Black Horse Troop To Perform At Kentucky Derby

The famed Black Horse Troop at Culver Military Academy as they prepare for a parade.

Culver - When the Lancer Platoon of Culver Military Academy's Black Horse Troop mounts up for its performance at the Kentucky Derby Festival in Louisville on May 3, its riders will be perpetuating a tradition of public appearances as old as the school itself.

Established in 1912, just 18 years after Culver's founding in 1894, the Lancer Platoon, the honor organization of the Black Horse Troop, performs its traditional intricate maneuvers to the musical accompaniment of the Academy's Lancer Band. Each Lancer carries a lance and a pennant while the cadet Lancer commander rides with an unsheathed sabre throughout the performance.

Since disbandment of the United States Cavalry in 1950, the nations largest remaining mounted military organization, Culver's Black Horse Troop, perpetuates the cavalry's swashbuckling traditions at Culver Military Academy and the Culver Summer School of Horsemanship in Culver, Indiana.

As an organization, the Black Horse Troop exists solely for 130 of the 600 cadets attending Culver Military Academy in grades 8 through 12 and for young men, ages 13 through 19, attending the Culver Summer School of Horsemanship. Girls attending the college preparatory Culver Girls Academy may not join the all-male Black Horse Troop, but they are offered horsemanship instruction through the Troop's 130 horse stable and its 88 by 300 foot Riding Hall.

The precision-drill Lancer Platoon has been featured at the American Royal Horse Show in Kansas City, the Dallas Charity Horse Show, the Tuscaloosa (Alabama) Heritage Horse Show, the Southwestern Exposition and Fair Stock Show in Fort Worth, TX, and the All-American Youth Horse Show in Columbus, Ohio. Their most recent appearance was at the World Three Day Event Horse Championships in Lexington last September.

As the honor organization and a part of the Black Horse Troop the Lancers have appeared in seven Presidential inaugurations, including the last five. They have escorted such visiting dignitaries as the King and Queen of Denmark, two Queens of England, and Emperor Hirohito of Japan.

Colonel Floyd W. (Sam) Townsley (USA, Ret.) director of Culver's horsemanship department, and Lancer director Capt. William W. Green (Indiana National Guard) attempt to challenge the highly skilled young horsemen in daily equitation. The most proficient riders from the Black Horse Troop with good academic and citizenship standing may qualify for the elite Lancer Platoon.

Townsley has been instrumental in continuing Culver's tradition as a center for horsemanship through his scheduling of numerous public clinics and programs. In addition, the school has played host on many occasions to such prestigious events as the United States Polo Association Training Camp and the USPA's North American Interscholastic Polo Tournament. These, in addition to regular instruction in jumping, rough riding, and cross-country riding almost year round for cadets and coeds, combine to provide Culver with the complete, well rounded horsemanship program for which the school has long been recognized.

CULVER HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI MEETING

Culver - The officers would like to report that the progress of the 1979 High School Alumni meeting is running way ahead of schedule and would not want any one to feel left out.

If for some reason your invitation has not yet reached you, please contact our secretary, Mrs. Gloria Baker Banks, '64 - Route 1, Box 51, Culver, Indiana, 46511, she has tried to reach every and every one of you but sometimes you make her job a little difficult, even though she says she loves to have a challenge, its kind of hard to find you once you move.

We have asked for denations this year to help get our alumni back on their feet, and that also has been a big success, to this date we have received $165.00 in donations, along with 40 reservations for the supper, we certainly would like to reach the goal of 200, so won't you please help us by sending your reservation, they did it in 1949 so why can't we do it again in 1979.

For those who have not seen or heard of the Alumni, it will be June 9th at the Holiday Inn in Plymouth, we will start with a social hour then carry on into a sit down dinner, with a short business meeting with the roll call of classes then we will have several hours of visitation and dancing with the Good time Company from South Bend.

It was asked that consideration be given to allow no parking on either side of Ohio Street from Lake Shore Drive south to Madison Street, and that the no parking zone also be extended on the west side of Ohio Street, from Madison St. south to Mill St, noting that this residential area parking could be allowed on the east side between the area of Madison and Mill Sts.

LaTavola To Open Friday, April 27th

Culver - The magic at La Tavola Restaurant and Disco is secret recipes handed down from mother to daughter. One family in a Northern Italian province has a tradition that each mother carefully trains her daughter the just right way to prepare dishes that have won many a husband.

Now one of these mothers and daughters has permitted La Tavola Restaurants to tantalize the public with some of these foods. La Tavola opens this weekend in Culver, and will offer several of these traditional prepared entries.

Please don't expect to find out the secret ingredients, though. Only the chef knows, and when asked, she only says, "Ah, mother and I know." Also, each employee has signed a contract agreeing not to reveal anything of the recipes.

Last week the new managers got together to sample these continental

A FAREWELL TO A JOURNALIST

Bob Kyle died last Friday. In his memory I'd like to reprint a story I wrote about him which he was especially pleased with. It appeared in the March 12, 1978 issue of the South Bend Tribune Michiana Section.

"The most interesting life anyone could ask for"

Long time Culver resident Robert Keller Kyle is a "retired" journalist, but at 79 he's still writing nostalgic articles which appear in newspapers with regularity. Affectionately known to friends in the newspaper business as "Killer" Kyle, he was an editor in the early 1930's of the now-defunct South Bend News Times.

Kyle was born at Bourbon in 1898. His parents, David and Edith Kyle, ran a plumbing and heating business and also worked in sheet metal and slate roofs. Kyle said that as a small boy in Bourbon, "I was the town pet. Everyone spoiled me and looked after me.

"When I was 4 years old, my uncle, William Keller, had two Great Dane dogs. Joe Antis, the harness maker, made a dog harness and George Hupp, blacksmith and wagon maker, made an English dog cart, painted green, gold and red." Young Robert drove down the sidewalks on Main Street, pulled by a Great Dane.

"I had the best childhood a kid could ever have." "I learned geography by traveling over two divisions of the Pennsylvania Railroad with my father's workmen. I knew all the conductors, engineers, flagmen and brakemen on the line."

When his mother asked him what he wanted for his 12th birthday, he told her he wanted a setting of eggs from D. W. Young of Monroe, N. Y. "at that time a setting of white Leghorns sold for $15."

He put them in an incubator, and raising 11 of the chickens is what started Kyle in business.

"I showed them the next year at the South Bend Poultry Show," he said, "and won some awards competing against Frank E. Hering, who was the first football coach for Notre Dame and founder of the Eagles Lodge."

This success led to Kyle's showing chickens all over the country. "I sent a whole string of them to a show in Battle Creek, and when I arrived there on a Friday night I found I'd won everything. A banquet was held in the Post Tavern Hotel and they called on me to make a speech, I got up wearing knickerbockers and the people were flabbergasted because I was only 15 years old."

From that time on, Kyle recalls, "I showed chickens at state fairs on the grand circuit. Toward the end of one tour, when I was 16, we ended up in Indianapolis on a Sunday. My chickens were bedraggled looking, and after checking into the old Claypool Hotel, I secured permission from the owner to wash them in the basement laundry."

He found that high humidity in the laundry room kept their plumage from drying, though. He decided to sneak them up the freight elevator to his room, where he placed bed slats across the bathtub and put the chickens on the slats to fluff their feathers.

All went well until the hens began to cackle before dawn and the roosters crowed loud and long. Hotel patrons awoke, phoned the desk and complained about the barnyard sounds.

Kyle and his poultry almost landed in the street before he could convince the house detective that he'd gotten permission from the owner to keep the chickens in his room.

The next year I went to Purdue to study agriculture," he recalls. He began to write sports in his free time for the Purdue Exponent, the university newspaper. It was published in the same building as the Lafayette Journal and Courier, and he said, "I'd stick around nights and learn everything I could about the newspaper business. Henry W. Marshall, the owner took an interest in me and had me doing rewrite work."

Marshall was reluctant to pay him a salary but he allowed Kyle to go across the street to Schultz's saloon to drink beer and charge it to him. "This arrangement worked well," Kyle says, "and when I would get out of school at 4 p.m. I'd ask my classmates to go with me and drink beer for free. When school was out for the year I asked the saloon keeper not to give Marshall the bill until after I arrived home."

Marshall received a bar bill of $317 and exploded. "He wrote a nasty letter to my father, but nothing ever came of it," Kyle says.

After the death of his father, Kyle and his mother sold the farm. With 1,800 laying hens it was the largest poultry and egg producing farm in Indiana at that time.

He and his mother moved to Indianapolis and from there he went to New York to become editor of Field Illustrated, a magazine devoted to gentleman farming. Six months later the Hearst organization bought it and consolidated it with House Beautiful magazine.

Kyle returned to Indianapolis to work on the Indianapolis News. Later, thinking the News was too slow for him, he returned to New York, but found it wasn't easy to get a job.

"I'd go out on my own and cover stories. This enabled me to get acquainted with such men as Gene Fowler, Joseph Jefferson O'Neal, Ed Hill and other great newspaper men. I would do their leg work, and they finally got Bill McGeehan, managing editor of the New York Tribune, to put me on as rewrite man."

Bert Williams, famous black pantomimist of the Ziegfeld Follies, died at this time. Kyle recalls, "I'd met him in Chicago when George Castle, who knew my aunt and owned a number of theaters, would take me back stage where the Follies were playing. I'd also become acquainted with Ed Wynn, W. C. Fields, Fannie Brice and all the great Follies stars.

"So when Williams died in Harlem, I went there and talked to his widow. With all my background information, I was asked to write the story. It appeared, without byline, on the front page of the Tribune."

Word spread that Kyle had written the story and Arthur Brisbane, Hearst editor, called him to come in for an interview. He was hired and worked for Hearst until 1929.

This position led him to a stint in California handling publicity for actress Marion Davies and covering such newsworthy events as the Linberg kidnaping, the Sacco-Vanzetti trial, the Hall-Mills murder case, and Rudolph Valentino's funeral. He is the sole survivor of 200 reporters who were present at the Scops "money" trial in Tennessee in 1925.

On the local level, Kyle wrote 100 columns for the weekly Culver Citizen.

He married Mildred Bosart, a Culver school teacher, in 1938. They built a home in Culver and also maintained an apartment in Indianapolis while he was an editor at the Star. Mrs. Kyle died of cancer in 1976.

At Culver, Kyle grew dwarf fruit trees he imported from England and Switzerland, producing prize winning varieties of apples, pears, peaches and apricots. He said, "People came from all over expecting to see a huge orchard but my 'ranch' consisted of six tents of an acre."

Cancer struck Kyle in 1954 and he was unable to care for the trees so had most of them removed. Now he maintains only a few next to his house.

"I've had nine cancer operations, 150 x-rays and 30 cobalt treatments, and they tell me it's arrested."

Resembling James Whitcomb Riley, Kyle also has the poet's eyeglasses. He had his own lenses put in the frames and had entertained with his Riley impersonation and portrayed Riley many times on stage and screen.

Kyle says, "I've had the best and most interesting life anyone could ask for."

"I believe like my old friend, George Ade," Kyle adds: "Be a sport if you only last a minute."

Approximately 80 visitors stopped by her son's home on Queen Road to wish her a happy birthday. Mrs. Kline says she wrote the Washington items for the Culver Citizen about 50 years ago. This photo was taken at Mrs. Kline's home on W. Madison, Culver, on Monday. The Citizen adds its congratulations to a lovely lady.

WALNUT HOMEMAKERS

Argos - Walnut Township Homemakers meeting for the month of April was held in the Friendship Room of the Argos Exchange Bank on April 10 with 18 members present.

Alberta Middaugh, president, opened the meeting. The club creed and pledges to the American and Christian flags were recited. Evelyn Burroughs was welcomed back from Florida.

Edna Shaffer gave the devotions using the "Confessions of Thomas" by Rev. Gotaas on Easter and stating that Thomas doubted the resurrection of Christ till he could feel the prints of the nails in Christ's hands. Then he would believe.

The song of the month was "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" and Happy Birthday were sung to Zella McCay and Bea O'Neal, and anniversaries to Neva Grossman.

Roll call was answered by an unusual bird I have seen this spring and an Egret was seen in Florida. Blue Jays, Cardinals and Robins were seen here.

Catherine Bolinger gave the citizenship report about some new laws and salaries approved.

At the next meeting on May 2, a white elephant sale will be held to help raise money for the new tables at the fairgrounds.

Wilma Haas gave the lesson on "Violence in the Family" and it was mostly on child abuse. She stated that most parents that abuse children were themselves abused by their parents. There are several kinds of child abuse - neglect, emotional, and physical abuse. There are times that a parent just can't cope with the stress they are under. There are times that a child will see just how far they can go or put one parent against the other.

If you know of a child that is being abused and don't report it, you are subject to a fine of $500.

The dessert was served at tables decorated for the Easter season with large baskets of colored eggs, furry bunnies, and green candles. The hostesses were Zella McCay, Edna Shaffer and Corene Grossman.

PUBLISHER'S 'PINION

The coming of warm weather also brings the problem of grass fires. The dead grass, weeds and brush will burn quickly if ignited. If a wind is blowing, this type of fire will spread rapidly and is hard to extinguish. When you burn trash make sure it is a safe distance from the dry grass. If the fire should get away from you, quickly call the local fire department before damage to nearby structures can occur. The local fire department would much rather extinguish a small fire with no damage than one that was called in too late and caused damage to buildings and other property. Several people want to burn off their fields. Be sure you notify the local fire department prior so they know what you are doing. If you don't, a concerned neighbor will notify the fire department of an out-of-control grass fire.

As in all things of this nature - use good common sense.

Last Friday at noon the Tribune-News office in South Whitley held a party celebrating Assistant Publisher Rosalie Steller's 25th anniversary with the newspaper. Rosalie started with the Tribune in 1954.

During her 25 years she has been a part of the newspaper expansions to Pierceton, Argos and Culver. The circulation of the South Whitley newspaper in 1954 was slightly over 1200. Today, the combined circulation of all the newspapers is almost 3800.

Rosalie has been a valuable asset to the growth and expansion of the newspapers and commercial printing divisions. She has handled the bookkeeping and office procedures of the business that has tripled its size in the last five years.

Rosalie witnessed the change from the old lead-casting Linotypes to the modern tape-fed computers. Attending the luncheon celebration last Friday were Renee Eneyart, Judy Kincaid, Rosie Winger, Pam Nixon, and Anne Walker of the South Whitley office; Rhoda Caudill of the Pierceton office; and Arlene Wilder of the Culver office.

The owner/publishers, Linda and Dave Tranter, sincerely thank Rosalie for her continual, above and beyond, hard work and look forward to many more years of fine service. Rosalie was presented with a plaque, a plant arrangement, an orchid corsage, plus a "getaway weekend" with her husband, Bob.

Culver - Jennifer Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry J. Johnston, 304 North Shore Lane, Culver, has been nominated for membership in the Blue Key Society of Culver Girls Academy, sister school of the world famous Culver Military Academy located on Lake Maxinkuckee in northern Indiana.

Blue Key membership, extended to those members of the Academy's junior class who have demonstrated superior scholastic achievement, marks those so honored, say school officials, "as outstanding students throughout the remainder of their school days at Culver." The Blue Key emblem, which accompanies the honor, is traditionally worn by newly elected members from the time of their nomination through graduation.

Selection to the society, which consists of less than ten percent of each eligible class, is made by the academic deans of the Academy on the basis of semester grades earned during attendance at Culver, with particular attention given to the 11th grade year. Formal induction of Blue Key nominees will take place at Culver's Commencement Honors Convocation in June.

Miss Johnston, in addition to her position of academic distinction at Culver, has been actively involved, as well, as a member of the schools varsity volleyball, varsity fencing and junior varsity tennis teams, and as chairwoman of the Day Student Committee.

ARGOS SCHOOL BOARD

Argos - At a recent meeting the Board of School Trustees accepted resignations from elementary teachers, Marcia A. Eyrich and Anne Fetrow. Miss Eyrich plans to be married and move from the area. Mrs. Fetrow and her husband plan to teach in New Guinea this fall.

Eugene Snyder, athletic director, presented a financial report on the recently completed state basketball tourney. Receipts after expenses were deducted are: Sectional $1284.56; Regional $912.00; Semi-State $656.80; State $246.20; for a total of $3,099.56.

Teaching personnel for the 1979-80 school year were approved by the Board. Patricia Weaver is completing her fifth year of teaching and will be entitled to permanent status. Mrs. Weaver teaches language arts at the junior high level. Completing their second year of teaching at Argos and qualifying for semi-permanent status are Donna Morris, vocal music teacher, and Dan Baughman mathematics teacher.

Approval was given for two class rooms at Argos to be used by the Joint Educational Services in Special Education (JESSE) during the 1979-80 school year. Board members and administrators plan to attend a dinner meeting at Plymouth High School on May 10. Invitations to attend have been issued to board members and administrators of the 10 schools in the JESSE program.

The superintendent reported that he had received recommendations from the textbook selection advisory committees and that the recommended social studies texts would be available at the school library for inspection by interested persons during the period from April 23rd through May 11th. The Board expects to make adoptions at the regular meeting in May.

A special board meeting is to be held at 7:00 P.M. on Monday, April 23 at the School Administration Building. At that time the board expects to inspect the land that had been offered to the school for purchase. This land is adjacent to the west boundary of the school property. Other necessary business will also be conducted.

On Tuesday, May 8th from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. the library will offer a special program on music sponsored by Alsa II. Tom Jordan will demonstrate his knowledge of electronically synthesized music and the public is invited to hear him perform. Mr. Jordan comes to us through the support of the Indiana Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts. Tell your friends and family about this unusual and exciting program.

Several children attended the library's story hour on Good Friday. After story time the children were assisted in egg dying by helpers Becky Babcock and Beth Rakich.

The library now has picture pages available for those who have been waiting. The issues begin with Week I.

ELEY CONCERNED FOR PLUM & MAPLE CORNER

Argos - At a recent Argos Town Board meeting Morris Eley was present to register a concern about the corner of Plum St. and N. Maple St. The street has sank about 6' from the normal level. Mr. Eley seemed to think that the underneath of the road is being washed away by the storm water drainage. Mr. Eley asked that if the repairs could not be done with the Community Development Block Grant funds, that the Town considers doing it with Town money. The Board at this time made no decision on the matter.

Supt. Hochstetler also submitted his utility report which was accepted by the board. Clerk-Treasurer Zentz requested a transfer of funds from G-2-26-261 to G-2-22-222 in the amount of $500. After some discussion on the matter the Board approved the transfer. The motion was made by Trustee Faulkner and Trustee Lewallen then seconded the motion. The motion passed by a 3-0 vote. An additional appropriations to pay the building inspector fees was tabled until the next regular session, which is May 1st, 1979.

Culver - The Cabinet of the North Indiana Conference of the United Methodist Church announced Monday the appointment of Rev. Richard L. Bennett of Culver, to the Marion Trinity United Methodist Church in Marion, effective in June, 1979. Rev. Bennett has served the Emmanuel United Methodist Church in Culver, since June of 1976. His last service will be held Sunday morning, June 3rd, and he will inaugurate his pastoral ministry in the pulpit of Trinity Church in Marion on Sunday, June 10th.

CULVER CITY CLUB WILL MEET

Culver - On May 3 the Culver City Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Zion Hall of Grace Church of Christ. We will have a carry in salad-dessert dinner, bring your own table service.

The Executive Committee will furnish drinks and rolls. Devotions will be given by Mary Allen.

Installation of group officers will take place.

The program will be given by Barbara Taylor and some of her students of the Culver Elementary School.

Argos - Spring was in the air and it was a good day for visiting. Some said that they had planted some garden, others were just watching their neighbors plant. Mary VanDerWeele contributed these thoughts. Experience is a good teacher, but a queer old soul. She gives the test first, then explains the lesson. Franklin never uttered a wiser saying: "If a man could have half his wishes, he would double his troubles."

Sharon Mevis then introduced Argos' own local author Beverly Jones and her book "Dishes to Diapers." Beverly chose the title because these devotional articles were written when her children were small. Beverly insists she is not a writer but simply a housewife and mother. Her book is very inspirational and interesting for us Seniors. We wish her continued success.

The group enjoyed a clever original railroad poem by Wayne VanDerWeele.

We were reminded of Spring Showers by the lovely mint cups decorated with Spring pastel umbrellas. The tables were decorated and the food served by the Walnut Ruralettes. Thirty-seven people were served by Julia Umbaugh, Barbara Harley and assisted by Evelyn Beam.

Argos - The Jordan Missionary Society met in the home of Mrs. Mary Hope Winenger with 10 members and 3 guests present. The guests were Mrs. Mary Lynn Becker, Gregory, and Mrs. Bonnie Rice. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Evelyn Hughes. Roll call was given by Mrs. Betty Campbell. She also read the secretary's and treasurer's report.

Mrs. Velma Yazel donated a new rug for the church basement. Two thank you cards were read, one from the Kenneth Campbell family and one from the Ira Jones family.

The board of manager of the Logansport Association met April 24 at the Oakdale Baptist Church in Peru. The announcements were made. Nine students received $350 scholarships from the Indiana Womens Scholarship fund last year. Cards, letters and prayers were appreciated. This year 14 young people are asking for schol-

Mrs. Mable Demott gave the devotions. She read several articles and conducted a vegetable quiz that everyone enjoyed.

During the National Family Week, the Jordan Baptist Missionary Society will be hosting family night at the Jordan Baptist Church at 7:00 p.m. on May 6. The Warsaw High School chorus, Dreams and Fantasies, will be bringing the music. There are 38 in the chorus. The instructor will be with them. There will be refreshments in the basement at the end of the program.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent cutting quilt blocks. Mrs. Mechling donated two lap robes to a nursing home resident. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Betty Campbell. The next meeting will be with Ms. Tressie Myers on May 17 at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Morrell will have the devotions. Revelations is the Book of the Month.

BECAUSE WE CARE
by Mary Lou Wise

LOYALTY DAY
Through extensive efforts by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, from 1930 until 1958, May 1 of each year is designated as Loyalty Day, by Congressional Act 85-529 of 1958. The passage of this act is one of the brightest victories in the long proud history of Americanism achievement by the VFW and their Ladies Auxiliary. Feeling that a special day on which Americans could be pointedly counteracted the Communist May Day demonstrations, the VFW fought long and hard to obtain federal government recognition of May 1 as "Loyalty Day." Each year since 1958 Loyalty Day has gained impetus across the land as millions of Americans participate in or witness the observances in every state in the nation and in U. S. installations on foreign shores.

Although Loyalty Day was initially designed to counteract communism, it has taken on increased meaning in recent years due to the activities of dissidents and extremists in our midst who openly advocate the overthrow of our government. Loyalty Day serves as a specific occasion when all American citizens should publicly reaffirm their loyalty to our country, remembering that the Communist movement in America has often been on the verge of flickering out but is inevitably fanned into life at its dying moment.

The ideals and concepts of our forefathers have long endured and have forged these states into the strongest and greatest nation the world has ever known, but we need a tremendous resurgence of good, old fashioned, red-white and blue patriotism, on a daily basis, if we are to continue to endure as a free people.

"America the Beautiful" could be demonstrated with a United States flag flying from every home across the nation on May 1, 1979.

BUDDY POPPY - The annual Buddy Poppy fund drive held each May by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and their Ladies Auxiliary has been a continuous effort since its conception in 1922.

In spite of veterans assistance programs by the government, many "pags" exist which must be filled by private funds and the work of volunteers if the disabled veteran is to be properly cared for. The proceeds of the Buddy Poppy program helps to fill this need.

All Buddy Poppies distributed by the VFW are assembled by disabled veterans in VA facilities and state veterans' homes across the nation. Paid a nominal wage for their labors, provides them with "spending money," but mainly this keeps their hands busy and their minds occupied, freeing them for a while from the never-ending boredom for the long-term hospital patient.

Hundreds of thousands of unfortunate veterans and their dependents are aided daily by the service officers of the VFW, helping them to establish claims for disabilities and to care for their dependents. The claims officers are maintained partially through the dues of the VFW members, but the balance comes from the Buddy Poppy program.

The cost of materials used in making the poppies, the pay to the disabled veteran who assembles them, and the money for rehabilitation services are included in the price paid for poppies by local VFW Posts and Auxiliary, prior to offering them to the public. All local donations in the Buddy Poppy fund stay in the local community to quietly pay the grocery bill of the man waiting approval of his claim, the Christmas basket delivered without fanfare to the family of a disabled veteran - these are made possible through local donations. "we honor the dead, by helping the living."

For those who gave of themselves when we needed it, now give of yourselves when they need YOU!

Culver School Board News

Culver Community School Board met Monday evening and heard a report from Board President, Howard Hildebrand on the building committee's discussion. Several options were mentioned in the use of the corporations school buildings and administration building. The committee felt that no new construction of buildings should be considered, but that Superintendent William F. Mills should look into the possibility of making the best and most economical use of the buildings the corporation now has.

Reports were also heard from Richard Miller on the repair of the high school roof and from Robert Nowlan on the hot water piping system and the total energy plant study. The board instructed Miller to go ahead with the specifications on the roofing project and to accept a bid from Watcon to use sodium silicate in the piping system to correct leakage at the cost of $1,172.50. A report will be heard from a NIPSCO representative before any decision is reached on the total energy plant.

Member Paul Snyder suggested that the list of names of those to serve as an advisory committee submitted by Vocational Director, Jerry Hollenbaugh, be accepted. These are people who could be contacted for advice on different aspects of the building and trades program. Member Paul Davidson moved that the name of Cecil Lucas be deleted from the list. He and member Marvin Good and Don Keller voted for removal of Lucas' name while Hildebrand, Phil Mallory and Peggy Clark voted against the motion. Snyder then moved that the list be returned to the vocational director in tact. This carried with members voting the same 4-3 vote.

Davidson said he felt the committee would have control of the program, but both Mills and Hildebrand stated that the committee was only formed to give advice and the board would retain control of the program.

Mills recommended board action on taking Band Director, Charles Byfield off of a 12-month contract and shortening his summer contract to 39 days which would result in a savings to the corporation of almost $2,000. The board voted 6-1 to accept his recommendation with Davidson voting against it.

In other action the board: --voted unanimously to accept the resignations of three teachers, R. A. Haynes, Drama Dept.; Carrie Adams, Junior High Science teacher; and Jeff Swanson, Varsity Basketball and tennis coach and P.E. teacher at the high school. --heard a request from Davidson for a report on operating costs of the administration building and he also suggested to the board that a savings may result in mailing large envelopes to board members by using 13 cent stamps as well as 15 cent stamps.

--ok'd an insurance maternity benefit plan from Blue Cross which has been federally mandated to be effective on April 29. --heard a suggestion from Mills that a committee consisting of two members from each of the four townships in the corporation help screen applicants for the position of coach and P. E. teacher at the high school. Mills stated that he probably has 25 or 30 applications already and he hasn't even advertised yet. This could conceivably result in more than 100 applicants and he'd like this committee to help him narrow it down to five names to be brought before the board and interviewed for this position.

The next meeting will be held in the Monterey Elementary School at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, May 7.
