Culver Offers Adult Education Program

The Culver Community Schools Corporation announces plans for the 1972-73 Adult Education Program. Several classes are being offered.

Adult classes meet two hours per session on Monday evenings at 7:30 p.m. EST, in the Culver Community High School for a total of ten sessions. The courses are non-credit courses. Some courses meet on a different schedule as noted and all times are E.S.T.

Registration fees for most classes are $10.00. Exceptions are noted. The cost of special project materials and books, if such are required in the course, is extra. State Exchange Bank Shows Continued Growth

With combined resources reaching a record $81,399,551.55, the 1972 year-end financial statement of The State Exchange Bank of Culver, Plymouth, Argos, and the Farmers State Bank, LaPaz, both under one management, show continuing growth and record gains.

With a 12 month increase of $9,808,768 in resources, the gain was more than 12 per cent. Calling attention to the increased volume, Fred E. Adams, executive vice president, pointed out that there was a marked increase in checking and savings accounts and in loans.

The bank official stated that deposits increased more than 12 per cent with a 12 month advance of $9,095,725 to a record $84,853,845 in deposits. Of special significance was the 22.64 per cent advance in loans to a record $54,450,396 which was indicative that while consumers saved substantially in 1972, there was increased spending for varying needs and purposes.

The year end statement of the State Exchange Finance Co., an affiliate of The State Exchange Bank, Culver, Plymouth, Argos, showed total resources of $19,364,862, an all time high for the firm established nearly 50 years ago, in February, 1923. Hampton Boswell, vice president and manager of the Finance Company, said the eight per cent increase in the past 12 months amounted to $1,465,324.

W. O. Osborn, veteran president of the bank, said, "Businessmen, farmers, in fact, everyone is interested in continuing and sound progress. In this respect, since 1962, our Banks, serving communities of the area, have far more than doubled their resources, the actual increase in 10 years is more than 55 million dollars.

"In the year just ended we have again recorded significant gains for which we are grateful to our employees and our customers. The new year, 1973, promises to be another year of vigorous growth with good business prospects. We are confident that the area's growth will provide for our own continued growth. In this respect, our directors and officers are directing plans for further development to provide more services and to provide for the most modern facilities for the benefit of our customers."

We are pleased to present our (1972) annual statement showing, as it does, continuing growth with new records for The State Exchange Bank and the Farmers State Bank, both under one management. With combined resources at a record $91,399,551.55, an increase of $9,808,768.86, our annual statements reflect, in a very real sense, the economic health and growth of the area. In doing so, it shows the continuing role of our Banks in serving the financial needs and requirements for individuals, institutions, farm and homeowners, and business and industry. The growing volume is a tribute to our staff, and it reflects continuing fulfillment of our objective to afford complete banking services.

Officers and directors are directing plans for further development. There will continue to be sound banking practices, with new and practical services for customers just as there has been for more than seventy years.

Conveniently located, visit one of our Banks. Inquire about our services. Ask for your personal copy of this annual statement.

GLENN WILL GO INTO THE coming Bi-County Tourney next week a favorite. The defending champs have a similar situation to look forward to this year as last except that again there are eight teams instead of seven. The fact that Triton got greedy and dropped out before last year's tourney probably for different reasons, but published because they could make more money hosting a four team meet in their larger gym, put Glenn in the favorite's role and let's face it, gave Glenn the title. This left only Glenn and Argos with winning records and these two teams met in the first round. This year it will be Culver Military taking the vacant spot and in all probability, only three teams, if that, with winning records. New Prairie and Bremen have mathematical chances to reach this, but on the other hand Argos could slip under the even point.

THE TOURNEY FORMAT IS a little different this year also as no Saturday afternoon play is scheduled but Friday night action instead. Two first round games each Wednesday and Thursday nights will choose the opponents for Friday's semi-final action. The B team and varsity finals will be held Saturday night as usual.

THE PAIRINGS WILL BE ON radio this Saturday morning, live over WTCA, 1050 on your dial. This will be on the normal coach's corner. We will discuss the various teams and the tourney next week in this space.

The committee appointed in 1970 to dissolve the P.T.A. was Mrs. Robert McKinnis, Mrs. Roger Wise, William McBeth, Mrs.

Donald Falkner and Mrs. William Martin. The cost of the two fountains was $473.45 and closed out the P.T.A. funds.

Culver Falls To Knox In Basketball

A big third period by Knox put them well out in front of Culver Saturday night as the Cavaliers returned to action after a three week lay off. The first half had been close all the way, but a big 10 point advantage, 24-14, in the third quarter blew the game open and Knox went on to the 85-59 victory.

The loss was Culver's 8th in 10 games this season.

Knox's 6'5" star, Pat Blenke, had another good night as he hit 32 points in pacing the victory. He had 10 baskets and 12 from the 15 foot line for his total. A 12 point performance by Brian Berndt was the only other Red-skin in double figures. Culver was paced by Larry Rans and Ron King with 15 and 13 respectively.

NEWS OF ECOLOGY

THE PLASTICS PUT-DOWN IS REALLY A PUT-ON

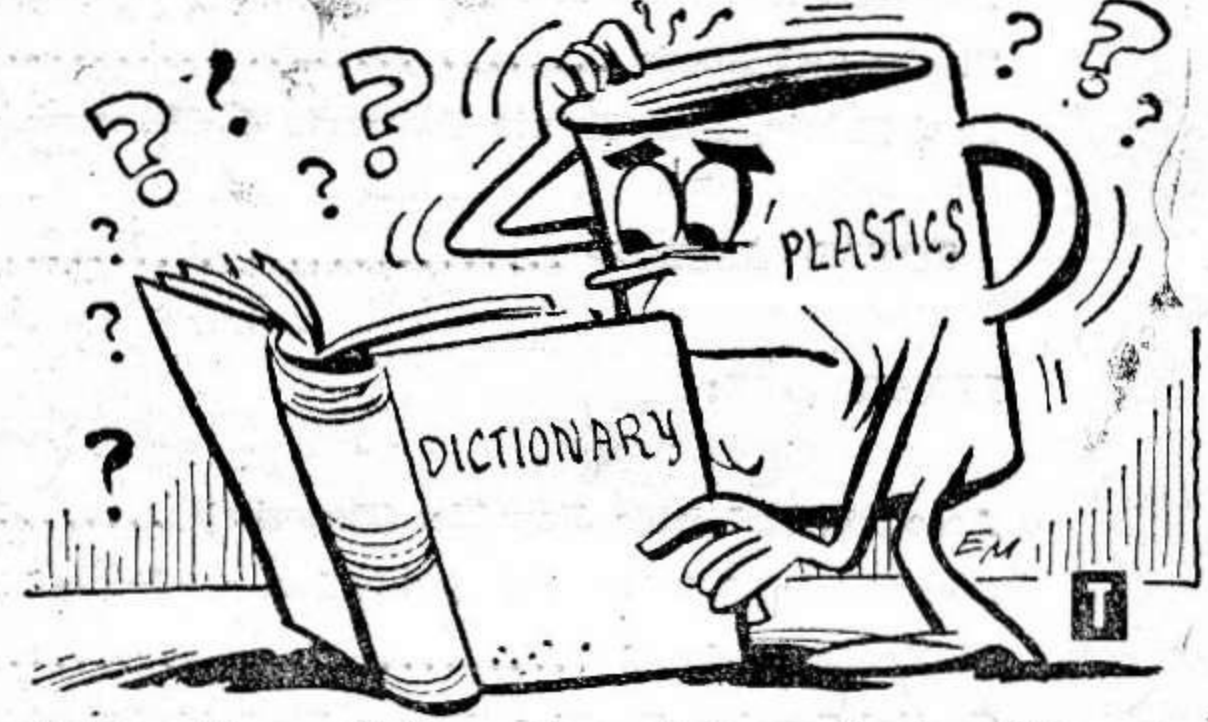

It's not only sleazy, but tawdry and shoddy the way some people are trying to make a Frankenstein out of plastic. For a long time people have been creating unflattering adjectives—some deserved, but many not. They've stuck in the language even though their original meaning has nothing to do with what they mean in modern-day language.

As examples, the words "sleazy," "tawdry" and "shoddy" are now used to describe cheap or inferior things. All were once materials.

Sleazy was a linen cloth made in Silesia, Germany. Loosely woven and inexpensive, the name Silesia cloth was corrupted to sleazy by tradesmen. Tawdry, a lace made in a convent at Ely, England, and originally called "St. Audrey's lace," looked good but wasn't of the best quality. Shoddy got its name during the Civil War when soldiers' uniforms and hats were made from reprocessed wool or felt; the reclaimed material was known as shoddy.

Trying to brand somebody or something "plastic" falls into the "loose use" category along with "paper tiger," "tin ear," "glass jaw," "wooden expression," "lead-footed" and "rubber check." The historical derivation of these expressions has faded into antiquity but the undeserved connotation, for each has been adopted, and unjustly, as part of the language.

The idea that plastics would ever have become a term of derision would have puzzled the scientists who invented the various forms of plastics. Many of the early scientific discoverers of plastic materials were searching for substitutes for natural materials that were in short supply, particularly in World Wars I and II. Others wanted to produce synthetics that were superior to natural materials. In the main, their work was regarded as beneficial to mankind and evidence of new technological breakthroughs.

Many natural materials are, in fact, plastic. Noah caulked the seams of the Ark with pitch, a "natural" forerunner of plastic. Even synthetic rubber can be classified as a plastic material.

But the plastics most people refer to are synthetic materials which can be formed into usable products by heating, milling, molding and similar processes.

Plastics are now everywhere in society—they are found in auto steering wheels and dashboards, telephones, major and small appliances; plastic is used in the human body to replace faulty heart valves and intestinal tubes; it is widely used in packaging.

Despite the fact plastic accounts for only two per cent of the nation's solid waste, environmentalists frequently zero in on plastics, claiming they won't go away, or that some kinds of plastic pollute the air when burned.

The Society of The Plastics Industry says these charges are incorrect, that some plastics do degrade and that scientists are inventing even more; that biodegradation is at best a debatable virtue in a material being disposed of; that plastics make ideal materials for sanitary landfills and further, that with proper incinerators, cities can utilize the high heat content of plastics to help burn other solid wastes.

Further, SPI says, contrary to popular opinion, plastics can and are being recycled and both industry and government are at work on methods to make the recycling process more economically feasible.

The plastic industry is, in fact, working hard to tell the public the facts on the new synthetic materials.

The industry doesn't want "plastic" to enter the dictionary the way some other materials have done through the centuries.

Forget your iron and ironing board!

Clothes come out of a new GAS DRYER ready to wear!

Now that practically all your washables are permanent press, doesn't it make sense to have a dryer that was made for this type of clothing?

With a specific setting for permanent press, a new Gas Dryer gently tumble-dries your clothes just the right amount... no more, no less.

It's now time to trade in your old obsolete dryer and forget all about those tedious hours of ironing. Come in and see the new models of Gas Dryers. You'll be amazed how easy it is to own one.

For the finest drying of all fabrics today's Gas Dryer gives you a better deal!
