Draft Plans For Treating of Drainage Water Entering Lake

Donald Lessig, Warsaw engineer, has been authorized by the town board to initiate plans for treating water entering the lake from two sources; one eight-inch tile and the other a twelve-inch tile, both located between the boat and swimming piers in the town park.

Proposals will be submitted at once for the arrangement which will be temporary only. Mr. Lessig was here on Monday to confer with officials. It was not learned whether the treatment would involve chlorination or other types of treatment.

The treatment will meet the standards of the State Board of Health for treatment but town officials explained that both the health authorities and the town have agreed that the arrangement would be temporary.

The town is continuing its study to determine the possibilities of securing a sewage treatment and drainage system for the town. Although no solution to the financial aspects have been found, officials are exploring every possibility.

IN HOSPITAL

Carl Adams is in Memorial Hospital, Chicago, for observation.

Culver Future Farmers Chapter Busy With Group and Individual Projects

The Culver chapter of the Future Farmers of America are busily engaged in a dual project—a one acre sweetcorn project on the school lot, and a one acre potato project on the Paul Winn farm.

Members of the F. F. A. are hopeful that it will be a good crop year since the proceeds from the projects will be utilized to purchase equipment needed by the local chapter. Proceeds will also be utilized for expenses for planned educational tours; and to send representatives to represent the chapter at district and state meetings.

Lloyd Feller, vocational agricultural instructor and sponsor of the group explains that in addition to the special group projects that members are carrying out supervised farm practice projects on their parent's farms. Mr. Feller makes home visits and assists in supervising these projects with the help of parents.

In the special projects, Chas. VanMeter and Omer Hook of local International Harvester Dealers furnished the equipment to till the two plots of ground and to plant the corn. The potato project plot was plowed by Paul Winn; Charles Kline furnished a tractor to pull the potato planter loaned by Giich Ikeda; and Judson Dillon loaned a truck for the project work. The Culver City Grain and Coal Company, the Culver Hatchery and Mrs. Lloyd Feller also helped the F. F. A. boys.

The Future Farmer chapter and their instructor, Mr. Feller expressed their hearty appreciation for the splendid co-operation for the valuable assistance extended by individuals in the community.

CUBS GIVEN AWARDS

At the final meeting of the year for the Cub Packs, awards were made to the following Cub Scouts: Dick Harris, bear badge and gold and silver arrow for wolf badges; Guy Ott, gold and silver arrow; Tom Ott, silver arrow; and Buddy Seese, silver arrow.

Songs, games and yells made up the evening's program under the direction of Harry J. Baker, Cubmaster.

SUFFERS STROKE

Ed Baker was admitted to the Parkview Hospital on Monday morning. The Culver resident suffered a stroke on Saturday night.

About 29 cubic feet of poisonous gas is created with each pound of coal burned by a steam locomotive.

J. I. Rich Named Special Deputy

Don Trone, chairman of the safety committee of Lake Maxinkuckee Association, Inc., announced today the appointment of James I. Rich, special deputy, for patrol duty on roads around the Lake and patrol duty on the water.

Captain Rich, well known here, will begin his tour of duty tomorrow, June 1 and continue throughout the summer season to September 15. He will devote the greater amount of his time for the protection and assistance to the Lake community.

The Association's appointment of Captain Rich as a special deputy, is another step towards the realization of the organizations purpose of developing greater safety on the shore roads and the lake.

TO SPEAK AT FIVE-STATE SCHOOL OF BANKING

"A Modern Country Bank" will be the title of the address of W. O. Osborn, cashier of the State Exchange Bank of Culver and Argos, before the School of Banking to be conducted at the University of Kentucky at Lexington on June 16. Banks in Kentucky, Indiana, West Virginia, Ohio, and Illinois will be represented in the five-day School of Banking which will open June 12.

Impressive Memorial Services Honor Deceased Servicemen

"Our ideals and beliefs are real and vital because they are a part of our heritage, our learning and life," Admiral Wm. Bays declared in an excellent Memorial Day address here yesterday. "It would be difficult, for many of us to say in so many words, exactly what we fought for, because those feelings are too deeply set in our consciousness for words."

"Those who gave their lives might have difficulty defining things for which they would make the supreme sacrifice, but when the need arose there was no flinching and no turning back," Adm. Bays said to a large and attentive audience gathered before the Culver Public Library for the dedication of the Memorial Plaque presented to the town by the W. A. Fleet American Legion Post and erected to the memory of Culver men who gave their lives in the service of the nation.

Impressive Ceremonies

The simple and impressive ceremonies at the library were preceded by a parade from the school grounds to the site of the memorial and following the service the parade was re-formed and marched to the Culver Masonic Cemetery, where symbolic services were conducted at the graveside of Sam Buswell, a deceased veteran of World War I. Soldiers graves were decorated by Culver Brownies and Legionnaires.

Dr. Hardigg Sexton opened the service with the invocation followed by a brief history of Memorial Day by Col. Robert Rossow. George Steinhardt read the Gettysburg address; Diana Elizabeth Dunham, granddaughter of Robert Porter of World War I. James Canterbury, and Norman Wm. Thomas, unveiled the memorial; and Mrs. Ruth Lennen, organist, and Mrs. Bertha May Rust, assisted with the special music and singing.

Groups And Individuals

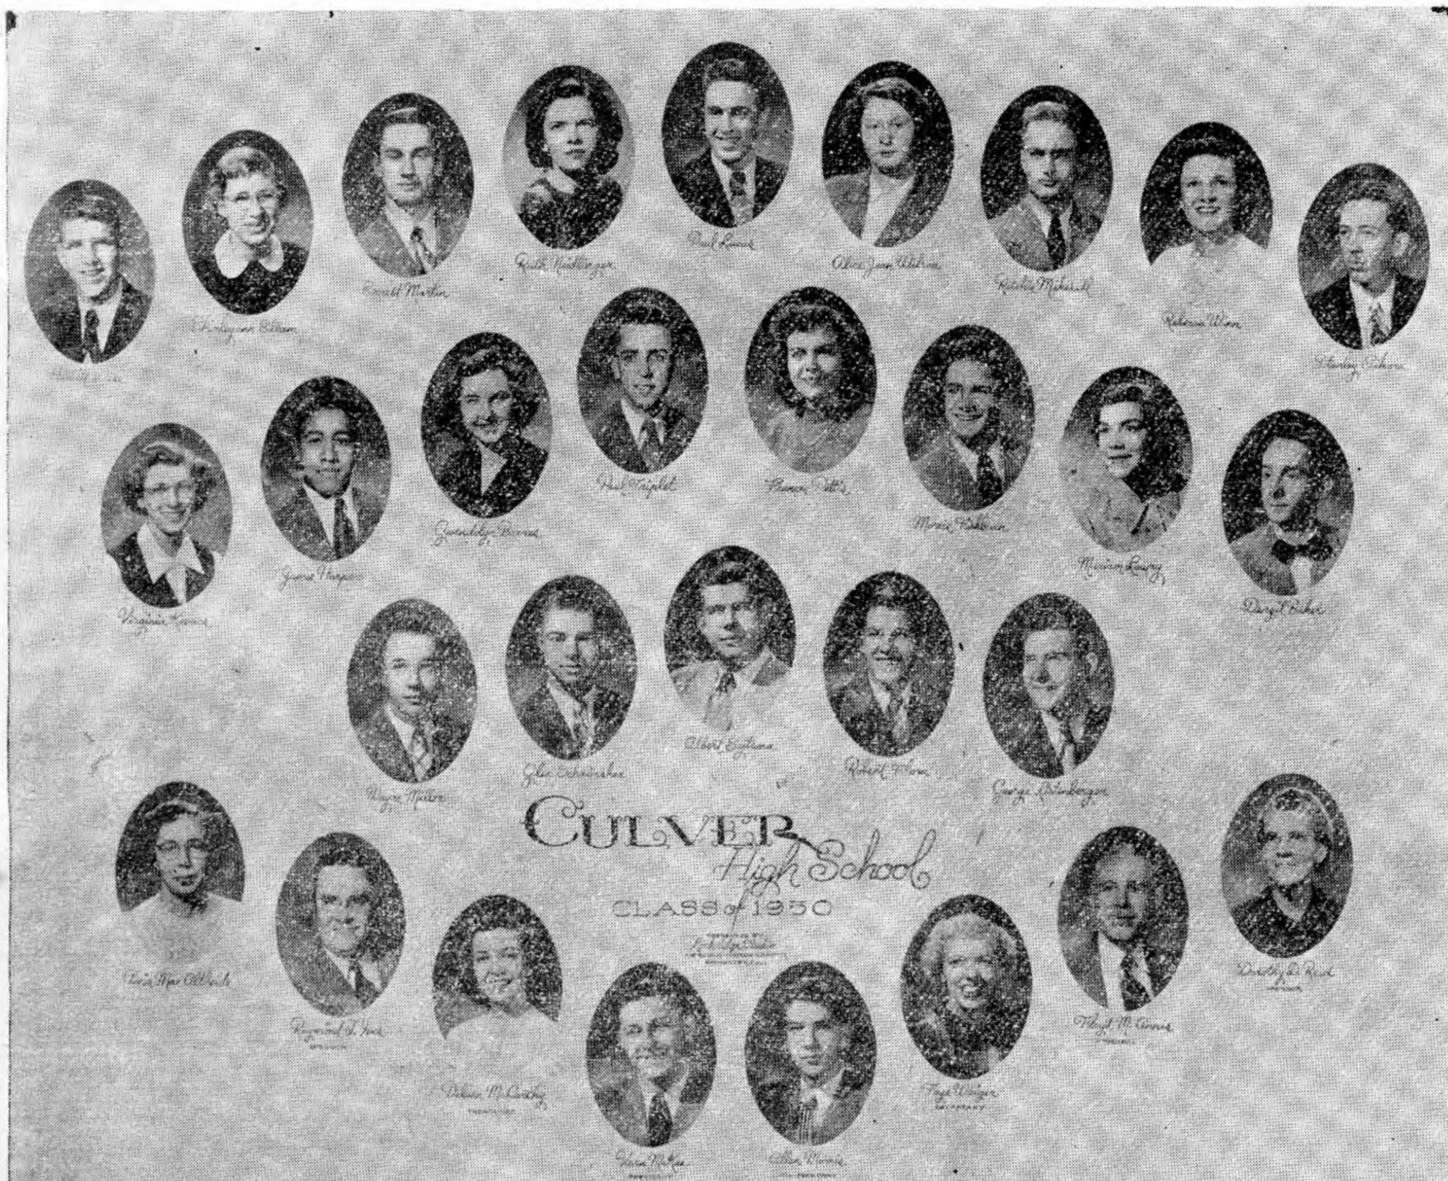

John Croy, commander of the Culver Legion Post, made the formal presentation of the Legion Memorial to the town, and Donald Hand, president of the town board, accepted the gift on behalf of the community. A twenty-one gun salute; music by the CHS Band, under the direction of Richard Gohn; and Jim Talley utilizing his mobile public address system to an excellent advantage, contributed to the occasion. The Culver War Mothers in their white uniforms lent an impressive touch as did the Scouts and Brownies. Beautiful wreaths were laid at the site of the memorial.

Others who had prominent roles included the Spanish-American War veterans, Lions Club, The Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW, the VFW and Legion Color Guards, Wm. Easterday, Mrs. Ralph P. Canterbury, Mrs. Robert Porter, Col. Roy Dalferes, Col. A. R. Elliott, Ted Strang, commander of the Culver VFW, Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Brown, Father Joseph Lenk, Veterans Chaplain, who led the special prayer at the graveside service; Mrs. Arthur Hughes, and Paul Overmyer.

Adm. Bays Says War is Personal

In his splendid address, Adm. Bays pointed out "War is a very personal thing. It uproots all of our lives, yet affects each of us differently. Although it calls for (Continued on Page 12)

County Church School Report Gives Attendance Data

The annual report of Church School work in Marshall county shows that the average attendance at 76 Sunday Schools is 6508. The report is a summary of individual reports submitted to the Marshall County Council of Christian Education. The report follows:

Number of Sunday Schools in Marshall County	76
Number of officers and teachers	1110
Number of scholars	8188
Total number of officers, teachers and scholars	9298
Average attendance	6508
Number of members on Cradle Roll	917
Number of members in Home Department	226
Number of Sunday Schools who made an offering	52
Number of Sunday Schools who attended a convention	43
Number of Sunday Schools who made a report	60

The above report is for the year ending December 31, 1949. Rev. V. L. Palmer, Bremen, president of the County Council of Christian Education will send letters soon to the Sunday School superintendents in regard to the yearly apportionment. There will be a meeting Sunday afternoon, May 28, 2:30 DST, in the First Evangelical and Reformed Church in Plymouth, of the Marshall County Council of Christian Education.

his lake residence when he saw one. It came right at him sailing through the air—just like you read about. It was reported that Dooley dodged just in the nick of time.

A few minutes later a car backed to his place and the driver asked him if he had seen a hub cap around. The driver pointed out that it flew off as he made the turn in the road and sailed far and high into the Dooley yard somewhere.

If prizes were awarded in the sport of mushroom hunting, Mrs. Esther McFarland would have an excellent claim to the 1950 Maxinkuckee crown. An excellent specimen of the delectable sponge variety, eight inches in height and six and three-fourth inches in circumference was brought by Mrs. McFarland to the Citizen office last Saturday.

Sam L. Pittman won the Alumna Craft boat and motor in the drawing conducted by the Finney-Shilling post of the VFW last Saturday evening. Shortly after the announcement that he had won, Pittman, who is employed at the Academy, sold his boat and motor to Jack Kowatch. After selling his prize, Pittman went to a local clothing store and invested part of his money in some new clothing.

The announcement that Johnny "Red" Corriden had been appointed manager of the Chicago White Sox, reminded George Williams of his association with Corriden when the later was located at Logansport.

Faculty Scores 7-3 Upset Over Cadet Varsity

A large crowd of cadets and faculty families saw the staff members' baseball squad score a 7-3 upset over the cadet varsity team last Saturday afternoon. The faculty off to an early 4-0 lead coasted to their victory behind the steady pitching of Vetare.

Members of the Faculty nine included: F. Vetare, Russ Oliver, Sgt. McKinley, Sgt. Patterson, Sgt. Griffin, Frank Walaitis, L. Stevens, John Gowan, J. Sayre, George Ball and Capt. Robert Bolton.

Leonard Kitts is among the students listed in the winter term Honor Roll at Rollins College at Winter Park, Fla. Kitts is the son of Col. and Mrs. I. L. Kitts.

Curbstone Comments

Editorial Asides and Observations which may be of passing importance to the week-by-week record of the Lake Maxinkuckee vicinity.

Those of us who mow our own lawns tend to frown upon anything that may interfere with straightaway mowing such as trees, bushes, posts, etc. Those who may have considered removing that patch of flowers or post should consider the plight of Earl Foreman. Not that he has ever said anything for to the best of our knowledge he hasn't.

Earl who lives at the corner of Lake Shore Drive and Coolidge Court must have a deuce of a time getting his mower between the four posts which have been placed on the terrace near the corner. First, there is a state highway stop sign; second, there is a telephone pole; a lamp post; the recently placed post for the street sign, and then for good measure there is a bracing wire for the telephone pole.

Last week's item headed "Fish Story of Fish Stories" relating unusual facts concerning the large bass that unsuccessfully attempted to swallow the almost as large bass, has brought forth an unusual number of stories. For example Forrest Geiselman was reminded of a similiar incident to that related last week. A few years ago he and Mrs. Geiselman were spending a vacation at Stone Lake. One evening they took a leisurely boat trip to observe the deer which frequented the lake shore in the late evening.

Noting an object in the water they found that it was a twenty-inch northern pike which had died trying to swallow a 16-inch pike.

A letter from Ross Bartley down Indiana University way says: "You make it mighty hard for us hill bound people down here in southern Indiana by sending out those attractive folders on Scenic Culver. Looking over the one just produced by the Culver Citizen, I immediately got the urge for a vacation at Culver."

"However with a convention coming the last week of June, plus the usual things here at your alma mater, I see no possibility of being moved at this time by your publication. However I did send it on to a friend in Chicago who is thinking of entering his son in Culver Military Academy."

Those who may wish to know something of a birdseye view of Culver and the lake should confer with Cary Cummins. Among other professional and avocational activities, such as being a masonry expert, Cary looks after the roof of the Culver water tower.

Perched high above the town Cary has had the unusual opportunity to get a different perspective of the layout of the community than those of us who travel at street level. Several persons have inquired concerning the view from "up there." Last week he took his camera up with him and he now is able to photographically exhibit a birdseye view of the town.

Fulton county residents have been having a time with flying saucers. One of the high flying discs was seen at the Castleman farm recently. The Rochester News Sentinel has carried an authentic account of a real for sure flying saucer. It was reported by Roger Dooley, president of the Rochester Lions Club, who was guiding his power mower at SCOLD THAT TIGER! . . . These acrobatics at home plate resulted from a wild pitch by Detroit Tiger pitcher Hutchison in a game against the Washington Senators at Griffith stadium. Detroit catcher Robinson recovered the ball and took a seat on the greensward. Senator Irving Norsen meanwhile had streaked from third, and pitcher Hutchison had legged it to the plate to cover. Norsen hit the dirt, and Hutchison tripped over him, tossing his heels in the air. Norsen was safe. The Tigers won, 8-6. The umpire is Hubbard.

PLAN DAIRY TOUR

Marshall County dairymen and other interested persons are invited to participate in a Dairy and Agronomy Tour to be held, Friday, June 2nd, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. (Daylight Saving Time.) The tour is being sponsored by the Extension Dairy Committee and the County Extension Office for the purpose of promoting better dairying practices in Marshall County. Purdue agronomy specialist M. O. Pence and dairy specialist Frank DeLaCroix will be present to lead the discussion and answer questions.

The tour will start at 10:00 a.m. on the Vernon Flossen farm, 2 miles northeast of Plymouth on the Goshen Road. Participants making the tour should bring their own lunch. Milk drinks will be provided at the noon stop.

Beef Gains Increased By Grazing Plans

Cattle feeders can obtain a greater production of beef from permanent pastures with a system of "deferred" summer grazing, that is, grazing at peak seasons only, rather than from continuous grazing.

By using highly productive permanent pasture to capacity during the spring and fall, an increase of 109 pounds of beef per acre was obtained as compared with returns from similarly treated pastures which were grazed throughout the summer. This experiment was carried on at the Miller-Purdue farm.

By stocking pastures heavily during the cool months when blue grass is making its peak growth, a greater beef production per acre is possible.

Two similar pastures were treated with 300 pounds of 0-20-10 fertilizer and 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate. The pasture which was grazed only at the peak seasons produced 46 per cent more beef than the similarly treated pasture which was grazed on a rotation basis. Deferred grazing was permitted only from May 20 to July 15 and between September 9 through October 7.

The pasture specialist said that the disadvantage of the system is that other feed has to be provided during the summer months. When the farmer thinks of the production per acre in terms of feed nutrients, the two systems are practically the same as the pounds of feed per acre produced are nearly equal. However, Mott said, although the grass was no more productive in the deferred plan, a larger percentage of the feed nutrients in the grass were used for gains.

The human body contains about 65 per cent of oxygen, 18 per cent of carbon, 10 per cent of hydrogen and three per cent of nitrogen.

Use Of Hybrid Corn Seed Continues To Gain

This year may be the first in the history of hybrid corn in the United States in which the percentage of the total acreage planted to hybrids does not increase, says the U. S. Department of agriculture. The 1950 planting program makes this a possibility.

Bureau of Agricultural Economics records reveal a steady upward trend in planting of hybrids in the country as a whole, and in each of its four geographical regions. Last year for the whole country nearly 78 per cent of all corn acreage was hybrids. The North Central States led with more than 94 per cent hybrid plantings, and in the heart of the Corn Belt — Iowa, Indiana, and Illinois — it was hard to find any corn not hybrid except in the fields of inbreds planted for production of hybrid seed.

The percentages of hybrid acreage in the other divisions were: North Atlantic, 84 percent; Western, 49; and Southern, 40 percent. In these regions the desirability of hybrid seed is now recognized. Hybrids are taking over the fields rapidly — as rapidly as tested hybrids can be developed and the seed grown. But in these States preliminary development work of inbreeding and crossing did not get under way until the Corn Belt hybrids had already proved themselves. In the States where corn is not a leading crop, the early time-consuming development work did not get under way until experience in the Corn Belt had proved the gains were well worth the effort.

As a result of hybrid corn, says the Bureau, "over the past 20 years farmers have been producing an increasing volume of corn from a declining acreage." Outside the Corn Belt, this year, it is expected that the percentage of the acreage planted to hybrids will continue to rise. But acreage within the Corn Belt — already almost entirely hybrid — is scheduled for a substantial decrease. Thus, the non-hybrid acreage in other states might amount to as great a proportion of the total acreage as it did in 1949. This would be an apparent check in the trend to hybrids, but would not really indicate any slackening in their increasing popularity.

County Farmers Plant Total of 54,600 Trees

Thirty-three Marshall County farmers and organizations planted a total of 54,600 trees this spring. These trees were supplied by both the State Division of Forestry and the Pittman-Robertson wildlife program.

This year 29 farmers purchased 51,600 trees from the State Division of Forestry. Each year the State forest nurseries supply organizations and individuals with about 6,000,000 young trees. The trees from these nurseries are sold at cost for windbreaks, reforestation, erosion control, and Christmas tree production. Trees must be planted outside city limits and may not be resold as rooted stock.

Individuals and organizations receiving these trees were Ervin Stuntz, R. A. Ecker, O. E. Ballentyne, Phillip Olson, James F. Berger, Robert Listenberger, Charles V. Hajovich, Clayton E. Bare, Boleslaw Miciewicz, Harold H. Long, Crewes Warnacutt, Fred Crocker, Artie E. Coar, Lloyd B. Keyser, A. R. Slack, William Whitesell, Ralph H. Berger, Convent Ancilla Domini, Anton Bergstedt, Charles Broeker, Cleatus W. Bunch, Jack Kibort, Peter Amanowicz, P. R. Irely, Howard Morlock, Clarence Kline, Wayne Wise, East Shore Land Neighborhood Association, and Harold R. Young.

County Agent R. C. Harvey stated that he will be able to accept orders for trees after September 15th for next spring delivery. Order blanks may also be obtained from J. G. MacAllister, Farm Forester at Plymouth.

Urge County Farmers To Enroll In Five-Acre Contest Before June 15th

Marshall County farmers interested in enrolling in the Five-Acre Corn Contest must enroll before June 15th. Any adult or youth is eligible by paying membership dues in the Indiana Corn Grower's Association. The age limit for the junior members is 12 to 20, inclusive, for 4-H members or 12 to 18 for non 4-H members. Enrollment may be made at the County Extension Office.

The purpose of the Five-Acre Corn Club is to promote better practices in corn growing. Each member enrolling in the club will receive, at the end of the year, a copy of the yields, cultivation, and fertilization practices used by all the county members having their yields checked in the contest. In addition, they will receive a report from the Indiana Corn Growers' Association of the results of the state contest.

Contestants this year will again have the added incentive to compete for Five-Acre honors. The Bremen Grange will have an achievement banquet for all contestants having their fields checked in the contest. They also are offering special awards to the winners in the contest. In addition to these awards, members making the requirements will receive medals from the Indiana Corn Growers' Association.

The dues in the Indiana Corn Growers' Association will be used to pay for the medals and reports which are given to the Five-Acre Corn Club members.

County Hospital Reports Increase In Admissions

There have been 76 more admissions at the Parkview Hospital during the first four months of 1950 than in the corresponding month of 1949, according to a report issued this week.

Several times when all beds were occupied, emergency patients were taken care of in beds placed in corridors. At other times of full occupancy particularly in maternity cases those mothers able to do so without endangering themselves or infants were asked to relieve a tight bed situation by going home so that waiting O.B. cases could have a bed.

It is interesting to note that during 1949 there were 442 infants born as follows: 148 between 7:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.; 131 between 3:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m.; and 163 between 11:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m. So far this year in the first four months there have been 143 babies born as against 140 in 1949.

A comparison of admission and births will be made later comparing the 1950 national census year and the 1940 census year.

Wayne King Gives Fancy Saddle Horse To Dr. Bridgegroom

One of the finest saddle horses in the midwest area is now munching bluegrass on the Don Reinholdt farm a mile west of Leiters Ford.

This five-gaited animal, last year's winner of his class at the Illinois state fair is now owned by Dr. Hugh Bridgegroom, of Kennilworth, Ill., son of Mrs. Jennie Bridgegroom, Leiters Ford. The horse was a gift to Dr. Bridgegroom from Wayne King, the celebrated "waltz king" orchestra leader, also a resident of Kennilworth. Dr. Bridgegroom has been the King family physician for a long number of years.

Patricia King, daughter of the noted band leader rode the horse in the Illinois fair last fall. The new owner of the highly prized animal has instructed the Reinholdts to secure an experienced saddle horse rider to put the animal through its paces from time to time.

Miss Nora Blackburn returned to her home in Leiters Ford, after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Ora Mosher of Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wyland and daughter entertained at a taffy pulling, the guests were the Adults Class of the First Baptist Church of Rochester, Wednesday evening.

JUST TO PASS THE TIME

A farmer and a professor were sharing a seat on the train. Both were getting bored by the tedium so the farmer started a conversation and they soon had become quite chummy. "Suppose we have an old-fashioned game of riddles to pass the time," suggested the professor. "If I propound a riddle you can't guess, you give me a dollar, and vice versa.

"All right," agreed the farmer, "but as you are better educated than I am, I think I should give you only 50 cents each time I lose." The professor assented to that, as fair enough. "Go ahead, lead off your riddle."

"Well," said the farmer, "What animal has three legs walking and two legs flying?"

The college man pondered that one long and hard, but finally gave up. "I'll admit I don't know. Here's your dollar. Now what's the answer?"

"Sorry," said the farmer, "but I don't know the answer either. Here's your 50 cents.

Hoosier Farmers Get Millions of Wildflowers

The new shipment of wildflowers from the Department of Agriculture has completed shipment to Indiana landowners 2.75 million Multiflora Rose or enough of the Asiatic shrubs to plant a straight line extending from Indianapolis to Philadelphia.

An average of 53 bird nests per mile soon will be found in this living fence. This figure multiplied by 700, or the approximate mileage involved between Indianapolis and Philadelphia, will reveal that the housing shortage for our wildlife will be decreased greatly by these plantings.

An excellent cover for wildlife, it also is helpful in erosion control, contour tillage and for stopping pasture gullies. Also multiflora helps control weeds and by harboring bird life hordes of destructive insects are eliminated. The shrub has an ornamental foliage and is well suited to line, contour and irregular fencing.

Investigation has revealed that fencing planted twenty-five years ago still is strong and vigorous. Individuals familiar with Multiflora are most enthusiastic in regard to it because the natural fence requires no clipping, pruning, training or support. It also serves as an effective windbreak merely insofar as wind breaks. The planting of multiflora shrubs to line, contour and irregular fencing is a new experience for many young farmers and is making the farmer who survived the '30's do some serious thinking regarding his investment.

No Change Seen For Farm Prices

"The parity ratio for farm prices slipped below 100 a few months ago, and it doesn't show much disposition to come back above 100 for a while," Dr. Earl L. Butz, head of the department of agricultural economics at Purdue University, said in the recent issue of Economic and Marketing Information, published by the Agricultural Extension Service.

He pointed out that this unfavorable price relationship is a new experience for many young

LET'S BE READY

The 1950 summer season is rushing toward Lake Maxinkuckee . . . with the Academy commencement exercises scheduled to begin Saturday, and the opening of the Summer Session not too far away; with fishermen hankering for a blue gill or two; with picnickers already planning a Sunday outing and swimming and moonlight sailing will soon be in vogue. Yes, once again the time is here to get out the old, but genuinely reliable Culver "Welcome Mat."

During the forthcoming season the lakeside community will again be hosts to hundreds of guests and as hosts we should see that everything is shipshape. No doubt nearly everyone has already tidied up their premises and removed the accumulated rubbish. Any of us who haven't already accomplished this should do so at once, and not wait until the summer is half gone. Weeds and undergrowth on vacant lots should be trimmed, and roadways and streets should be kept as clean as possible.

While keeping the physical surroundings in shipshape order is important, the attitude, the pride, and the courtesy of each and every citizen is particularly vital. Therefore in dusting off the "Welcome Mat" for our 1950 summer visitors let's do it in the spirit that we ourselves like it done when we go a-calling to other communities for a vacation.

POST MEMORIAL DAY THOUGHT

What greater memorial could a man have than the glorious future of a child? A future made bright with the promise of financial independence. Free from the great worry of never having money. Sparkling with the opportunity that keeps company with money. All this you can have for your child. All this you can dedicate as a living memorial to another's memory.

Simply enlist your child in the Savings Bond Independence Drive. Automatically, your bank or your place of business will see to it that you get one United States Savings Bond every month—made out to your child, if you wish.

In ten years you will have saved enough by this simple, painless method to help send your child to college, or to start him in business, or launch her into married life.

Therefore, for the financial independence of your child, BUY U. S. SAVINGS BONDS.

CULVER

By Earl D. Johnson

On the banks of Maxinkuckee,
Neath the broad and leafy trees,
Stands the little town of Culver,
That is dear to you and me.

All its beauty in the Summer
Comes a flowing in our hearts,
All the things we've loved so dearly,
Never from us will depart.

There we've lived and raised our families,
With a welcome at our door.
We are all a friendly people,
On the Maxinkuckee shore.

In our hearts we'll all remember,
In far places we may be,
That the little town of Culver
Is the town for you and me.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sirs:
I have an article which may be of interest from the Miami Beach newspaper. As you know we have spent about fifteen summers at Culver and our boys are great bass fishermen. The article is titled "Beach Fish Tourney gets a New Leader."

"A new class leadership was registered Monday as the tournament moved into the fourth week. This entry was made by Robert Shachter, a student at the University of Miami. It is the first in the black bass class of plug casting. It is a new record catch, one weighed five pounds ten ounces and one four pounds nine ounces. They were plugged with 18 pound test line from the bank of snapper creek. This is the first black bass record in two years."

We expect to be in Culver for the summer and have not found a cottage yet. But we watch your paper every week.

Sincerely, Mrs. A. J. Shachter.

Impressive Memorial Service Honor Deceased Servicemen

the greatest unselfishness, co-operation and teamwork, its imprint on our lives is an individual thing. The very intensity of the ordeal, its pressure makes the imprint more clear and more lasting.

"Usually there are hidden places and quiet by-paths where we go to honor our dead and commune with their spirit. That is proper when our feeling is personal and private. But the names of these dead are Culver names—Finney, Shilling, O'Connor, Thornburg, Burkett, Thomas, Fleet, and many more. Our pride in them is a community affair.

"I feel it singularly appropriate that this memorial is placed here in the center of town, in the heart of our community. Here it is surrounded by symbols of those freedoms they have striven to uphold. Freedom of speech, freedom of thought; how better symbolized than by this Public Library. They are frequented by people seeking truth. To many it is the only source of truth available. To them it stands for freedom. It should to us.

"On one side is our Bank. It represents economic security, freedom of enterprise and opportunity. Based upon the stability of American banks and currency the whole world sets its economic values. On the other side is the church, a representative church, which can typify religious freedom and the beliefs of us all, whatever they may be. On the battlefields our chaplains gave spiritual comfort to all regardless of individual creeds. We believe in tolerance. For these things we have fought and we would fight again.

Responsibility in World Affairs
"When the shooting starts the response is electric and whole hearted. But it takes a national emergency to cement our unity and crystallize our feeling of world responsibility. Why must that be so? Why must we wait for war to realize that we have a share in world affairs? The responsibility is ours just as much in the time of peace.

"These plaques should cause us to reflect. First, of the debt we owe to those who did not come back, of the pride we feel in their devotion. Second, of our responsibilities in world affairs. Third, of the fact that the soldiers and sailors who fight our battles are not strangers; they are from down the block, across the street.

"These plaques honor our dead, but they also honor our community. They are the campaign ribbons that Culver wears. They are our badge of membership in world affairs. We shall always wear them with pride. May we always be worthy of them."

Cornerstone Sealed

Placed in the base of the stone bearing the plaques was a hermetically sealed metal box, containing a representative coin collection of James W. Riggins, with a coin for every year from 1809 to 1949, names and members of the W. A. Fleet Post, a copy of the "Culver Citizen," dated May

THANK GOD FOR THE WEATHER

"Thank God for weather," said a certain corned philosopher; and he turned his face to the sunshine and waited one glad moment to gather his thoughts. And then set his meaning forth as follows:

"We awake in the morning and our first thought is as to whether it is raining or snowing, or if the East is bright. The weather is the rallying point around which privileges and duties of the day group themselves as we turn over or get up and dress.

"The weather is served for breakfast. It rarely fails to come with the coffee, and 'Well, it's a fine day,' is an expression which butters much toast.

"It gives variety to our experiences. All changes of wetness or dryness, of heat and cold, hand us different sorts of reactions, and break up monotony.

"The weather enables us to tell that story, repeated perhaps for the thousandth time, about that winter in the country when we had to dig the house out of a snowdrift and there was very little traffic for four days. There is a story for rain, too.

Autos and railway trains are started on the weather.

"Out of doors Bill can approach Joe with the assurance that their overnight silence can safely be broken by comments on the difference between today and yesterday.

"The weather is the universal background of the day's experiences. And in meeting persons for the first time! What a boon is weather, as it gives a fitting word to go with the handshake and melts the ice which divides two strange lives.

"When nothing else can be said, we can talk of the weather. It is the one sure password.

"'Good form' can never do away with the magic of its supremacy. Thank God for weather!"

On one occasion he walked into a back yard where a girl was milking a cow. He introduced himself and explained that he was campaigning for the office of attorney general. Just then her mother stuck her head out the back door and called, "Mary, who is that feller you're talking to?" Mary replied that the visitor was a politician named Bill Johnson. "You come right in the house," commanded the mother, with agitated concern in her voice. And as an afterthought she added, "and if that feller is a politician, bring the cow with you!"

FINDS LARGE MUSHROOM

Mrs. Esther McFarland found a sponge mushroom Friday, which measured 8 inches in height and 6 3/4 inches in circumference. The unusual specimen was near perfect. It was discovered growing at the east side of the ice house inside a cement block opening at her home on E. Jefferson Street.

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE . . .

"For every fire loss suffered during the period of the average mortgage, there are 16.3 deaths among borrowers," according to the United States Building and Loan League.

When a man signs a 20-year mortgage at age 25, there is one chance in about eleven of his not living to complete the payments; at age 35, one chance in about six; and at age 45, one chance in about three.

These figures are based on the modern 1941 CSO Mortality Table.

You protect your home with fire insurance. Isn't it even more important to protect it for your family with a Mortgage Protection Policy?

Saturday night's play at Billy Link's theatre, "Male and Female" was a wonderful picture, ranking well with Griffith's great spectacular productions.

An Extra Pint To The Gallon Can Be Gained From Silo Stored Grass

An extra pint of milk with each gallon is about what dairymen can expect from storing grass in the silo instead of field-curing it as hay. Or they can get a bonus of more than a cupful if they cure the hay by storing it moist in the loft and blowing air through it to take out moisture, says the USDA.

This is true when weather is favorable for field curing. In rainy weather the gain from silo storage is greater, because rain at haying time injures field cured hay, but does not harm grass cut for silage.

Alfalfa hay is recognized as an excellent dairy feed. Dairy scientists at the National Research Center gave it a rating of 100 in comparative tests of the three ways of storing the yield from equal plots of grass harvested at the same stage and stored in the three ways. Weather was favorable and field-cured hay was not injured by leaching and bleaching.

Another third of the alfalfa was partially cured in the field, but put in the mow while still moist. Air was fanned through it to dry it to a point where it would keep well. This method of haying has the advantage of saving more of the green coloring matter and other feed values, and of avoiding most of the loss by shattering of dried leaves. Based on milk production when fed to dairy cows, this type of hay produced about 7 percent more milk than the field-cured hay—more than a cup extra to each gallon.

Alfalfa allowed to merely wither in the field, can be made into excellent silage which dairy cows relish. Handled thus, the final third of the alfalfa yielded about 12 percent more milk than the field-cured hay—an added pint with each gallon—the dairy scientists found. A gain of 12 percent in milk yield from an acre represents an important advance in dairy efficiency. Putting the first crop of alfalfa in the silo is recommended particularly because it is likely to be coarser stemmed than later crops. Also, haying weather is less reliable in spring and early summer than later in the season.

Voreis To Head Green Township PTA

Officers for the coming year were elected at the combined meeting of the PTA and graduation exercises for the eighth grade held on Thursday evening at the Greene Township School. Orville Voreis was named president; Doyle Fishburn, vice president; Mrs. Arline Miller, secretary; and Merl McCune, treasurer.

The evening's program began with the annual carry-in supper at 7:30 o'clock, followed by the business meeting of the PTA. A musical program was given by the instrumental students under the direction of Mr. J. Richardson; vocal numbers by the 7th and 8th grade chorus; and a group of songs by a 5th and 6th grade quartet, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Rust, and a play "Leave It to Annie Lou," by the 7th grade.

The graduation exercises included an address by Robert Richards, the class will, history and prophecy and was climaxed by the presentation of the diplomas by Alfred E. Wineger, trustee.

Mrs. Nellie Newhouse, who has taught at Greene Township School for fifteen years was presented a gift from the school children and teachers by Principal Harry Ferguson. Mrs. Newhouse will teach at Argos next year.

Forty-nine different kinds of fun can be had in playgrounds, empty lots and fields where there are no cars. Very little fun can be had playing in the street, and even that can be destroyed if an accident happens.

Good Farming Practices Make Good Soils

Whether cropland improves or runs down is mainly a matter of how the farmer — good or bad — manages it, according to Dr. B. T. Shaw of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The idea of "virgin" soils being good agricultural soils is not always true, says Dr. Shaw, deputy administrator of the Agricultural Research Administration. In most cases virgin soil calls for a period of management to bring out and improve its productive possibilities. Under cropping, Dr. Shaw told a New England audience recently, soils tend to approach a fairly stable level of productivity "which represents a balance between down grade processes such as removal of nutrients and loss of organic matter, and upgrade processes such as gain in nutrients and organic matter from residues, manure, fertilizers, and rock weathering."

"When both lime and manure are used on the rotation, corn yields are raised to about 50 bushels per acre. When fertilizers are used also the equilibrium yield can be pushed still higher. Thousands of farmers have demonstrated that it is possible to produce rather consistently corn yields of 100 bushels per acre in all of the Corn Belt and in many other States."

INDIANA EMPLOYMENT CONTINUES TO RISE

Job insurance claims dropped another 18 per cent to a total of 23,486 during the week ending May 20. John W. Crise, director of the Indiana Employment Security Division, said today. He added that claims were about one-third the number received this same time last year.

The call-backs following the Chrysler settlement, increased construction and farm activity and general optimism all played a part in reducing unemployment claims, according to Mr. Crise. He added that most Hoosier industries expect a continued upward trend which will further cut unemployment in the state.

Demand for Reservations at State Park Hotels Presents Real Problem

So you would like to spend some time, say a night or two or maybe a week end or two at one of Indiana's beautiful State Park Hotels. Who wouldn't?

In 1949 more than 1,500,000 persons paid admissions to these state operated recreational spots.

The State Park Hotels and cabins are capable of accommodating about 1,200 persons daily or 33,600 in a month. Thus during the summer season which ran about 31 weeks, 268,800 persons were housed.

To split hairs should all of the 1,500,000 visitors to the parks have attempted to secure sleeping accommodations, approximately 18 per cent of each visitor would have had a good night. Maybe we should say he or she would just about have gotten a foot in the door.

As many persons failed to obtain reservations as did those who were fortunate enough to secure them.

Requests for reservations are filled according to the order of their reception. Each is stamped with a dating machine. No partiality is tolerated by the Department.

Kenneth M. Kunkel, Director of the Department of Conservation suggests that those seeking reservations satisfy themselves with a mid-week stay in the event they cannot get week end rooms. The parks all are equally beautiful. Try others should you fail at one. For longer stops get reservations in at least six weeks in advance.

The Department of Conservation and the State of Indiana wishes to be good hosts to the visitors to the parks—those who are seeking respite from the daily grind, but the hotels have their space limitations.

Academy Voted Associate Membership In IHSAA

Culver Military Academy has been extended associate membership in the Indiana High School Athletic Association. The petition of the Academy and Howe Military Academy received favorable action by the IHSAA council at its annual meeting held last Saturday in Indianapolis.

The special membership to boarding schools permits competition with IHSAA members for single session games but not for championship play. Up till the time that the state association passed a ruling forbidding competition between member school and non-member schools the Academy football, basketball, track, tennis and golf teams scheduled contests with high school opponents in this area.

H. Ralph Beabout, principal of Plymouth H. S. was elected president of the Board of Control of the state association. Phil Eskew, principal at Wabash, who has officiated at Culver H. S. basketball contests on several occasions was elected president of the association's Athletic Council.

BOTH SAYGER AND FREE THROW AWARDS GO TO VERN McKEE

Vern McKee, member of the 1950 graduating class at Culver high school, was awarded both the Sayger award and the free throw medal, at the recent graduation exercises. The free throw medal is annually awarded to the member of the basketball team who has the best record in free throws during the season's competition. The medal is awarded by Charles Cowan, Rex Mawhorter, and Edgar Shaw, graduates of the class of 1914.

The Sayger Award is presented to the Senior boy who is designated by a committee, composed of faculty members and patrons, as having achieved distinction in citizenship, academics, athletics, and character.

Lauds 4-H'ers For Tractor Maintenance

Keeping the nation's fleet of 3½ million farm tractors operating efficiently is a job of basic importance to the whole economy. Aiding in this task today is the 4-H tractor maintenance program through which nearly 130,000 club leaders and members have been trained to know their tractors, care for them well, and operate them efficiently.

So said Guy L. Nobel, director of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, in an interview.

"The club leaders receive special training in tractor care and operation at annual State or district clinics, which are conducted by the Extension Service of the State Agricultural Colleges and USDA co-operating," Noble asserted. "The leaders pass on what they learn to club members, who carry out the training on the home tractors

"Through this process of training, club members not only learn the value of efficient tractor operation, but also develop the qualities of leadership, helpfulness, initiative and thrift."

As incentives for outstanding records of achievement in this program, merit medals, Chicago 4-H Club Congress trips and college scholarships are offered on county, state and national levels, respectively.

Last year's state winner in Indiana was Sheldon Barroquillo of Wolcottville. One hundred fifteen club members in Indiana received county medals of honor.

FULTON HOME ECONOMICS CHORUS PLAN TOUR TO WASHINGTON

The Fulton County Home Economics Chorus is currently making final plans to join other affiliated groups from throughout the nation to attend the sesquicentennial in Washington D. C. Mrs. Harry Johnson of Culver points out that approximately 70 persons from Fulton county will leave Rochester on July 10 in two chartered buses.

According to a notice in today's classified advertisements any local person wishing to join the group for the tour to the national capital should contact Mrs. Johnson who says that there are six reservations available.

Glassland Field Day to Be Held on Friday, June 9, in Kosciusko County

Improved pastures, wider use of grasses, soil conservation and more efficient hay and grass silage making will be encouraged at the Glassland Field Day to be held on the Creighton Brothers farm in Kosciusko County on Friday, June 9th.

The program will include demonstrations of pasture renovation, hay making and grass silage equipment. Visiting farmers will inspect various types of farm machinery and equipment, grass variety plots, and Purdue University educational exhibits. Lunch will be served at noon.

Several thousand farmers are expected to attend the event, one of four being staged in the state this summer.

Purdue extension specialists in agronomy, agricultural engineering, dairy husbandry, animal husbandry, and agricultural economics will be on hand to assist county agents of the district, co-operating farmer-committeemen, and machinery dealers with the all-day program.

HAS ROLE IN DRAMA

Miss Alice Joy Cromley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cromley, of Culver, is included in the cast in the Bob Jones University Classic Players' production of Rostand's CYRANO DE BERGERAC which will be presented in the Rodeheaver Auditorium on May 26 and 30, during the commencement exercises at Greenville S. C. school.

No matter how well a ration is balanced, if it is not palatable it will not be consumed in amounts sufficient to produce good results.

Miss Irene Koebke, a graduate of Culver High School, was awarded the Association of Women Students scholarship at an annual Recognition Chapel held recently on the DePauw University campus.

The scholarship, given annually by AWS, is awarded on the basis of scholarship, need, and service to the university.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max C. Koebke, Miss Koebke is a sophomore in the DePauw school of liberal arts and is specializing in elementary education. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta, national social sorority, YWCA, and the Radio Workshop.
