Lee Houghton Receives Eagle Scout Ranking

Culver - Lee Houghton received Scouting's highest rank of Eagle Scout at Court of Honor ceremonies Sunday afternoon, March 25, at the Wesley United Methodist Church. Lee was escorted to his seat by the Eagle Honor Guard, Rex Harness and Mark Woodward. Lee's parents were escorted by Ed Salzer and Matt Lough.

The colors were posted by Don Kline and Rick Clifton. The Pledge was led by Mark Woodward, Sr. Patrol leader.

Pastor Donald Browning, Pastor of Wesley Church, gave the Invocation and spoke a few words about Lee in regard to his moral character and religious background.

Scoutmaster, Richard Salzer introduced honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Houghton, Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs.

Forrest Houghton, aunts and uncles, Mr. W. O. Osborn, President of the State Exchange Bank, and Eagle Scouts, Dr. Greg Easterday and Mr. David Kelly.

Don Fetzter, Guest Speaker, related of his acquaintance with Lee through the Youth Group and Lee's determination to follow through. He said Lee has never told him 'no' when asked to do a job. Mr. Fetzter also told us that only 1 percent of boys who are in Scouting achieve the rank of Eagle Scout. Mr. Salzer gave a review of Lee's scouting history and of his determination to make the Eagle Rank.

Mr. David Kelly gave the Eagle Charge to Lee, stating "You are a marked man. As an Eagle Scout, you have assumed a solemn obligation to do your duty to God, to country, to your fellow Scouts and to mankind in general. This is a great undertaking. As you live up to your obligations, you bring honor to yourself and to your Brother Scouts."

Lee rededicated himself by lighting three candles as he repeated the 3 parts of the Scout Oath. He then lit 12 candles as he led the troop in the 12 points of the Scout Laws.

Richard Salzer read congratulatory letters from Gov. Otis Bowen, Downing B. Jenks, President and Harvey L. Price, Chief Scout Executive, National office of Boy Scouts of America, Senator Birch Bayh and President Jimmy Carter. Lee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Houghton participated in the ceremony and presented their son with the Eagle Medal and Certificate. The ceremony closed with the Scoutmaster's Benediction led by Richard Salzer.

Scouting's highest rank was conferred upon Lee Houghton during Court of Honor ceremonies of Culver Boy Scout Troop 290 on Sunday. Pictured with Lee are his very proud parents.

New Phone Books In Culver Area

Culver - An important part of American history in this state and the latest in customer information are featured in the new Indiana Bell telephone directory, which is now being distributed in the Culver area.

Hoosier artist Frederick Yohn's painting, "Hamilton's Surrender at Fort Sackville," depicting the British surrender of Vincennes to George Rogers Clark, graces the cover of the new directory. Clark's victory in 1779 extended the boundaries of the new United States to the Mississippi and won the old Northwest Territory, including what later became the state of Indiana.

Inside the book there's a revamped customer guide to make it even easier for a customer to find out what he or she wants to know about telephone service.

Bell Manager Sue Grice said about 2,000 directories have been sent to Culver.

Mrs. Grice said the new customer guide features more specific information to help customers.

"We have a section devoted to frequently asked questions about how your bill and billing date are determined," she said. "There is also a section answering the most asked questions on deposits. We also list the information you'll need to give us when you call the business office."

A separate page in the customer guide is devoted to detailing residence service and rates.

"This page gives our customers a simple breakdown of the basic services we offer and what we charge for those services," the manager said. "It also spells out what additional services are available, with the corresponding rates."

The guide contains money-saving tips on long distance calling within Indiana, as well as easy-to-read charts showing the times when long distance calling to other states is the most economical.

"You also will find information in the guide on how to handle annoyance calls, what to do on emergency calls, plus information such as the easiest way to find who or what you're looking for in the directory," Mrs. Grice said.

Free reprints of the cover will be available at the Bell business office and Phone Center Store soon after the directories and distributed.

The original painting of the Sackville surrender is part of the George Rogers Clark bicentennial exhibit at the Indiana State Museum

What's Next

Next Time - Sorry Wrong Number

A dilemma almost worse than moving myself is having a friend move. One such "friend" called me to let me know she was getting rid of "a few things."

"Do you need a living room chair?" she asked.

It's hard for me to resist anything that's free and since I could use the chair, I drove to her house to get it. By the time I left I barely had room to squeeze in the front seat to drive home. And the chair was in the trunk. I'm now the proud owner of two large paintings, an elephant table, a fish vase, a plastic tree, fan, TV, candle sticks, lanterns, dishes, platters, plaques, globe of the world, blackboard, tubes of paint, a bag of coffee beans and 149 knick knacks.

If this wasn't enough to make my living room resemble sale day at a pawn shop, I had to return the next day and pick up an air conditioner and four more boxes of really neat things I couldn't be without. After all, they were free.

One daughter asked, "When are you going to get all of this stuff out of the living room, mother?"

"Oh, it won't take long once I get myself in gear," I said.

The youngest girl remarked, "We know about your gears, mom. Your favorite is reverse."

Then she had to remind me that I hadn't finished unpacking from our last move nine months ago.

I said, "What did I do to deserve such witty kids?" The elder of the two replied, "Just lucky, I guess. Somebody up there likes you."

"Too bad somebody down here don't," I told her. "You girls could help."

Naturally they did what all kids do when you want them around. They disappeared.

Well, I'll just store most of the stuff in the garage and

PUBLISHER'S 'PINION

The Argos-Culver area can be extremely proud of the young athletes of the area. The Argos State Soccer Championship last Fall, the Culver Military State Hockey Championship and the Argos Basketball honors. The thrill of victory will be on the minds of local and area residents for many years to come.

We at the Argos Tribune/Culver Citizen are very proud to have been the local hometown newspaper during these exciting times. We look forward to many more years of exciting happenings.

Keep your eye on the new building near the junction of State Road 10 and 17 at the north edge of Culver. This building, owned by Maxinkuckee Home Supply, will open in the near future as a very complete building supply headquarters. Maxinkuckee Home Supply has affiliated with HWI and will offer an outstanding selection of high quality products. The old building will house a new lawn and garden center. Culver is a community on the move with new things happening everyday.

The community of Argos was completely empty last Saturday as everyone went to Indianapolis to watch the Dragons play basketball. The few people who did not attend were glued to the television. We did not personally see the sign, but we understand that a sign was placed at the south edge of the community that read - "Last person out of town, please turn off the lights." This was one of many signs placed around the community during this thrilling period of local "Hoosier Hysteria." We love it, and are proud to be a part of it.

Culver - Congratulations to the Argos Dragons and their very outstanding season. It will provide many memories to many people in the years to come. Congratulations are also in order to Oregon-Davis and Tippecanoe Valley, the other two area teams to win sectionals.

Although Argos advanced to the State Finals, strangely they were not the most improved area team of the year. That distinction must go to the Winamac Warriors who finished with an outstanding 16-6 season under rookie coach Duane Galbreath, a complete reversal from a year ago (6-16).

Ten area teams improved their records from a year ago, including Culver Community and Culver Military Academy, while 9 teams had a tougher time. Fairfield showed consistency by having two consecutive 9-13 records.

Here is a list of the 20 area teams:

BOY SPEAKS TO CITIZENS
 Barbara Hann
 Argos - Illness cut down the attendance at the March 26 A.L. Services. Only 27 of 36 registered showed up. Argos was telling how they were that Argos they were that the Basketball team didn't the state but were so glad that the team to a chance to try, and showed good sportsmanship throughout the game. Sharon Mevis asked for news of our members who are ill. Lucy Good is still in the hospital. Jessie Annis is back home. We still miss Gladys Gates, she has been absent for so long. We'll be glad to have them all back with us. Sharon then introduced

Ray Clark of Plymouth, who at one time was a cowboy and rode the "Chisholm Trail" on cattle drives. As a teenager he went to Weider, Idaho because the idea of being a cowboy fascinated him. He had an idea that he would later homestead some land and round up wild horses. They, at that time, were selling at $30 a head and he was going to make some money. This never happened, it was only a boy's dream. He became a cow puncher. He told how they came to be called cow punchers. When the cattle were being rounded up the men would pick up sticks, poles, or anything available and use this to punch the cattle into the chutes. They would also lean against them or whatever to make them move. You can imagine how they smelled at the end of the day! There were not sanitary facilities till at the end of the trip when everyone was glad for a chance for a bath. Ray worked as a wrangler or a cow puncher. He helped to load the cattle on the cattle train and said a lot of the men got drunk on the road and when you see the movies of men singing and dancing, this is only on the movies. When night comes men are too tired to just want to sleep and rest. Their clothes aren't for show but a necessity. Boots and chaps were worn to protect their legs from prickly pears and cactus. The kerchiefs were to wipe sweat from their faces while they are branding calves. The hat to keep the sun from their eyes and heads. Dressed up cowboys are seen only on movies. They eat rice and beans mostly while on the drive. He stated that Will Rogers was the only real cowboy in the movies and he refused to play a role unless he could play it as in real life. He lost several good roles for that reason.

Ray was asked to tell something about Idaho and explained that it was 64% owned by the state or government. In the valleys in May and June you could be hoeing the garden crops in shirt sleeves and look up at a ring of hills and see a line of snow. You are always going either up or down, as its all hills and valleys. Lots of potatoes and onions are raised there and he said that after they are harvested people are allowed to go pick up after the harvesters. He stated that he never bought potatoes or onions while there. Ray broke wild horses and broke the last one at the age of 80 years. Then he was injured and the doctor told him he was through with that kind of work. He is now 88 years old and has retired to Plymouth. Home and Hobby Club served the meal with the help of Evelyn Beam. Little bouquets of Spring flowers were on the tables and they furnished the flowers and other prizes. Winners were Malcolm Miller, Lela Elliott, Pearl Woodcock, Ethel Berger, Irma Wagoner and Nora Mevis. Volunteers for the day were Mary Ruth Thompson and Virginia Garber. Next weeks volunteers will be the Walnut Township Homekeepers. The menu will be orange juice, beef and noodles, broccoli, wheat bread, margarine, plums, milk, tea, and coffee. Program will be Ida Chipman, editor of Natural Foods, also our Citrus Carnival.
