

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Menace Of The Crowd

"Far from the madding crowd," wrote the poet Thomas Gray, life can be beautiful.

It can also be a lot safer. Crowds have built-in dangers, and the law requires those in charge—if anyone is—to take reasonable precautions against accidents.

Consider this case:

Moviegoers came swarming into the lobby of a downtown theater, determined to get good seats at the next "break." But they pushed so hard against the restraining rope that an elderly woman in front suffered a broken rib.

In due course, she filed a damage suit against the owner of the theater. At the trial, the owner protested:

"Crowding is one of the risks of going to see a popular picture. We can't help it if people have bad manners."

But the court granted the woman's claim. The court said the management had no business allowing more people into the lobby than it could safely control.

In another case, a publicity-seeking store created a crowd on purpose by not opening its front door on time. When the door was finally thrown open, the resulting scramble left two customers injured. For its negligent role in this affair, the management was later held liable.

Still, not every crowd-caused injury is preventable. Another woman was injured in an elevator when too many people tried to squeeze in. Was this, too, the responsibility of the management? Demanding damages, the woman said it was.

But a court disagreed, seeing no one at fault in such an odd, impromptu mishap. Said the judge:

"How could the owner of the building either foresee a possible accident of the type described or forestall it?"

GLAUCOMA

GLAUCOMA is a serious eye disease which can lead to blindness.

Glaucoma occurs most frequently in persons over 30 and affects at least 2% of people over 40.

Most often, glaucoma can be controlled and blindness can be prevented, if the disease is discovered early in its course.

One type—chronic glaucoma—causes no symptoms until severe damage has been done. Chronic glaucoma can be detected by an ophthalmologist (a medical eye specialist) who uses an instrument to measure the degree of pressure in the eye and another instrument to measure the size of the visual field, or side vision. Every adult over 40 should have a test for eye pressure as well as a test for visual fields when he goes for an eyeglass check.

Another type of the disease affecting people over 40 is called acute glaucoma. In this ailment the pressure suddenly rises to a very high level. The attack is accompanied by severe pain, redness and marked blurred vision. Most often the patient is hospitalized for surgery to relieve pressure. Surgery is successful in most cases, but prompt treatment is highly important.

The major problem physicians face in dealing with glaucoma is to detect the disease early enough to begin treatment before serious eye damage is done. Many people have glaucoma and don't know it.

It is highly important for persons past 40 to have an annual medical eye checkup, even if they don't wear glasses and have no apparent visual problems.

January 16, 1974

The Culver Citizen:

As you know, the Indiana Commission for Higher Education granted baccalaureate degree authority in Music to IUSB on December 13. That action ended two years of uncertainty about the future of the Division of Music faculty and students. Final examinations were in progress at that time, and every moment had to be devoted to end-of-semester responsibilities.

The holiday break has given me the opportunity, however, to write to you expressing my deep personal thanks for the role you played in bringing the Commission to its eventual decision. All together—citizens of the community, faculty, and students—we won an important victory.

I trust the IUSB Division of Music will always be worthy of your support.

Sincerely,
Robert W. Demaree, Jr.
Chairman, Division of Music

TAX PHONE

TOLL FREE "HOT LINE" AVAILABLE TO TAXPAYERS!

The Indiana Department of Revenue has three state-wide toll-free telephone lines available to Indiana taxpayers with state Individual Income Tax questions. In announcing the new toll-free service for the state's taxpayers, State Revenue Commissioner Donald H. Clark said, "we're providing the toll-free lines to help taxpayers with some of the questions they may have about the 1973 state tax forms and some of the changes they will find there."

Taxpayers from outside the Indianapolis no-toll dialing area may reach the Individual Income Tax Section by dialing 1-800-382-9800. "Those calling from within Indianapolis or the toll-free surrounding area should call 633-4414 for similar taxpayer assistance," Clark added.

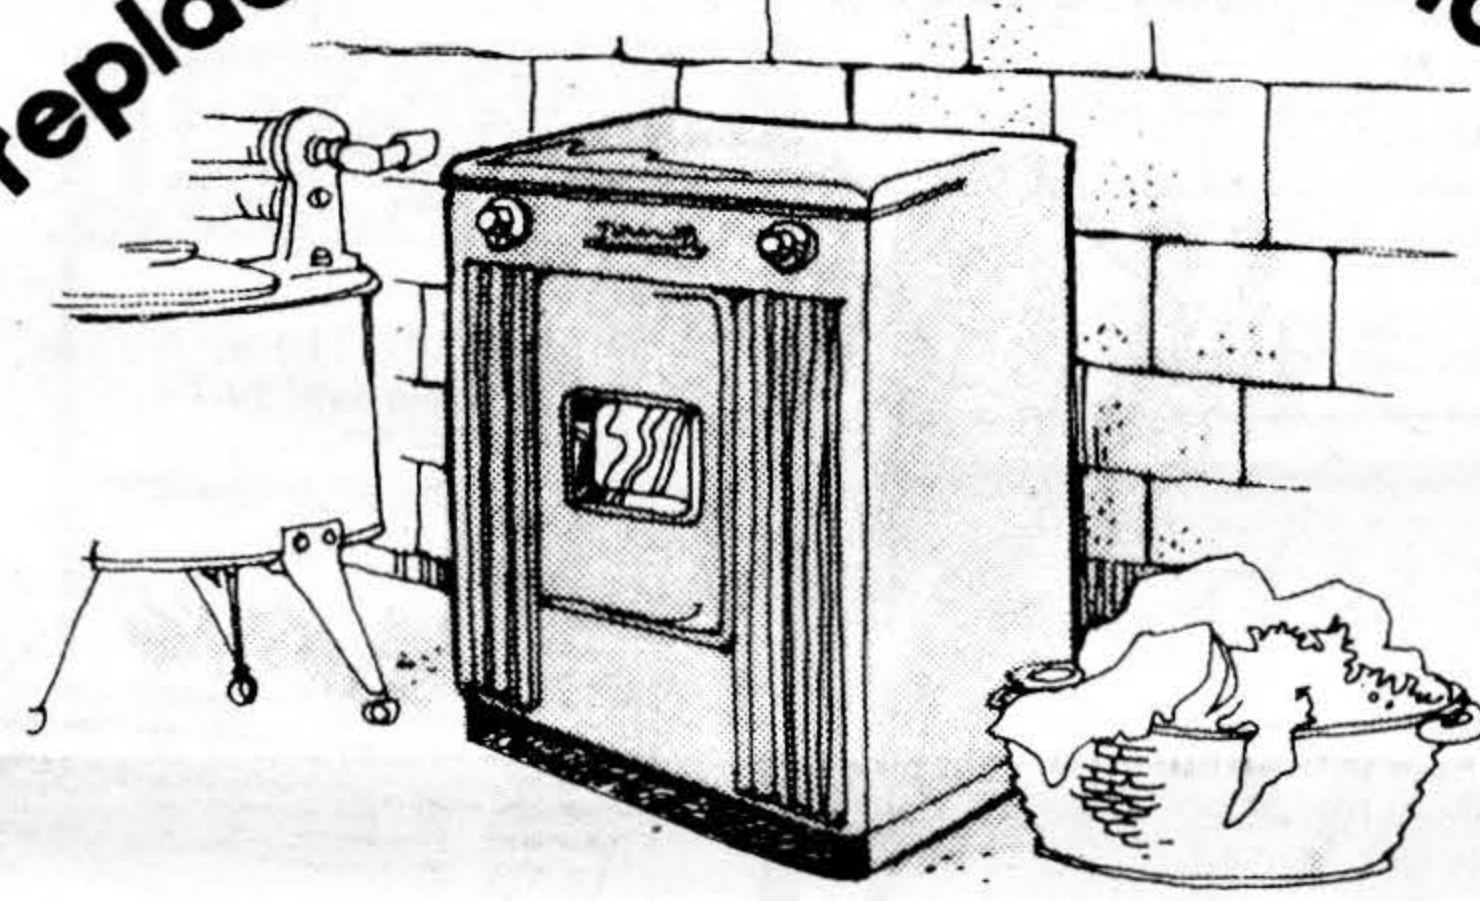

The toll-free lines have been installed primarily to help taxpayers by providing answers to their questions about the new tax provisions - local option tax, renters' deduction, circuit breaker - as well as other questions relating to the Individual Income Tax return, Clark explained.

"We're hoping that this service can help cut down on the number of returns containing errors which come into the Department. This will help us process returns more quickly," the Commissioner added.

He also reminded taxpayers that filing early in the year, double checking Social Security Numbers and Zip Codes, and making all numbers on the return very clear will also help to speed the refunding process.

"Taxpayers who must send a remittance with their state tax returns should be sure to make their check or money order payable to the Indiana Department of Revenue," he added, "and include on the check or money order the Social Security Number of the taxpayer to whom the payment is to be credited."

AUTO TAXES

TRIPLE A TALKS TAXES

The Chicago Motor Club-AAA reminds motorists living in Illinois and Indiana that certain automobile expenses are tax deductible and may be included when preparing their Federal Income Tax returns.

The following is a list of deductions compiled by the Club's Legal Department that all motorists may take:

- State gasoline taxes: 8 cents in Indiana; 7½ cents in Illinois.
- Casualty losses not reimbursed by insurance or other means if not due to willful negligence. Any deduction for damage to property used for personal purposes is limited to the amount that each loss exceeds $100.
- Interest paid on automobile loans, and so-called "finance charges" on revolving charge accounts used to purchase gasoline, oil or other auto accessories.
- Indiana auto excise tax.
- State and city sales tax on automobiles, parts, accessories, and supplies (Illinois state and local tax is 5 per cent; Indiana tax was 2 per cent before May 1, 1973 and is now 4 per cent.)

If you use your car for business, you may also deduct these items in whole or part - depending on the extent of business use:

- Motor Club dues; state automobile license fee; city vehicle tax; driver's license fee; automobile insurance premiums; depreciation; gasoline, oil and lubrication expenses; cost of repairs; accessories; washing and polishing expenses; anti-freeze and winterizing services; garage rent; parking charges; and tollroad charges.

Generally, an individual who operates his own car for business travel may figure the cost of his operation by taking a standard mileage rate, instead of maintaining detailed records and itemizing provable costs.

This alternative is not available, however, with respect to an automobile for which a deduction for depreciation, based upon a method other than the "straight line" method, has previously been claimed by the taxpayer.

The standard mileage rate is 12 cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business driving and nine cents a mile for additional business mileage.

Parking fees and toll charges incurred in business driving may be added to the most figure computed by using the standard mileage rate. The use of the standard mileage rate doesn't bar the taxpayer from claiming interest and state and local taxes (other than gasoline tax) relating to the car, on a return in which deductions are itemized.

If a taxpayer, who otherwise qualifies, uses more than one automobile alternately, he may compute business mileage on all cars and treat it as having been driven in one car for purposes of this standard deduction. The standard deduction is not available, however, to a person who operates two or more cars simultaneously, nor to anyone other than the owner of the car.

Costs incurred in driving to and from home to a regular place of employment are not deductible for income tax purposes, and such mileage is to be excluded in applying the standard mileage rate to business driving.

A taxpayer itemizing his deductions may claim as a contribution his unreimbursed out-of-pocket expenses of operating an automobile in the course of service to charitable organizations.

Similarly, the cost of using an automobile to obtain medical or dental services may be claimed as a medical expense. In either case, a standard rate of six cents per mile may be used instead of itemizing the actual costs, and parking fees and tolls may be added. Depreciation and insurance are not claimable if the costs of operation for charitable or medical purposes are itemized.

Remember, the premium for medical payments coverage on auto insurance cannot be deducted as medical expense under a recent ruling issued by the Internal Revenue Service. However, this does not prevent the inclusion of such premiums along with other insurance costs on itemizing the costs of operating a car for business purposes.

INDIANAPOLIS TO HOST AGRI-BUSINESS EXPO

Indiana's first Agri-Business Exposition will be held in the Indiana Convention-Exposition Center in Indianapolis January 29th, 30th, and 31st.

The "EXPO" is being sponsored jointly by the Indiana Grain and Feed Association, Inc., and the Indiana Plant Food and Agricultural Chemicals Association, Inc.

There will be approximately 150 exhibitors occupying 41,000 square feet, making this the largest trade show ever staged under one roof by the two associations according to Russell L. Cole, exposition manager. On display will be equipment, supplies and services related to the grain, feed, fertilizer and ag chemical industries.

The grand opening of the exposition, with appropriate ceremonies, entertainment and door prizes, will take place at 5:00 p.m. January 29th. In conjunction with the exposition, both associations will hold their annual conventions at the Center. There will be daily business sessions and on Thursday, January 31st, both associations will elect new officers for 1974.

Most of Wednesday morning's session - a joint meeting for members of both organizations - will be devoted to the liquid feed industry and the adaption of liquid fertilizer equipment to handle liquid feed.

Jeris Eikenberry, from the office of the Indiana State Chemist, will talk about the effect of state and federal regulations on both liquid and dry feeds.

Featured speaker at this session will be Clint Brandon of Roswell, Georgia, discussing motivation and sales. An expert in the field, Brandon conducts workshops and clinics on business management and sales.

The two associations will conduct separate business sessions the next morning. The grain organization will hear Larry Earle, Jr., director of agriculture and rural development for the Indiana Department of Commerce. He will speak about the implementation of the Indiana dealer and warehouse licensing and bonding laws. Passed by the 1973 General Assembly, these two laws will become effective July 1, 1974.

Earle will be followed by James P. Coplen of Logansport, president of the Indiana Bankers Association, and Joe Jones, Fort Wayne, president of Central Soya Company.

Meanwhile, the Plant Food and Ag Chem group will hear C. Richard Kellum of the Indiana National Bank discuss credit and dealer financing. Then, Dr. Glenn Klingman of Elanco Products at Greenfield and George Hutton, also from the State Chemist's office, will talk about pesticide regulations and the necessary changes in Indiana law to bring the state in line with federal legislation in this field.

Speaking at Thursday's luncheon will be Don Hutson, Memphis, Tennessee. He operates his own professional sales management and consulting corporation and has more than 2,400 speeches to conventions and sales groups to his credit.

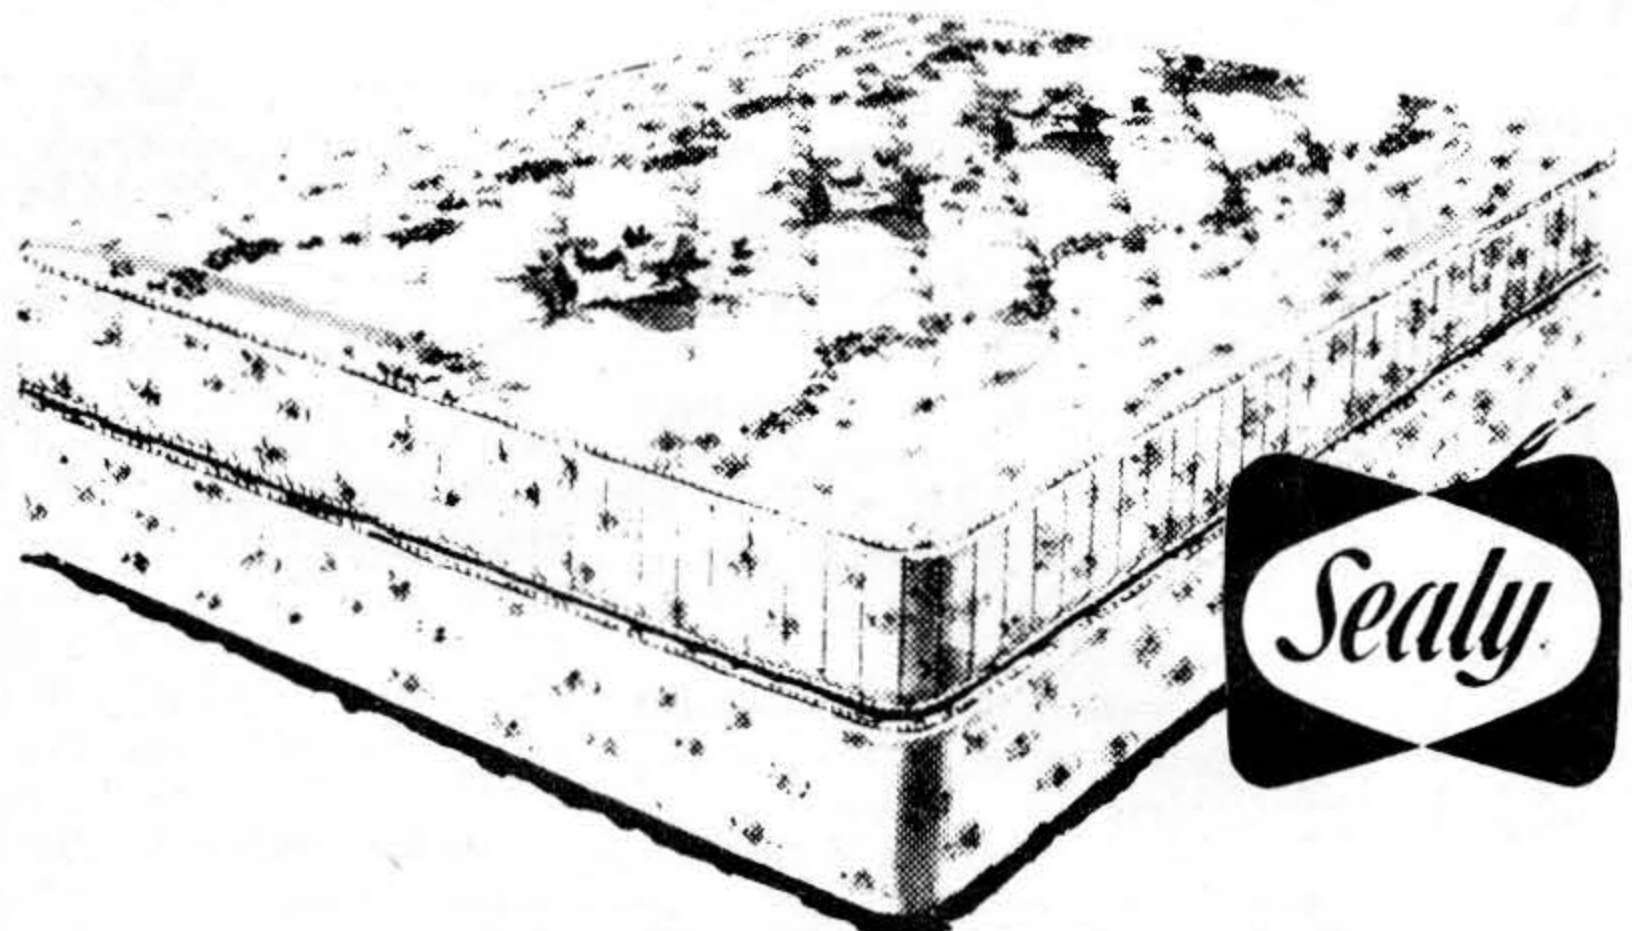

The annual banquet Thursday evening, with entertainment by Al Stewart and the Collegiate Singers from Purdue University, will bring the big three-day event to a close.

FORD FOR SALE

Long live the Ford! I know one Ford that sure has lived long...well at least lived hard. There's a Ford owned by a friend of mine, Andy Ervin, that has to be the most crippled car on the road. I swear I've never seen a car with so many ailments, except in the junkyard... and they're all dead! I remember the first night we rode in it. We rolled backwards down the hill by Bonine's because Andy wasn't used to the clutch. If it hadn't been for me getting out and telling the guy behind us to back up before we rolled into him, the back end of the Ford would have been banged up like the right hand door is now. When Andy got the Ford it had two doors, but now it has only one. Some time ago I opened the right hand door to let someone in the back seat and I got it stuck in the ground. Andy, in a hurry (like he usually isn't), backed up before I pulled the door shut and ripped the door off the hinges. Guess who got in trouble? In a fit of anger, he did major surgery on it and then wired it shut. The door is now resting peacefully, still stitched up like it was six months ago. Who ever dares to ride in this car must enter on the drivers' side! It's really a treat to ride in his mom's car. You have four doors to choose from!

But the door is only a minor ailment. I remember on our way to North Carolina last summer, we were truckin' along some highway in Ohio. I was just getting ready to doze off when I heard this awful winding and "wherrr." The accelerator had stuck! Andy turned the key off going about 70 miles an hour, almost blowing the muffler to pieces. We pulled off the road and looked under the hood. The first thing mechanically-inclined Andy did was take the radiator cap off, which doesn't have a thing to do with the accelerator!! Finally, I discovered that the accelerator was caught on a hose... or something. I don't really know, I'm about as mechanically-inclined as Andy! We fixed it by tying the hose to the hinge of the hood with a piece of string.

I think the most ingenious repair with the car is the time that we fixed the antenna with bubblegum. The day before we left for North Carolina the radio suffered a minor breakdown. After working with it for quite some time to no avail, we crammed bubblegum into a hole in the antenna. Aha! it worked, and all the way to North Carolina and back, a total of 2000 miles!

Seriously, though, the old Ford has given us many pleasurable rides and trips, even in this terribly cold weather, considering that the heater doesn't work.

I can't think of anything else wrong with the Ford, except a broken turn signal light, the clutch sticks a little, the interior is shot, sometimes it's hard to get in gear, it has bald retreaded tires on it and the windshield wiper knob makes a loud noise like a dog barking. I guess that's all. OH! If you're ever driving along and you pass Andy and honk and he doesn't honk back, don't get upset and think he's stuck up. He doesn't have a horn!

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The Culver Community High School freshman basketball team is well on their way towards having a winning season this year. Under the new leadership of coach Gene Reese the boys are giving 100% towards the sport of basketball.

The teams record now stands at 5 wins and 3 losses which is a good record especially if you saw the games they lost because they could have gone either way. The team has three real strong rebounders in Tony Bean (9.6 R.P.G.), Bruce Musial (11.9 R.P.G.), and Phil Stevens (9.2 R.P.G.). They do most of the boardwork on the team. The team also has a very well balanced scoring attack with six boys averaging 6 points or better. In order to give the boys a little recognition that they deserve I have compiled their point averages and they are as follows:

Bruce Musial 9.1, Phil Stevens 9.0, Tony Bean 8.2, Kevin Bean 4, Kerry Martin 8, Carl Koebbe 1.4, John Dewitt 8, Paul Keith 11.5, Brad Measels 1, Ron Beaver 4, Roger Fieldhouse 2.

Other members of the team are the two managers, Rick Scott and Jim Butler. The freshmen also have four cheerleaders who give their all towards the team and school spirit. Suse Wildes, Cindy Tusing, Mary Measels, and Pam McCune. Good luck throughout the rest of the season to the freshmen.

AN INTERVIEW WITH MISS WILSON

Naturally, there is more to our new P.E. teacher, Miss Wilson, than meets the eye and one lucky Deadline student had the chance to meet and talk with her. That lucky student was Dan Ringen. Dan asked Miss Wilson a number of interesting questions about school, herself, and her interests. Miss Wilson is a graduate from Plymouth High School and Ball State University where she majored in P.E. and minored in Home Economics. When asked about C.C.H.S. Miss Wilson said, "Culver needs more enthusiasm!" Miss Wilson says she gets very frustrated with the lack of interest in students.

Miss Wilson enjoys art classes, playing basketball, crocheting, dating, and sometimes just sitting around relaxing, in her spare time. (Which she has very little of.)

LOW CALORIE REDUCING DIET

Many of us not-so-skinny people here at Culver have great admiration for our wrestling team. After talking to a few of our STAR Wrestlers I managed to wiggle out of them their secret formula for losing weight. Here is their official Diet:

Monday
Breakfast: 1 poached goldfish egg
Lunch: Turtle liver on rye with one-half of an olive Dinner: 1 smoked oyster without the oyster, 1 glass evaporated water

Tuesday
Breakfast: 1 bowl warm water and 2 and one-half chopped banana seeds
Lunch: one-fourth of a chili bean and the skin from a pea
Dinner: 3 boiled leech legs

Wednesday
Breakfast: 2 cups strained bacon grease
Lunch: chopped eggshells and 5 ounces of un-sweetened Kool-Aid (gargle only)
Dinner: 9 cubic inches of steam from chicken bouillon

Thursday
Breakfast: weak tea and one donut hole without sugar
Lunch: centipede's elbows and spider's spleens

Dinner: no dinner due to over-indulgence at lunch

Friday
Breakfast: bellybutton from a navel orange
Lunch: 4 water spots and the juice from a blueberry
Dinner: Vinegar Souffle and 4 grains of salt

Saturday
Breakfast: Lick a dirty spoon
Lunch: Chicken bladder
Dinner: 3 helpings of Crisco

Sunday
Breakfast: 13 fried grape seeds
Lunch: Marinated chalk dust and ant feelers
Dinner: Chicken bone marrow, dust balls and milk bubbles

If you lack any of the above items you may substitute: 1 pound parsley, one jigger fluoridated water, 62 tea leaves, apple stems, scrapings from your dog's dish, shredded butter wrapper, aroma of a juicy roast and scraped crumbs from burnt toast.

NOTE: Eat all meals under a high power microscope. This fosters the illusion that you have eaten a big meal and gives you the pleasant "full" feeling which starving persons get right before they die.

ATTENTION ALL LITERATES!!!

The Student Action for Education club at Culver has always felt that there was never enough tribute paid to outgoing senior members, especially those that had contributed much of their time and effort to the various extra-curricular activities. It is with this in mind that we announce the CAVALIER CITIZEN HONOR AWARD to be given each year to a departing male and female senior. The award will go to those people who, in the combined opinions of the student body, the SAE club and the faculty has:

1) Been most actively involved in various high school organizations, been most devoted to the betterment of the organizations and has accomplished the most within those organizations.

2) Participated in a positive manner in community events.

3) Helped to create, establish, or further pride in the Culver educational system as well as upgrade our reputation.

The procedure for this award will be first to hold a general election of the complete student body, including seniors. This election will determine the top five males and females in the senior class. The student body will know what the award criteria will be and after the elections there will be no member of the senior class participating in the award's finalization. The top ten will then submit applications to the SAE club as well as getting a recommendation from a sponsor of their own choosing in any organization they have been a member of for two years. The SAE club will then review the applicants and by means of a secret ballot will narrow the field down to two males and two females. These last four people's names along with their applications and recommendations will be forwarded to the high school faculty who will choose the winners by secret ballot. The principal will then tally the faculty vote and inform the SAE sponsor. They will be the only people who know the winners until the actual presentation later this year during a convocation.

This award is being established with the hope it would truly be an honor to receive it and that it would continue for years to come. We believe the procedure of the award will be successful in finding the two people that are respected mutually by the student body, the SAE club, and the faculty, and it will never be mere popularity contest. This project will include a large plaque that will be on display in the halls of CCHS. Each year, the winners name and class will be inscribed.

The SAE club has submitted this article to publicize the event as well as inform the student body of the criteria they will be judging the senior class by. We sincerely hope the "Cavalier Honor Citizen Award" will continue for years to come and that the student body will co-operate in our venture.

CHILLY BOOKS

BREAKDOWN FORCES LIBRARY CLOSING

The Culver Public Library is conserving fuel the hard way this winter.

Due to problems with the furnace that heats the library, Librarian Jane Taber Scruggs was forced to close the building several times in recent weeks. The library was closed all day Thursday, January 10th, part of Friday, and all day Saturday, when the temperature inside the building dipped to 56°.

The main problem seems to be a broken motor in the circulating hot water heating system, which was installed fifteen years ago.

Let's hope for a new motor or warmer weather for Mrs. Scruggs and her assistant, Mrs. Ogden, as well as the patrons of the library!

MRS. KOWATCH CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Mrs. John Kowatch of Culver celebrated her 73rd birthday on Friday, January 18th.

The date was celebrated with a trip to her son's home, James Kowatch of Plymouth, who is a teacher at LaVile High School. Also at the party were Mr. and Mrs. James Little, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller of Goshen.

Later that evening thirteen members of the Culver Senior Citizens gave a surprise potluck dinner for Mrs. Kowatch.

BABY CRIB SAFE?

Approximately 150 to 200 infants die each year in accidents that involve their cribs, according to the Consumer Product Safety Commission. Another 50,000 babies are injured so seriously they have to be treated in a hospital emergency room.

To help prevent crib accidents, the Consumer Product Safety Commission has established new safety regulations which go into effect February 1. The regulations apply to full size baby cribs and aim to protect infants from strangulation, suffocation and falls.

For parents who already own a crib or who must buy one before February, the Commission has published a 7-page leaflet, "Crib Safety." The leaflet explains the new regulations and tells what parents can do to improve the safety of cribs that don't meet the standards. Copies of "Crib Safety" are available free from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colorado 81009, or call the toll free telephone "hotline" (area code 800-638-2666 and in Maryland 800-492-2937).

The Commission offers the following guidelines to parents who must buy a crib before February:

- Choose one with closely-spaced slats. The new regulations require that slats be no more than 2 and 3/8ths inches apart to prevent babies from slipping through the slats feet first and being caught by the head.

- If slats are more than 2 and 3/8ths inches apart, buy bumper pads. Make sure they run around the entire crib, tie or snap into place, and have at least six straps. The bumpers should be used until the baby can pull into a standing position.

- Be sure the mattress fits snugly. If you can insert more than two fingers between the edge of the mattress and the sides of the crib, the mattress is too small.

- The latch or lock for the drop side of the crib should not be easy to trip.

- The top of the rail should be high enough above the mattress to discourage the baby from climbing out. The new regulations will require that the rail measure 26 inches from its top to the mattress support at its lowest level.

For those who already own a crib, or who are fixing up an antique, the Commission makes these suggestions:

- Check the overall condition of the crib. Be sure that all slats, bolts, and other fasteners are in place. If possible, check the manufacturer for replacement parts.

- If the mattress doesn't fit snugly, it would be best to replace it. However, if the mattress is in good condition, roll up towels and place them between the mattress and crib for a tighter fit.

- Bumper pads are even more important on older cribs because many have far too much space between the slats.

"Crib Safety" (free) is one of more than 200 publications listed in the Winter Edition of the Consumer Information Index. Published quarterly by the Consumer Product Information Center of the General Services Administration, the Index is available free from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colorado 81009 and at Federal Information Centers located throughout the country.

School Board

RESUME OF SCHOOL BOARD MEETING Furnished By the Office of School Superintendent A.F. Allen

The Culver Community Schools Corporation Board of School Trustees met on Tuesday, January 15th for a regular meeting. The minutes of the regular meeting of January 8th were approved.

The major item of discussion centered on the energy crisis and the formulation of a plan to conserve gasoline. The superintendent advised the board that he had been informed by the regional manager of Standard Oil Company that, effective January 1, 1974, the school corporation would not be allowed to purchase more than 80% of the amount of gasoline that was purchased each month of 1972 and 95% of the fuel oil per month that was purchased in the corresponding months of 1972. Superintendent Allen reported that the fuel oil cutback would not present any major problem, but that plans would have to be made to conserve gasoline as this poses a very serious problem.

approval was given by the Board to purchase 13 new sewing machines for the high school home economics department.

The previously approved trip to the Six Flags Over America National Band Contest to be held at St. Louis, Missouri in May, was withdrawn by the Board. It was determined that this contest did not carry North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools sanctioned approval. The superintendent has been authorized to attempt to find a suitable substitute trip which would carry North Central's approval.

Another item of business on the agenda was the approval of regular and payroll claims.

The best reason of all to open a savings account, and add to it regularly: someday you may need the cash.

Many people consider only large sums of money and long maturity periods when they think of savings investments. Regular savings, where you may add any amount or withdraw any amount whenever you wish, are also an investment; an investment in future "cash-on-hand" security. Want to prepare yourself for future "cash-on-hand" needs? Consider Regular Passbook Savings with The State Exchange Bank, Culver, Plymouth, Argos, or the Farmers State Bank, LaPaz. Do it today!

MUSHROOMS IN JANUARY?

Where could you possibly find such an unlikely thing as mushrooms in January? Jesse Overmyer knows. During the past few days of warmer weather we've been experiencing, he and Frank Walaitis found some big beauties "just growing on a tree stump!" Jesse wouldn't tell where, though. Euell Gibbons would be proud, don't you think?

Conversation With A Citizen

A VISIT WITH...

Roscoe B. Stevens

The Citizen visited Roscoe B. Stevens, a long time resident of this area, a couple of weeks ago and the following talk with him is the first in a series of conversations with people with memories of our community.

Mr. Stevens celebrated his 82nd birthday last October, and has spent most of his years in and around Maxinkuckee and Culver.

In fact, he remembers well the variety of businesses that once formed the East Shore community of Maxinkuckee. Looking toward the ceiling, he could remember offhand several grocery stores, including one owned by Eli Parker, a blacksmith shop, butcher shop, shoe shop, barber shop, post office and a saw mill. He believed the town was originally populated by Civil War Veterans. The town eventually died out when the railroad route went through Culver, then called Uniontown, rather than through Maxinkuckee.

Talking about the Civil War reminded Mr. Stevens about his grandfather and great-grandfather, both of whom were surgeons who served during that conflict.

Much of his life has involved Lake Maxinkuckee. He remembers when ice was farmed on the lake during the winter, usually once, but occasional late winters allowed a second harvest in early spring.

"It was nice to get out there at 12 below zero, wind from the north and work twelve to fourteen hours a day," he says with a bemused look. He remembers that he made $1.50 a day in the winter of 1917 filling the four ice houses which then existed.

He remembers the problems they used to have with the horses which pulled a plow-like cutting blade across the 12 inch or thicker ice. "We used to take a 16 foot plank and some rope with us," he remembers. The rope was used when the horse fell through the ice—a loop was thrown around its neck and tightened, causing the horse to lose consciousness. This would stop the horse from fighting the men who were trying to save it, and the animal could then be pulled out of the water using the plank as a ramp to the safe ice.

Mr. Stevens was involved in construction work for many years, and has built over 200 houses and buildings in this area. This work continued until just a few years ago.

Mr. Stevens remembered how he started working. His father taught the common school in this area. When he reached eighth grade, he was told that he now had education and he should get out and go to work, which he did.

He remembers when Culver had boardwalks along Main street. As a young man, he pulled pranks, such as putting a bumblebee nest under the boardwalk and prodding it with a lath as a passerby came near.

We asked him whether he might not like to spend his retirement in warmer climes, such as Florida. He summed up Florida in one phrase—"Three hundred miles long, a hundred miles wide, and a foot high!" Obviously, he is not interested in moving to Florida.

Mr. Roscoe Stevens is a man with many memories, but he does visit with him has been interesting to his many friends in this area, and we wish him an equally happy and rewarding future.

FUEL ALLOCATION PRIORITIES LISTED

In order to relieve unintended results under the mandatory allocation program for middle distillate fuels, it has been determined that pursuant to section 12 of the regulations (EPO Reg. 4: 30 FR 28660) for a period of 60 days effective immediately, suppliers shall give preference in the allocation of diesel fuels in the middle distillate range to the following purposes:

1) For the operation of prime movers or power units necessary for the exploration, production, refining and distribution of fossil fuels which includes petroleum, natural gas and coal.

2) For the operation of mobile and fixed farm and ranch equipment essential to the planting, growth, or harvesting of crops and/or livestock.

3) For the operation of public mass transportation systems within metropolitan areas when certified as essential to the public welfare by the Governor of the state to the administrator.

It is intended that the preference granted herein shall apply only to delivery of diesel fuels in the middle distillate range during the 60-day period and does not apply to orders placed on a supplier for delivery beyond the next 60 days.

Purchasers requesting assistance under this notice are cautioned to limit their requests to actual current requirements as it is intended that quantities of such fuels delivered during the 60-day period will be assessed against their adjusted total annual allocation.
