.

Methodist Parishes Unite For Lenten Services

The churches of Richland Center, Culver, and Leiters Ford Methodist Parishes are uniting to conduct special services for the season of Lent. The United Lenten Advance, which will be sponsored by nine cooperating churches of this vicinity, will be held in different churches in this area each week, and the congregations of the various churches will come in to one church for the worship services.

The first service in the series of seven for Lent will be held in the Monterey Methodist church on Thursday, Feb. 23, at 7:30 p. m. At that time, Dr. E. E. Franklin, district superintendent of the Lafayette district of the Methodist church, will bring the devotional message.

Each week thereafter we will have guest speakers known to the people of the vicinity and men who will give helpful guidance for our spiritual living, especially during these days of Lent. These services are open to the public and you are cordially invited to spend these eyenings with us each week in prayer and fellowship and devotion.

"Meats for the Home Freezer" topic For Demonstration Here.

An interesting demonstration showing in detail the preparation of meats for the home freezer together with the use of frozen meats was enjoyed by a fair sized crowd who attended the first in a series of three planned programs last evening in the display room of the local International Harvester firm.

The demonstration was conducted by Mrs. Virginia Moore, demonstrator, and Miss Marjorie L. Shaffer, district Home Economist for International Harvester Company. Both Mrs. Moore and Miss Shaffer are from the Fort Wayne office.

"Meats - In and Out of the Freezer" was the theme of the demonstration. Care in the preparation of meats and in the wrapping for the quick freezer were emphasized in the illustrated discussion by Mrs. Moore. She also showed various ways how frozen meats could be cooked.

Omer Hook, manager of the Chas. Van Meter firm here, Mrs. Hook, and daughter, and Miss Beverly Thessin served ice cream and cakes to the guests at the close of the demonstration. Mr. Hook announced that the next demonstration would be on March 13th.

Feed Cost Per Dozen Eggs Calculated Easily

Recent declines in egg prices have many flockowners wondering about the cost of production of eggs. The direct, out-of-the-pocket cost of producing a dozen eggs or a 30 dozen case of eggs can be rather easily computed with a high degree of accuracy, Alexander Gordeuk, extension poultryman at Purdue University said recently.

The heavy breeds laying at a good average will consume between six and seven pounds of ration per dozen eggs produced. The cost per pound of feed can be determined by averaging the cost of the commercial mash or concentrate and the value of the home grown grain.

To estimate the feed cost outlay per 30 dozen case, Gordeuk suggests that the easiest way is to estimate the cost of 200 pounds of ration. This amount of ration mash and grain, are necessary under average conditions to produce each 30 dozen case of eggs.

Gordeuk uses the following for determining costs:

A bag of 20 per cent protein mash costs $4, and 100 pounds of home grown grain are valued at $2.60. The direct cash cost would be $6.00 for the case of eggs or 22 cents per dozen. This, of course, does not include allowance for labor, investment in housing, in poultry stock, and other operating expenses.

Milk Days Bring Cattle Grubs

Mild days of February and March can be expected to bring cattle grubs to the surface on the backs of cattle where herds have become infested with this parasite.

Purdue University extension entomologists point out that the grubs reduce milk production of dairy cows and reduce the rate of gain for beef animals. Cattle buyers pay less for grubby animals because damaged meat must be trimmed away and the hides are ruined as top grade leather.

The control of the grub continues to depend upon the use of rotenone, either as a spray, a wash or dust. Any one of the following procedures will quickly and effectively control cattle grubs: the first treatment is made when the lumps become noticeable and again if additional lumps show up at a later date. Details of the treatments are discussed in a leaflet "Recommendations for the control of Cattle Grubs" prepared by the department of entomology and available free from the county extension offices or the University.

Rotenone dust applications are one of the simplest methods. A dust containing five per cent rotenone powder and two parts of pyrophyllite, Tripoli earth or similar inert powder is applied to the animal's coat. About three and one-half ounces of dust per animal are used, the dust being rubbed into the hair and grub openings with a stiff brush.

ART INSTRUCTOR

Miss Sally O'Callaghan daughter of Mrs. W. J. O'Callaghan is now an instructor in Art at the Laboratory School and in the Art department of Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia, Kansas.

Sewage Disposal Directions Given

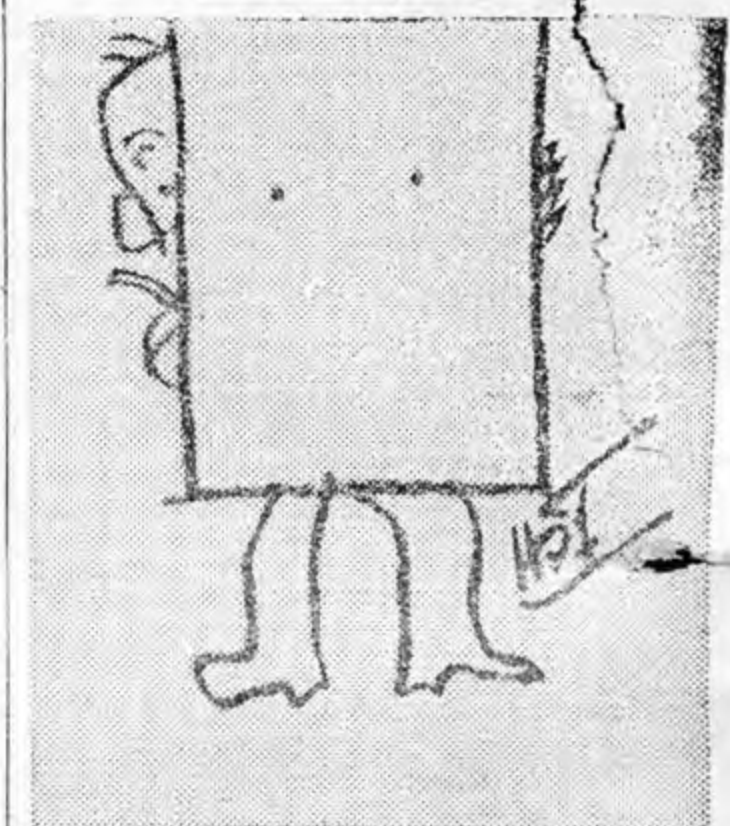

Installation of water systems has been one of the most popular improvements made by Indiana's farm folks in recent years. It has been estimated that approximately 10,000 rural residents have installed water systems annually in recent years, and few farm homes will be without this convenience in a few years.

With such installations farm people are becoming interested in the construction of septic tanks for sewage disposal, Malcolm Mason, rural health specialist at Purdue University said. A leaflet on preliminary considerations for septic tank systems for the disposal of sewage has been prepared by the division of sanitary engineering, Indiana State Board of Health. Copies of the leaflet are available free from the department of agricultural engineering at Purdue or the Board of Health, Indianapolis.

The leaflet discusses the building of the house sewer, septic tank, and absorption system. Avoidance of one of the faults of many sewage systems, the sewage tank being too small, can be avoided if the capacity table in the leaflet is consulted. For example the tank which will service a family of six or less persons should have a minimum capacity of 500 gallons. Forms for building 500 gallon septic tanks are available in several Indiana counties. Plans for these forms may be obtained for the Agricultural Engineering Department at Purdue, Mason said.

The sanitary engineers also stress that adequate sewage treatment is not obtained by the use of the septic tank alone. The tank provides only primary treatment. Necessary secondary treatment is accomplished in the absorption bed made of drain tile and gravel.

Culver Closes Hardwood Season With Two Wins

The Culver Indians chalked up victory number 16 and 17 last week end as the local quintet rounded out it's regular schedule defeating Nappanee 53-47 and Delphi 41-34. Both games, Nappanee there on Friday and Delphi here on Saturday, were marked by their uninteresting and listless play, Culver's deadly accuracy at the charity stripe proving to be the victory margin in each contest.

In the Nappanee fracas, the Indians were outscored 20-15 baskets from the field, but they hit on 21 free throw opportunities. Vern McKee who scored a total of 23 points hit 9 out of 10 free throws. Behind at the three-quarter mark, the Indians came through with an 18-point final period rally to win.

The spunky Delphi team found the Culver foul shooting a severe obstacle as the home team's 15 free throws proved to be the deciding factor in the 41-34 contest. Morris and McKee scored 17 and 12 points, respectively.

Culver's reserve squad handily won over Nappanee, 31-26, and Delphi, 40-36 in the preliminary games. McCarty and Allen Crabb were the leading scorers in both games.
