County Landfill Area

Culver - Mrs. Anita Johnson who resides west of Delong has long been an opponent of the Four County Landfill Area in northwest Fulton County. Tuesday morning as trucks headed for the site her husband George blocked the entrance to the area with his car. After exchanging words with the driver of one of the trucks he returned home to tell his wife that possibly as many as 15, 18 wheelers were headed for the area. She returned to the scene learned that the material being dumped was from the scene of the recent railroad derailment at In-

Five residents of the Kings Lake - Delong area have been taken to Dr. Michael Deery of Culver on Tuesday afternoon and he reported they were suffering from nausea and burning eyes.

According to Fulton County Sheriff Robert
Nugent the matter being dumped was spillage which had soaked into the dirt at the Inwood mishap and this was being scooped and hauled to the landfill. He stated that it was supposed to be neutralized before it was brought to the area.

Vapor which irritates the eyes and respiratory system and causes nausea but is believed to have no lasting effect could have been prevented if the chemicals had been treated properly, according to Tim M. Kelley, a sanatarian for the State Health Department Hazardous Waste Program.

Gone With The Wind A Day In The Life Of A Paper Girl

The life of a paper girl is not always easy. Sandy Brown, age 11, of Culver delivers the South Bend Tribune in this area. She makes every effort to put the paper in a place where it will not be blown away.

Recently she stopped at my home, gave me the Tribune, and continued on her route. The weather was extremely windy and when she sat down with an armload of papers for a moment, the wind took them in all directions. Sandy, exasperated, sat down on the remaining issues and had herself a good cry. Several young people visiting outside my home noticed her plight and all ran to grab as many pages as they could manage to gather. They came bursting into the living room with arms full of Tribune pages and then the "putting together the paper party" began. With the help of my daughters, Deanna and Donna, myself. Mary Belle Kemple, Donny Shaffer, Don Wallace, Kris Mallory, Jackie Washburn and Lori Garbison, shouts of "I need page 17," "who has a 44," "will someone find me a front page," "I've got two page sixteens," could be

Bodies and newspapers were sprawled across the living room floor as the group of two adults and seven young people reassembled the pages in their original order. Sandy finished delivering the papers she'd managed to save and came back to help the "paper party." The melee continued until all but three editions were restored for delivery and Sandy continued on her paper route.

What Is Inflation? Inflation is a rise in the general level of prices you pay for everything you buy. Your dollars become worth less than they were before inflation occurred.

Sometimes particular or service you buy has been improved, and you get better value for your money. This isn't inflation. But when prices on almost everything go up and the quality of what you're buying doesn't substantially improve, you're experiencing inflation. Inflation has averaged 61/2 % over the last ten years, and it rose in 1978 to 9% - dangerously high. The problem has inten-sified in 1979. On the average, what you could buy for a dollar in 1967 costs you two dollars today. And that's very bad because it hits you

AND EGG MAN" AT CULVER ACADEMIES

by Arlene Nix Wilder

Culver - Any reservations about giving up a beautiful fall Sunday afternoon to go to a show in a dark theatre were soon dissipated by a lively cast of Academy students. Directed along nostalgia road by Harvey Firari, The Butter and Egg Man takes the audience behind the show-biz scenes in the 1920's, satirizing in a humorous manner the bigcity slickers, small-town hicks, and tough girls with golden hearts.

The Butter and Egg Man was written in 1926 by George S. Kaufman. Until the version being presently produced on the stage of Eppley Auditorium arrived, it was the only play Kaufman wrote without a collaborator. Now he has a co-author in Director Firari, who was given permission by Samuel French, Inc. to make some minor changes.

The minor operation involved cutting a three-act play down to two parts and eliminating three characters. Instead of three hours, this version runs an hour and a half. Firari added some lines of his own, but it was such a skillful blending that I couldn't tell where the retouching took place. Believe me, an old-fashioned melodramatic farce still has merit. It is fun and heartwarming to see a couple of con men hoisted by their own petard by an innocent kid out of the sticks. It is fun to laugh aloud at a shrewish wife as she pulls the rug out from under her loutish husband. And when the villains begin to rant and rave and threaten physical harm, it is fun to huddle down in the seat among friends and know that you're safe and sound.

What amazes me is that all of this magic is being created by high school students. Matt Kennedy is huge and menacing as a con man, and his sidekick. Steven Kennedy, is equally villainous.

The Ohio hick with the innocent, wide-open face is Harry Box, who makes us fear for his hide (and his pocketbook). He is the personification of the Will to Believe. His delighted smile as the producer outlines the horrific plot of the play they are to produce in an extended comic study.

receives protection from a lovely secretary played by Ann Holland, and a bitingly-funny wife. Melanie Mc-Fadden plays the wife with a vengeance, lighting up the stage with an incandescent personality. She delivers all of her lines with nice attention to the art of articulation.

Carlos Andarsio's interpretation of the stern lawyer makes the audience want to hiss his villainy. Other members efficiently support the leading roles: Tracy Swedlow, Jennifer Brasch, Frank Gurnick, and Chris Kremski, who hangs onto his clipboard as if it were his security blanket. But Chris can be forgiven - I saw his solo-theatre performance of Teddy, a 35 minute tour de force.

A butter and egg man is a term used for the idea heavy investor in a show, and its theme is the innocent who falls among wolves, turns the tables, and fleeces them. The flavor of the language takes us back to the 1920's (sweetheart, sap, bootleggers), all in a flurry of grammatical mistakes, mispronounced towns and titles, malapropisms "my brain is getting to be an endangered speciman.

The first-act ensnarement of the innocent by the wolves is spirited nonsense and very funny. The last part, where tables are turned two or three times in quick succession, is outrageous nonesense and funnier still. The scenes in a Syracuse hotel room during the tryouts have some rousing moments and a few tiring ones when the actors lose their sense of direction. (Perhaps it was a case of opening-night jitters). But those weak moments are offset by delicious nonsense like the innocent saying it is impossible for a woman to have a baby because she's unmarried and the expression that hangs on his face when he learns what a

This farce will be given one more on Friday evening (Nov. 16) at 7:30 in Eppley Auditorium on the Academy campus. Although it is free and open to the public, Director Firari should pass the hat for this one.

This is the third different show I've seen in Eppley recently. Along with The Butter and Egg Man, the two shows Teddy and Erma - are running and getting ready to tour. I don't know of any college around that has three shows going at the same time. This is quite a good juggling act you've got going, Director Firari.

How Did Thanksgiving Come To Be?

This Thanksgiving Day few people will pause to remember the name of Sarah Josepha Hale (1788-1879). Yet it was this eloquent New England housewife who finally caused President Abraham Lincoln to proclaim Thanksgiving Day a national holiday in 1863 - after she'd fought a single-handed campaign for over 30 years.

The story of this unusual woman has been pieced together by researchers at Hallmark Cards. They learned that Mrs. Hale, born in Newport, New Hampshire, The Culver Home Ex- five children and became writer. One of her early ef-Christ. Meeting opened by 1828 she was appointed editor of the Ladies Magazine in Boston.

She began pleading in her editorial column for a nationally recognized Thanksgiving Day. Thanksgiving Day, first proclaimed by George Washington in 1789, was celebrated at the time only in certain states on varying dates and there was considerable opposition to its observance.

In 1837 Mrs. Hale moved to Philadelphia to edit the influential Godey's Lady's Book. Here, in a 40-year career, she wrote editorials the opinions of that shaped millions. She often wrote about higher education for women, but the cause she Nov. 2 in Zion hall of the forts was the poem, "Mary fought for most was a national celebration of Thanks-

Then in September, 1863. Mrs. Hale climaxed her campaign in a powerful article beginning: "Can we not establish our yearly Thanksgiving as a perman-ent American National Festival on the last Thursday in November in every state of the Union? Then in every quarter of the globe our nationality would be recognized in connection with our gratitude to the Divine Giver of all our blessings."

Sarah Hale's determina-tion won out. The following month, October 3, President Lincoln signed the proclamation that made Thanksgiving Day a national holiday for all

LIKABLE NOVEMBER by Bertha R. Hudelson

November's wind and snowflakes play Their tricks on everyone; A few days here, a few days gone,

Then back here bringing fun. Wild geese honk high beH

The summer birds long since have flown To sun-warmed fields and Yet redbirds and the chickadees Do not mind cold-time chills.

WALNUT TOWNSHIP EXTENSION CLUB NEWS

By Barbara Hann

Argos - The Walnut Township Extension Homemakers Club met in the Argos State Exchange Bank on Wednes-day, November 7 for their monthly meeting. Alberta Middaugh, president, pre-sided over the meeting. Zella McCay led in the club creed and pledges to the American and Christian flags.

Bonnie Bunch gave the devotions using Thessalonians 8:21 for her scripture, Satisfaction, and our aim guaranteed. Quit complaining and "try smiling" was a poem she read.

Song of the month was "When I Grow Too Old To Dream." Birthdays were Toilie Mcgriff. Anniversaries celebrated were Bea O'Neal and Evelyn Burroughs.

Herb cooking was the lesson given by Margaret Gahms. She asked "What spices do you use?" Those most used were cinnamon, nutmeg, sage, onions, pepper, and salt. Margaret told us to experiment with some we were not used to using and SPICE up our food. She stated that 4 million pounds of salt is used each year and some people are put on a limited supply because of high blood pressure. Try creativity with spices, but use them sparingly because of high blood ly till you see if you like them. Keep your spices in a cupboard drawer in a dark, dry place. Light weakens the spice. Some of the spices were cloves, cinnamon, curry powder, dill seed, garlic, mace, marjorium, mint, dry mustard, mustard seed, nutmeg, onions and onion powder, paprika. Albert Middaugh passed small jars with spices in them. Each one had a chance to sniff and feel them to see if they could identify them.

Wilma Haas gave the lesson on "Energy Audit". She said combine trips to the grovery and other trips to save gas. She also told of a booster that burns wood to be used with your furnace to save gas or oil. Use less hot water to wash dishes and clothes. Have your water heater set at a lower degree. Use the oven to prepare several foods at one time. Take showers instead of tub baths as this saves hot water. Use a draft dodger at the bottom of the door to cut down drafts. Be sure windows have storm windows, in fact, just conserve energy.

Catherine Bolinger gave a lesson on health and informed us that apple seeds contain canide poisoning. So core your apples and do not eat the seeds to be safe.

Dessert was served to 17 members by Evelyn Bur-roughs, Toilie McGriff and Bonnie Bunch.

Culver - One season is drawing to a close and two seasons are beginning this week at the Culver Academies.

CGA swimmers Gretchen Grote, a senior from Madison, Ind., and Sarah Urban, a junior from LaGrange, Ill., will swim Friday at the state girls swimming meet at the Ball State University Pool, Muncie.

The girls will swim there thanks to their performances in the sectional meet Saturday at South Bend

Clay.
Miss Grote won the 200 yard individual medley in 2:20.1, and Miss Urban took the 50 yard freestyle in 26.36. Overall, the CGA team placed fourth, with 141 points, just behind the powerful teams of South Bend Clay, Adams and

Riley. Coach Carol Frederickson thought her team did well, considering the strong teams against which CGA swam. She noted that Riley got only one first and Clay took all the rest, and most of the seconds, too.

Both Miss Grote and Miss Urban have been ranked statewide for most of the season.

Hockey

The state champion CGA Eagles will open their season Friday and Saturday in Milwaukee, Wisc., as they take on the University School, a strong prep team. The University School is coached by Lowell Mac-Donald, former Pittsburgh

Penquins star. Coached by J. Allen Clark, the CMA team will be strong again this year. It demonstrated its strength against Columbus, Indiana High School Saturday in a scrimmage at the CMA rink. The final score was 10-5 with CMA winning. Clark let all his players get ice playing time.

Bob Exum and Skeeter Moore each scored twice, and John Henderson Matt also scored. The scrimmage followed the dedication of the John W. Henderson Ice Arena, honoring Dean John W. Henderson, who is beginning his 61st year at the Academies.

CMA Swimming

As the girls of CGA are finishing their swim season, the cadets of CMA are beginning theirs. The first meet of the season was the CMA Invitational Saturday at the Academies. Coach Holger Brondsted had a group of tough op-ponents for his team. Two of the top teams in the state Munster and Goshen, placed one and two. Another traditionally strong team, Highland, was third, South Bend Riley was fourth, and CMA was fifth. Lowell was

Giving good performances for CMA were Jack Ford, Tom O'Neill, Dan Swain, Franz Morsches, and Alan Free, Coach Brondsted said. "On an individual basis, we did very well," he added. "These teams had many more swimmers than we do. Friday the CMA swimmers will have another of those character-building experiences as they swim against Munster at the Munster pool.

CMA Soccer

CMA's outstandiing soccer team was declared cochampions (with Argos) of the Northern Indiana Soccer Conference November 7. On the All Conference team were Luis Quintana, a senior from Mexico City, Mexico; Victor A. DeSala, a junior from Key Biscayne, Fla., and Jose E. Passerelli, a sophomore from Guatemala City, Guatemala.

Culver - The Culver Academies observed their traditional Veterans' Day ceremony Sunday with Maj. Gen. Robert D. Weliver, division commander of the Army National Guard 38th Infantry Division, as the guest speaker.

General Weliver urged the cadets of Culver Military Academy and the students of Culver Girls Academy to dedicate themselves to those principles for which U. S. veterans have fought and "For the sacrifice they made, our own dedication must be steadfast," General Weliver said. "We, and our children after us, must be devoted to the principles for which these veterans served: to honor, loyalty, integrity and faith in the American future. Let us resolve to do so now, to keep faith the veterans whose service we honor."

Veterans' Day honors not just those veterans but also the "important fact" that "the people of this great nation have had and still have the moral fiber to fight, when necessary, to defend not only our own freedom, but also the freedom of those who look to us for help," the Crawfordsville native said.

"Today, it is sometimes unfashionable to speak of patriotism, to fly the American flag, to confess faith in American ideals and to believe that our freedoms are worth whatever price," General Weliver said. "there are those who claim that these things are for the unsophisticated and are not appropriate to our complex time. Yet, all of us must believe intensely in the meaning of these: it was this deep belief that motivated the veterans we honor

He added, "We can best pay tribute to all veterans this day by recognizing what they have achieved, and in joining them in their resolve to keep America free. There is no greater obligation."

The ceremony unfolded much as it had in 1925, when Culver Memorial Library was dedicated to the memory of those Culver men fallen in World War I.

As in 1925, the flags of the Allied Countries of that war were honored. They were the flag of Serbia, borne by Cadet Stephen T. Wittekind Culver, Ind.; the flag of Belgium, borne by Cadet loseph N. Von Titte, Dallas, Texas; the flag of France, borne by Cadet Francis P. Gurnick, Cleveland, Ohio; the flag of England, borne by Cadet Ciaran G. Dunstan, Ludington, Mich.; the flag of Italy, borne by Cadet John B. Katker, Miami, Fla.; the flag of Roumania borne by Cadet Christian E. Williams. Elyria, Ohio; and the flag of the United States borne by Cadet Bruce M. Jones, Jacksonville, Fla. The Gold Star flag was borne by Cadet Braddock J. Alexander,

Toledo, Ohio. The CMA Band played excerpts from each nation's national anthem as its flag appeared. When all the flags had emerged from the

"You cannot have a good town without a good newspaper, and with a genuine up-to-date newspaper a town cannot long remain obscure and uninteresting."

library, the Band played "God of our Fathers." Then CGA Senior Perfect Cindy Brooke, Lake Forest, Ill., and CGA Aide to the Superintendent Ann Gerlach, Crown Point, Ind., laid wreaths on the two gold stars imbedded in the pavement in front of the library.

The wreaths were held during the ceremony by Cadets Frederick L. Fulton, Richmond, Ind., and Thomas E. Rivera, Indianapolis. Door Guards were Cadets John Sparrow, Ann Arbos, Michigan and John K. Richards, Jr., San Fran-

Cadet Lts. C. Randall Chube, Gary, Inc., and John M. Barr, Evanston, Ill., escorted the CGA wreath bearers. Senior Capt. David W. Kemp, Lake Oswego, Ore., commanded the corps of cadets. Cadet Sgt. Maj. Kyle M. Sandy, Maracaibo, Venezuela was in charge of the color bearers.

After the wreaths were laid, the trumpeters played "Taps," which was followed by the 21 gun salute, fired by the Academies' three Howitzer guns.

The solemn tone of the Sunday ceremony was in contrast to the warm-spirited but chilly dedication Saturday of the John W. Henderson Ice Arena.

The cadet corps and CGA student body heard Mr. Bertram B. Culver Jr., chairman of the Culver Educational Foundation Board of Directors, praise Dean John W. Henderson and his wife Norma. Dean Henderson, dean of admissions eermeritus and consultant to the Development Department, has served Culver for 60 years.

The Hendersons are the parents of Mr. James A. Henderson, vice president of the board of directors of the Culver Educational Foun-dation and president of the Cummins Engine Company, Inc., Columbus, Ind. Two of their grandsons, John and Jeffrey, are CMA cadets and members of the hockey Receiving a plaque of appreciation dedication were Mr. and Mrs. Dale W. McMillen Jr., Mr. McMillen is chairman of the board of Central Soya Co. Inc., Fort Wayne, and president of the board of directors of the Culver Educational Foundation. Their generous contributions made possible the McMillen Athletic Center and the enclosure of the ice rink.

After the dedication, the CMA hockey team played in a scrimmage against the Columbus (Ind.) High School tea, winning 10-5.

Mailgrams Provide Next - Day Delivery In U.S.

GEORGE T. HAMMOND

NEBRASKA EDITOR, 1896

Argos - Mailgram service, which enables mailers in Argos to reach any point in the United States and Cana-da overnight, is becoming increasingly popular with residents and businesses who require delivery less expensive than a telegram and faster than a letter. In Canada, this same service is called Telepost.

Mailgram is a joint venture between Western Union and the U.S. Postal Service. It has grown dramatically since its introduction in 1970 when 70,000 messages were sent. During the fiscal year ended September 30, a record high 37,091,000 Mailgrams were delivered.

Postmaster Francis Coplen said Mailgrams have about the same impact as telegrams for greetings and congratulations, sales promotions, new product announcements, price changes, sales force communications, and fund raising.

Mailgrams move through Western Union's electronic transmission network to teleprinter terminals strategically located in 141 U.S. and 39 Canadian postal installations. Messages entered by 7 p.m. local time are delivered by letter carrier the next business day.

They can be sent by telephone through any Western Union office. Mailgrams also can be sent by Telex or TWX machines and through computer to computer direct linkup and by computer generated tapes.
Postmaster Coplen said

the charge for sending a Mailgram by telephone is $2.95 for the first 100 words. Telex and TWX users are charged $1 for the first 600 characters while $1.15 is charged for computer generated tape users.

Postmaster Coplen said an option of the service is a Business Reply Mailgram. The Mailgram recipient receives a blue business reply envelope in order to respond to the sender's request. Replies are returned for the price of business reply postage plus a 10-cent surcharge.

Certified Mailgram service providing evidence of delivery also is available.

PACKAGING TIPS CAN ASSURE SAFE ARRIVAL

Culver - If the post office clerk tells you that your Christmas gift package won't go, it's because we want to be sure it will arrive at its destination safely, Postmaster E. W. Mattox said today. Some customers get upset when their packages are so poorly wrapped that we can't accept them for mailing, but we do it for their own protection, postmaster Mattox said. Of course, our clerks point out the deficiencies and explain how they can be corrected.

The problem of poor packaging is particularly roublesome during the Christmas mailing season when the mail volume rises dramatically.

To avoid delays and assure safe arrival of Christmas gift packages, here are a few suggestions:

Wrap each item individually with enough padding to prevent damage from shock and vibration. Separate wrapped items from other package surfaces with padding or foamed plastic. Heavy items should be braced with fiberboard pads to prevent shifting and damage.

Fiberboard containers are recommended for all items weighing more than ten pounds. Paperboard containers are acceptable for up to ten pounds.

Rather than string or cord, use either Kraft paper tape, reinforced Kraft paper tape, pressure sensitive filament tape. The latter is preferable for prevention of accidental opening.

Postmaster said to put the name and address of the person to whom the package is being mailed and your own return address inside as well as outside the parcel. The outside address should be legible from 30 inches away. Always check to see that you have the proper address and ZIP Code.

He also reminded mailers that the Postal Service no longer accepts letter mail that is less than 31/2" high or 5" long. In addition, First Class mail that weighs 1 ounce or less and is more than 6 1/4" high or 111/2" long requires seven cents postage in addition to a 15 cent stamp. However, there is no over-

STATE SCHOLARSHIP GUIDELINES CHANGED

Culver - James E. Sunday, Executive Director of the State Student Assistance Commission of Indiana, announced today that the Commission has revised the eligibility criteria for awarding State Scholarships for the 1980-81 academic Sunday said that a student's composite score must be at least 210 to qualify for a State Scholarship award. The composite score calculated on the basis of the student's class rank after six semesters of high school and the student's Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores. Sunday gave the example that a student who ranks in the twentieth percentile would be required to have an SAT score of 1000. Therefore, for most high schools, Sunday said few students who rank below the top 20 percent of their class will be eligible for a State Scholarship.

WE ASK YOU

Why is it - a man wakes up in the morning after sleeping under an advertised blanket on an advertised mattress and pulls off advertised pajamas. Takes a bath in an advertised tub, shaves with an advertised razor, washes with advertised soap, puts on advertised clothes, sits down to breakfast of advertised coffee, puts on an advertised hat, rides to his office in an advertised car, writes with an advertised pencil . . . Then, he refuses to advertise, says advertising doesn't pay, and then, if a business isn't good enough to advertise . . . he advertises it for sale.

If you believe in your business and want to build it....
