A Year on Staff with the

Stephanie Good (right) works hard on a yearbook spread, while Jennifer Peacock reclines and gives directions! Seriously though, the girls worked well together on several pages this year.

Sarah Welch works with the new digital imaging program, finishing the golf pages. Sarah brought in the most ad sales in the class and always answered, "Sure!" with a smile, when asked to do something.

CAVALCADE

A note to the staff from your moody, half-crazed adviser:

Because I know I didn't say it often enough, I want to here and now, forever in print: THANK YOU ALL, from the bottom of my heart. This was not an easy year for me, trying to learn how to do this yearbook thing and at the same time make it something new and special, something worth holding onto. I know that I wasn't always the easiest person to work with or for, and I appreciate the tolerance you showed me and the effort you all put into the book you are now holding in your hands.

I sincerely hope the experience was worthwhile. I hope you seniors have some great memories to take with you from helping to produce this book, and I hope you underclassmen are willing to come back and give it another go. I can hardly wait to see what we'll accomplish together next year.

To those of you who did not work on our staff but supported us in other ways, thank you too. Thank you for submitting pictures and quotes, for taking pictures for us, and for (of course!) buying the book! It is for all of you that we do what we do.

Ms. Gardner

Tyler Weldon seems to have lost his fingers up his nose. Blake Scroggs and Ashlee Holcomb still found the latest Weldon stunt amusing.

If it has anything to do with The Seniors, Mary Lee had her hands on it. She spent many hours at the computer and had great pride in her work.

Although it is hard to be busy all the time, Ashley Mahler (hiding herself from view), Jessica Shaffer, Ashley Minix, and Valerie White each contributed significantly to the production of the book.

Boys

The Culver boys soccer team competed with tough opponents throughout the season. The team played great soccer at times in the games. With six seniors on the team, they had plenty of leadership. The team had strong support from its underclassmen.

The team had a chance to win a lot of games, but came up short many times. Without many people on the bench, the starters were forced to play 60-80 minutes a game.

The soccer team did have some strong points this season. They beat Oregon-Davis twice, as well as Caston. They also tied Kankakee Valley in the second game of the season.

Jen Golden wonders if they're really taking her picture

As we take the field at 3:45 for a 5 o'clock game, one notices the changes that take place. Our hair is no longer in our faces, but is pulled back. Our school attire has given way to uniforms, redolent with the sweet smell of an old dirty gym locker. We're smiling with "the game face."

Right around 4:30 the other team pulls up. We all stare to see what kind of size we are up against. Greg (our coach) says "ND run girls." After our lap (side field mind you) we pretty much want to quit with the whole run thing. We finish and stretch and hear "TWEET, TWEET, TWEET." "Captains" calls the ref. The game begins.

The girls' soccer team struggled in many areas, but in the end we were on top. The girls were very strong in friendship and keeping it together for the team. The team didn't improve their record from last year. In fact, their record for wins dropped greatly. They did bring home the Mishawaka tourney trophy for 3 years straight. (The crowd yelled "3 peat! 3 peat! 3 peat!")

It will be hard for the team next year to replace the eight seniors. This year's seniors showed great leadership. Somehow, I know the team will make it. It always does.

This year's volleyball season may not have been very successful but we always worked hard and kept a positive attitude.

Senior Lily Lee would talk to us about "climbing up that ladder and not falling off."

"Volleyball was an overall fun season. Though our record doesn't show it, we worked hard during practice," said Lee. "Maybe we didn't end the season with a 'bang' but I had fun and so did the other girls."

Junior Kriston Quimby stated, "We made it up the ladder, but didn't quite fix the roof."

One major accomplishment this year was winning the Galver Tourney. Athletic director John Johnson joked, "Finally we get to keep a trophy that we paid for!" Hard work really paid off and we worked as a team for that win.

The Culver Cavalier football team had a down season. Despite only winning two games, there were some good points. In the game against West Central, sophomore Josh Salary ran for 226 yards and 3 touchdowns. Salary ended the season with 667 yards rushing and 5 touchdowns. "We could have had a better season," said Salary.

Leading the defensive unit were Seniors: Tim Day, T.J. Montgomery, Scott Zehner, and Walt Hanselman. Standing out from these seniors was Montgomery. Montgomery had 95 tackles and 6 sacks. Making the All-Conference team were Day and Montgomery; getting Honorable Mention was Hanselman. Day also made the All-State team.

"I thought we played hard, but we were undersized. We practiced hard," said junior Eddie Molebash.

Homecoming Week

Students, including Diana Carlson, Ashlee Artman, & Dana Keller, are showing their school spirit by dressing up for red, white, and blue day.

While dressing up through the week, Stefanie Thompson, Ashlee Artman, Diana Carlson, & Dana Keller dressed up in their favorite decade.

"It was really fun to get outrageous for Homecoming Week this year. Usually people don't really dress-up, but Jamie, Dana, Stef, Diana, and me went all out this year. It was awesome," Ashlee Artman stated.

During the week, Dustin Desabatine and Troy Elliott help to make the Junior's float. They had a lot of fun.

Fall Bonanza

While crashing the car in, Tyler Weldon got out a lot of frustration before the big game. The car-bashing booth was sponsored by the Juniors.

Before hitting the Pinata, Criston Quimby blindfolded Chris Boyne. The pinata was sponsored by the Spanish Club.

The Tricycle Race brought Levi Scroggs a victory for himself.

The Watermelon Contest brought Sheena Smith, Dale Heiser, & Sarah Williams together.

During Tug-of-War, the seniors, including Walt Hanselman, Kyle Sefchek, T.J. Montgomery, Cole Reinhold, Tim Day, Troy Ulch, & Scott Zehner, brought their classmates into the lead to win.

While being caught up in the three-legged race and the water balloon toss, the watermelon eating contest and the tricycle race, some people may have barely noticed some of the booths and clubs sponsored. Others, like the Juniors' car-bashing booth, back for a second year, were a "smash."

The cheerleaders topped off the rally near the end of the afternoon, getting everyone pepped up for the night's game against the New Prairie Cougars. All of the team's seniors spoke to the crowd and encouraged them to show up to support the team during the game.

To finish up the day, the faculty positioned themselves on the sideline to judge the students in the stands. The classes competed against each other - trying to cheer the loudest - to decide who would be dismissed first. Though each class thought their own was the loudest, the faculty chose the seniors and went from there. As the student body left the field, you could really feel the school spirit, the purpose for the day's event.

Throw a pie in a cheerleaders face is a hit. Walt Hanselman and Ashley Thomas were the main cheerleaders that didn't mind getting a pie in the face.

Showing her school spirit, Kayla Sowards got her face painted by a BPA member.

Chilling at the Homecoming dance, Will Pierce and Ron Myers sat on the bleachers watching everyone have fun.

The award for best banner went to the Art Club. Lily Lee, Vanessa Stineback, and Stephanie Stineback accepted the award.

The award for the best float went to the Freshman class. Scarlett Russell accepted the award for the class.

After being crowned Homecoming Queen for 2002, Stacy Stevens was escorted by T.J. Montgomery into the convertible and drove around the track.

Chad Cultice and Kari Woodward, Chris Boyne and Ashley Thomas, Jon Broeker and Jamie Conley, Kameron Snyder and Mary Lee, Tony Scott and Julie Thompson, Stacy Stevens and T.J. Montgomery, Jackie Ziaja and Matt Peterson, Criston Quimby and Eddie Molebash, Elizabeth Williams and Joel Samuelson, Chelsea Schrimsher and Logan Reinholt complete the 2002 Homecoming Court. Mrs. Benner and her accomplice wanted to be part of the court, but had to be content with watching.

On Sept. 13, Culver Community High School hosted their annual Homecoming against the New Prairie Cougars. Despite their loss of 14-42, everyone still had a great time.

During the half time, the Homecoming court came out looking better than ever. The Senior class consisted of Stacy Stevens escorted by T.J. Montgomery, Mary Lee escorted by Kameron Snyder, Jackie Ziaja escorted by Matt Peterson, and Julie Thompson escorted by Tony Scott. The Junior class consisted of Criston Quimby escorted by Eddie Molebash, and Jamie Conley escorted by Jon Broeker. The Sophomore class consisted of Ashley Thomas escorted by Chris Boyne, and Elizabeth Williams escorted by Joel Samuelson. The Freshman class representatives were Kari Woodward escorted by Chad Cultice and Chelsea Schrimsher escorted by Logan Reinholt. "It was my first year on court and I had a blast," Mary Lee shouted.

Stacy Stevens is crowned Homecoming Queen and T.J. Montgomery is wishing that it was him.

After all were announced, it was time to announce the float and banner winners. The best banner went to the Art Club, and the best float went to the Freshman class.

Then after all was done, the queen was announced. The enthusiastic crowd silenced. The queen is Stacy Stevens. Stacy and her escort, T.J., stepped up and off in the convertible for their ride around the track.

Before the Homecoming dance started, Felicia McGraw, Greg Prater, and Will Pierce started to get into the dancing mood.

"Being on Homecoming court is exciting. I'm really glad Stacy won this year," Jamie Conley stated.

After the football game, there was a Homecoming dance held for all high school members and alumni.

Cross Country

Although many people didn't know it, Culver had a girl's cross-country team this year. Due to multiple failed recruiting campaigns like "Join Cross-Country. Get a Cookie," the team only had two members, seniors: Elizabeth McFarland and Dayna Kelsey. But with the guidance of Coach Barb Stevens and their own determination, both members received numerous awards and personal bests throughout their season.

By Dayna Kelsey

The 2002 Girls Cross Country Team: (clockwise) Mrs. Stevens, Liz McFarland and Dayna Kelsey

Top Ten Reason to Join Cross Country

- 10.) There are no fundraisers!
- 9.) We play fun games like football, soccer and frisbee during practice.
- 8.) Practices are less than an hour.
- 7.) Mrs. Stevens makes great cookies.
- 6.) You get to go out to eat after every meet.
- 5.) You get to meet kids from over 40 schools throughout the state!
- 4.) We don't practice on Fridays.
- 3.) It is a fun and easy way to get your Varsity Letter.
- 2.) You will have long-lasting memories of fun mini-bus trips.
- 1.) If you don't, our school won't have Cross Country anymore!!!!

CHEERLEADING

BOYS BASKETBALL

The Cavalier Boys Basketball team finished with a record of 2-18 this year. Despite the unfortunate season, the Cavs had some high points this year. Leading the varsity team were four seniors: Tim Day, Matt Carter, Nathan Caudill, and Kameron Snyder. The one senior that stood out the most this year was Day, who was a first-year player this year. Day also recieved honorable mention for the conference. "I thought we had a disappointing season, but it was a great learning experience," said Freshman Levi Scroggs.

S N O W C O M I N G

This year, Snowcoming had a different twist. Instead of it being a semi-formal dance, we had a competition. The competition was decorating big pieces of plywood. The dance followed the boys and girls home basketball games against Knox. During the intermission of the two games, there was a king crowned. All hail King Phil Loehmer!

King Phil Loehmer and his escort Heather Reynolds enjoy the new Snowcoming festivities.

Richard Hinsey is the classic "thorn" between two roses—Jaime Conley and Dana Keller. All three were members of the Snowcoming Court.

The sophomores want to "Burn the Redskins" in the Snowcoming game.

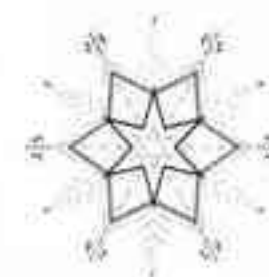

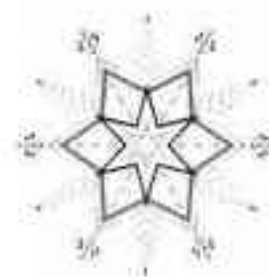

In typical senior style, their entry (below) in the competition reminds the Redskins, "This is our house!"

Having constructed the winning board (above), the freshmen suggest hanging the Redskins.

Depicting a smiling Cavalier, the juniors' entry (above) urged the basketball players to stomp the Redskins in both games.

Girls Basketball

The Lady Cavaliers varsity basketball team may not have finished out the way they wanted to, but they were still successful during the season, winding up with a record of 13-7. "The season was full of enjoyment," stated captain Stacy Stevens.

The Junior Varsity also finished with a winning season, ending with an 11-8 record. "I had a really fun season and I can't wait until next season, McDonald's all the way!" exclaimed sophomore Jessica Shaffer, a second-year basketball player.

Stacy Stevens is a four-year varsity basketball player. At the end of this season, she had 26 of 34 school records. The only person in Culver's history to have her jersey retired, Stevens was 1 out of 18 people in the state to reach the 2,000 point mark. She finished the season with 2,004 points.

WRESTLING

Zach Glenn (above) helps a Urey Falcon get stretched.

Matt Peterson (right) has a friendly conversation.

The wrestling team has worked hard to rebuild since their 2001 sectional victory. Many wrestlers improved, including seniors Tony Scott and Scott Zehner, who was conference and sectional champ. Junior Zach Glenn stated, "We're almost there. I just wish I had a few more years on this team."

With signs of improvement, Coach Sheets said, "In the next couple of years, look for this team to be a dynasty [ranking with] such teams as Jimtown, Warsaw, and Mishawaka. It's genuine wrestling. Kids aren't scared to come out now and that's the start of a great team...numbers."

Culver's fourth-place finish overall in the conference--only 26 points behind the first-place team--shows the strengthening of Culver wrestling, once again becoming that feared, hard-nosed team revered in the Downs era. Junior Blake Scroggs remarked, "Our team is being revamped by a new style of wrestling. It's exciting and effective. Look out for the Three Amigos of wrestling--Ben Robbins, Zach Glenn, and Eddie Molebash--to lead this team into a bright new future." By Blake Scroggs

VARSITY

The Culver Cavalier baseball team suffered a disappointing season, but they left on a high note. The Cavs left their homefield with a 6-5 loss to last year's Class A number one team (who were also in the top five for most of 2003), the Pioneer Panthers. The Cavs finished the season with a 2-26 record. Culver is looking for a good season next year as they are only losing two seniors.

"We played really well against Pioneer and we should have won. But next year, with our easier sectional, we should be able to advance farther in the State Tournament. We have some great pitchers coming back and we have our experience now," said Junior Tyler Weldon.

They raced on tricycles and scooters. They linked arms and legs and crabwalked across the gym floor. They mustered in groups and fought hard in tug-of-war competitions. They cheered, they sang, they danced. But above all, they came together, a whole school for one night, and strung together moments of friendly competition that they will remember for years and years to come. When it was all said and done, the Seniors came out on top and won the 2003 Sports Spectacular.

A Legislative Visitor Comes to School

On Friday, Feb. 21, Culver Community Schools welcomed State Representative Steve Heim, in honor of "Invite Your State Legislator to Lunch Week." The Indiana School Food Service Association instituted this week as a way to inform state officials about child nutrition.

Currently, the ISFA is working to eliminate the reduced-cost breakfasts and offer free meals to eligible children. However, at this time there are no state funds mandated for this cause.

Culver Community Schools' population includes 25 percent of students eligible for reduced-cost breakfasts or free lunches. School Food Service Coordinator Carin Clifton decided to institute this special week at Culver to inform state officials about our school's need for this mandate.

Heim chats with Superintendent Brad Scholdt after eating a delicious school lunch.

Mr. Heim chats with students about various political issues.

"Right now we serve about 90 breakfasts a day. If we could offer this meal free to some children we could ensure they were getting a good meal," Clifton stated.

During his visit at Culver High, Heim spoke to the juniors and seniors about his career and various political issues. He also spoke to school treasurer Rose Master about our school's government lunch reimbursement program.

Shannon Lewis asks Mr. Heim what sports teams he follows.

Pilot News reporter Anthony Gadson interviews Heim.

Peer Mediators

Peers Educating Peers

Student Life

Dustin DeSabatine (below) displays his vivid school spirit.

Cassie Schuldt, Ashlee Holcomb, Jessica Shaffer and Tyler Weldon attempt to disguise their true identities. Marilyn Monroe seemed thrilled with their company.

Gary Leggett decides to go out and play in the snow.

Mark Allyn hangs around while working on the homecoming float.

Kari Woodward and Josh Linhart grin for the camera. It was nice to see Josh without a scowl.

The One, Final Moment . . .

It is the last time they will all stand as one. On this day, their shared laughter will echo in each other's memories. On this day, they will share a final embrace, shed a common tear, and leave Culver Community High School truly as individuals. They are the Class of 2003.

When Erin Stotler addressed her classmates and their families and friends, she asked everyone to consider their graduation an adventure.

"Small or large, an adventure is, by definition, an experience that is marked by excitement and purpose," Stotler remarked, explaining that adventure is created with imagination. "Well, graduates," she continued, "we HAVE used our imaginations. Together, we have created numerous unforgettable, exploratory, and life-forming adventures!"

Offering advice to her classmates, Megan Girton urged them to "cherish time, your most valuable resource. You can never make up time you lose. Do the most productive thing possible at every given moment."

Girton concluded with the class motto: "To the class of 2003, there are so many roads we have crossed, so many hills we have climbed, and so many dreams yet to conquer. Congratulations to all and good luck in the future."

Erin Stotler (left) addresses her senior class during Commencement. She urged her classmates to seek great adventures in the lives they were beginning.

Here they are...the Class of 2003...together as one for the last time. Where will they go? Who will they become? They listened to their classmates' speeches and doubt pondering some of those questions themselves. But, questions on their minds as well...Which party am I going to out a little later?

Erin Stotler and Dayna Kelsey are like kids on Christmas Eve. They couldn't wait to see what was happening and peeked in the gym before the ceremony.

time. Where will they go? Who will they become? They listened to their classmates' speeches and doubt pondering some of those questions themselves. But, questions on their minds as well...Which party am I going to out a little later?

Megan Girton recalls memories shared together since kindergarten. There were tears shed as others remembered with her.

Tim Day, who was inducted into the National Honor Society in the spring, leaves the stage after receiving his scholastic awards.

It all led up to this last(ing)

After years of waiting and working towards the goal, Evan Krieg reaches out his hand and receives his diploma from Superintendent Brad Schuldt. He made it!

Kayla Sowards has looked forward to this moment through her four years of high school. She was finally going to get her diploma! Or was she? Superintendent Schuldt had a hard time finding it. He searched, she waited patiently, and eventually, that precious piece of paper was located. With relief and a smile, Kayla accepted her diploma.

Class of 2003

Kyle Sefchek hugs Mary Lee after receiving his diploma. Shortly after he hugged Mary, Kyle offered a salute to Superintendent Schuldt. They tend to do What Eva They Want.

It's official! They have been pronounced graduates of Culver Community High School and move their tassels to distinguish themselves as such.

Once again they will do What Eva of Silly String and proceeded to eat administrators, and guests could do

John Craft, Martha Davis, and Adam Dillingham listen attentively to classmate Erin Stotler's speech.

Danyelle

As you've gone from one cap and gown to the next, I want you to know this has so far been the best part of my life -- watching you grow. You have grown into such a beautiful, bright, talented, caring young lady.

You have made me so very proud of you.

It's going to be hard letting you go (college). We have always been so close...my precious little girl...my wonderful daughter -- My Best Friend.

My heart will always be with you. I wish you the best in everything you do, and may all your dreams come true.

Words can never tell you how much I love you!
