Meet The Staff

The 04-05 yearbook staff was introduced to a new way of making the yearbook. Jostens provided the class with a website where the staff members can create a yearbook. Last year in 04-05, the staff thought that using the website was a big pain at times. Chief Editor Brandi Stevens explained "It stressed us out a lot, when the computers would mess up we would have to redo our pages and it set us back." This year, the yearbook class thought using the Jostens website was a lot easier than using the old software. Second year Editor Dana Mishler quoted "Using the computers is a fast and easy way to make the yearbook."

Other than doing work, the yearbook class also had fun. Caption Editor Emily Jenkinson remembers a fun time during yearbook class, "We went on a field trip to Valparaiso University and learned how to make a yearbook, it was a blast." The yearbook students also get into games for free to take pictures. The most fun the yearbook class had is when they had their deadline parties, "Whoa Hooo," said senior Andrew Hoesel about the deadline parties.

From deadline parties to field trips, the yearbook class spent most of their time taking pictures and designing pages. Each year, the staff's main goal is to get the yearbook out on time and to make improvements from the previous year.

Taking a look at the Varsity Football team's record, one might believe the season to be a failure. Even though the record doesn't show it, the team greatly improved throughout the season.

Starting the season with a small turn-out made it difficult for Coach John Johnson to fill the offensive, defensive, and special teams. When asked how he handled the situation, he commented, "We had kids play all three teams, a lot of kids didn't get any rest." Even though there was little or no downtime for a lot of the boys, they all still put out a great effort throughout the season. Sophomore Loren Salzer commented, "It was good, we had the heart and effort, but it was hard to show by our record," when asked about how he felt about the effort put out by his teammates.

Not only was the team small, but it was also young. With only three graduating seniors, the 2006-2007 football season looks bright. Sophomore Loren Salzer commented, "Our team's maturing, so hopefully we'll have better numbers and a better passing and running game." Sophomore Lucas Hanselman agreed, but he'd also like to see the team have a better record next season.

The Cheerleaders started a new way to inspire the teams this year. Inspiration came in the form of dance. When asked what her highlight of the season was, Sophomore Brianna Wilson said, "I'd say the highlight of the season was being able to do our dances. We worked really hard on them."

Kim Gunder, Sophomore Kylie Gunder's older sister, helped the team tremendously this season. Kim helped the girls come up with moves and steps for their half time performances at basketball games. The girls also took a trip to a Cheer Competition at Bethel College to learn from higher level performances.

All the work soon payed off for the Cheerleaders, because as soon as the girls took the floor to do their half time performance, students in the stands were front row and center watching the girls do their thing. "They did an awesome job! You could really tell how hard they worked at it," commented their Coach, Gretchen Johnson. With all their hard work, the Cheerleaders were proud of the time they put in for their halftime dances, and look forward to next season.

The boys soccer team didn't have a winning season this year, falling short of 500 with a record of 6-9-2. However, they did have a huge moral victory, beating Argos for the first time in ten years. "That was a big game. It was the first time we've beaten them in ten years. I can say that with certainty," Coach Stevens said about the game. The Argos game was also the start of a four game winning streak at the end of the season and was the team's only win in their extremely tough conference.

The players were really excited after beating Argos. "I was really psyched because it was my senior year and it was a really big win," said Senior Drew Deery. According to Junior Thad Osborn, "It was a great feeling because we haven't beat them in so long, and considering how successful their program is, it has become a great rivalry." The boys are looking forward to playing Argos again next year, expecting another victory.

This season had its ups and downs for the Lady Cavs. The group of 17 had many battles, including injuries and a large percentage of underclassmen. Over half the team consisted of new faces, with five Freshmen and four new Sophomores.

However, these young players did have very good leadership on the team, especially from their talented group of Seniors. Freshman Brittany Cowell said, "The Seniors helped us a lot- they always kept pushing me." When asked about the leadership of Cat, Kim, and Steph, Sophomore Ashley Jones said, "We were so lucky to get to play with those girls- they all taught us so much and we'll miss them."

Everyone improved throughout the season, underclassmen bringing new things to the team and veterans perfecting their game every day. The group did have to work together to use these improvements in order to create a better team atmosphere. "After we played as a team and got more experience, we had a better outlook, even when we didn't do so well," Junior goalie Meagan Maes said. The Lady Cavs may have been inexperienced, but they had some very strong games, and never backed down from a fight.

At the end of the season, the Lady Cavs looked forward to having a great next year. However, this year's season went well. They started off with a tough loss against the Rochester Zebras but got back on track after their victory against the Caston Corners. The biggest victory for the girls was definitely against Triton. The girls were practicing really hard for that game. It was not only a rival game but a conference game. Captain Brandi Stevens said, "Everything just came together and we had the momentum the entire game."

The end of the season came in the first round of sectionals. The girls faced the number one team in the state, Marquette. Marquette went on and won state. The girls hoped that the next year would bring them a better sectional draw. The girls anticipated winning sectionals next year. The girls ended up with a record of 17 wins and 17 losses. "Having a winning season made me really proud for my team. We haven't had a winning season in so long and I'm glad I got to experience that before I graduated," said Senior Captain Chelsea Schrimsher.

To prepare they planned to attend camps and have open gyms over the summer to become better players. Junior Nicole Wentzel says, "With only losing one varsity player and having six Seniors next year who want it in their hearts and will 'dig deep', I believe that we will have a very strong team. I, as well as the whole team, can't wait to hit the gym floor this summer. With the hard work we'll put in during the off season, next season should bring a lot of good things. It should be a memorable and fun season."

Back To Back Bell

Teamwork

The boys basketball team took home the Bell once again. Argos has always been Culver's rival school. Last year the boys won the Bell from Argos, and this year Culver was able to keep it in possession by winning the game with a whopping 54 to 39 lead. The boys worked extra hard with long practices to build up the strength and ambition to keep the Bell. Brody Young stated, "Practices were not easy, but we always found a way to get a good laugh in."

The students and fans were also a big tribute to the win; the cheer block has never been so amazing. Students had so much school spirit; some painted their bodies and faces orange and black, colored their hair, designed clothes, made special signs, and never stopped screaming for the team throughout the entire game. The next Monday morning, Mr. Schmidt gave a special announcement to recognize his appreciation for all the support and congratulated the boys on their win. Everyone is very proud of the team and grateful for an unforgettable experience.

A New Shot

Bring it in.
Play it again.
The end.

Top to Bottom: J.V. Coach Milliser and Varsity, Reannon Lewis, Heather Newman, and Molly Hartman, Kim Snyder & parents, Stephanie Lewis & parents.

Learning can often be a complex thing; you must want to take in the knowledge for the learning experience to be a success. The Lady Cavs started the season with a new head coach and willingness to learn from her. Even though the season wasn't a success for the Lady Cavs statistically, it was a good start to get the new program rolling.

New Coach Andrea Milliser, a graduate of St. Joseph's College, brought a new strategy of playing basketball to Culver. Her goal was to have success in the years to come. Junior Nicole Wentzel gave her thoughts on the new coach; she stated, "It was difficult at the beginning of the season, because we had to start over with a new coach and learn from her coaching strategies. Some of the players questioned her methods, but they continued to work hard, even if they had no clue what was going on."

Although the Varsity's record didn't show it, the girls improved greatly throughout the season. The new program was set into place and the girls learned a lot. Coach Milliser commented, "I hope the girls take with them everything they learned this year and keep working at it over the summer. Hopefully next year we'll come back and show everyone what we can really do."

With a young but strong team, the wrestling season was a huge success. The boys ended with 17 wins and 13 losses. Coach Ryan Sheets commented, "This was an exciting year; we broke records and had a winning season on top of it. I was proud of my wrestlers for the amount of effort they gave."

The team broke the old record of 311 takedowns in one season, pushing it to 534 takedowns. "It was amazing and I hope they have another chance to break it next year, even though I won't be a part of the experience," Senior Greg Looney quoted. The individual record for most takedowns in one season was once held at 57, but three young, determined men broke it. Senior Roy Bell broke the record with 61, then Junior Mike Hurford took it with 68, and finally Freshman Dominic Sheets ended the season with the record at 70 takedowns. One other record was broken this season by Junior Mike Hurford; he had a high of 33 individual victories for one season.

The boys had a great season and at the end they were looking forward to breaking more records. "We should have a very strong team next year, with the right determination, we can break more records," Dominic Sheets commented. He was not the only one who thought this way; the whole team, including Coach Sheets, expects to be explosive in the seasons to come.

Hit 'em hard

Taking it as it comes.

The baseball season was excellent to an extent in the year 2006. The baseball team was a pretty small team but they worked hard to play hard. Shane Peterson said, "Baseball is the greatest team sport EVER!". Chris Stevens said, "We have had some exciting moments and are looking forward to the Sectional Tournament. I think we have a legitimate shot at competing for the Championship." No matter how the season ends, they'll keep swinging hard and running fast.

Top to bottom: Meagan Maes, Molly Hartman, Brandi Stevens, and Coach Maes and the team.

The softball team had many ups and downs this season, like Coach Smith's maternity leave, injuries, and a batting struggle. However, the team came together and did some pretty amazing things this season.

This year the girls battled with Bremen, only losing by one run. This year's NSC record is the best it's been since Coaches Maes and Smith have been coaching. "I don't remember beating LaVille since I've been coaching," said Coach Maes. That's right, the girls beat LaVille in both games this season for the first time in six years.

The team also had a hard time with consistent batting. "One game every girl would hit the ball, but then later that week no one could hit anything. We definitely had a hard time with hitting the ball, but it's gotten better," said Junior captain Mallory Master. Brandi Stevens, the team's starting pitcher, also had a hard time being consistent. "I would pitch three, four, sometimes five games a week, and it was really hard on my arm. Some games I'd be right on, and others it would take a while to get into my rhythm," she said.

The girls found their rhythm and beat Argos 23-0 in the first round of sectionals at Michigan City Marquette High School. The second round game was cancelled due to rain, but the girls left school hoping to beat South Central and advance.

The 2006 boy's track team had yet another winning season. The boy's finished with an 8-7 record. Mr. Hopple explained, "This is the sixth straight year we have had a winning record and we take pride in that". Coach Hopple also added, "I love working with these young men because they do what I ask and give it their all."

With having only with 15 players, the track team competed in some big meets. One of the big meets was coming second in the North Miami Relays. Coach Hopple joked, "We have won this race the past two years and this year we didn't want to be too greedy so we came in second." Another big meet the Cavs came close in was coming in second at the Lancer Relays. With the track squad not being very deep, some individuals stuck out to Coach Hopple. "The 3200 meter relay of Stephan Vantwood, A.J. Hanselman, Brody Young and James Riffey did an outstanding job this year."

The 3200-meter relay finished third at the Plymouth Sectional and qualified for the Kokomo Regional. Other individuals that were big ribbon winners were Thad Osborn in high jump and the 110 meter hurdles, Shawn Hinsey in the 100, 200 and long jump, and Kenton Lovely in shot put and discus. At the awards banquet, Coach Hopple handed out special awards; Best Distance went to James Riffey, Best Jumper went to Thad Osborn, Best Sprinter went to Shawn Hinsey, Best Thrower went to Kenton Lovely, MVP also went to James Riffey and Mental Attitude went to Matt Kornblith.

The girl's track team had a winning record this year of 8 and 7 which allowed four girls to place at sectionals: Alicia Allen, Elizabeth West, Ashley Robbins, and Brianna Wilson were proud to represent the school.

Alicia Allen placed first in the four hundred meter, two hundred meter, and the one hundred. Brianna Wilson placed 4th in the long jump, while Elizabeth West came in second. Ashley Robbins came in fourth for the one hundred meter hurdles. All of the girls did really well and all got to go to regionals. At regional Alicia Allen broke the school record in the four hundred meter with a time of one minute and two tenths of a second, the record was one minute and nine tenths.

All and all the girls' track team had a great season. But still they all hope for the years to get better and better. They hope to break more records and meet new goals.

The Junior Varsity consisted of Seniors Kyle Allyn and Andrew Hoesel; Junior Kevin Schudt; Sophomores Stuart Tomas, Conlan Deery, and Eric Feir; and Freshmen Alex Sage and Anthony Bonine.

The team's average was 178, led by Senior Jake Hinds with an average of 42. Coach Kyle Elliott said, "Last year we shot in the 170's twice. So this year was a great improvement. We had eight of our thirteen players averaging in the 40's and that really brought down our average." Senior Andrew Hoesel said, "The team did great this year. I hope that they can keep this success going for next year."

With twenty-two students at try outs and a new freshman class upcoming, the future looks bright for this young team.

Working Hard

Top to Bottom: Cameron Knapp and Roy Bell, Spencer Moore, Amanda Esparza, Sara Stineback.

Homecoming is always a major event; the Art Club members knew exactly what that meant. It meant putting a lot of effort into making a great banner, and that's what they did. The Art Club members were eager to get under way.

For the past Homecomings the Art Club has represented Mrs. Harness's Art program the way it should be, by winning the competition for best Homecoming Banner. They beat Spanish Club, French Club, and others that put a banner in the competition. Mrs. Harness commented, "I think they did a great job on the banner this year. There were a lot of students who put time and effort into it, which made it look great."

The theme for the banner was "Press the Redskins!" The students who worked on the banner put a lot of time and effort into drawing the large printing press, the field, and the Cavaliers rolling out the Redskins. Senior Sara Stineback commented, "It was fun working on the banner. I really liked being a part of it again before I graduated."

With the competition set and the Art Club members striving to uphold their own tradition of winning, the competition was easily "Pressed."

After building the Super Mileage Car for the past few years, the Industrial Technology Club decided to do something different - a hover craft. "We are only the second school in the state to be building a hover craft," Junior Blayne Townsend said. "We were excited to see how it would turn out."

The crew took time in school, getting out of class and study halls, to work on the craft. They also took time outside of school. Junior Adam VanMeter said, "There were a lot of early mornings this year. Sometimes we'd be here at 4 o'clock in the morning just to fiber glass the thrust duct." Senior Jack Wright said, "This year we did it our way. For the most part we were on our own, but this group is so talented; somehow we made it work."

By doing things their way, the club was able to learn from its mistakes and make next year's craft even better.

After a brief hiatus, the Academic Superbowl team was back in full swing this year! With some help from Ms. Dearth, who advised two years ago, Mrs. Stacy organized an all-new team to compete at North Judson. "Academic Superbowl is a good opportunity for students to learn things that are not in the regular curriculum," Mrs. Stacy commented on her desire to restart the team.

With a call out in late fall, team members had only a few short months to prepare for the competition. Specific teams were formed for Math, History, Language Arts, Science, and Art.

When April 18 rolled around, the team loaded the bus for North Judson. For many students, this was their first experience of this kind. However, the inexperienced Science team still placed third in their division. Emily Keller stated, "I had so much fun and learned a lot at the competition!"

Despite the fact that the club was recently restarted, everyone did well at North Judson. With Academic Superbowl newly reinstated, everyone had high hopes for 2006-2007.

Newspaper

With a small class of only five students, the journalism class faced some adversity in their output of the Caval Crier. The staff had to really work hard to stick to the standards that their advisor set. Mrs. Benner recalled, "It was difficult, but they all stepped up and took over the load."

The journalism class put out six issues of their paper, the Caval Crier, this school year. Each staff member had to sell ads in order to finance the paper, interview students, and write articles. News Editor Monica Hipsher said, "Journalism was a lot of work, but we still had fun." To add to the difficulty, the only returning staff member was Chief Editor Scarlett Russell.

Despite the obstacles, the entire newspaper staff put out some good, strong issues of the Caval Crier. There are more students signed up for 2006-2007, so the Caval Crier staff planned to keep going strong.

This year's production was "Anne Frank and Me". The play was a huge success because the students involved put a lot of time and effort into it. Long-time drama club members stepped it up this year and took on lead rolls for the first time.

Junior Elizabeth Smith knocked the judges dead with her killer audition for Nicole, leaving her to be the star of the play. Elizabeth gave her comments on the play, "I was so excited when I heard I got the lead roll! It took a lot to get all my lines down, but when the opening night came, I was ready to take the stage." Freshmen Sarah Kirkland, took another lead roll under Elizabeth, playing Nicole's little sister. Junior Brandon Cooper played the lead male roll as Nicole's boyfriend.

With long-time members taking on lead rolls and new members taking on smaller parts and even some large parts, the Drama Club's production of Anne Frank and Me was without a doubt a smash hit!

Cornucopia started off to a good year, but due to the situation that has happened with Ms. Slocum, all the members were effected. At first the toll of Ms. Slocum's absence did not effect the magazine very much, but as the final deadline approached, she was greatly missed. Sophomore Tiffany Reynolds gave her thoughts to the matter; she stated, "Ms. Slocum was a big help in putting the magazine out every year. Because of her absence, we all had to really step up and try to get it out on time."

Despite the challenges, they persevered and got their book together on time. With many creative submissions, this year's book was excellent.

French Club had a fun but disappointing year. The fun thing was when they went to Fort Wayne High School to see "The Three Musketeers". French Club member Heather Newman explained, "The play was fun and amusing and everyone seemed to have a good time." In the beginning of the year, the club sponsored a cafe in the cafeteria during the parent teacher conferences. The disappointing part of the club's year was when the Chateau Fondue trip got canceled. Ms. Dearth explained how disappointed she was, "We had to have 30 kids in order to go to the restaurant but we only had 11 kids go. I was pretty dissatisfied," she stated.

The 05-06 Spanish Club had a pretty fun year. Club de Espanol sponsored a Halloween dance that seemed to be a hit. Dana Mishler recalled, "The dance was awesome because our group won the best costume." Dana Mishler, Ashley Hnatisko, and Thad Osborn won the best group costume. Later in the year, the club went to watch a play as well. The Spanish Club also got some really cool shirts. The shirts were blue and had Speedy Gonzalez on the back. I used flash cards to teach them their ABC's and helped them read sentences out loud in class. I enjoyed having the opportunity to do something that I like doing." All and all, FEA is a great club to be in if you would like to teach and you would like the opportunity to get a real grasp on teaching.

CAVS

CAVS, the Community Alliance for Volunteering Service, was restarted this year. Groups from CAVS club went Christmas caroling and raked leaves around town. Another large project the mission trip to Mexico.

The six girls that went from CAVS club were Ashley Jones, Emily Keller, Scarlett Russell, Lyndsey Fisher, Elyse Kelly, and Sarah Mikesell. The girls, along with a group from Culver Academy, helped build three houses for needy families. While the girls were working hard laying brick, mixing concrete, and shoveling dirt, they really enjoyed helping build the three houses for the needy. With all of the hard work they put in, any spare time they had they used for site seeing. So, all in all, the girls had a fun time on their trip to Mexico.

Leadership, Academics, Service and Character are all the values you have to have to be in this honorable club. Ms. Dearth has the privilege to be the sponsor of National Honor Society. "These are a terrific group of kids. I'm very proud to be their sponsor." The NHS volunteered their time during Christmas break to run a food and clothing drive for the needy people in Marshall County. Later that winter, Elyse Kelly was inducted into the group. Since she was the only person inducted, they didn't have a full ceremony. Later in the year, the NHS had a party for Elyse. Next year, the veteran inductees look forward to the new members and also look to keep their GPA high.

Student Council was involved in many activities throughout the year. The members, as well as Mrs. Hammond, organized dances such as the Sweetheart Dance and Prom. Homecoming was another important event that Student Council members were responsible for; they were able to choose the King and Queen's crowns, and the flowers that were used. During the holidays, members decorated the halls with beautiful decorations and set up the Christmas tree in the main entrance.

Members took a field trip to the South Bend Chocolate Factory. After they recieved their daily dose of chocolate, they traveled a few miles away to the South Bend Century Center to attend the Stanz Annual Food Show. Student Council members were set off for a few hours to try all new kinds of food that they could suggest for next years lunch menu. Dana Mishler stated, "There is nothing better than getting out of school to go eat free food all day."

Student Council members had very important jobs and tasks they had to accomplish over the school year. It is a very fun yet serious role at the same time. Christina Klausing stated, "Student Council was very fun and other students should really consider becoming a member." Members were fortunate enough to enjoy numerous exciting activities and participated in things that other students didn't have the opportunity to do.

BPA

I love BPA. Going to state is always fun. - Justine Hoesel

This year BPA was a complete success. Of the twenty-two people that went to District, sixteen went to State and four went to Nationals in Orlando, Florida. Those four were Freshman Ashley Robbins, Sophomores Reannon Lewis and Lyndsey Fisher, and Junior Mallory Master. Reannon went for Medical Office Procedures, Ashley for both Entrepreneurship and Interview Skills, and Lyndsey and Mallory as State Delegates. Mr. Schwartz said, "I am very proud of all of them. Reannon was just a few points off from being in the final round and Ashley did extremely well for her first year." Reannon Lewis recalled, "Nationals was great. I had tons of fun. I wish I could have won it all though."

The Culver Community chapter of BPA has had members go to Nationals for the past three years. With all this success, members had high hopes to keep the streak alive in 2006-2007!

Under the direction of second-year conductor Ms. Tadey, the band made great strides this school year. Sophomore bass clarinet player Kelly Ahlenius recalled, "More people participated at games, and we sounded a lot better." Record numbers of members attended pep band games to cheer on the Cavaliers. The band also showed development with concert music. With a silver to show from contest in April, Ms. Tadey and her students were pleased with their progress. "I'm very impressed with our improvement. We have matured musically and I'm looking forward to next year," Ms. Tadey stated. Freshman Carly Glenn summed up the band's attitude by saying, "I think this was a good year and I'm excited about next year also being a success." All the returning band members promised to make 2006-2007 a memorable school year.

Hanging out in Chorale, having a good time.

This year was rough for Ms. Slocum and all of the Chorale and Choir students. Even when the students were working hard, they remembered their past experiences with Ms. Slocum.

Sophomore Jennifer Ziaja shared her favorite memory: she recalls, "My greatest memory in Chorale would have to be when Haley, Reannon, and I were dancing to "Lean Back" (with a ladder), and Ms. Slocum started dancing with us." Another student, Sophomore Haley VanMeter told her favorite memory. "The best memory was when Lacie Pier fell down the stairs backwards, and Ms. Slocum was freaking out," she said.

Even though Ms. Slocum passed away this year, everyone feels very fortunate to have so many good memories. Everyone will miss her greatly.

Building Trades

I learned tons and had a lot of fun. -Kyle Allyn

Building: To form by combining materials or parts; construct. Trades: An occupation, especially one requiring skilled labor; Craft; the building trades, including carpentry, masonry, plumbing, and electrical installation. That is exactly what Mr. Elliot and his Building Trades (B.T.) students did every day, learn the skills of the building trades. Not many people can build a house in the limited time that this group had, but somehow they found a way. Every morning and afternoon Mr. Elliot and his crew set out to work on constructing a house.

The crew put in a lot of hard work and dedication this year. From putting up drywall to doing electrical work, these guys did it all. Senior Chris Jenkinson said, "I started as a young inexperienced weakling; the many push-ups that I did and hard work made me become the young construction worker that I am today." Senior Kyle Allyn said, "It's not all work though. Mr. Elliot is always losing his Mountain Dew. One time he picked up my Gatorade and drank some. Then he looked down and said, 'This isn't my Dew.' It was hilarious."

Building Trades was a lot of fun and, with a waiting list for houses to be built until 2021, the Juniors can't wait for next year.

Cosmetology

Comb Cut Style

Preparing the seven Culver girls for their future careers, Cosmetology has brought friendships, opportunities, and learning experiences.

Junior Rachel Boyne commented on her first semester experience. She said, "I really enjoyed going to Cosmetology and hanging out with the girls, but I just decided it's not a career I wish to pursue." Before being able to work on clients' hair, the girls had to spend many hours working on the basic skills of Cosmetology. They were given a long list of tasks by their instructor to complete on their very own mannequin head. Once they finished these tasks, they were on their way to practicing on clients.

Cosmetology allows students to finish a two-year program, which can then jump start a career in the salon world.

It's a fun class, I learned a lot -
Chuck Lowe

This year's class consisted of four Juniors and four Seniors going through and learning the fine arts of being a mechanic. For the Juniors, it was their first year, but the Seniors were veterans because they had one year under their belt. Senior Chuck Lowe said, "First year was just the basics. Second year was a lot more in depth."

The young mechanics did a lot of book work, but not all of their studies took place in the classroom. In the shop, hands-on learning took place. Junior Sean Meadows said, "Tire balancing, rotations, and diagnostics were just some of the things we did this year. We had tons to do."

The class had slight problems this year with the time change but the students were able to work it out. This year's Juniors are looking forward to next year, Richard Williams said, "This year was a blast, I can't wait for next year."

Computer tech consists of five kids from our school that learn how to program and work with computers. Don Nunemaker instructs the boys daily on how to perfect their skills. Josh Sandifer states he feels the class is very easy; however, some of the Culver students are considering the advanced class next year, where they will learn to work with and build computers. All in all, having the computer class is a great opportunity students should take advantage of.

This year's Child Care class consisted of only one Junior girl, Cathy Heiser. For half of every day, she would drive herself to Headstart in Knox to enjoy her time with the many kids that were there. When asked what she thought about the class, she stated, "I really enjoyed this class; all of the kids were great, and I connected well with many of them. Also, when asked what she got to do with all of kids she said, "A lot of the time I got to come up with activities to help teach the kids, but the most fun was when I went on field trips with them." Some other things consisted of drawing, coloring, painting, and putting together puzzles.

Over all, Cathy really enjoyed helping the kids learn at Headstart. She thought Child Care was a fun experience.

Health Occupations is a class offered for students interested in pursuing their career in the medical field. This year's Health Occupations class consisted of four very talented Junior girls. These girls were Brittany Sullivan, Amber Clingler, Jada Jackson, and Ashley Kitts. Every day these girls traveled to St. Joseph Hospital in Plymouth. While in this class, the girls learned many basic things required to know for medical careers. Such things were taking blood pressure and finding pulses. All of these tasks were performed on each other and Grandma Chase, the dummy provided. Amber Clingler stated, "I thought this class was a great experience, and it will help me further my career in the medical field." Overall, all four girls thought this class was a great success.

Everyone looks forward to Fall Bonanza; they can't wait to be outside and have the last two hours of school to have fun! The students participated in the sack race, the egg toss, the dizzy-izzy race, the field goal kick, the tug-of-war, and the watermelon-eating contest. BPA also sponsored an egg throw where the students could smash an egg over Mr. Schwartz's head for a small fee. French Club made cookies, and the IT Club provided the car smash. During the pep rally, the Cheerleaders got everyone riled up for the big football game against Knox. The Cheerleaders also put on a fundraiser and the cheerleader who collected the most money had to kiss a wet-nosed pig! The Juniors collected the most points during Fall Bonanza and took home first place. After the victory, Brondi Stevens stated, "Our class is very close and works hard when we really want to win something." As expected, all the students and staff had fun!

Cheering on the home team!

To get the football boys and the school ready for the Homecoming game, the students had a whole week of spirit that started with the cheerleaders staying overnight to decorated the entire school. "It was a lot of work. I didn't even get to go to sleep," Sophomore cheerleader Brianna Wilson said. The cheerleaders made the approach to Homecoming exciting by using their skills and pumpin up the student body. Despite the great anticipation, there were many ups and downs to the Homecoming night.

The game did not have the ending that everyone had wished for. The final score was Knox 40 and Culver 11. However, everyone spirit's were lifted at halftime with a beautiful homecoming ceremony. It was a wonderful night for everthing to come together and for the girls on court. At the moment the queen was announced, the girls were very nervous and held their breath, but in the end Chelsea Schrimsher came out on top.

After the game, there was a short dance that wasn't very successful. Because the game got over late, the dance only lasted about an hour and there was limited time to dance. Since the dance was short, you did not have to pay full price to get in. Overall, the highs and lows didn't stop the students from looking forward to the next year.

Cheering Events Fun

Top to Bottom: Brandi Stevens, Rachel Boyne, Molly Hartman, and Nicole Wentzel, Trevor Weldon, Ben Buschman, Matt Kornblith.

All the students got excited for Sports Spectacular this year. "I had a lot of fun," said Junior Brody Young. There was a lot of spirit shown, as students dressed up as pirates, Dr. Suess, or Top Gun characters. Students were eager for this year's competition; the Juniors hoped to receive first place again, and every other class hoped to keep them far away from it.

The first event was the Helping Hands for Riley Hospital that took place two weeks before the actual competition. The Sophomores won first place in that competition, and the Juniors came in last.

On the night of the competition, each class was pumped. Students raced tricycles and scooters, linked together to crabwalk, carried eggs on spoons, joined legs in a sack, jumped rope and came together for the tug-of-war.

Finally, there was the dance competition, which was what decided who would win overall. It was an obvious toss up between the Junior and Freshman classes. On the topic of who was thought to win the dance, Sophomore Emily Jenkinson said, "Both classes did really well, but I was surprised when I heard that the Juniors received first place. I figured the Freshmen would take it."

Sports Spectacular ended with the students meeting their goal, somewhat. It was a close finish between the Freshman and Juniors, with the Freshmen winning by two points.

May 6 was the day the Juniors and Seniors had been waiting for all year. Everyone that attended was dressed their best to impress. Dinner was served to the students in a buffet style including chicken, roast beef, potatoes, green beans, carrots, salad, rolls, and cheesecake for desert. After everyone had their serving of food, the DJ started playing music. It didn't take long for people to fill the whole dance floor with kids shoulder to shoulder.

After a few hours of dancing, Prom Court was announced. The Junior boys elected for Prom Court included Jordan Broeker, Dylan Bush, Wyatt Good, Shawn Hinsey, and Kevin Scholdt. The Junior girls elected for Prom Court included Courtney Golding, Ashley Hnatusko, Emily Keller, Brandi Stevens, and Mallory Master. The Senior boys elected for Prom Court included Weston Good, Drew Deery, Chad Cultice, Levi Scroggs, and Greg Looney. The Senior girls elected for Prom Court were Chelsea Schrimsher, Stephanie Lewis, Kayla Jones, Scarlett Russell, and Kim Snyder. Wyatt Good and Courtney Golding won Prom Prince and Prom Princess. Wyatt Good stated, "I was shocked and excited all at the same time." With honor, Weston Good and Kayla Jones accepted their positions as Prom King and Prom Queen.

After the crowning, everyone began to dance again. Before everyone knew it Prom was coming to an end and everyone headed to the high school for After Prom. There were a lot of fun activities, games, and prizes to win. By the time After Prom ended at 4:00 a.m. everyone was exhausted and ready to go home.

GOOD LUCK

The band and audience prepare to greet the morning class.

For many, entering school as a freshmen means four long years left until freedom. However, many seniors will tell you that those years went by way too fast. As they look back on their journey towards the important milestone of graduation, many have hopes for the future, but it is safe to say that the students that have left created an impression on fellow students and the school.

Although they left for their own journey they will never be completely gone from our family. They will be remembered by their pictures on the wall, the pictures in this book, and the memories the teachers and students will pass on. With this end of the school year, there is nothing in the school but a coming together of family and friends to wish and hope for bright futures of the graduated and their new beginning.

Mr. Hanselman giving his last words of wisdom before beginning the ceremony.

In their cap and gowns the seniors look like a fine bunch.

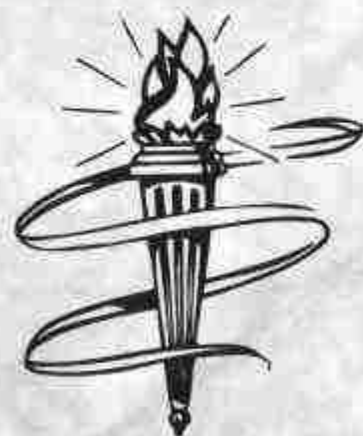

Looking their best, Amanda Miller and Felicia McGraw walk towards their seats.

Scarlett Russell enjoys her moment, just like every student that night.

The graduates wait patiently for the ceremony to begin.

Students proudly display their next step in life and thanks to the people they love.

Move On

From start to finish the night was a success.

Val:

Things have changed, but you'll have that. Don't forget the day before we had New Year's Eve celebrations. You've forgotten that you're SEVEN now and you're a little kid. We don't even need that SEVEN yet. You're eight. Just with you're in the future you.

We, as a yearbook staff, see everything that goes on during the school year. We see what goes on behind the scenes. We capture the memories that happen throughout the school year and make people notice them.

My staff editors make up a large part of the yearbook. The editors consist of an editor-in-chief, assistant editor-in-chief, layout editor, article editor, caption editor, and photography editor. The editors all have a large part in making the yearbook process a success. Every page goes through all the editors at one point in time.

Through blood, sweat, and tears we have spent 180 days trying to make the yearbook the best that we can. One day we can take it easy, the other we are cramming our pages together and stressing out because a deadline is fast approaching.

This year, all together, was a wonderful year. I, as well as the whole staff, learned how to be responsible, how to take criticism, how to work together, and, most of all, how to have fun while working together. I had a blast this year.

Thanks to my editors, the school staff and thanks to Mrs. Stacy who always was there for us even when she was on maternity leave. She always made us work it out ourselves first and then she would tell us her opinion. She also made us think outside the box and be creative, which was a big task for some. Mrs. Stacy also had the biggest job of the year, which was putting up with all of us. Thank you again. :)

Editor-in-Chief,
Brandi Stevens
