Senior Citizens Discuss Hotel

The Culver Senior Citizens met for their regular weekly meeting in Zion Hall of Grace United Church of Christ with 22 members present and 23 guests, among whom were representatives from various culver organizations.

Mr. Robert Kyle was the guest speaker for the meeting. After an introduction by Senior Citizens president Mrs. John Kowatch, Mr. Kyle spoke briefly to the gathering about the possibility of converting meeting place and living complex. Mr. Kyle cited the facts that there are many older citizens in town with much to contribute who need a "base of operations" that will provide adequate housing with a minimum of upkeep problems, and the adaptability of the old hotel for such a purpose.

Mr. Kyle noted that a similar idea was brought to reality in Newton County, but warned that it took ten years to show results. He stressed that the project could not be completed overnight, but that it could be done in less than ten years, because the building is already available.

State Exchange Bank President W. O. Osborn, who was to attend, was called away on business, but sent a letter to Mr. Kyle with his suggestions on how to raise the necessary funds. Mr. Osborn suggested applying to the Federal Government for partial assistance, and funding the balance by one of two means; forming a corporation and issuing stock, or outright gifts from private citizens. It was noted that there are several people who are willing to move in at once.

Mrs. Mildred Kyle was then given the floor, and she explained that a Board of Directors would be needed, that might be made up not only of members of the Senior Citizens but also members of the various town organizations. It was reported that the Eagles Ladies Auxiliary has heard of the project and has volunteered their services in any way they can help. Mrs. Kyle suggested that the top floor could be rented out to individuals on a weekly or longer basis, reserving the second floor for rental by Senior Citizens. It was noted that a man-wife team was probably the best idea for the actual management of the facility, with the couple doing most repair and maintenance work.

After questions and comments from the audience, it was decided to hold an open inspection of the hotel for interested parties. The group will meet at the hotel at 6:00 Tuesday, July 9th, after the regular Senior Citizens meeting that afternoon.

After the meeting, the members, who came from Plymouth, Argos, Rochester, Monterey and Culver, and the guests enjoyed refreshments served by Mrs. Hazel Morris, and the group relaxed over various games.

ACADEMIES TO HOLD PICNIC

The Culver Academies extend a hearty invitation to their retired employees to be guests at the annual employee picnic, to be held on the West Lawn of The Culver Inn on Tuesday, July 2nd, from 12:00 noon to 1:00 p.m. In case of inclement weather, the picnic will be held in the Dining Room of The Culver Inn.

Persons planning to attend are asked to call Jeanne Anderson at 842-3311, extension 225, before June 29th.

RAINBOW RECEPTION HELD TO HONOR CONNIE KELLY

Ms. Connie Kelly, Grand Representative to Michigan, was honored with a reception given by Culver Rainbow Assembly #61 at Zion Hall of Grace United Church of Christ Sunday afternoon, June 23rd. Worthy Advisor Judy Kemple read the opening poem and instructed Debbie Bernhardt, serving as Marshal, to escort Ms. Kelly to the East. CONCERNING THE CURRENT PENNY SHORTAGE...

In recent weeks, business firms as well as the public-at-large have become increasingly aware of a shortage of coins, especially pennies. As a matter-of-fact the penny situation is serious and promises to become more acute.

Actually, the penny shortage is costing taxpayers millions because some 30 billion pennies are being withheld from circulation. This means that nearly half of the 62 billion pennies produced by the U. S. Mint in the last 15 years are hiding—in the proverbial "piggy bank", the "sugar bowl", the "old sock", or other favored hiding places.

Even though the Mint is producing 35 million pennies a day, there aren't enough for many areas, and the pinch is being felt in many localities.

In an effort to cure this artificial shortage, June has been declared Penny Reduction Month with the U. S. Treasury awarding an Exceptional Service Certificate to those individuals or groups who turn in $25 worth of pennies.

In view of the situation as it now is, and will continue to influence the immediate area, The State Exchange Bank, Culver, Plymouth and Argos, and the Farmers State Bank, LaPaz, has offered a premium to persons bringing in pennies. The public response has been excellent.

In still another appeal our Bank has suggested that customers eliminate need to carry pennies by using their checking account to avoid the inconvenience caused by the coin shortage. Finally the concern of U. S. Treasury officials, the merchants, and the general public will be met, no doubt, if the nation is aware of the coin crisis.

Name In Vain

"I urge you to veto the welfare bill."

So said a telegram sent to the governor, supposedly from a concerned citizen by the name of Watson. But in fact, Watson had nothing to do with the telegram. It had been sent by a local manufacturing firm, which had simply picked his name out of the telephone book.

Watson later found out about the telegram, and filed a damage suit against the company "for taking my name in vain." And a court ruled that he did indeed have good grounds for complaint. The court said:

"(The company) appropriated, without the plaintiff's consent, his name, his personality, and whatever influence he may have possessed. This they had no right to do."

This case illustrates the growing recognition of the right of privacy as a legal doctrine. Often called "the right to be let alone," it has already been applied in a wide variety of situations.

Another example arose when an obstetrician, summoned to a woman's home to deliver her baby, brought a young man into the bedroom with him.

The woman assumed that the stranger was some sort of medical aide. Only afterward did she learn that he was merely a personal friend of the doctor. She sued for an intrusion on her privacy, and the court upheld her claim.

Of course, the right of privacy is not unlimited. It must be reconciled with other rights with which it may conflict. Thus:

A man who was mugged on a downtown street objected to the publicity that appeared in the local press. He argued in a court hearing that, as a private individual who had done no wrong, he was entitled to the shelter of the privacy doctrine.

But the court pointed out that whether he liked it or not, he was "newsworthy"—a legitimate object of public interest. The right of privacy, said the court, did not outweigh the freedom of the press guaranteed by the Constitution.

WAGON WHEEL PLAYHOUSE TO PRESENT "BEST FOOT FORWARD"

The Wagon Wheel Playhouse cast completed its first production of the 1974 season last Sunday, June 23rd. "No, No, Nanette," which ran for two weeks to near capacity crowds each performance, will be followed by one of the biggest hits of the '40s, "Best Foot Forward." It was the last of the big collegiate musicals and gave June Allison and Nancy Walker their start on Broadway.

"Best Foot Forward" is the second nostalgic hit to be presented at the Wagon Wheel this summer, and is a trip back to those wonderful days when Jitterbugs and Zoot suits were all the rage. Was there ever anything more fun than the Senior Prom in the 1940s?

The story centers around Prom Weekend at Winssocki Prep School for boys and the near disaster when Bud Hooper winds up with two dates...his girl Helen AND the famous movie star Gale Joy!

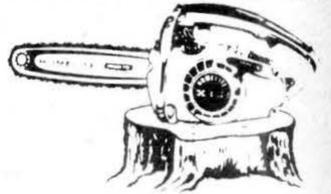

Bud Hooper will be played by Mark Bestimt, a student at the University of Maryland and a newcomer to Wagon Wheel. Donna Swajeski, also a new face, will be playing the girl friend, Helen. Miss Swajeski, in addition to appearing in dinner theatre productions in the Delaware and Maryland area, has a special interest in playwriting. She has created an original script for a children's program that has been proposed for ABC Television in New York. The 'famous movie star' will be played by Tina James, a favorite with all those familiar with Wagon Wheel. This is the third year Miss James will be spending in Warsaw, and although she currently makes New York City her home, she appeared for the Longworth Dinner Theatre in Washington, D.C.

You will love the score of 1940 standards that includes "Buckle Down Winssocki," "A Shady Lady Bird," "The Boogie Woogie" and many others that may have you 'dancing in the aisles.'

It's time to put your "Best Foot Forward" and reserve your tickets for the production, which opened June 25th and continues through July 7th. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. weekdays and 7:30 Sundays. Seats are still available for most performances. For information and reservations call 267-8041.

College Classes In Rochester

ANCILLA WILL OFFER CLASSES AT RHS

Ancilla College, located west of Plymouth near the town of Donaldson, is known for its personal, friendly, and family-like campus atmosphere. One of two fully accredited junior colleges in state, Ancilla will offer college extension classes at Rochester High School in the evenings beginning in September.

Courses will be divided into three categories: College Credit Courses; Practical Non-Credit Courses; and Remedial Non-Credit College Prep. Courses.

To be eligible for College Credit courses one must have graduated from an accredited high school, be a senior in the upper 20% of the class, or have successfully passed a GED examination. These classes are designed for those students pursuing a college degree. All credits received in this group are transferable to other colleges and universities. Adults may also register for these courses on a non-credit basis, which means that they will not be required to take examinations but may set their own standards of achievement. Enrolling simply for reasons of enrichment or interest, there are no prerequisites nor grades.

Practical Non-Credit courses are open to any high school senior or adult. There are no entrance requirements for these classes. The classes are designed for people to learn for the fun of learning or for personal enrichment. No tests or grades will be given.

The final category is Remedial Non-Credit courses. These classes do not have any prerequisites and are designed for the people contemplating college but who feel they need to review or improve in basics.

The classes that will be offered next fall in Rochester will be determined by enrollment. It will take at least ten registrants for a class to be offered. Area residents will be polled to help determine course offerings. A sample listing of some possible courses would include: Credit Courses - Art Appreciation, American History, American National Government, English Composition, Psychology, Sociology, World Civilizations, Economics, Business Law, Introduction to Calculus, Math Concepts, Algebra-Trigonometry. Practical Non-Credit Courses—Aviation Meteorology, Basic Weather Principles, Basic Electrical Wiring, Drawing, Speed Reading, Teacher Aide Training, Remedial Courses - Basic Writing, Developmental Reading, and Basic Math.

Costs for non-credit courses range from $15 to $40, depending on length of courses. For credit courses, charges are based on $22 a semester hour. Additional information about Ancilla's Extension Program in Rochester may be obtained by calling 936-9936 or by writing to the Admissions Office at Ancilla College in Donaldson.

GET READY FOR THE FREE OLD-TIME BAND CONCERT COMING UP!

"Limber Up Those Chops..."

The Culver High School Band, under the direction of Charles Byfield, will present a concert on Saturday, July 20th, at the Culver Town Park. Many former band members who have since graduated have consented to come back and "play" their horns one more time.

A rehearsal will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 18th, at the High School Band room. You don't have to go to the rehearsal to play in the concert, but it may make you feel better...at any rate, come to the concert and play until your lip gives out!

Anyone wishing to give it one last toot for old times' sake, but needs an instrument to do it with, should let Mr. Byfield know. Come for an evening of fun—your talents are NEEDED!

WESLEY CHURCH TO BEGIN SUMMER SCHEDULE

During the months of July and August, and for the first Sunday in September, the Morning Worship Service at Wesley United Methodist Church will be at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Fred Hanna will arrange for a fellowship period in Fellowship Hall afterwards. Child care will be provided for babies through age 3. There will be a Children's Story at the beginning of the Worship Service for children in the 4 and 5 year old Kindergarten through grade 6, after which they may leave for classes.

News About Books

Fiction for Lazy Summer Days

A Doubleday science fiction is THEM, by G.C. Edmondson; and the latest Doubleday Crime Club selection is HANGED MAN'S HOUSE, by E.X. Ferrars.

Set against the background of Tyneside in England, the novel KATIE MULHOLLAND by Catherine Cookson covers three generations of life from the 1860's to World War Two. This is another unforgettable novel by an unforgettable author.

By the author of "Penmarric" comes the new novel CASHELMARA, by Susan Howatch. This saga follows the de Salis family through a half century of ill-advised liasons, stormy encounters and love. At the center of the action is Cashelmare, the great Irish estate of Lord de Salis.

A novel in the form of two stories and an autobiography is MY LIFE AS A MAN, by Philip Roth. An award winning novelist whose career is blocked and an emotional life distorted by a disastrous marriage whose humiliating and frustrating consequences continue to obsess him even after his wife is dead is the protagonist of this book.

In her latest novel, VICTOIRE, Clare Darcy takes a young French orphan into the adventure-filled world of 19th century London.

A gripping story of fire in a modern high rise, THE GLASS INFERNO is an unforgettable novel of people caught in crisis, their heroism and cowardice, their unforgivable weaknesses and surprising strengths. As much fact as fiction, this is the revealing account of a holocaust that no fire department anywhere is equipped to fight. Written by Thomas N. Scortia and Frank M. Robinson.

SATAN'S BACK YARD is about America in the early 1800's and centers on the turbulent events that led up to the acquisition of Florida. A young lieutenant renounces his commission to help liberate Florida from the Spaniards. Based on extensive historical research, Sam J. Slate, the author, offers a highly readable tale of romance, politics, and military adventure.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH WILL HAVE GUEST SPEAKER

During the 9:00 a.m. worship service at Trinity Lutheran Church, 330 Academy Road, Culver, retired chaplain of the Air Force Captain Fred C. Stein will be the guest speaker. Rev. Stein lives at St. Clair, Michigan in retirement, but has accepted an invitation to lead the service at Trinity Sunday, June 30th.

Following the service, he will have a question/answer Bible class discussion with those who wish to remain. His experiences in 45 years of ministry include 20 years as chaplain of the U.S. Air Force, stationed in state-side camps and on the Azores, Morocco, Africa, Johnston Island in the Pacific, and England prior to D-Day. After his military service, Chaplain Stein took a parish at Old St. Mark's Church, Detroit, Michigan, experiencing the riots that destroyed part of the city and were stopped just two blocks from his church.

He began his ministry at Chillicothe, Missouri, as a campus pastor for the Business school and parish. He was instrumental in building a church there, as also in suburban St. Louis prior to his experiences in the chaplaincy. He has two sons serving in the Lutheran Church ministry today.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

This is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon this week, studied by Christian Scientists around the world. They understand it to be the Comforter which Jesus promised—John 14:26—"But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you." "Science is an emanation of divine Mind, and is alone able to interpret God aright. It has a spiritual, and not a material origin. It is a divine utterance, the Comforter which leadeth into all truth." This quotation is from the Christian Science Textbook by Mary Baker Eddy.

You will find a loving welcome at the Sunday School and church services, as listed in the directory.

RIDE THE RAILS THROUGH WHITEWATER VALLEY

Al aboard for a ride on the Whitewater Valley Railroad, Indiana's longest and most scenic steam railroad route.

Citizens of Connersville, Laurel, Metamora, and Brookville joined together to renovate the "Canal Route," complete with steam engines and passenger cars dating back to the early 1900's.

Beginning at the railway station in Connersville, the Whitewater Valley Railroad trackage follows the towpath of the historic Whitewater Canal for 25 miles to its destination in Brookville.

Work done on this railroad—clearing the right-of-way, track upgrading, restoration of the Brookville station, and car and equipment repairs—has been strictly volunteer by the Whitewater Valley Railroad Company.

After the Whitewater Valley Railroad train leaves its Connersville station, the first attraction on the line is the Masonic Lodge house near Elmhurst, known as "The Whitehouse of the Whitewater," and then passes by several of the old canal locks.

Throughout the 50-mile round trip, the train winds through rolling hills and beautiful scenery of the Whitewater Valley that is oftentimes inaccessible by automobile.

Near Laurel, the train passes by the Feeder Dam that provides water for the Whitewater Canal.

Metamora is the first side stop for the Whitewater Valley Railroad. Here, passengers may disembark and browse among the antique and novelty shops, visit the old grist mill which is still in operation, and stroll along the canal.

Also of interest in the area is Metamora's restored canal boat that makes frequent trips on the canal throughout the summer.

Leaving Metamora, the trail travels along the canal to Boundary Hill outside of Brookville.

Boundary Hill, a large excavation cut out of a hill by hand, was the boundary line between the Indians and the pioneer settlers in the Whitewater River area.

The last stop of the trip is in Brookville at the old railroad station which was rebuilt after the 1913 flood.

Each Saturday and Sunday will offer one 50-mile round trip from Connersville to Brookville. Departure and return schedules are 12:00 noon and 6:00 p.m. respectively.

For canoeing enthusiasts, the Whitewater Valley Canoe Rental will be one of the stops for the Whitewater Railroad. Canoeists may ride the train to Connersville (canoes will be carried on a special car designed for that purpose) and canoe back the West Fork of the Whitewater River to the Canoe Rental facilities.

Some of the railroad equipment possessed by the Whitewater Valley Railroad Company includes three ex-Erie railroad Stillwell Coaches built in 1934, one Erie wood sheathed caboose in restorable condition built in 1929, and one 1918 vintage Baldwin 4-6-0 ex-Louisiana and Arkansas.

In addition, the company expects to receive in the near future two Heisler geared locomotives built before 1920 and one ex-B.O. caboose circa 1902.

From the moment of boarding the Whitewater Valley Railroad to its final stop, adults and children alike are sure to enjoy the scenic and relaxing old-style trip through the past of the Whitewater River Valley area.

Memberships in the Whitewater Valley Railroad Company are open to everyone interested. Information on schedules and fares may be obtained by writing the Whitewater Valley Railroad Association Corporate Offices, Gift Shop P.O. Box 406 in Connersville 47331, or by telephoning 317/825-2054.

STRATEGY FOR DO-IT-YOURSELF MOVERS

Moving an entire household is never a snap. But you can make your move easier if you do a little preplanning - especially if you're going to move without professional help.

The first step for do-it-yourself movers? Become a box hoarder, says Jean Bauer, Extension home management-family economics specialist at Purdue University. And begin hoarding now if you plan to move at the end of the school year, when box collecting reaches its peak.

"The right packing boxes can make your move successful and the wrong ones can have the opposite effect," Mrs. Bauer notes. According to the specialist, the boxes you want are strong, small enough to handle, and as uniform in size as possible.

It's easier to carry something heavy if it's been packed in an oblong box, she continues. Square boxes are all right, but they may waste some space. Book boxes and boxes that have held frozen chickens are ideal.

But whatever the size of your boxes, be sure that you don't overpack them. Fifty pounds is the maximum that can be handled safely.

"Before you get carried away packing boxes, plan where you will store the packed boxes until moving day. A corner is best because it gives you room to move freely to and from the area," Mrs. Bauer says, adding that you shouldn't pack too early if you don't have space to store packed

Begin, she adds, by packing items that you don't use much. Books, seldom-used tools, and out-of-season bedding and clothing can be packed long before moving day.

As each box is packed, mark the outside of the box with its contents and the room the box should go to in your new home. For example, the box of china might be marked "China - dining room," she says.

Mrs. Bauer suggests that fragile items should be stacked together, and less breakable items be boxed together.

"China, glasses, and other dishes have a good chance of arriving safely if you pack correctly," the Purdue specialist continues. "Begin by cushioning the bottom of the box with cloth. Then stand plates on end separated by a cushion of newspaper or packing tissue. And wrap each glass separately and pack into a cloth-cushioned box."

What about big items? Furniture and appliances should be covered for protection, Mrs. Bauer says. Use blankets or rented bumper pads around anything that might be marred.

ZONING ISSUES

Marshall County Taxpayers Speak On Zoning

The following enumerated items more explicitly express our unanimous agreement on those points, which agreement is evidenced by our handwritten signatures on petitions now being circulated by the Marshall County Taxpayers:

1. We do agree with the theory of zoning and the need for it; however, rather than have poor zoning, we are better off with none at all. The state has dictated enough laws to try to live by without having the county dictate even more restricting laws which actually deprive us of our rights.
2. We submit that this zoning as it now stands is going to complicate matters further by adding to the already strained overload of cases before our courts now and will create a worse bureaucratic muddle than now burdens this county, state and nation.
3. We all have constitutional rights as citizens, home owners and property owners that give us opportunities to build homes or businesses. As long as we abide by state laws and regulations (Health and Sanitation codes, etc.), we should have the right to build homes and businesses, to expand existing businesses, and to plan future homes and businesses regardless of the zoning classification without being at the mercy of a Zoning Board.
4. Give us guidelines that protect against pollution, fires and other health and sanitation hazards, but that don't restrict new business or expansion of existing business. The Laws of

SENDAK RULES ON SUPPORT OF PLANNING COMMISSION

Indiana Attorney General Theodore L. Sendak recently issued an official opinion in which he stated that county governments may not force a town or township government to pay taxes to support an area planning commission against its will. Any taxes already paid for such projects will have to be refunded on request, the opinion said.

State Representative Nelson J. Becker (R-Logansport) requested that the Attorney General rule on the question, and the written opinion was the result. Sendak said that a 1967 Indiana law allows towns and townships to elect not to participate in planning commissions, and said counties do not have the right to impose taxes to support such a commission. Refunds on the taxes are authorized if a property owner makes a request within three years, Sendak said.

Supply and Demand have more than adequately dictated business growth in the past, irregardless of man-made laws, which are eventually forced to be amended or repealed according to the tides of change anyway in many cases.

5. Presently, businesses in agricultural zones will still be taxed as businesses, but won't be allowed to grow and expand as free enterprise businesses should. We must protect existing businesses' rights and provide for the right to start new businesses.
6. The law should be written for the man without great wealth, social status or political influence as equally as for those with.
7. The ordinance should specifically state in it, if it already doesn't, the "Grandfather Law:" He who has lived on the land for years is entitled to remain there no matter who settles around him. He cannot be petitioned off his land or "starved" or shoved out of business by those around him just because they might not like the farming, feeding or whatever business the long-term resident happens to operate.
8. If the farmer can't farm anymore, or if the son doesn't show an interest in continuing the family farm operations, should he be confined to a "Farm or sell out to someone who will" law? The ordinance needs to have flexibility built into it. Freedom of choice has been taken away from him by this zoning proposal.
9. The attempt to regulate minimum lot size, especially in the agricultural districts, will create a more disastrously wasteful effect by decreeing that those unfarmable areas such as wooded areas or unsuitable soil plots "shall be farmed," when they could be more effectively, economically and ecologically used for some other business purpose or just as a home site.
10. The ordinances as they stand now will create a serious economic blow not only personally to the small "non-conforming" businessman on a local level, but also, in a "mushroom" effect, to business in general on the county level. The loss of income from restriction of expansion will hurt the county's overall income from taxes as well as the economic stability and growth of the communities built up throughout the county because of the localized economic activity of these businesses.
11. "Democracy: Human dignity, economic freedom, individual responsibility: These are the characteristics that distinguish democracy from all other forms of government devised by man." —Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"If you will not fight for right when you can easily win without bloodshed; if you will not fight when your victory will be sure and not too costly; you may come to the moment when you will have to fight with all the odds against you and only a precarious chance of survival. There may be even a worse fate. You may have to fight when there is no hope of victory, because it is better to perish than live as slaves."
—Winston Churchill

Guidelines to Limit Expenditures by County Officials
The Passage of New Laws or Ordinances With the Consent of the Voters

Is Zoning Unconstitutional?

If the citizens of the United States of America had certain inalienable rights, how could these rights be taken away by an ordinance? Commissioners, Planning Commissions, County and State bureaucrats feel they have the right to abolish your constitutional rights—why? During the course of Comprehensive Zoning Planning meetings, statements were made by various appointed and elected officials such as, "We need zoning to protect the people from themselves." "The people of the county can't make wise decisions as to their futures." "We got to protect the people of the county from developers who despoil the land for farming." "We know what is best for the county." Some of the comments were also made public at the REMC meeting on Zoning March 21st, when a member of the plan commission stated that "We got to have laws to protect us from problems like the poor percolation at Lake Latonka." Well, that law will be in effect July 1, 1974. From that day on, the citizens of Marshall County will have to beg for permission to use their property for other than any use approved by the Zoning Ordinance.

Those who attended the planning commission meetings heard some very disturbing comments made by members of the Commission. These comments were made in the presence of newspaper reporters. Why weren't these comments printed? As an example, Planning Commission member Curt Middleton replied to a question. The question was, "How do you expect to pass such an ordinance in this county? It's Unfair. The people of the county will fight the ordinance." Mr. Middleton's reply was, "The people of the county will just have to learn to like it."

What kind of people do we have in county government? Well, it's time to find out. We need honest, hard working elected officials. We need a report from each official on his sources of income and whether or not the official has an outside business interest that deals with the county government in any form.

The citizens of the county need the right to force a referendum. We must have the right to control and eliminate ordinances by referendum.

What can the citizens of Marshall County do to protect their rights and property?

Number 1. Vote in the coming Fall elections. Remember, all three Commissioners signed the Zoning Ordinance. Vote for the man who will follow the wishes of the citizens of Marshall County.

Number 2. Cut out the statement attached to this page. Sign your name and address, and send it to Mr. S. R. Sarna, 724 West Jackson, Plymouth, Indiana 46563. Mr. Sarna will then register the statement with the County Auditor's Office.

One Commissioner Down And Two To Go

The Marshall County Taxpayers initiated a petition against the restrictive Zoning Ordinance which is being circulated around the county. During the Primary Elections the Marshall County Taxpayers had copies of their petition at the LaPaz Elementary School Gym for voters from North Township Precincts #1 and #2. The total vote, unofficially counted, was 428 votes. Of the 428 people who voted, 375 people signed the petition against the zoning ordinance. 14 people said they were for the ordinance and 39 people either weren't contacted or did not know enough about the zoning ordinance to make comment.

Breakdown As Follows:
83% Contacted Against
3% For
14% No Comment

Why do we have an unfair, restrictive ordinance? It's not because the people of the county want it.

The petition was also a contributing cause to the defeat of Mr. Don Baker, which was the goal of the Marshall County Taxpayers.

In future elections, the Marshall County Taxpayers will also work to defeat the two remaining commissioners, if they're still in office and try to seek re-election. All three of the Commissioners signed and approved the ordinance against the opinion and wishes of the people that they are supposed to represent.

Action Plans

The remaining Commissioners may finally decide that they were morally and officially wrong and repeal the ordinance. If the ordinance is not repealed, the following legal action may be taken:

1. Recall Election.
2. Legal action to stop the ordinance.
3. Legal action against the Commissioners for not representing the people of Marshall County as they are sworn to do.

CUT ALONG DOTTED LINE

To the Marshall County Commissioners and Planning Commission:

I am _____ I live in Marshall County at _____. I am signing this statement because I feel that I was not represented by the County Commissioners on the Zoning Ordinance. The zoning issue restricts private property rights and I feel that I have the right to vote on this issue. I also feel that I have the right to vote on any other controversial issue that affects my rights and the lives of my family.

GROUP QUESTIONS ZONING ORDINANCE REPRESENTATION

A group of Marshall County citizens have questioned the adequacy of representation of all affected citizens in the county during the recent hearings on the recently approved county zoning ordinance. The group is called the Marshall County Taxpayers and Research Group. Anyone interested in fighting unfair taxation and ordinances is welcome to attend meetings and participate in action groups. The meetings are held at the McCord UAW Union Hall next to Bennett's Restaurant in Plymouth on the west side of town. The meetings are open to the general public every Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m.

UDALL LAND USE BILL DEFEATED

The Udall Land Use Bill was recently defeated by the House of Representatives. President Nixon withdrew his support of the Udall bill because it was too restrictive on private property owners' rights and restrictive of small business and free enterprise.

Now, what about the Marshall County Zoning Ordinance which restricts property rights and will eliminate all small business in the rural areas? The zoning ordinance must be repealed. A new ordinance with reasonable zoning controls and the approval of the citizens of the county by means of a referendum is required in its place.

School Board

RESUME OF MEETING

The Culver Community Schools Corporation Board of School Trustees met Tuesday, June 18, at 8:00 p.m. Following approval of the minutes, the Board opened bids for gasoline, fuel oil, diesel oil and tires for the 1974-75 school year.

The following bids and/or communications were received: Standard Oil Division of Amoco Oil Company, stated Federal regulations controlled the allocation of volumes of most petroleum products; therefore in most cases they are precluded from submitting a bid. They did indicate they would continue to supply their customers with Federal or voluntary allocations. Laketon Asphalt Refining, Inc. submitted a bid for 125,000 gallons of #2 fuel oil for delivery to Culver Elementary School, Monterey Elementary School and Aubbeenaubbee Elementary School. The price was $0.2499 per gallon delivered. They also submitted a bid for 175,000 gallons of #2 diesel fuel oil for the total energy plant at Culver Community High School at a price of $0.2499 per gallon delivered. Laketon's price will rise or fall according to the established price on date of delivery. There were no other bids. It was the decision of the Board to accept the bid of Laketon Asphalt Refining, Inc.

The Board approved the recommended adoption of Social Studies textbooks for grades K-8 with the Silver Burdett series. Several different publishers of Social Studies texts were approved for adoption at the high school level.

Approval was given for book rental rates for the 1974-75 school year to be set as follows: Kindergarten - $10.00; grades 1, 2 and 3 - $17.00; grade 4 - $14.00; grades 5 and 6 - $15.00; grades 7 and 8 - $16.00. Book rates for high school students will vary according to type and number of subjects the student carries.

The School Board approved the purchase of a 10,000 gallon underground tank for storing gasoline to be used in corporation owned vehicles.

Consideration was given to the repair of the old chimney or smokestack at the Culver Elementary-Junior High building. The general feeling was to demolish the smokestack and build a new one. Further study will be given in this regard.

Final item on the agenda was the approval of claims for payment.

AMERICA'S BIGGEST BARGAIN

Eighty years ago the first bush lima beans like these cost 75 cents for just four beans. Today, you can buy these same beans costing 25 times less than they did 80 years ago.

The modern bush lima bean could easily claim distinction as America's biggest bargain. The most popular bush lima bean grown today is the famous Fordhook Lima Bean, growing regular-size lima beans on short, bushy plants which require no staking.

How many people realize, however, that when the forerunner to the Fordhook Lima Bean was first introduced 80 years ago, it sold at a packet price of 75 cents for four beans. What's more, it was a sell-out success. The grower sold all he had.

Today — 80 years later — you can buy the same kind of beans at a cost of 35 cents for 50 beans. That's about 25 times cheaper today than they were 80 years ago. How many other products today could make the same kind of claim?

Bush lima beans are a worthwhile crop for home gardens, since the beans are extra large, meaty, and the kind to eat as "butter beans." Limas should be planted well after danger of frost in a fertile soil preferably during a warm dry spell since the beans will rot if cold and wet conditions persist. They require a longer growing season than regular green beans — about 75 days. Pole limas take about two weeks longer.

When freshly cooked they have a whitish green tint and make a delicious meal. Also, the pods can be left to dry and stored for use during winter as "butter beans."

Planting should be in full sun with no shade in any part of the day. To get a good stand, the seeds can be sown close together — 3 inches apart — but thinned to 9 ins. apart, with two feet between rows.

During dry periods they should be watered heavily, and in order to conserve moisture in the soil some form of mulch — such as straw or grass clippings — is helpful.

Pole limas need much more room — and are capable of reaching unbelievable heights — as much as 50 feet. However, 10 ft. poles in tripod fashion are normally adequate, setting six to eight seeds around each pole.

It's quite an experience to sit down to your first meal of bush lima beans and to realize that if you had been a gardener 80 years ago, each bean was worth nearly 20 cents, and a mouthful could well represent $1.00. In this world of rampant inflation, it is some comfort to realize what a bargain seeds really are.

INDIANA GEOLOGICAL SURVEY, DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES

INDIANA'S LANDSCAPE 300 MILLION YEARS AGO

About 300 million years ago dense, steaming swamp forests covered much of southwestern Indiana. Throughout the 40 million years of the Pennsylvanian Period, tremendous thicknesses of vegetation accumulated in these vast semitropical bogs. Periodically the land subsided and the sea flooded the entire region, covering the peat-filled swamps with thick layers of sediments. When the seas retreated, forests again grew in rank profusion. The cycle was repeated numerous times. Finally the overlying sediments hardened into sandstones and shales. Time and the weight of these rocks changed the vegetation into beds of coal.

Today these fossil forests, as coal, represent Indiana's major mineral resource. About 25 million tons of coal, valued at $140 million, was produced in 1973.

"Gladys," said the boss, "who told you that you could neglect your office duties because I gave you an occasional kiss and pat?"
"My attorney," replied Gladys.

A speed-fiend we know bought a new car painted red on one side and blue on the other.

"What's the idea of doing your car up like that?" we asked.
"It's for when I get hauled up before the judges for speeding," said our young-man-in-a-hurry. "You ought to hear the witnesses contradicting one another."

"Don't you know what I mean when I hold up my arm," hollered the traffic cop as an old lady was about to cross the street against the lights. "I ought to," she replied. "I was a school teacher for twenty-five years."

"Mind nagging me a little? I'm starting to fall asleep."

We're in your hometown now.

Hometown, Indiana. The swing on the front porch. The screen door banging shut down the block. Basketball behind the barn. Cupping fireflies in Aunt Grace's mason jar. Fish fries and fireworks. Snowdrifts on back roads and ice rattling in the sycamores. And Sunday dinner with the family. That's Hometown, Indiana. Hook's is part of Hometown, Indiana.

In fact, we're in more than eighty-six hometowns throughout the state. We know that your hometown deserves dependable prescription service, dispensed by trained and professional pharmacists.

And we're in Culver too. Come meet your neighbors at Hook's. And let us show you how pleased we are that your hometown is our hometown.
