Culver FFA Plans To Erect Highway Signs

by Jerry Frasa
FFA Reporter

Culver - The Culver FFA has purchased beautiful yellow and blue signs which they plan to erect on the highways approaching the Culver Community.

The National Emblem of the Future Farmers of America is significant and meaningful in every detail. Members of the Culver FFA explained the history and meaning of the five different symbols which make up the emblem.

Steve Braasch explained that the background of the emblem is a cross-section of an ear of corn. He said, "Corn represents our common agricultural interests, is native to America and is grown in every state."

Jerry Burton added, "The rising sun, in the center of the emblem, symbolizes progress in agriculture and the confidence that all FFA members have in the future."

The National FFA was first organized in 1928 and is now in its 50th year. The Culver Chapter was chartered in 1969 and will be celebrating its 10th year in 1979.

Scott Mersch, right, and Jerry Frasa, left, are painting the final letters on the blue and gold FFA emblems which will be posted along highways entering the Culver community.

farthest is the Midlothian School drill team from Midlothian, Va., which plans to send its 30-girl drill team to compete in the female exhibition category.

Premiere "Deadlock II"

Drama Director's Play Produced by Roger Sommer

Deadlock II from Culver Academy's theatre director Harvey Firari made its initial stage appearance Sunday, February 25. It will be given again Friday, March 2, 7:30 p.m. at Eppley Auditorium. The performance is open to the public. Sunday's presentation was well attended and well received by an applauding audience.

The play is one act lasting 55 minutes recalls the transition when Great Britain from 1917-1948 took Palestine under the Balfour Declaration, turned over the Holy Land to Jews and Arabs and Christians in a kind uneasy truce, one that remains to this day. The action in Firari's drama involves the waning British rule, some Jewish terrorism, some reaction in the mind of Jewish escapee from who has been appointed by the Jewish movement to execute a hostage, British officer John Dawson. In the staging of this dilemma in the mind of the executioner, Elisha, suspense is generated through the staging by two prisoners on the setting, but separated across the stage and elevated increasing impression of distance, as well isolation in cells.

These two are Captain Dawson's cell on the left and David ben Moshe's cell on the right. In between at stage level are benches on which appear the dead relatives of Elisha, who confer with him regarding his distasteful assignment as executioner of Captain Dawson. But after David ben Moshe is taken away to be hung, Elisha carries out his assignment but not before interviewing Captain Dawson and promising to deliver a message to Dawson's son in England. After the Captain is shot the dead get up from their center stage benches and hurry off stage with Dawson. The play ends with Elisha feeling guilty but receiving advice from the beggar who tells him to "go on hoping, to find what any man must find to deserve the name of man."

Thirteen Academy students worked with Firari a month and a half to produce the drama. About twelve others took care of lighting, sound, and staging, no easy task because of the two elevated cells and the center area for the return of the dead. Playwright Firari said his play projects to audience the struggle within the mind of a distasteful duty of the chief actor, the executioner Elisha, a kind of mental dilemma.

The Sunday performance was well done and should be better on Friday evening because Director Firari held a question and answer and suggestion session immediately after the play, on stage. Among those in important parts, outstanding were Chris Kremski of Saginaw, Michigan who was on stage almost the entire time. John Wickwire of Tucson, Arizona, played the beggar, James Martin of Culver did a well spoken job from his cell elevation and in a last interview with a rabbi, before his hanging, Martin is the son of Chaplain and Mrs. William Martin of Culver.

The rabbi whose job was to quote Scripture as a last gesture to the condemned man was taken well by Stephen Kennedy of Ohio. The British Commissioner of Palestine who delivered final sentence to the condemned Jewish terrorist was John Barr of Evanston, Illinois. The only criticism is that in Eppley auditorium it is important to send out from the lower voice range in slowed speech and measured tones. This was not always the case of some of the speakers. Friday this should be better.

Director Firari now has more than sixteen plays to his credit. Last year he produced at Epply with an entirely different cast the Adaptation of Edgar Lee Masters Spoon River Anthology, a remarkable success. Firari was named to "Who's Who in the Midwest" in 1976 and is a finalist with his play "The Party" in a university competition.

Follow Directions Carefully Or You Can't Get There From Here

If someone gives me directions on how to get from one place to another, then I'd say, "You can't miss it," I believe me, I can miss it. I'm not noted for giving or following directions well.

Last week I was supposed to arrive for a meeting at the 6 Center at 6:30 p.m. I arrived in Mishawaka on time, but I was an hour and a half late for the meeting trying to find the 100 Center. Someone gave me sure fire directions and told me I couldn't miss it.

While traveling I've ended up in places I never heard of and didn't intend to go to, such as Cumberland Gap, Va., or Jerome, Ariz. Wrong way "Whatchamacallit" would have marveled at my talent for arriving late at some destination I'd never even heard of.

Part of my trouble is that I want to appear a shade above stupid when someone gives me directions. A man tells me to go north on a certain highway and I don't want to admit that I have no idea which way is north.

If I'd been on one of old Chris Columbus' ships looking for the new country, America would still be undiscovered.

Since age hasn't improved my sense of direction, I think I'll just accept the fact that I can't get there from here.

I'll stay home and go to bed if I can find the bedroom. Let's see, I go upstairs and turn east - or is it west?

PUBLISHER'S 'PINION

With Argos High School Dragons being a favorite to win the Plymouth Sectional basketball tourney, the Argos Tribune phoned the high school to obtain a comment on the controversial changing of one class basketball system to a multi-class system. A multi-class system would put schools of similar size and talent against each other in tourney play. The possible end result would be the winner of one class playing the winner of the other class in a state championship game.

The Indiana High School Athletic Association recently appointed a committee to explore the feasibility of class basketball. The committee report stated that the best system is the one in use - a no class system.

Several high school principals do not agree with this report. They say that bias, finances and politics made up the decision. They claim that a majority of the schools in the state favor a class system. These principals are contacting every school to come up with their own report. Their results should be interesting.

The Argos Tribune talked with Argos Athletic Director Eugene Snyder. Mr. Snyder said he favored class basketball even though he likes the idea of State competition. He feels class basketball, as a rule is more fair. He favors the two way cut (1,000 high school enrollment) and can't see a 3-way or more cut.

The warm weather of last week forced most local and area businesses that occupy older structures, to get out the buckets and pans. Roof leaks were a common happening. Many businesses had obstacle courses in the aisles to catch the unwanted drops.

Very few complaints were heard, since everyone realizes that we must go through this period to reach the warm Spring weather.

It's tournament time. Time for all good sportswriters to place "foot-in-mouth" and "eyes-on-the-crystal ball" and take a great risk of public embarrassment by recording their sectional predictions in print.

Below is my list of predicted winners of the 64 sectionals. You'll notice Oregon-Davis listed to win the North Judson sectional. It's really a great guess, as no more than six teams could grab the crown, including CCHS and CMA. The Cavaliers have yet to reach their potential, but may begin by whipping Winamac in first-round action.

Of the winners listed below, look for Carmel, South Adams, Evansville Central, and Richmond to make the trip to Market Square Arena - Adams taking all.

Below are the sectional sites with the predicted winner of each sectional.

CAVALIERS DEFEAT
TRITON 60-56

Culver - The Culver Cavaliers defeated the Triton Trojans Friday night by a score of 60-56 in a game played at Triton.

The Cavaliers built up a 12 point lead at the end of the first quarter 22-10, but the Trojans came back to play hardnosed basketball and nearly upset the visitors for a halftime score of 31 to 25 in favor of Culver.

The Cavs started to click again in the third period and slowly extended their lead back to 12 points, 44-32 with 4:06 remaining. The Trojans were unable to chop the margin down past 10 for the rest of the period and the score ended, 50-40.

Triton trimmed the lead slightly at the start of the final frame but Culver managed to build it back up and kept it at 10 and 11 points for the first three minutes. Then the Cavs went cold for almost four minutes and the Trojans rattled off six unanswered points to cut the lead to four, 55-51, with 1:24 left.

Culver's guards came to the rescue, though, as Don Higgins broke the spell at the 1:10 mark to put the Cavs up by six 57-51, and Mishler hit two free throws with 31 seconds showing to expand the lead back to eight 59-51.

Eleven seconds later, Triton's Wes Runnells canned two free throws to make the score 59-53. He then connected on a three point play to trim the lead to 59-56.

Triton Coach Chet Miller then took a chance and called a timeout, one that he didn't have. Culver received a technical foul shot but Young missed it and Miller's scheme for stopping the clock and getting the ball back appeared to be working. But Culver got the ball in to Mishler, who was fouled with :01 showing and he sank one shot to ice the game.

The Cavaliers finished the regular season with a 7-12 record while Triton finishes with a 5-15 mark.

Triton's B-team made it a split for the evening, defeating Culver 35-27.

OF THE YEAR AWARD

Culver - In May the seventh Older Hoosier of the Year Award will be presented to one of our many deserving senior citizens during the banquet of the Indiana Older Hoosiers Federation. The Award is sponsored by the Indiana Commission on Aging.

The Older Hoosier Award originated in 1973 as the highest honor of the Indiana Commission on Aging that can be bestowed on a Senior Citizen in the State of Indiana.

The award, given annually has a three fold purpose: (a) to recognize an outstanding older Hoosier for a life time of service to his/her community, to State and mankind, (b) to encourage continued achievement and service, and (c) to interpret to the public the pleasures and challenges of retirement living.

The recipient will serve as an official representative of Older Hoosiers at meetings, conferences and gatherings throughout the State and will serve as a spokesperson on those occasions when he or she is available.

The Award presentation is made in May, which has been designated as Older Americans Month, at the Annual Conference of the Indiana Federation of Older Hoosiers. The recipient is presented with a Proclamation from the Governor of the State of Indiana and an appropriate personal plaque or award. A permanent display, which bears the names of the annual award winners is located in the State Commission on Aging office.

Either organizations or individuals may make nominations. To be eligible for the award, one must be a resident of Indiana, at least 65 years of age and available to attend the awards ceremony if chosen to represent this area with expenses paid.

Achievements after age 65, 30 points.

Involvements during the past year, 30 points.

Total 100 points.

Nominations for outstanding Marshall County Older Citizens should be received in the office of the Marshall County on Aging, Garden Court, 400 W. Washington St. Plymouth, Indiana 46563 by March 16. Charles Piazza of Plymouth, improvements have been made in the building, furnishings, and is now air conditioned. Three children of Trinity will be confirmed soon, all from Monterey. Argos Science Class Studies Eclipse

Bridget Doody and Connie Dickson watch eclipse.

Argos - In order to take advantage of an unusual opportunity, Mr. Cooper's freshman science class moved outside on Monday to learn how to properly observe an eclipse of the sun and calculate an approximation of the size of the sun using the lense formula.

Using the pin hole camera method, the class held up a card with a pin hole in it. By placing another card, used as a screen, as far away as possible from the card with the hole, the sun's rays fell on the screen forming an image. Students then measured the height of the image using a measuring scale on the side of the screen. After recording this measurement to the nearest tenth of a centimeter, a meter stick was used to measure the distance the image formed from the card with the hole. This measurement was recorded to the nearest tenth of a centimeter.

Students then calculated how much larger the sun is than the earth, what percent of the sun was eclipsed during the exercise, and drew a diagram showing the relationship between the earth, sun, and moon which produces an eclipse.

REMINDER FOR CAR INSPECTION

Indianapolis - State Representative Ed Cook (D-Plymouth) recently issued a reminder to constituents whose cars are due for inspection to go ahead and have them inspected this year.

Representative Cook said that although the Senate has passed a bill repealing the vehicle inspection law, the House has not acted on the proposed change. The vehicle inspection law will not be repealed unless both the members of the House of Representatives and the Governor act on the Senate bill, according to Representative Cook.

"I want to clarify that motorists must still have their cars inspected so they will not be cited for violating a law which I thought had been changed," said Representative Cook.

ARGOS SCHOOL BOARD

Argos - The Board of Trustees of Argos Community Schools Monday approved a temporary contract for Paula A. Hoy, third grade teacher or the remainder of the school year to replace Beverly Barrett, who will be on leave. Mrs. Hoy will begin her new duties Monday, February 26, 1979.

The Board also approved a contract for Cheryl Bright to replace Mrs. Hoy as a teacher aide for the remainder of the school year.

In other business, the Board gave permission for the Parent Teacher Organization of the school district to have its annual carnival Saturday, April 17. The Argos Junior Civic League was given permission to have a Superkids Sports Events Saturday, April 21.

Stephen Keith, high school principal, advised the board 25 girls have indicated an interest in taking part in track events and 30 girls have indicated an interest in taking part in a girls tennis program.

As the Board of Finance, the Board designated two local banks, the State Exchange Bank and Marshall County Bank and Trust Company of Argos, to serve as depositories of school corporation funds for the next two years.

Brent Cooper, Lowell Grossman and Lyndon Bailey were appointed to serve three year terms on the Vo-Ag Advisory Council.

A General Education Development certificate was approved for John Herman Ault. The Board reviewed student honor roll and graduation requirements, which will be given further consideration at a future time. Procedures for collecting textbook rental fees were approved.

The Board discussed the proposed administration building addition to be built later this year. School corporation utility costs for 1978 were reviewed. The Board approved one field trip request and staff conference requests for approximately 10 different meetings.

A special board meeting was scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 5, 1979 at the School Administration Building.

Argos Summer School 1979

Argos - If enrollment is sufficient, high school summer school classes will begin on Thursday, May 31 and end on Thursday, July 26. To meet the forty day requirement, classes will be held Monday through Friday each week except for Wednesday, July 4. The first term will end on Wednesday, June 27, and the second term will begin on Thursday, June 18.

Since each student is scheduled to attend a given class for two to four hours each day, regular attendance is necessary. A student should not enroll in summer school unless regular attendance will be possible. If a student misses more than eight hours of class in a one credit course, no credit will be earned. (In driver education if a student misses more than five hours of scheduled classroom hours, or any in-car hours no credit will be earned.)

In case of an excused absence, make up work will be accepted so long as the total hours of absence does not exceed the limits given in the previous paragraph.

No student may earn more than two credits during the summer session. Costs will include book rental, consumables, and laboratory fees.

The majority of students enroll in summer school to get additional courses. However, summer school also provides opportunity for students to make up required courses and/or to secure additional credits necessary to maintain class standing. To be eligible for enrollment, a student needs to have at least 9th grade classification for the 1979-80 school year.

The following subjects will be offered (with one credit each) provided enrollment is sufficient.

Government: Class will be scheduled from 8 to 12 each day for the first twenty days. (Last day of attendance will be Wednesday, June 27.) Student cost will be $1.90. (For 1979-80 seniors or others needing make-up work.)

Economics: Class will meet from 8 to 12 each day for the second twenty days. (First day of attendance will be Thursday, June 28.) Student cost will be $1.70. (For 1979-80 seniors or for others needing make-up work.)

Driver Education: This class requires 18 hours of in-car instruction and 55 hours of classroom attendance. Many students may have driving scheduled for afternoons. If a student prefers morning classes only, this should be indicated on the enrollment form. Although some students will be so scheduled, no guarantee can be made for morning classes only. A student will need to be fifteen by mid-June. Those that are 15 on or before June 1 will be given preference. This course is not offered during the regular school year. Student cost will be $12.50.

Personal Typing: This course will be scheduled from 8 to 10 each day for forty days. Some students may wish to schedule both driver education and personal typing. Personal typing is intended for those students not following the business plan of study. This course is not offered during the regular school year, and the one credit earned may not be duplicated by taking the first semester of Typing 1. Student cost will be $3.05.

Advanced Personal Typing: will be scheduled from 8 to 10 each day for forty days. Personal typing is a prerequisite. Student cost will be $3.05.

Please return the enrollment form to Mr. Miller on or before Wednesday, March 7.

If a sufficient number of students have signed for a course by the deadline, the course will probably be offered and late registrants will be accepted until the class is full. A student having a special interest in any course may indicate this on the enrollment form. If a concentration of interest develops for a subject, an attempt will be made to offer it.

If you wish to enroll in any of the courses offered, please complete an enrollment form and return it to Mr. Miller by Wednesday, March 7. Book rental payment is to be made at the school office on Thursday, March 8 or Friday, March 9. Since classes will be scheduled on the basis of those students who pay book rentals by the deadline, such payments will be forfeited if a student does not attend and the class is offered.

ARGOS SENIORS LEARN TO PLAY NEW GAME

by Barbara Hann

Let the cold wind blow - you can still find a group of good friends at the United Methodist Church for the weekly R.E.A.L. service program. Monday, February 26 there were 27 of them.

Sharon Mevis greeted each one as they arrived by car and the R.E.A.L. bus. What's going on in Argos? always brings a lot of news. This week it's the Argos basketball team's score of 21 to none and the tourney coming up. Everyone is rooting for our team.

Sharon told of a letter she received from Ed Rathburn and stated he had surgery and seems to be getting along real well now. A card was signed and sent to him wishing him a speedy recovery.

Exercises were next on the list and Sharon gave some simple ones everyone can do, even if sitting on a chair some form of exercise should be done each day even if its just rocking on the old rocking chair.

Costs of heat for this winter was discussed and some complaints of the costs to seniors on a fixed budget, this was gas and electric bills. Next week Harley Justus will be our guest and maybe he can help us with this problem. He is from the R.E.M.C.

The eclipse of the sun was mentioned and we decided not to worry about the next one in 2018.

Someone seemed to be rushing the season by reminding the folks to get out the garden tillers and mowers and have them ready for the coming season.

A new movie was recommended "Planet Earth" as a bible prophecy of things found in Revelations.

The Elmer Hanns have returned from a visit in Florida and came through Indianapolis in the heavy fog on Friday. They were glad to be back in Argos again.

Maxine Miller gave the noon time prayer and everyone was well served by the Green - Walnut Young Farmers wives. They had decorated the tables in red, white and blue streamers and candles and brought delicious cherry pies to serve. Those helping were Cindy Bailey, Mindy Bailey, Rita Middaugh and Cherri Leffert.

The new game was Tri Ominos and is played almost like dominoes. The game pieces are shaped in triangles and each have a number on each corner. These must be matched on two sides and all three corners are counted in the score. If you must draw a piece, 5 is subtracted from your score. Everyone seemed to like the game and I'm sure it will be played again. Some were interested enough to ask where the game could be purchased.

Next weeks volunteers will be the Hospital Auxiliary No. 7. The menu will be grapefruit juice, spaghetti with meat sauce, tossed salad with dressing, garlic toast, pears, milk, tea, coffee.

HOOKS DRUGS INC. REPORTS RECORD 1978 SALES

Hooks Drugs Inc., Indianapolis, reported record sales of $184,239,742 for 1978 up 9.6 percent over 1977 sales and of $168,145,076 according to Company president J. Douglas Reeves.

Record net earnings of $5,628,584, an increase of 24.9 percent over 77 earnings of $4,506,070 were also reported. Earnings per share were $1.95 compared to 1977 earnings per share of $1.56. The 1977 earnings have been restated to reflect a change in accounting methods for the capitalization of certain leases. Dividends paid in 1978 totaled $1.05, up from 80 cents per share paid in 1977.

In February of 1979 the chain expanded outside its traditional Indiana marketplace with the opening of its first out of state store in Fairfield, Illinois. The Company has announced plans to continue the development of a 30-county area of southeastern Illinois. The next Illinois store will be opened in Salem.

Hook's opened 10 new stores in Indiana during 1978 and plans to open a similar number in '79. New stores were added in Goshen, South Bend, Carmel, Salem, Bedford, Fort Wayne, North Judson and Granger. So far in 1979 new stores have been opened in Indianapolis and Shelbyville. Also opened was their second regional Convalescent Aids and Sickroom Supply Center, located in Indianapolis.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Dear Interested Citizens and Service Clubs:

The Culver Chamber of Commerce would like your help again in sponsoring the After Prom.

We would like the combined efforts of all service clubs and interested citizens as in the past years. We would like your help whether it be manpower, financial, ideas, or just general support.

Would you please appoint two interested members to meet as a committee on Thursday, March 8, at 7:30 a.m. at the Wesley United Methodist Church Lounge - main floor.

Please discuss new ideas with your group and bring the thoughts to the meeting. Anything could be possible if we just try. I have an idea already and would like to follow it thru. A Saturday Night Fever theme with a Disco group from Silver Lake, if it is agreeable with the group.

Sincerely,
Ronald E. Tusing

DAVID POOR WINS AWARD

Tarpon Springs, Fla - The David Poor Company of Warsaw, has won an international award for building the Alford's IGA Market in Culver.

The building won a Bronze Medal in the Stran 1979 Building Design Achievement Awards competition. The award was presented to the builder February 19, in Tarpon Springs ceremony.

A key feature of the building which earned it the award was the application of the single-slope Stran-Mat design to provide an attractive and economical supermarket design. A minimum number of window and door openings in the insulated steel walls permits high energy conservation.

Design of the building is credited to the builder, David Poor Company.
