ACADEMIES CELEBRATE 50TH SUMMER HOMECOMING

Over 500 alumni of the Culver Summer Schools are expected to return to campus for Culver's 50th Summer Homecoming and the 10th anniversary of the Culver Summer School for Girls this weekend, July 26th through 28th.

BIG WEEK

This is going to be a big weekend for the Culver, with celebrations in Culver, Monterey, and at the Culver Academies. Many of us will want to be in three places at once, which leads only to confusion.

Speaking of confusion, have you ever been able to figure out the annual budgets of the various governmental bodies around us, or the school system? If you want a head start this year, look at the legal advertisement published in this week's Citizen. The disbursements of the Culver Community Schools Corporation are listed.

This advertisement is required by law so that you can see what is being done with your tax dollars. You can see what the school employees make, how much money goes for expenses, and other things. You might be interested, for instance, in the comparative salaries of teachers, and how the pay of teachers you know matches your personal estimate of their ability. Another interesting thing I always look for is the amount of money spent with businesses in the immediate area of the system as opposed to outside businesses. You can learn a lot from these ads, and they appear in papers like this one for your benefit and protection.

Overheard on the street, this conversation between two fishing tackle salesmen...the first reached into his sample case and drew forth a gaudy plug—striped, spotted, resplendent with all of the colors of the rainbow. The other man eyed it with suspicion.

"Do you sell many of those?...I wouldn't think bass would go for such a terrible contraption."

"Best plug in the line," said the first salesman, "You see, I don't sell them to the bass...just the fishermen!"

Which reminds me of an old saying. Most people don't fail. They just fail to plan.

Lots to do this week, so this is all for now. Be sure to drop by the Citizen office this Saturday and take a tour during our open house, and have some anniversary cake! Be seeing you.

The alumni, representing 38,000 former students who have attended the five Culver Summer Schools, will join with their families in a three-day program of activities. Alumni will participate in a golf tournament, sailing races, cruises around Lake Maxinkuckee, a picnic and a formal dance.

Throughout the weekend, alumni will also be involved in the demanding rigors of Culver's Dolphin and Tinny Minnie Awards program, in which they show their proficiency in skills acquired as Culver students and prove their athletic prowess in such sports as swimming, riflery, golf, tennis, riding and sailing. Requirements also include contributions to the Culver Summer Schools Alumni Association scholarship funds and admissions efforts.

Highlighting Saturday's activities will be the Woodcraft Council Fire at 8:00 p.m., in which the young Woodcrafters will portray McCutcheon's story of Indian Summer. A 6:30 p.m. Sunday garrison parade of nearly 1,000 Midshipmen, Troopers, Woodcrafters and Aviation Cadets concludes the Homecoming events.

...It Must Be THE LAKE WATER

By Bob Kyle

WILDLIFE is all right but not with a litter of 'coons cavorting right in the center of town. Monday morning they paid Lake Water a visit and devastated about half of his first crop of sweet corn. They always know just when it is ripe, and how to do it. Pulling down a stalk they rip it open, take a bite or two and go on to another. Don't try to salvage an ear bitten into as racoons are notoriously full of rabies.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Deck, living on the Hibbard Road just north of the Academy saw as they were coming from church what they thought were pheasants. When they put field glasses on them it turned out to be a small flock of wild turkeys.

This spring we have had 'possum, coon, rabbits galore and a larger than unusual scampering of squirrels and gophers, all with Bonine's mortuary at one end of the alley and St. Mary's Catholic Church at the other.

When the Wolfes acquired The House of a Thousand Candles they really made it over. They were a fun loving wealthy family who owned the Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch, a powerful newspaper politically. They sailed and fished and whiled away many happy hours with the Gignilliat, the Culver their home town of Wanamaker, a small town just southeast of Indianapolis.

Visiting friends in this city, the girls made the trip without trouble on ten speed bicycles. See story below. CITIZEN photo

They Bicycle To Culver

There is nothing nicer than taking a bike ride to visit a friend, but when Debbie and Therese Fillenwarth arrived in Culver Sunday night they had ridden their bicycles all the way from past Indianapolis.

Debbie (19), and her sister Therese (16) are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Fillenworth of Wanamaker, Indiana. This small town is a suburb of Indianapolis, and is about 20 miles southeast of the state capitol.

The girls left home on ten speed bicycles, described by Debbie as "Cheapie Specials" at 5:30 A.M. and arrived in Culver, tired but safe, eleven hours later. They rode in one hour shifts, taking turns riding with their back pack.

They aren't sure how many miles they rode. "Our speedometer broke after only two and a half miles," jokes Therese.

The girls came to visit Debbie Clyne of Indianapolis, and her cousin, Linda Clyne of Phoenix, both of whom are students in the Culver Academies summer school.

Before the trip the girls were thinking of riding to Florida next summer. Now, they're not so sure.

boys, and Blythe and Thomas A. Hendricks. Thomas was named after his illustrious ancestor who was a vice-president of the United States when Chester A. Arthur was president. Later they both became Indianapolis newspaper men and a close companion of mine. In 1931 they were radio broadcasters who introduced me at the opening of the Notre Dame stadium at South Bend when I was running the news end of the old News-Times.

In 1921 Bob Wolfe and I were ushers at Tom's wedding to Peg Cothrell of Indianapolis. Mrs. Terre Haute Tarkington Jameson, sister of Booth who wrote novels like The Gentleman From Indiana, Alice Adams, and The Magnificent Ambersons, and won Pulitzer prizes, was a statuesque woman and carried a shepherd's crook. It is an untruth that floated around for many years in Indianapolis that Mrs. Jameson was escorted down the aisle at Tom's wedding by an usher who, gallantly extending his shaky arm, blurted incoherently, "Come with me, my little Bo-Peep."

Now back to the spectacular Wolfes. They built a spooky basement, with grotesque painted walls. They invited guests to go down a flight of stairs which collapsed and slid the victim into a cage with a stuffed lion. Undoubtedly, this was copied from Hinky Dink and Bathhouse John's fun-saloon on South Clark Street, where they were adjoining aldermen in the Chicago Tenderloin.

Charles Hughes, a steel salesman, was the next occupant. He and his wife suffered a succession of tragedies, moved to Florida and never came back. Dr. and Mrs. Donald Reed, a registered nurse, were very kind and helpful in their last years, going to Florida for long periods to help them. (From time to time I will try to tell many untold tales about Lake Maxinkuckee.)

ABOUT 75 YOUNGSTERS hired to detassel seed corn became ill when they entered a field sprayed several hours before with Furadan insecticide near Knox last Thursday night. They complained of nausea and after being taken to the hospital were treated and released. One would think a huge organization with chemists and biologists would not be that careless...Mrs. Kenneth Henry has been appointed associate chairman of the Marshall

GOOD RESPONSE TO CALL FOR MAGAZINES

Mrs. Jane Taber Scruggs, Librarian at the Culver Public Library, reports a "wonderful response" to her call for magazines for migrant workers which appeared in a recent issue of the Citizen.

Mrs. Earl Graham is in charge of distribution of the magazines to migrant worker camps in the area.

BICENTENNIAL PLATES AVAILABLE IN PLYMOUTH

Robert K. Kyle, Marshall County Bicentennial Commission chairman, has announced that Indiana Bicentennial plates for automobiles are now available at the Plymouth License Branch, as well as branches throughout the state.

NOTICE

The Culver Women's Bowling Association will meet Thursday, August 1st, at 8:00 p.m. at The State Exchange Bank Cafeteria. All members are urged to attend.

MRS. SCHMOLL JOINS THOMAS REAL ESTATE FIRM

Mrs. Marjorie R. Schmoll of 2520 East Shore Drive has recently become a member of Thomas Real Estate of Culver. She has been a property owner in the Culver area since 1961. Last winter Mrs. Schmoll took the state Real Estate course at the Continuing Education Center at Notre Dame University in South Bend. She then went to Indianapolis this spring to take the State of Indiana Real Estate Commission Examination for salesmen. After passing this exam, she became eligible to join Thomas Real Estate. This firm is in its second year of handling town, farm, and lake property in the Culver area, and is staffed by Gerald Thomas, Broker, and Virginia Thomas, salesman.

MRS. CARTER TOURS AMERICAN WEST

Mrs. E.W. Carter returned recently from a twelve-day tour of the West, including South Dakota, Wyoming, and Nebraska. The 38 members of the escorted tour sponsored by Forlow Tours of South Bend visited points of interest in an air-conditioned motor coach. Sight-seeing included two days in Yellowstone National Park, the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, the Pipestone National Monument and the world famous Corn Palace in Mitchell, South Dakota, best known for its exterior mosaics comprised completely of seeds, grasses and grains. The design is changed every year.

Other highlights of the tour were the Badlands, the Wall Drug Store, which claims to be the largest drug store in the world, the Black Hills, Mount Rushmore, the famous Black Hills Passion Play at Spearfish, South Dakota and the Big Horn Mountains. In Cody, Wyoming, the group enjoyed a rodeo. While in Yellowstone National Park, a Scenic Cruiser Boat Ride and a Stage Coach Ride were included. It is estimated that the group saw 100 elk while in the park.

While in Grand Teton National Park, and old-time Western Musical was presented at Jackson, Wyoming. On their homeward journey, tours were made at the Stuhr Museum, Father Flanagan's Boys Town in Omaha, and the Amana Colonies, founded by a group of German immigrants in 1855 near Des Moines, Iowa. It was here the group enjoyed their farewell dinner, cooked and served by German women family style.

CANOE TRIPS A FEATURE OF CULVER SUMMER SCHOOLS

Canoeing down the Tippecanoe River on ten- and twenty-mile trips provides challenging fun and excitement for over 900 students of the Culver Summer Schools between the ages of 9 and 18.

The young people are divided into groups of eight, and an instructor rounds out the nine-member crew for the daily excursions. Students from three of the five Culver Summer Schools, the Naval School, the Summer School for Girls and the Woodcraft Camp paddle the meandering course to Beason Park, Culver's river camp about 20 miles southwest of the main campus.

MIDDIES TO VISIT NAVY TRAINING CENTER

Senior Midshipmen of the Culver Summer Naval School and the entire Culver Summer Naval School Band will comprise a small armada as they converge on the Great Lakes Navy Training Command and Wrigley Field Friday and Saturday, July 26th and 27th.

In their third and final year of the Summer Naval School program, the Midshipmen will be honored guests of the Great Lakes Navy Training Command and will receive a full tour of the famous Navy facilities. The Culver Summer Naval School Band will play the pre-game show and National Anthem for the Chicago Cubs-St. Louis Cardinals game Saturday at Wrigley Field.

WHAT IS TRUTH?

This was the question Pilate asked of Jesus (see John 18) when he was brought before him. Jesus said, "For this cause came I into the World, that I should bear witness unto the truth."

Golden Text: Deuteronomy 32:3-4 - "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect...a God of truth. TRUTH is the subject of the Bible lesson in Christian Science, which also includes "if God, the All-in-all, be the creator of the spiritual universe, including man, then everything entitled to a classification as truth, or Science, must be comprised in a knowledge or understanding of God, for there can be nothing beyond illimitable divinity," from the Christian Science Textbook.

Visit Indiana History

New Harmony A Monument To Communal Living Ideal

Indiana has many interesting and often unique historical attractions to offer Hoosiers and out-of-state travelers. One historical site well worth including in vacation plans this summer is the community of New Harmony in southwestern Indiana.

Over 150 years ago, New Harmony was the site of one of this nation's first experiments in communal living. Today, New Harmony reflects an aura of quiet beauty and simple charm to all who visit its several historical and unusual attractions.

In 1814 Father George Rapp brought his followers, the Harmonists, from Germany to settle in their 30,000 acre purchase 27 miles northwest of Evansville in the New Harmony community.

The Harmonists, holding property in common, built dormitory living quarters, a church, granary, brewery, sawmill and brick yard, and linen, cotton and oil mills.

With a population of approximately 1,000 persons, the Harmonists soon produced far more than needed by the commune members and began to market the surplus to the outside world.

By 1824 the Harmonists left the commune and Robert Owen purchased the land to begin a new experiment in communal living.

Owen believed that through improved environment, man's character and habits could also be improved. Education was to be the keystone of the settlement.

Educators and intellectuals came to New Harmony to develop their studies under Owen's leadership. With inhabitants like the "Father of American Zoology," Thomas Say, Joseph Neef, who helped bring the Pestalozzian educational system to the United States, and Dr. Gerard Troost, a Dutch geologist and one-time president of the Academy of Natural Sciences at Philadelphia, New Harmony became the site of the nation's first kindergarten, medical care for everyone in need, and the first women's club - the Minerva Society.

Although human nature got the best of the socialistic plan and the commune failed, national leaders in science and education stayed on to make permanent contributions to lawmaking and scientific research.

Today, visitors in New Harmony may browse through the old brick fort and granary, the Opera House and the Workingman's Institute which contains a museum and library of the period.

Two unique wood sculptures adorn the double doors that lead into New Harmony's Red Germanium Restaurant. Symbolizing the life and philosophy of Protestant theologian Paul Tillich, the sculptures were designed to reflect the mystery of life which Paul Tillich sought.

One figure depicts a young shepherd, with a lamb across his shoulder, expressing a feeling of closeness to the earth. The other figure is an aged prophet, carrying an owl, to typify the ancient classical symbol of wisdom.

A particularly interesting attraction built by the commune members is the labyrinth in New Harmony. Constructed with box-wood hedges, the intricate maze presented a challenge to young children to reach the shelter located in the labyrinth's center in order to develop their ability to be patient and to persevere.

Another fascinating site - in contrast to the buildings and structures of the 1800's - is the ultramodern design of the "Roofless" Church. The Church's name was inspired by French writer George Sand who once remarked that only one roof - the sky - was vast enough to embrace all worshipping humanity.

The shadow cast by the "Roofless" Church resembles that of an open rose, which was the symbol of the Harmonist commune.

New Harmony is in Posey County which is located in the extreme southwest corner of the state and is accessible from Indiana State Roads 68, 66, and 69.

Now is the time to have your Fall and Winter garments repaired before the busy season. Albert the Clothes Doctor.

Nappanee Festival Weekend

Pletcher Village Art Festival In Its Twelfth Year

Historic Amish Acres in Nappanee will present the 12th Annual Pletcher Village Art Festival Thursday through Sunday, August 8th through 11th, from 9:00 a.m. till dusk daily.

The festival will celebrate both Amish Acres' and Nappanee's Common Centennial this summer, with honorary judges, special Centennial Arts Contests, and the opening events of the Nappanee Centennial celebration. Old fashioned pioneer days, the mayor's recognition luncheon, the Centennial Ball and festival of faith day are all scheduled during the festival.

The four-day weekend was originated by the Pletcher Furniture Village in Nappanee as a local sidewalk art exhibit. The event expanded each year and has now grown into a full-fledged festival of art, entertainment, food and attractions for the whole family. This is the fifth year the festival has been held at the farm, an 80 acre visitor attraction developed around a restored Amish house and farm, which now includes a family style restaurant, gift shop, meat and cheese shop, refreshment center, and bakery.

The festival will take place in the tree-lined orchard and clover fields surrounding the Reception and Restaurant barns, and revolve around the Art Competition and the Art and Craft Marketplace.

Application packets have been mailed to more than 2,000 midwestern artists; other interested artists and craftsmen are invited to write for entry information.

The judges will present over 80 cash awards in adult, student, and children's divisions, totalling nearly $1,000.00 to artists in the competition, featuring a $200 Best of Show purchase prize. Richard Pletcher, originator and director of the festival, stated that nearly 1,000 paintings are expected this year, representing the work of over 300 artists. A special Nappanee Centennial Arts contest, open only to present and former residents of Nappanee, will be held this year.

Nearly 200 artists and craftsmen are expected to establish booths offering their wares and works for sale in a market atmosphere. Many of the most popular craftsmen are returning for their 10th year, including several portrait painters, glass blowers, leather craftsmen, doll makers, silhouette cutters, and sculptors. The entire Marketplace shopping area will be lighted for night shopping and sun umbrellas and tents will be available for artists to rent. Awards will be presented to marketplace participants as chosen by the Festival visitors. A $50 cash award goes to the winning booth, and an equal merchandise certificate will be presented to a winning voter by drawing.

Many attractions which have made the Village Art Festival widely popular are again planned, and music and entertainment will fill the summer air, although not all events take place every day.

The famous Stevens Puppets will periodically present the classic Punch and Judy for the young people. The Lew Gorce Orchestra will return to the festival stage entertaining the young at heart with their broad spectrum of music. Their performance is being provided by the Music Performers Trust funds of the American Federation of Musicians.

The Amish are descendants of a sect of Swiss Brethren founded by Jacob Ammann in the 17th century. Invited to America by William Penn to escape religious persecution, the Amish have prospered in their new land. Religious beliefs and customs prevent them from using automobiles, television sets, electricity, central heat and plumbing. Today the Amish way of life, their picturesque dress, folk customs, and religious beliefs make them a source of historical and social interest.

KYLE - From Page One

County Bicentennial Commission... Mr. and Mrs. John Mars and son and daughter-in-law were dining out last week. John, chairman of the Language Department at CMA, always seems to know what I am driving at finding fun and improvement around our many-sided community.

DON'T BE SWINDLED: If you think a mechanic has cheated you or a store has misrepresented its product, call free number 800-382-516, the State Attorney's office and its Consumer Protection Division will act on written complaints. This is a new law that is for your protection against fraud.

GARDEN HINTS: During a dry spell stay off the soil as much as possible, scuffle off weeds lightly just below the ground. City water won't help much because of its chlorine content, but will only hold plants. Mulch tomatoes, egg plant, and melons with discarded lettuce, beans, potato vines and early sweet corn. The last week in July is a good time to plant turnips, endive, both broad leaf Bavarian and crinkly, carrots, beets, Chinese cabbage, green beans and early (63 day) sweet corn. Nothing like it on a frosty morn.

Yes, We Have No Mosquitoes, And No Rain.

The Plymouth Pilot fell for the age-old canard and whiskered-gag (two columns worth) that tomatoes were growing on a potato plant. Ain't so. That was a potato that got its genes mixed and is growing both tubers and seed pods...Monday's rain here four-fifts inch and how it was needed.

"CHRISTMAS IN AUGUST" COMES TO CULVER THIS YEAR

This is the year for "Christmas in August," the Epsilon Nu Tri Kappa bazaar. Held every two years, the bazaar features hand-crafted items of every nature, from afghans to vegetables.

The bazaar will be held this year in the foyer of Eppley Auditorium on the Culver Academies' campus. A special brunch will be served at the Culver Inn from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. The bazaar itself will be held from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Proceeds from "Christmas in August" go to the benefit of Tri Kappa's many local projects, and also helps institutions around the state. Among the many organizations assisted by Tri Kappa are Riley Hospital in Indianapolis, Camp Riley for crippled children, State Mental Health Association, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, American Cancer Society, TB and Respiratory Association, Parkview Hospital in Plymouth, Walk For Mankind, Hoosier Arts Salon, local and state scholarships to colleges and vocational schools, emergency funds for children who need glasses or dental work or shoes, local library and playground equipment, and other local projects.

EXPERT REVIEWS SIGNATURE

SIGNATURES THE SAME

Interrupting a vacation to make a trip to Culver, Douglas M. Buck was retained Monday to make a determination of the validity of the signature on a withdrawal slip used to take money from the account of Mrs. Norma Riggelman.

Mrs. Riggelman told the Citizen last week that money had been withdrawn from her account without her authorization.

Fred Adams, executive vice-president of The State Exchange Bank, expressed concern that other savings account customers would fear for the safety of their money because of the story. "We would pay any amount of money to prove to people their money was safe with us," he said, explaining why the bank had borne the expense of bringing Mr. Buck to Culver to analyze the signatures on the bank records.

Buck, a Captain in the Indiana State Police, is the officer in charge of the Questioned Document Section of the I.S.P. Laboratory.

A 22 year veteran with the State Police, Burns has been involved in more than 17,000 disputed document cases.

He was asked to compare the signature on the withdrawal slip with other specimens from the bank files. "They were all written by the same hand," he stated.

John Deery, vice president of the bank, pointed out that other details as related to the Citizen in last week's article did not parallel bank records of the questioned transaction. The bank book was in the possession of the bank at the time of the withdrawal, and the withdrawal was made at an inside window, not at a drive-in window. An experienced cashier made a determination that the signatures were the same before the money was withdrawn. According to the expert, this determination was correct.

Summing up the bank's concern over this situation, Mr. Adams noted, "This is the largest small town bank in the world, and this measure of success was obtained by giving service. It was no accident."
