INDIANA BELL IMPROVES SERVICE

CULVER CUSTOMERS TO ENJOY BELL'S NEW DIALING AIDS

The latest in long distance calling services is coming to Culver.

Rod Lubeznik, the Indiana Bell manager, said automatic number identification (ANI) will be the first of the new services available to the Culver telephone exchange starting today, November 8th.

He said ANI will enable Culver phone users to direct-dial long distance calls themselves from one- and two-party telephones without the necessity of giving their phone number to an operator.

Newly installed equipment in the Culver telephone building permits the automatic recording of the number from which the call is being placed, the called number, and the length of the call.

Technicians from the Western Electric Company, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System, installed the new gear, which has been tested and readied for use by Bell Culver technicians Bill Martin and Mike Bennett. The installation project involves an investment of about $80,000 in Culver.

Lubeznik said long distance calls still can be dialed from four-party lines, but an operator will continue to ask for the calling party's number before the call is completed.

Starting November 16th, Culver residents will be able to dial station-to-station long distance calls from coin phones as well as person-to-person, credit card, collect and other special billed calls from both coin and regular telephones.

"The new service will be provided by a system the phone company calls a Traffic Service Position System (TSPS) which contributes to a more efficient and economical method of handling the increasing volumes of long distance calls," Lubeznik said.

The new system is based on a computer-type operation. The new equipment is designed to diagnose its own trouble and in most cases a problem is found and corrected before it ever affects a customer.

Lubeznik said with the new system long distance calls will be handled about 40 per cent faster than by present methods. He said the system also will provide more accurate billing, since there will be less chance of error.

He also said the system should reduce time required for an three seconds in most cases.

Another feature is the capability for an operator to display on her console the telephone number from which a call is being placed. This can be especially useful in an emergency when a caller panics or for some reason might not be able to be understood.

Lubeznik said the system also automatically reports to Bell technicians any trouble it finds on a customer's line while attempting to complete a call. In the past, such reports have been made manually by the operators. The new system will provide the information hourly in computer printout form, and in some cases it will be possible for technicians to make needed repairs before the customer is aware of the trouble.

NOTICE

Residents of Culver are asked to rake the lovely autumn leaves that are blanketing neighborhood lawns to the curbs for pickup by the Town Street Crew.

Street Superintendent Veri McFeely advises that the crew will pick up the leaves with all possible haste, and adds that residents are asked not to burn leaves on any improved streets, stressing the fact that town ordinance forbids it.

"EXCEPTIONAL" LANDING

Airplane Makes Forced Landing

James C. Williams, while en route from Aurora, Illinois, to Ft. Wayne by airplane was forced to make an emergency landing at Culver Military Academy's Fleet Field last Sunday evening at 5:05 p.m. There were no injuries in the incident.

Williams was returning home with his wife, Jackie, and their 4-year old son, David, when their Piper Tri-Pacer developed engine trouble two miles northwest of the Academy's runway. As Mr. and Mrs. Williams frantically searched for a field in which to land, Mrs. Williams spotted the Academy airport. The distance to the landing strip was made safely and without the help of radio communication.

Col. W. D. "Chip" Howell, director of Culver's aviation program, and who was also on an approach pattern at the time, termed the handling of the emergency "exceptional." Williams, a private pilot, is the planning director for the Ft. Wayne office of General Telephone of Indiana.

Fleet Field is the private airport owned and operated by the Academy. Jerry Howell, the field's mechanic, feels that the engine problem was located in the third piston as a result of compression tests. Repairs have not yet been completed.

A COMMUNITY LOSS

It is not something you can see by taking an autumn walk down Main Street, but the Indiana University campus in South Bend is an asset of this community.

It is one of those sources of higher education that allows Culver area residents to pursue a first class education through the graduate level without the expense of relocating for many months of several years.

The value of this community asset is going to be substantially diminished in the near future if that campus loses its music department—and this is a real danger.

Despite the existence of a large and uniformly qualified faculty, over a hundred full-time music majors and a couple of dozen graduate students, a new recital hall, grand pianos and practice rooms galore, and several high quality music performing organizations, the Indiana Commission for Higher Education may soon yell "Stop The Music."

Because of the surprising (to I.U. officials) growth of the I.U.S.B. music program under the able leadership of Robert W. Demaree and his growing staff of dedicated musician-teachers, this regional campus began graduating students in music before a music degree program was formally approved for the South Bend campus. These students took classes here but received Bloomington degrees.

Their education, however, was unique in many ways. They studied with professors, many with terminal degrees, instead of graduate students as on the Bloomington campus. They were also able to save thousands of dollars. Many claimed that their education was more complete. Further, the net result of this program on the community made I.U.S.B. the prime mover in the Fine Arts in the Michiana area.

This situation may halt in the near future, because the Commission for Higher Education has frozen the expansion of degree programs at the I.U. campuses, refusing to act upon the I.U.S.B. Music Department program request for almost two years.

From a policy standpoint, we feel that the loss of the music program at I.U.S.B. would reflect the Commission's commitment to a degree program at regional campuses that would be far inferior in scope and depth to that of other universities.

From a public trust standpoint, we believe such a decision would put into question whether the original goal of the Commission, and the stated reason for the freeze of degree programs—the overall improvement of the state system of universities, is the present goal of the Commission.

From a political standpoint, we fear that pressure to cut back regional campus programs comes from Bloomington, where student registrations are far below projections, where dorms stand empty because of the high cost of a Bloomington education, and where a new multi-million dollar opera house will require bond payments well into the next century. This pressure from the "Southern Campus" may, unfortunately, weigh heavily upon the appointed members of the Commission.

So, we suggest to the Commissioners that we value the I.U.S.B. Music Department. We consider the leadership of the Department to be unexcelled, and the quality of the student product above expectation for a program so young in years. We do not want to lose this asset of our area, or see a popular, on-going, successful academic structure broken up after it has been allowed to grow and after students have come to rely on its presence in this area.

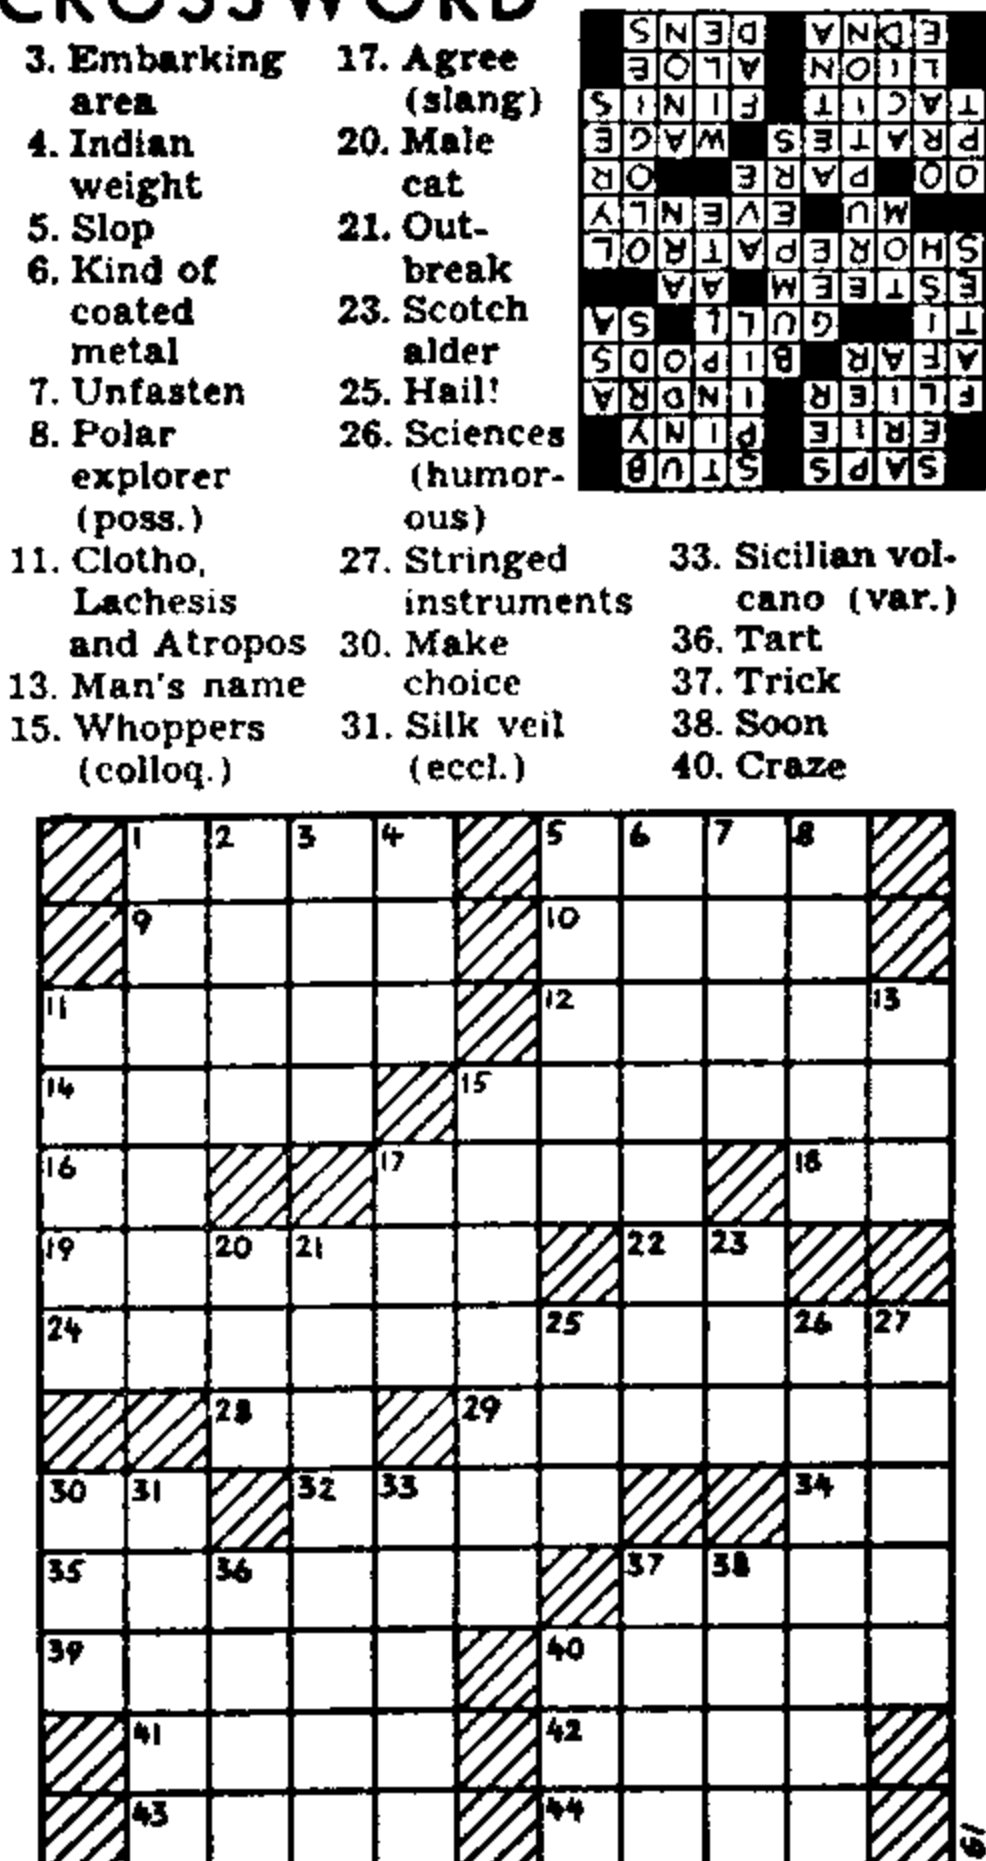

We will express our feelings to our legislators, and to the Commission. Citizen readers may also address their comments to: Indiana Commission for Higher Education, 143 West Market Street, Indianapolis, Indiana 46204.

We urge you to consider our opinion carefully, and support our stand if you agree with our position.

Major newspapers in several cities this past week issued editorial calls to the President to resign from his office. This newspaper is not yet ready to make such a request. However, we would encourage readers to express their opinions in this matter by writing a Letter To The Editor expressing their opinion.

Golf Cart Accidents

Hanson and his wife were heading for the clubhouse in a golf cart when she had a sudden urge to stand up. But as she did so, she lost her balance and fell against the tiller. The cart lurched crazily, throwing Hanson to the ground.

Painfully injured, he determined to seek damages from the management of the club.

"Considering how unstable their carts are," he argued in a court hearing, "they should have posted a warning against anyone standing up. This they failed to do."

However, the court turned down Hanson's claim.

"There are certain obvious dangers," said the court, "against which a warning is not necessary. The seller of a knife is not required to warn against cutting oneself, or that a hammer will hurt if a person is hit with it."

With the growing popularity of golf carts, more accident cases are finding their way into court. Generally speaking, claims for damages have not been too successful, often because the blame lies with the victim himself.

But if the mechanism is faulty, compensation may indeed be collected from either the club management or the cart manufacturer.

In another case, the golf cart was missing the rubber pad that normally covers the brake pedal. When the driver tried to use the brake, his spiked shoe slid off the pedal and hit the accelerator, causing the cart to run into another golfer.

This time, the victim collected from the club management. Grounds: negligent maintenance of equipment.

One club tried to block any and all claims by including a "we are not responsible" clause in its rental form. But the clause was so well hidden in printed verbiage that a court later found it to be null and void.

The court said enforcing such a clause against an injured golfer, unaware of its existence, "would truly be unconscionable."

TRINITY CHURCH CELEBRATES DOUBLE ANNIVERSARY

A double anniversary celebration takes place this Sunday, November 11th, at 9:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. at Trinity Lutheran Church, 330 Academy Road. During a morning service, the congregation observes the 125th anniversary of the Synod the parish joined. The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod is 125 years old, has grown to be the second largest Lutheran group in the United States, and is raising a $27 million fund for expansion of ministries and missions.

During a 3:00 p.m. service, Trinity Church keeps a fifteenth anniversary of organization and church life. Speaker at the vespers is Rev. Elwood Zimmermann, President of the Indiana District Church-Missouri Synod. His topic is: "Praise God for His Continuous Grace," Psalm 106. The topic of Rev. R. L. Sommer's sermon during the morning jubilee service is "What A Word Is This!" St. Luke 4, 16. Linda Snapp and Robert Kamrow will assist in the music of the services.

Trinity is the smallest and youngest of the churches in Culver. The congregation dedicated a church and parish hall in 1971, with an estimated value, including the site, of $60,000. Returning to serve as liturgist is Rev. Vernon Knight, pastor of St. John Lutheran Church, Rochester. He served during a dual pastorate arrangement between St. John and Trinity from 1971-72. Other pastors who served Trinity are: Rev. Delmar Krueger, now of Danville, Illinois, 1958-60; Rev. R. J. Mueller, who served in the sixties, now living at Pearsall, Texas; Rev. Edmund Broders, retired, served the parish from South Bend until Rev. Knight came in 1971. Over the 15-year history, the congregation used the Culver Public Library, the Legion Hall, and rented an abandoned church in Burr Oak, until their church was dedicated.

Sunday, November 11th, about 25 charter members will be honored. Martin Uebel is chairman of the congregation, Robert Cultice is chairman of the Anniversary committee. Following the 3:00 p.m. service, the Women's Guild, led by Mrs. James Kalinke, will serve refreshments. The public is invited.

CULVER BIBLE CHURCH TO TAKE "JOURNEY"

A slide presentation featuring scenes in Alaska will be given at the Culver Bible Church, 718 South Main Street, at 7:00 p.m. Sunday, November 11th.

Rev. Edward Clark, pastor of Culver Bible Church, extends an invitation to all members of the community to see this account of the Alaskan missionary work of Rev. Arthur Houk. There is no admission charge for the presentation.

WORLD COMMUNITY DAY FEATURES A BELL-RINGING PROCLAMATION

The World Community Day celebration convened in Zion Hall, Grace United Church of Christ, with the making of the placards for Samaritans, Pilgrims, and Travelers. The ringing of the bell directed the attention to a Proclamation read by Mrs. Ted Strang with an invitation that "each of you shall be a player." The Worship Service centered around the theme, "Where In The World Is My Neighbor", with Mr. F. L. Babcock as Leader.

Also participating in the program were Mrs. John Drang, Mrs. Lucille Bradley, Mrs. Walter Johnson, Mrs. Norman Tanksley, Mrs. Lloyd Hawkins, Mrs. Emil Lewis, Mrs. Earl Sharp, Mrs. D. Hatten, Mrs. Earl Graham, Mrs. E. W. Carter, Mrs. George Warner, and Mrs. Merl Crabb.

Mrs. A. Judson Dillon, soloist, sang "There's A World Out There", accompanied by Miss Margaret Swanson, organist.

Local Church Women participate in the Church World Service Clothing Appeal by providing good, useable clothing for the dispossessed needy in many corners of the world as well as sewing cut-out garments.

All during the year, but especially on World Community Day, Church Women purchase $3.00 Gift Certificates. These contributions are designated for specific continuing needs such as blankets, shoes for children, self-help projects, etc., or for the "where needed most" category which enables Church World Women to respond to emerging opportunities and to crisis needs.

Numerous items of boys' and girls' clothing, layettes, and knitted infant's sweaters were made by the women of Grace United Church of Christ and will be taken to Church World Service pick-up point in Nappanee. Gift Certificates were presented by women of various churches to use "where needed most" and sent to Church Women United.

In Culver the snow began to fall before daylight Sunday and continued heavily without interruption until dark. A gale came from the north blowing the snow through the air in blinding masses at the rate of 30 miles per hour. Early Monday morning another snowfall began and did not cease until noon. Not less than an average of 12 inches was left on the ground. Everywhere drifts obstructed roads and walks.

Editor's Note:

This year's varsity will show many new ideas and Ken Hass, a new basketball coach who comes to us from Elkhart, where he coached basketball, cross country, and track teams for the past four years. Coach Hass' teams won two conference championships and two conference tourneys, as well as a city championship.

Mr. Hass attended Indiana State University, where he majored in English and played on the varsity basketball team that went to the final game in the NCAA in 1968. He played his high school ball at St. Joe in South Bend, and was on the all-sectional team in 1965. He has won numerous other athletic awards during his career.

The following is a look at the Cavaliers and their season, written by Coach Hass.

This year the team at CCHS has made some drastic changes and seems to be progressing well, considering its inexperience and transition to a new style. Those involved in the program feel that this will be a good year at Culver and that the past losing trend is about to change. The squad is working very hard and the key to our whole game is hard work, aggressive play and loyalty to the "team spirit." Defense is the key to the game, and we believe that the varsity has the potential ability to play good defense. This year the team is also very quick but has the handicap of lacking in overall height. We must stress the use of checking out on the boards and keeping the bigger opponents away from the boards. We are also stressing the use of our overall conditioning to get us up and down the court before our opponents. We believe that the one great advantage we will have over our foes will be our ability to work hard throughout the entire game. We will constantly be looking for an opportunity to capitalize on the other team's errors.

Tim Beck is our freshman on the team and he has been working very hard to work his way up to the varsity. Tim's greatest asset is his desire to play the game. He is always seeking to improve and is maturing as a ball player. Tim can rebound with the best players and is blessed with a good shot. For his size, he can work around the basket very well and he is also a good ballhandler. He can do all this plus play out front. Tim does need, however, to work on his passing but that should improve with experience.

This year's ball club has a lot of potential. I feel that they will be an exciting team to watch because of their aggressiveness and great enthusiasm to win. We need this positive attitude to start some winning tradition in basketball at Culver. The only way to accomplish this is by hard nose ball and getting down and scrapping for the ball and giving it everything we have. The team will run, jump and dive and leap and shoot and do everything possible to get that ball. I believe fast style of play will be a great show to watch and I know that after one game you fans will become a believer that hard work pays off in positive benefits. These young men deserve your presence. Get out and push the team! Get out and give these young men the push they need! They are doing everything they can to do the job. We are all using our best qualities at the high school to make Culver Community High School a winner. You are the key. Get out and stay with the team. Develop loyalty to a good school and you will be a fan for a winner this year. The team may take a few bumps and they will give out a few too.

The Culver Citizen is also donating a trophy for mental attitude. It will be a hard award to give this year since the whole team up to now has demonstrated a good mental attitude toward hard work and determination in their goals to be successful and to start Culver on a winning way. Culver Community High School has changed. There are many new ideas and much enthusiasm. In addition to all of this, there is a beautiful new parking lot for your added convenience. Come to the games and see what is being done. The school needs your loyal support.

Get in the Adult Booster's Club and be a part of a growing program. Just call the school and ask about the Booster's Club. It is a new organization that will start this year. Boosters will have a special section in the gymnasium and will have other added courtesies shown. We will have bus caravans and many other stimulating things to help the team. BE A BOOSTER! GET BEHIND THE TEAM!

Thursday, November 8th is "Meet The Team Night" at 7:00 p.m. All fans are urged to get out and see what the team is doing this year. We will give a preview of the frosh and the "B" Team and the "Hustling" Varsity. All this, plus we will go over all rule changes for the year. At this preview there will also be a Booster's meeting and you can sign up and get officially behind the team. Season tickets will also be on sale this night with all season ticket holders having the added advantage of being admitted free to all 9th grade games for this year. Join the Boosters. Buy a season ticket and get behind the team! Come to every game...plan even to follow the team "on the road". The Cavaliers are on the move!

WE NEED YOU TO SUPPORT THE TEAM!
GET BEHIND A WINNER!

POOL TO BE DEDICATED AT CMA

James R. Lowenstine will be on the campus of Culver Military Academy and the Culver Academy for Girls today for the dedication of the new James R. Lowenstine Pool complex, for which he was the major donor. The Culver Educational Foundation's board of directors will also attend the ceremony as part of their regular fall meeting.

Lt. Gen. John W. Carpenter III, Usaf (ret.), Culver's superintendent, will welcome the guests and introduce Lowenstine, who will present the pool to the school. foundation board chairman B. B. Culver, Jr., will make the acceptance speech and will unveil a plaque bearing Lowenstine's name.

Culver swimming team co-captains Doug Herge and Henry LaViers will present Lowenstine with a varsity letter and a certificate recognizing him as an honorary member of the swimming team. Following the presentation, Herge and LaViers will pour a jug of "sacred" water from the old pool, built in 1917, into the new pool and diving tank. The Kyrscope timing device will be demonstrated during an intramural swimming tournament following the ceremony.

The new eight-lane pool is 60 by 75 feet, with a depth of four feet. The separate diving tank—40 feet square and 13 feet deep—features one 3-meter and two 1-meter Duraflex springboards. A filter room provides electronically controlled heating, chlorination and filtration of pool water.

The Lowenstine Pool will be used for classes in survival swimming, Red Cross Lifesaving and general swimming instruction in addition to its use by varsity and intramural teams.

WIDE AWAKE CLASS

The Wide Awake Class of the Wesley United Methodist Church will meet next Thursday, November 15th at 7:30 p.m.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Marie Long, Edna Bryan, and Hazel Morris.

Hints on

from the

Indiana State Medical Association

CATARACT

ONE of the earliest signs of cataract is dimming of eyesight.

Lights may appear double or reduplicated many times. The patient may feel as if he is looking at things through a spotty windowpane. Excessive dazzling in sunlight is another frequent complaint.

As the cataract extends and blocks off the pupil of the eye, sight becomes more and more reduced. General medical treatment is always advisable.

When vision is markedly impaired, the surgeon may remove the cloudy lens. A cataract operation is usually performed under local anesthesia and requires only a short stay in the hospital—usually with excellent results. Eyeglasses are later prescribed to act as a substitute lens.

A cataract is not a growth, tumor or cancer. Cataract merely means that a cloudy lens is blocking vision.

COPAD SCHEDULES MEETING

The Executive Committee of COPAD will meet with members of the Natural Resources Committee at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, November 13th, in the VFW Social Room.

COPAD will review its remaining recommendations in Natural Resources and the suggestions of Congressman Elwood H. Hillis, who has sent preliminary reports of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for the Committee's consideration.

The EPA's preliminary findings contradict results of a recent study commissioned by the Lake Maxinkuckee Association, which indicated there was little reason for concern about the quality of water in the lake.

The EPA findings, based upon three or four extensive surveys this year, suggest a major problem in the oxygen levels of the lake water.
