Culver Football '79

Culver - The 1979 football season got off to a good start last Saturday night as a lot of Cavalier fans watched their favorite team go up against the Rochester Zebras in the first quarter of the Rochester Jamporce.

Rochester scored first, but missed the field goal at-tempt. The Cavs came back with a touchdown of their own, but also missed on a 2 point conversion attempt. The quarter ended in a 6-6

In the 3rd quarter, the Cavs battled with Caston. Neither team was able to score before the quarter

"Meet the Team" night was postponed on Friday night due to rain. It was held instead on Monday night. Coach Doc Heath the team introduced members to the fans. A short scrimmage followed. The Athletic Booster then invited everyone into the

by Arlene J. Wilder

Mother Nature Is For TheBirds

Picnic time is drawing to a close. Summer campouts will soon be just a memory. Like the Arabs we'll fold our tents, table cloths, beach towels, picnic tables and steal silently indoors.

I really looked forward to picnics when I was a kid. It always meant lots of good food, good friends, sand castles. swimming and sunshine. Camping out was even more exciting. It was just like a picnic only longer.

When my kids were all small and someone mentioned picnics or campouts, the words caused mixed emotions in me. The back to nature kick and roughing it was fine, but when I had to do all the packing, the preparing and the cooking for five kids, I wasn't too sure of its theraputic value. I didn't mind the sand. It was eating it that bothered me. Try spreading a blanket on the grass, getting all the food out, then yelling, "Come out of the water, it's time to eat." Maybe it's just that there's less space on little people for sand to adhere to, but it seems like they bring three quarters of the beach with them on their bodies.

I've heard we all must eat a bushel of dirt before we die. If so, I had my quota during the summer of '59. It's really great, though, for families to get back to nature. Pitching a tent in the woods where all the little furry animals reside can be a real education for children. For adults, too. During the "long hair" stage, I mistook my son for one of the little furry animals.

GREEN TOWNSHIP

by Lida Thompson

Indicative of today's changing life styles, one in every three meals is eaten away from home. This was one of the facts stated by Mary Leland when she gave the lesson on Eating Out at the Tuesday, August 14, afternoon meeting of the Green Township Homemakers Club. Advantages and disadvantages of eating out were discussed. Reasons for eating at home are more well balanced meals, food prepared to one's liking, left overs can be preserved and it is more economical.

Ada Kring gave a Health and Safety report on high blood pressure. One in seven has high blood pressure. There are not symptoms, one can feel fine and still have it. Medicine is necessary to keep pressure under control. Persons with high blood pressure are susceptible to stroke, heart disease and kidney failure.

Cindy Sargeant told about the Spring and Fall Covered Bridge Festivals held at Rockville in Parke Co.

Each member was asked to comment on how the club might be improved.

During the social hour, the hostess served a tossed salad with sample of favorite dressing bought by various members. The hostess also provided a variety of salad toppings and assorted cracers.

Freda Gibbons will entertain the club on September 11. Doris Miller will give the lesson on Household Comfort

PUBLISHER'S PINION

During the past several weeks many local residents have voiced their opinion as to the future economic problems the local area and the United States will face in the coming months.

On one extreme we hear everything is normal and the news media is scaring everyone into believing "bad times are ahead" - at the other end of the scale, we hear that the "crash of 1929" will seem mild compared to what is facing us in the next few years.

The real truth probably falls somewhere in between the two extremes. This creates the large problem of not knowing what the future will bring? Many residents have commented about being ready to make a large purchase, but are afraid to do so until they are secure about the future. This hesitation can, and is, creating financial worries to local businesses.

Even the great economic experts cannot agree on what has created the problem, how long it will last, or how severe it will become. One group blames big government spending, another says credit buying has over extended the system, and yet another says the banking interests rates (controlled by the government) are the guilty culprits.

The problems of the economy will drastically affect only those who are unemployed or those who have serious business loss due to other being "out of work" and "out of money." It is a known fact that wages cannot keep pace with inflation. This means that the average American will barely be able to purchase the necessities. The luxuries will be out-of-reach financially. Everyone has a different idea of the meaning of "necessities."

The great American dream of - a nice home, two cars, a yearly vacation, education for the children and "pocket money to burn" is rapidly becoming a thing of the past.

MOPEDS--A POTENTIAL TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Argos - Mopeds, little motorized crossbreeds between bicycles and motorcycles, have been a popular form of transportation in Europe for over 30 years Their relatively low purchase price and economy of operation make them an attractive mode of motorized transportation anywhere fuel is scarce and expensive. The energy crisis of the last few years caused American consumers to search for alternative, and more economical, modes of transportation to the automobile. One result of their research has been the rapid rise in moped pur-

Prior to 1974, mopeds were classified as motorcycles in the United States. Such a classification required mopeds to meet federal motorcycle safety standards they were not designed to meet and, therefore, could not be sold here. Four years ago, however, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration relaxed its safety standards to allow mopeds to be imported and sold in this country. Moped sales have risen rapidly since that time. In 1975, 25,000 mopeds were sold; in 1976, over 76,000; in 1977, 150,000 mopeds were purchased; and in 1978 sales topped 300,000.

As more mopeds have entered our traffic networks, many questions arise as to what laws and rules of the road should be applied to these little motorized two wheelers. Many people question the wisdom of the relaxed laws pertaining to mopeds, for example: Should moped be registered? Should moped operators be required to hold a driver's license? Should moped operators be required to carry insurance? It is feared by some that in an era of rising fuel costs there may be an equally rapid rise in traffic and safety problems involving mopeds.

Argos - Soon a new wave of students will be going off to college, and for many it will be the first time they'll have a mailing address away from home.

May potential mail problems can be avoided by following a few simple suggestions, Argos postmaster Francis Coplen said.

First, give the post office prompt notice of your new address at college, whether on or off campus. There's a free "Change of Address Kit" available at the post office. This also contains cards with which you can notify those who send you mail regularly, such as newspapers and magazines, relatives, friends, clubs, banks, and other businesses.

In most college housing, including dormitories, mail usually is distributed from a central mailroom, either on call over the counter or to individual boxes. Some college housing, however, doesn't have such mailrooms, and letter carriers

DES EXTENSION TO BENEFIT ECONOMY

Indianapolis - Indiana consumers and farmers alike will benefit financially from a postponement by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to ban the use of DES. a growth stimulant implanted in beef cattle, according to the Indiana Farm Bureau,

On extending the ban date of DES (diethylstibestrol) until November 1, the FDA' says, "it is realized that an immediate DES ban would result in economic disruption in the cattle production industry.

Indiana ranks second to Illinois as the largest cattle feeding state east of the Mississippi River and the cattle industry was the fourth leading contributor to Indi-ana's farm income in 1978, accounting for $423.3 million, according to Herb Kinnear of the Indiana Farm Bureau information depart-

A study by the National Economic Research Associ-ates, Inc., of Washington, D.C., shows a permanent band on DES would cost consumers from $3.1 to $5.6 billion. It says a DES ban will decrease beef production by 1.68 percent and increase retail beef prices from 6 to 10 percent or from 12 to 25 cents

A ban on the manufacture and shipment of DES took effect July 13. However, manufactureres are challenging that order in court.

Farm Bureau says the FDA-announced ban was taken without "sufficient scientific proof that the current use of DES as a growth stimulant is, in fact, detrimental to human health. FDA claims DES has been shown to cause cancer.
