Police probe thefts

Local youths arrested

After an investigation by Culver police, a burglary and theft twosome has been uncovered and a Culver youth has been arrested on six counts as a result of the larceny.

A juvenile, whose name is being withheld by authorities, has been issued a summons linking him with the break-ins as well.

Michael Edward Craft, 20, RR 1 Culver, has been arrested by Culver police on counts of theft, and first, second and third degree burglary.

The Marshall County Juvenile Department has issued a summons to a 17-year-old Culver juvenile who allegedly was a partner in the break-ins.

Town Marshal Richard Woodward told the CITIZEN that Craft has signed an affidavit attesting to six break-ins in the Culver area. Five of the six took place on the evening of Oct. 24.

The other break-in reportedly occurred Oct. 17. It involved the theft of numerous tools and handyman equipment, an automobile battery, a tool box and a chain saw from the Wayne Bishop residence, Burr Oak.

Woodward estimated the value of the stolen property at over $750.

The five Oct. 24 break-ins Craft and the juvenile have been linked with are:

The theft of two 10-speed bicycles from the Michael Chihak residence, 109 Lake Shore Drive. They were valued at $250.

Robert Black, 422 Lakeview Street, told police a citizens band radio and 8-track car tape player were stolen from his auto parked at his residence. Estimated value of the two items is $300.

Richard Byfield, 515 North Liberty, reported to Culver police that on the evening of Oct. 24 a tool box and numerous tools were stolen from his auto parked at the Liberty Street address. Byfield estimated the loss at $200.

The same evening, four wheels and four tires were stolen off an automobile parked on the Hatten Motor Sales lot, 110 West Lake Shore Drive. According to Woodward, the value of the wheels and tires is $200.

Besides the local break-ins, Craft and the juvenile have also been cited as suspects regarding several break-ins in Fulton, Pulaski and Starke counties.

There have been no arrests in these cases, however.

Woodward explained to the CITIZEN that James Caudill, assistant town marshal, was responsible for the apprehension of Craft and the youth after he received a complaint call from Monterey.

According to the report, two unfamiliar youths were driving around the Monterey area. Upon investigation by Caudill, Craft and his cohort were found in the auto.

Two guns allegedly belonging to Craft were also found in the auto at the time of investigation.

The duo was immediately taken under arrest and questioned at which time the juvenile was referred to Marshall County authorities and Craft admitted to the six counts.

Arraignment for Craft is scheduled for Friday, Dec. 13, in the Superior Court of Marshall County.

Most of the stolen property taken in the burglaries and thefts has been recovered; however, the location of some items remains unknown. It is assumed by Woodward it was sold to what he called a "fence."

The investigation will continue, according to Woodward, as there are several other local break-in cases of similar nature which have not been solved by the local authorities.

Students view School Board meeting

Government students at Culver Community High School attended the School Corporation Board of Trustees meeting last week to observe how the meetings are conducted.

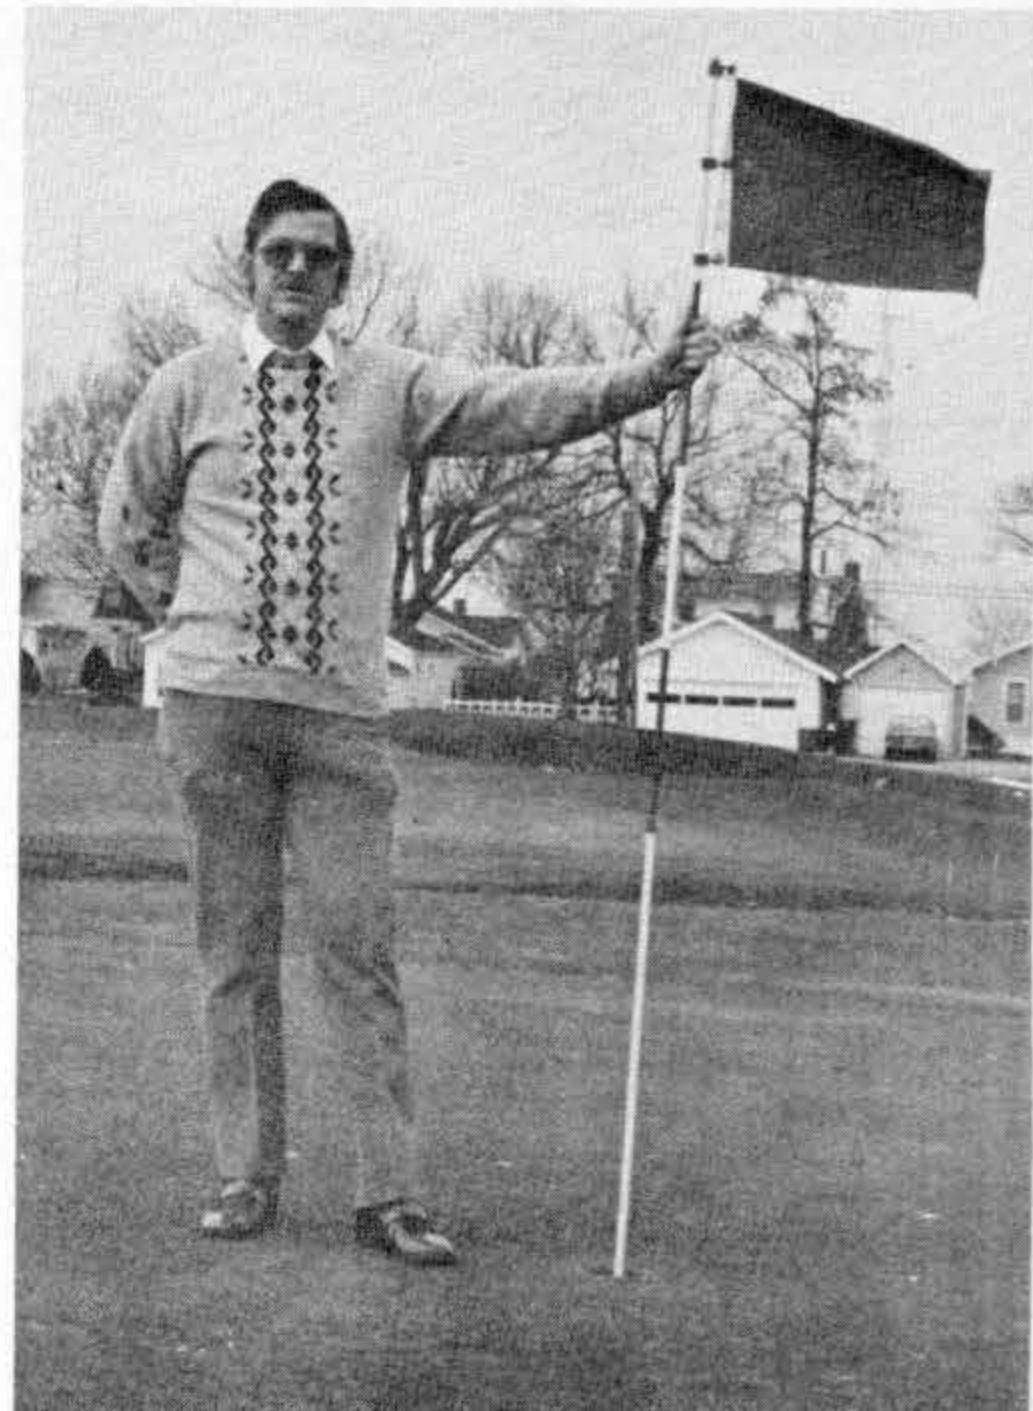

A.F. Allen, superintendent, explained the function of the meeting and showed the students some of the items of business to be conducted on the agenda for the evening.

The Board approved the purchase of a re-built industrial type gasoline pump for use in pumping gasoline into school owned vehicles. Another item was the consideration to change the retirement policy on all non-instructional personnel. Recommendation was made by the Administration to retire all non-instructional personnel in the year in which they reach the age of 65. No final decision was reached, the matter is being studied further by Board members.

Two appointments to the Culver Public Library Board were deferred to the School Board's next regular meeting, Dec. 17.

THE OSBORN CENTER is a reality! And Bob Kyle, along with some important people to the Center prove it. Kyle tore down the "For Sale" sign in front of the Center while Mary Belle Kemple, salesman for Clay Smith and Assoc. Realtors, handed the keys to the Center over to Mildred Kyle, president of Osborn Center, Inc. Also on hand were Margaret Carter, secretary of Osborn Center, Inc. and Thomas O'Brien, the Center's first resident. O'Brien formerly lived in the building when it was the old Hotel, but was forced to move nearly two years ago when it was closed. He has been reassigned his room #6.

Kenneth Brandenburg

Country Club selects Brandenburg as Maxinkuckee golf pro

John Tucker, president of the Maxinkuckee Country Club, has announced the appointment of Kenneth Brandenburg as the new Director of Golf.

Brandenburg replaces Elmer Kelsey who is retiring after 13 years in the position.

The 26-year-old Brandenburg started working on the golf course as a freshman in high school in Liberty. Since graduation in 1966, he has worked as the assistant professional-superintendent at the Liberty Country Club, assistant professional at the Greentree Country Club in Carmel and has spent the last five years as the assistant professional at the Tippecanoe Lake Country Club in Leesburg.

According to Brandenburg, he will be responsible for all aspects of the golf course operation, including grounds maintenance, professional instruction, handling merchandise and organizing and operating tournaments.

His plans are to move to Culver in the Spring and to open the course as soon as the weather permits. In describing the local Club facilities, Brandenburg said: "It's a well laid out course with rolling hills and well-designed holes. There is a little bit of an English look in that there are larger hillsides."

He stated that the nine-hole grounds offer "quite a challenge to play."

In regard to proposed changes for the course, Brandenburg explained that they are still under consideration. At present, he is working on methods to alleviate the water problem.

Tucker stated that Brandenburg has had considerable experience in all phases of golf course operations and maintenance. "His appointment to his new position is a welcome addition to the Maxinkuckee Country Club and the Culver community."

PENSION REFORM ACT

In keeping with provisions of the Pension Reform Act of 1974, Fred E. Adams, executive vice president, announced this week that The State Exchange Bank, Culver, Plymouth, Argos; and the Farmers State Bank, LaPaz, will accommodate Individual Retirement Accounts beginning Jan. 1.

Discussing provisions of the new Public Law 93-406, Adams said, "The Pension Reform Act of 1974 may be of special importance to every person not covered by a retirement plan other than Social Security."

"The new law provides a complete new concept. It provides that any employee or self-employed individual may establish his own retirement fund as of Jan. 1, 1975. Each year 15 per cent of a person's earnings up to $1,500 can be saved. Individuals so participating pay no tax on the money or any earnings thereon until they withdraw it from their retirement account."

Den 3 Cub Scouts tour Citizen office

Nine members of Cub Scouts, Den 3, say they better understand the workings of a newspaper following their recent tour of the CITIZEN office. Den Mother, Dorie Black, brought the boys to the newspaper as a part of her program to acquaint the scouts with the various business operations within the community.

CITIZEN Editor Peg Graham explained the methods followed when preparing a paper for an offset press, demonstrated the use of various equipment and allowed the boys to try their hand at setting type. The demonstration of photography techniques in the darkroom was a favorite of the group.

A visit to the mailing room concluded the tour where the scouts watched the mailing plates being prepared and the addressing equipment in operation.

Those who participated in the tour were: Jerry Biddle, Michael Black, Ty Crum, Scott Ditmire, Jeff Jenkins, Rick Kersey, Brad Knepper, Ron Tanner and Bobby Tillman.

Farm Bureau chief defends government policies

"Farm Bureau's open market system policy has been right for both farmers and food consumers. It will continue to be right if this system can be kept unencumbered from controls that would tamper with its benefits or destroy its effectiveness," said George Doup, Columbus, in his annual president's message at the Indiana Farm Bureau convention in Indianapolis Monday.

The Farm Bureau leader said those people who are "clamoring for more government intervention" and calling for "government to exert a heavier hand in managing markets and prices" are wrong. In his speech "Will Our Market System 'Weather'?" Doup said the system will survive recent stresses and problems if allowed to function.

The Farm Bureau president cited export embargoes, sudden shifting of trade policies, government-owned grain reserves, excessive agricultural imports, unfair pricing by merchandisers and certain labor union tactics as factors that can damage the market system for farmers.

Food Conference

Commenting on the recent World Food Conference, Doup said it is going to take more than criticism and "pleas from complaining countries to solve the world food problems."

He listed several Farm Bureau suggestions on the problem, including: economic incentives to food producers to increase productivity; education for farmers in other nations; credit for those farmers for investments in machinery and other input items; research to find improved varieties of crops; land policies to encourage producers to manage more efficiently in other countries and improved transportation and marketing systems in those countries.

Food Prices

Doup defended Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, who has been criticized by some people lately, saying that having President Gerald Ford fire Butz would not produce more food nor bring down prices. Tactics such as consumer boycotts or killing baby calves are non-productive, also, the farm leader emphasized.

Taxes

Closer to home, the Farm Bureau president said Indiana's restructured tax system is working satisfactorily, and substantial property tax relief has been achieved.

On federal estate taxes, Doup said the present exemption of $60,000 is "grossly outdated," and should be changed by Congress. In particular, the method of valuing farmland and woodland should be changed so that such real estate is valued at its current use, rather than its highest potential use, as is the law now.

Referring to real estate reassessment scheduled for 1976-78 Doup suggested the procedure should be delayed a year or two until such tools as county plat books and soil surveys are compiled and completed.

Other Issues

Efforts to establish check-off programs (funds collected from the sale of farm commodities) to promote production and sale of farm products must be carefully studied, the Farm Bureau leader warned.

Government mandated commodity check-off programs are vastly different from the strictly voluntary programs under which farmers have operated for years, primarily on milk, poultry products and livestock.

New check-off programs should be determined through grower referendums, and should not finance lobbying or political activity, Doup emphasized.

Farmers and all citizens are being subjected to more and more regulations affecting their farming, business or personal lives, said the Columbus farmer. Farmers and others are concerned about environmental quality and public safety, but too many regulations have resulted in increased expenses and unnecessary inconvenience in our daily lives. It is up to the public to avoid this kind of over-regulation, Doup said.

The railroad financial crisis has brought on much discussion of answers to the problem, he observed. The Railway Reorganization Act seems to have some positive value, and may result in a Northeast US rail reorganization plan, including Indiana. Transportation concerns for agriculture also apply to truck and water transportation, but it will probably be up to the next Congress to take action, Doup said.

Everyone is fed up with inflation, the farm leader said. Farmers are especially hard hit by the rising prices of almost everything they buy. A positive attitude by individuals and government will go a long way in whipping inflation, Doup said.

If we assume that inflation will run rampant, this justifies its existence. Farmers will certainly do their part in increasing production and productivity, with a better break from the weather and cooperation from the government, he concluded.

News About Books

A subject fairly new to all of us and one which we all hear discussed more and more in the future is a bill of rights for children. Richard Farson has just written BIRTH-RIGHTS. Some of the subjects defined and explained are the right to a single standard for adults and children; the right to alternative home environments, education, freedom from physical punishment; the right to economic and political power and the right to justice. Clearly written and hardhitting is this compelling book.

J.K. Lasser in YOUR ESTATE AND GIFT TAXES, explains how you may, through careful advance planning, conserve the estate, large or small, which you have worked a lifetime to build.

A story of a Chincoteague pony, HUNDRED ACRE WELCOME, was written by the very well known naturalist, Ronald Rood. Not only is this book about a unique pony and its fate, it also helps us to see and understand the wealth of nature's life which we tend to overlook.

Two fiction books are SONG OF

CORPUS JURIS, a crime selection by Joel Hensley, and ANCIENT MY ENEMY, a collection of short stories of science fiction by Gordon R. Dickson.

The story of the Andes survivors, ALIVE, by Piers Paul Read is one book that we have waited an over-long time for the publisher to send.

If advice is needed at this time for your house plants, the famous "plant lady" of educational television has just finished her latest book, MAKING THINGS GROW, which is a practical guide for the indoor gardener. Another book acquired by Thalassa Cruso is MAKING THINGS GROW OUTDOORS.

Paris, 1941, and 10-year-old Jo Joffo's mother has stitched yellow stars to all their clothing. Suddenly they are Jews. Without papers and only their knapsacks, the family escapes. A BAG OF MARBLES, by Joseph Joffo is a tale of survival with lots of thought and a bit of humor which no reader will be likely to resist.

FAMILY SECRET, by Rona Jaffe, is the saga of Adam Saffron, a young immigrant who sets out to make a fortune and founded a dynasty. To all the Saffron family, Adam is the most important person in the world and their home, Windflower, is the world.

Published by The American Heritage Company is a new Horizon Guide to GREAT HISTORIC PLACES OF EUROPE. A wonderful book to use when you plan your own tour of Europe.

With an introduction by Richard M. Scammon, the book THE REAL AMERICA, by Ben J. Wattenberg, is a surprising examination of the state of the Union.

BABE RUTH AND THE AMERICAN DREAM, by Ken

Sobol, tell how the baseball promoters and the sportswriters made the Ruth legend, but it also tells the raw truth behind that heroic legend.

A surprising, mysterious and powerful book now on the Best Seller list is TALES OF POWER, by Carlos Castaneda. This is an author that writes deeply moving works on sorcery.

Emily Kimbrough has titled her new book TIME ENOUGH, a happy and delightful account of a two-week cruise on a converted barge on the river Shannon. Her large audience will welcome this latest "travel talk" on Ireland.

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

By Clay R. Pollan

Note planetary ruler of your birth symbol

FOR WEEK BEGINNING MONDAY, DEC. 16, 1974

★ If your birthday occurs this week . . .

. . . you strive to make a good impression, and are usually successful in doing so. You need and like people and handle others in an adroit, amiable manner. Strongly attracted to the opposite sex, you tend toward impulsive love affairs. Sometimes you are too easily influenced by others.

 Aries | Mar. 21 - Apr. 19 |  Pluto

This week is favorable for everything except new friendships and romance. In your work, a friendly discussion with a superior would pay off. If you have talent for writing, speaking, singing, this can be developed. A matter connected with your home moves in your favor. Hold off on making trips.

 Taurus | Apr. 20 - May 20 |  Venus

Someone new in your life may prove to be a little more than you can take. A temperamental person may try to pressure you. Don't allow it. Put this person in his/her proper place. It's a time when unexpected visitors will throw home routine out of gear. Forget disturbing gossip you've heard recently.

 Gemini | May 21 - June 20 |  Mercury

You could take some action now that would bring an end to a romance or even marriage. Selfishness must be submerged or you will come out the loser. A psychic impression may be amazingly accurate. Good news may reach you. Act on it at once. Don't tamper with defective machinery or appliances.

 Cancer | June 21 - July 22 |  Moon

Keep all work neat and accurate, check everything closely before releasing it. Your special hope is favored. You may find loyalty where you least expected it. Do not press a business matter or try to solve a domestic tiff. Harsh words could lead to swift actions, so be careful what you say.

 Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22 |  Sun

This is a time for silence and caution in handling anything remotely dangerous. It's not a good idea to air complaints or even question other individuals. Stay near to your usual base and follow routine strictly. Avoid making a promise that could be difficult to carry out. Patience pays off.

 Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22 |  Mercury

Look ahead with pleasure to a trip you may take soon. Visit people you love and whose company you enjoy. Travel is under fortunate influences, especially if accompanied by a youngster. If you depart, make sure you are taking the inexpensive route. Danger lurks in dark places. Travel in the daytime.

 Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22 |  Venus

Taking time off during the week for solitude, minor tasks, reading, writing personal letters and grooming musts, is a good idea. Romantic serenity and emotional security are starred favorably. Your responsibilities may seem too heavy. Take things one at a time. Use spare time to finish a prolonged project.

 Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21 |  Mars

This is a time to put your skills to practical use. All work related to writing and communication will be benefited. Love relations as well as business partnerships are accented. A quarrel can be bitter and bring a loss of prestige. Accidents are possible. Make sure transportation facilities are safe.

 Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21 |  Jupiter

A new relationship could start around this time and will be very important to your future. Romance needs a shot in the heart and this is the time to do it. Cultivate the company of people from distant places. A mystery concerning an associate will be cleared up. Ask no advice. Be brief with all.

 Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan. 19 |  Saturn

Generally good aspects. Shop, find bargains in small items, indulge a whim or two about clothes. A talk with a business associate may produce a new opportunity. Keep a check on what youngsters are up to. Try a new system for budgeting your money — you'll save more. New contracts will prove fruitful.

 Aquarius | Jan. 20 - Feb. 18 |  Uranus

This is a time when friends may well set a bad example, lead you into extravagance because of their irresponsible attitude. Older people may not approve of your behavior. A plan you've worked on may meet with temporary disapproval. Don't pay unless you have checked either goods or work.

 Pisces | Feb. 19 - Mar. 20 |  Neptune

Do not rush anything, even though you feel some need to do so. At your place of work, don't complain and be cooperative. If things lag, crack the whip. Avoid "mad cap" schemes which are put to you suddenly. Mishaps are likely if you hurry. Be careful in handling sharp-edged things.

CARE OF CHRISTMAS CACTUS

Whether you're giving, receiving or already have a Christmas cactus, you should be prepared to give this sometimes temperamental holiday plant the right kind of attention. Its brilliant pink flowers which hang gracefully from the ends of flat-stemmed branches are well worth the effort. So named because it customarily sends forth its luscious blooms around mid-December, Christmas cacti have been known to blossom several times a year and they are usually a joy to their owners year round.

The planting mixture for this plant should be humus soil and the pot should be on the smallish side as the plant likes to be root-bound. Winter, spring and summer, the soil should be kept consistently moist, but never so soggy that stems weaken and rot. In the fall (just before blooming time, especially), water more moderately and allow soil to dry between waterings. Although you might want to shade it somewhat in summer, in all other seasons the plant likes full sunlight, but coolish temperatures. A spot on a sunny window sill, close to the glass, is ideal.

Now, for that special treatment. In early September, when you start watering less, make sure your Christmas cactus is kept in total darkness (NO artificial light) for at least 12 hours every night. (Put it to sleep in a dark closet even at night if necessary.) Also, keep it away from any heating outlets. Be sure it gets its cool dark beauty rest every night until it blooms, or it might not flower at all.

When it matures, the Christmas cactus has very long pendulous branches which look most glamorous arching down from a hanging pot. You can propagate the plant by cutting off the stems (make sure the cuttings are at least three segments long) and rooting them in soil. Cuttings won't bloom for at least a year, though, so plan ahead if you want to make gift plants.

Scrutinize budget before buying

It may not be too late to rescue your budget from the January doldrums—even if Santa Claus is coming to town.

"Before you buy another gift, give your Christmas budget careful scrutiny," says Jan Armstrong, extension consumer education specialist at Purdue University.

This is essential in this time of shrinking dollars and budget stress, Dr. Armstrong says, adding that nothing daunts a giver's cheer like anxiety about paying the bills.

"If your family is typical," she explains, "you will have about 20 names on your gift list and will spend about $200 on gifts this year."

But watch out! There is more to come. Gifts to babysitters, secretaries, the boss, the clergyman. Greeting cards, postage, gift wrap, decorations. Add to these the cost of gift exchanges—both your children's and yours.

And holiday food and drink—especially if you do any entertaining—will be more expensive than ever this year.

But you can trim the budget as well as the tree, the specialist notes. All it takes is planning. Plan with care and you can inject a little joy back into what may have become a joyless obligation.

First, give your gift list careful consideration. If you can cut it down, do. If you cannot, at least look for ways to save on the gifts you buy.

"Look for unusual but inexpensive gifts. For a gardener, extraordinary flower bulbs. For the compulsive reader, a low-cost special gift subscription to a magazine or newspaper," she suggests.

Also, you can save money by getting the proper clothing sizes before you shop for gifts of clothing. That way, you can pick out clothing at sales prices—without having to fear the "no return" policy.

Speaking of sales, the specialist suggests that you start shopping for Christmas 1975—right after Christmas 1974. July clearance sales are also another good time for inexpensive Christmas shopping.

"If you are the creative type, you can save by making gifts.

Even beginning seamstresses, cooks and woodworkers can turn out gift-worthy products if they look for simple projects."

Another cost-cutting idea: chop your card list to include only those people who are significant in your life. And eliminate sending cards to those on your gift list.

"But remember that cards to children and elderly people have special meaning for them."

You might consider sending cards throughout the year instead of a big Christmas mailing, she adds. That way, you maintain contact with your friends throughout the year—on Easter, Fourth of July, even Halloween.

Another inflation-fighting step is to do without a few things. For example, you might just have to decide not to give the big party. Make it an intimate affair for close friends instead.

Or, you might have to make do with last year's long skirt and other party apparel.

"The trick is cutting the costs without cutting family ties and relationships with friends. They are really the most important parts of the Christmas spirit," she concludes.

Children learn by Christmas shopping

I want, I want, I want. After hearing your child express an endless stream of wants, it is sometimes a relief to hear him ask, "What can I give?"

The question is more than a sign of sharing. It is an opportunity to teach your child about buymanship—the art of being a good consumer, says Jean W. Bauer, extension home management-family economics specialist at Purdue University.

"Even four and five-year old children should understand what money means. And they should begin to learn how to choose items that bring satisfaction," she says, adding that Christmas is an ideal time to teach these all-important lessons.

This Christmas be ready when your pre-schooler asks, "What can I buy for Mommy or Daddy?" Answer him with a few gift suggestions, carefully thought out in advance.

"Suggest gifts that are simple and familiar to your child. And keep the price low; a dollar or two is plenty for a young child to handle."

The amount of money the child spends should be geared to his ability, she adds. As your child gradually becomes capable of handling money, the amount can be increased.

With ideas in mind—and perhaps written down in list form—you are ready to take your child shopping.

"This is a vital part of your educational venture, so plan your shopping trip carefully," the specialist says, listing several suggestions:

• Go when you are not hurried and can devote yourself to the child's gift list.

• Shop when the stores are not crowded.

• Schedule your shopping after your child's nap or when he is apt to be in a good mood.

• Keep the experience short. Do not shop for more than two gifts in one shopping trip.

• Let your child carry the allotted money in his pocket.

"When you arrive at the store, look for the gift ideas you discussed at home," she adds. "Help your child find items that are in his price range."

What if there are several acceptable choices? Let your child choose, is the specialist's advice. He may have to choose between two items or something more subtle—such as two colors.

"Let your child give the money to the salesperson and receive the change," Bauer goes on to say. "This teaches him the direct relationship between money and goods."

Taking charge of the gift in these ways helps your child feel he has really accomplished something.

Warm Christmas Greetings from Lois and Warren Curtis

Beautiful ideas

A Very Special Christmas

Why not give a pre-Christmas present? Chances are many of your special friends would really appreciate a gift of Christmas decorations for that tree-to-be.

When you're gift shopping, remember that you are buying something for somebody else, not yourself. Consider the other's tastes and his or her particular needs. If somebody has a fabulous wardrobe, don't buy her just another blouse. Think of a unique accessory like a bright scarf or an unusual pin that could beautifully highlight any outfit.

If you're bringing a gift for a lady, it makes sense to think of scents. And especially if you aren't sure of her particular favorites, try a variety package like the enchanting Spray Fragrance Quartet by Houbigant, which includes one ounce flacons of Chantilly, Quelques Fleurs, Ideal, and Tea Rose.

No matter what gift you're giving, you can lend it a personal touch by wrapping it creatively and including a greeting card of your own design. Be an artist with ribbons, bows, and wrapping paper...and be a poet with sentiments that fit your feelings about your special relationship with the object of your affections.

Tools: terrific fix-it idea for troubled Christmas gift lists

You have got to give old Mr. Claus credit. He has come up with a way to please your husband on Christmas morning—and speed up that fix-it job you have been requesting.

The suggestion? Give tools. And, says Sandra Shank, extension housing specialist at Purdue University, it is a versatile idea.

"Tools come in a variety of prices," Shank notes, adding that some make major gifts, others stocking stuffers.

Some inexpensive but ever so handy tools include utility knives, measuring tapes, putty knives, nail sets, screwdrivers and needlenose pliers. They are the perfect size for Christmas stockings, and they are always handy around the house.

Or you might give an assortment of screws and nails. Or how about picture-hanging supplies? Put such items in a Christmas stocking, and you will be prepared when odd jobs pop up during the year.

Looking for something bigger to give? You might try "an assortment of small items packaged in a brandy snifter, a shop waste basket, a plastic bucket or even a tool chest," the specialist says.

Or, for a special gift, give an electric sander, drill or saw.

"Another good idea might be a saw or two," Shanks says. Check the tool box to see if it contains three basic saws:

*Crosscut saw. This is the large hand saw that you see most. The blade is about 20-26 inches long, and there are about 7-12 teeth per inch of blade. For all purpose use, choose a 26-inch blade with 7-8 counts per inch.

*Hacksaw. This type is used for cutting metal. The blade is changeable and has 18-32 points per inch.

*Keyhole or compass saw. This saw is used to start cuts in the center of a board or panel from a drilled hole.

NEWS Of Energy Conservation

TURN ON THE CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

America is dreaming of a bright Christmas, just like the ones we used to know! And the Christmas of '74 should be just that. Now that the energy crisis is under control, there will be no ban on Christmas lighting, and Americans will be free to use their imagination to create home and tree decorative schemes using colored patterns of light.

According to Peter Gilbert, president of the decorative Lighting Guild of America, "The entire nation suffered through a dark Christmas last year when the President announced that he was banning outdoor Christmas lights—and the spirit usually evident was missing when it was sorely needed." Further, Gilbert believes that the action taken last year was unnecessary even then. Outdoor Christmas lights use only 1/40 of one percent of the nation's annual energy output. This figure is so small that it was overbalanced by the negative effect of the lack of Christmas joy that bright lights usually symbolize.

Last year, people made the mistake of thinking that indoor lights were banned. This was not the case. And even if they had been used, they would have used a very small amount of electricity. Furthermore, if colored lights were used on an indoor tree, chances are white room lights would be out, and there actually might have been a saving of electricity.

But don't look back to last year's dark Christmas. This year, turn your dreams of a bright Christmas into a reality. The holiday season is a time for merriment that shows. Bring out the lights and share your colorful imaginings with all your neighbors!

Despite loss, CCHS showed well

Culver's varsity basketball team dropped to North Judson 103-75 Saturday night, however, Coach Ken Hass wasn't at all unhappy with the Cavaliers' play.

"It was a good ball game and I think we played extremely well under the circumstances," said Hass.

He was talking about a major height differential between the two ball clubs.

North Judson's claim-to-fame this year, basketball wise, is their tall team. Four of the starting five Bluejays are over 6'2".

"North Judson's really only advantage was Eckert, their 6'10" center. After they took him out of the game for a rest, we didn't have any problems playing good ball and scoring points," said Hass.

The CCHS Cavaliers held the Bluejays of North Judson without scoring while the skyscraper center sat the bench. During that time CCHS's squad popped in 10 points, which demonstrated that without Eckert, they could have had a chance at the game.

Hass explained he thought the

Varsity wrestlers now 1-1

The varsity wrestlers at Culver Community High School have an even record this year at 1-1, just into their season.

They passed by Bremen Dec. 3 with a score of 41-32, but Rochester's strongmen rallied past the Cavaliers 36-21 Dec. 5.

Team results for the CCHS matmen and their opponents are as follows:

Culver vs. Bremen

E. Ruiz (C) dec. over Adams (B), B. Holbrook (C) pinned Angilar (B), B. Pennington (C) win by forfeit, P. Ruiz (C) win by forfeit, D. Ringen (C) dec. over Hueni (B), D. Vujnovich (C)

RUIZ CHOSEN FOR THE WEEK

Eloid Ruiz, a 98-pound sophomore at Culver Community High School, has been selected as this week's Wrestler of the Week by Coach Ron Anderson.

Ruiz, most commonly known as "Cricket," was selected as a result of his improvement over last year's performances.

Last week he chalked up two victories for his record: a 3-2 decision over Bremen's Adams on Dec. 5 and a pin to opponent Egger of Rochester.

JUNIOR HIGH WINS TWO

Culver Junior High School Indians traveled to Caston last Tuesday and brought two victories back to Culver.

The eighth graders won their second game of the season by a 33-24 score. All 16 boys got to see plenty of action as Culver led from the tip off to the final gun. Scorers for the Indians were: M. Wolverton, 15; Mills, 7; Ransom, 4; Salinas, 2; Newman, 2; Kozlowski, 2; Fieldhouse, 1.

The seventh grade won their first game of the season by a 40-29 score. Seventh graders got on the winning track with a big 30-point second half. Scoring for the seventh graders were: White, 9; James, 8; Gast, 7; Wagner, 15; Lindvall, 2; Farmer, 1.

The next home game for the Culver Junior High Indians will be against Winamac Monday, Dec. 16, at 6:30 p.m. The Culver Junior High Pom Pom Girls will perform at half time.

pinned J. Martin (B), D. Minix (C) dec. over Whiteman (B), W. Bean (C) pinned Fox (B), Zillman (B) pinned J. Ahlenius (C), Jacobs (B) pinned B. Taber (C), Hall (B) dec. R. Salary (C), L. Boyne (C) draw with Bondurant (B) and Young (B) pinned J. Wentz (C).

In exhibition wrestling against Bremen: Darr (B) dec. over C. Hart (C), Jones (B) dec. over M. Shock (C), McPherron (B) pinned W. Kroft (C), Read (B) pinned M. Doeppel (C) and Baker (C) dec. over Klug (B).

Culver vs. Rochester

E. Ruiz (C) pinned Eggers (R), Johnson (R) maj. dec. over B. Holbrook (C), Plath (R) dec. over B. Pennington (C), P. Ruiz (C) dec. over Rick Green (R), D. Ringen (C) maj. dec. over McGee (R), Klingenberg (R) pinned D. Vujnovich (C), D. Minix (C) dec. over Hooker (R), W. Bean (C) dec. over Plath (R), Owen (R) pinned J. Ahlenius (C), B. Taber (C) draw with Horban (R), Ludwig (R) pinned R. Salary (C), McCray (R) dec. over L. Boyne (C) and Horban (R) pinned J. Wentz (C).

Exhibiting wrestlers against Rochester: M. Shock (C) pinned King (R), J. Simmons (C) pinned Brunn (R), Werner (R) pinned M. Doeppel (C), Stevens (R) pinned W. Kroft (C) and Ewing (R) pinned B. Baker (C).

FRESHMEN WIN

The CCHS freshman basketball team boosted their record to 2-3 Monday night with a 46-39 win over Triton.

High scorer for the frosh was Steve Brockus with 17. Other scorers were: Miller with 8, Newman and Master both with 5, Kemple and Osborn each 4 and Cummings, 3.

The B-squad, in a half game match went past Triton's B-squad 20-4.

The Dec. 2 game with Bremen had Culver as the victors by a score of 44-38. Brockus again was high point man with 16.

Dec. 5's play with Plymouth resulted in Culver's defeat, 43-39. Brett Master registered 16 points for the freshman team.

Next game for the young crop is tomorrow night against LaVille. The game will be home, starting at 6:30 p.m.

team played exceptionally well despite the score. "It showed what kind of ball team we can be if we want to," he added.

Crowell was high point man for Culver with 21, followed by Thomas with 17 and Wamsley with 10. Other scorers for the Cavaliers were: Zehner, 9; Bauer, 6; Keith and Marshall, each with 5 and Newman, 2.

Wamsley, CCHS's tallest starter, guarded the big man from North Judson and Hass said Wamsley did an impressive job of handling him. Wamsley held Eckert down to his below-average point tally of 28.

Hass also explained that Paul

Keith did a "good job" for the Cavaliers, coming off the bench after Zehner fouled out.

"If Zehner can stay out of foul trouble, he'll certainly be an asset to the team," said Hass. "He's a good, strong player with the kind of spirit and toughness we need."

Zehner has fouled out every game this season.

Thomas and Crowell, both strong shooters for the five squad, have maintained a 15-point average so far this season, and Hass sees them to continue consistently good play for the remainder of the hardcourt season.

Within the next 10 days the CCHS Cavaliers will face three conference teams, which means a lot rests on the outcome of the games.

Friday night they face Caston on their home court. The game begins at 8 p.m., with the B-team game preceding.

The following night, Dec. 14, they're off to North Miami in another conference bout.

Then on Friday, Dec. 17, the wearers of the orange and black dual with Triton.

Hass forecasts his cagers have a good chance at winning all three of the conference matches if they play good, clean ball.

...It Must Be
THE LAKE WATER

By Bob Kyle

One has but to look about you and see that our economy is not so good. And when it is bad in this part of the country, it's a lot worse other places.

This is not my opinion but that of many reliable persons. We seem to lack leadership and President Ford has been a bitter disappointment. Instead of staying in Washington he went hiking about the country in a cause which everyone knew was a futile attempt to elect Republicans. His 25 years in Congress has taught him little they say.

He has vetoed 15 bills and has been overridden by Congress. This is a record unsurpassed by any President (some over a four-year term); 535 Congressmen can't be that wrong.

Contracts for area roads

The Indiana State Highway Commission has awarded contracts for deck reconstruction of two Marshall County bridges and three Starke County structures, according to Commission Chairman Richard A. Boehning.

The R.J. Berns & Associates of Rochester received the two Marshall County contracts. One contract, at a bid price of $195,859.60, is for the deck reconstruction and Portland Cement Concrete overlay on the US 31 bridge over the Yellow River, 0.7 mile north of US 30. When work begins on the project next spring, traffic will be routed to the southbound lanes on a temporary crossover. Work is scheduled to be completed by July 1, 1975.

The other Berns contract is for the deck reconstruction and an overlay on a bridge on a ramp leading to northbound US 31, 1.2 miles south of US 6. Bid price for the job was $57,056. Traffic will be detoured on County Road W-3-A to US 31 northbound when work begins next spring.

The three Starke County bridges to be repaired are on US 30 over Shearin Ditch, 2.4 miles west of US 35; over Robbins Ditch, 0.4 mile west of US 35 and over US 35, 1.5 miles west of Hamlet. Traffic will be routed on temporary crossovers during the construction which is scheduled to be completed by Oct. 1, 1975.

People are springing up all over the map with ideas, some of them seemingly good. A. Kiefer Mayer, member of an old Indianapolis family now living in Arizona, has gained a following that believes his plan to vote $5 billion fund to stimulate the housing industry and to place a surtax on automobiles by weight would be beneficial.

Others favor cuts in food prices at the retail level. Already the huge Kroger grocers are freezing prices voluntarily.

It seems like some relief or down the drain we go.

While some bankers were sleeping on it, The State Exchange Bank, as usual, was first in taking advantage of the Pension Reform Act and will accept accounts beginning Jan. 1.

Thomas O'Brian is the first tenant at Osborn Center. Others will arrive in a few days. Mrs. Estella Beerwart, former manager, is helping direct operations and many volunteers are offering to help. The storm shutters are being removed and crocuses donated by the Culver Hardware were planted on the Jefferson Street curb.

Hopes of being able to serve one hot meal a day cannot be realized right away because funds are exhausted. Third District Congressman John D. Brademas is sponsoring a bill which may carry along this necessary project.

Ticket reservations for the dinner honoring William O. Osborn Feb. 1 at the Culver Inn are being printed and will be delivered in a day or so.

If you intend to go remember there are only 250 tickets. They are $10 each, much cheaper than any benefit we have heard of (most are $50 and $100); general admission tickets are $3 for the ceremonies at Eppley Auditorium and there will be 1,300 seats available.

All tickets are being handled through Director Robert K. Kyle of the Bicentennial Commission, P.O. Box 49, Culver, telephone 842-2492. One-fourth of the dinner and entertainment tickets have already been reserved.

Plymouth's Horizon '76 has been suspended until Spring. The cleaning and clearing of the Yellow River is a vast undertaking and Jack and Bryan, whomever they are, deserve great credit for what has been done. They took it upon themselves to advertise thanks to the donors and news media, equipment people, National Guard and other people who furnished saws, time and money for helping with a nasty job in bad weather. Work will start as soon as possible next year.

Argos, Bourbon and Bremen are starting as soon as the holidays are over, to emphasize the Bicentennial work in the schools.

Snow is here to stay according to the weather forecasters...The Senior Citizens who meet every Tuesday at the Center are recipients of two valuable flags (state and national) from a VFW Auxiliary, represented by Mrs. Ted Strang. Only a regular meeting will be held Dec. 10 but a
